Wa are again compelled to ask our readers to have patience and forgat that the publication day of the Courier is not Thursday or Friday, but Wednesday. Again wa inform you that practically all machinery, typesetting machine, etc., is run by electric powar—a minus quantity for many hours during the past week. The city's numerous power plaot, at Bellaira and this end of tha line, have been producing that "off again, on again" variaty of current that make impossible the running of machinarw—not only in this offica, but avary placa in the city where alactricity is used. We, as well as othar users of the city's "juice," cannot help but compara the prasant and past situation with that confronting industries in tha war zone, or to explain more fully, we ask oursalvas, "what will happen naxt?" Anyway, high prices, material and labor shortage, spasmodic and unreliabla alectric sarvice has got our "goat,"—and wa can't blame it on tha Kaisar, aitbar. Raally, the only dapendable machine in tha offica—our typawriter—is NOT run by alactricity.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Leslie Shapton Tells of Horrors of War During Marine Attack —Bob Merriam Gets In Wrong With Captain and Says Something Is Wrong With Youth of Nation

From Leslie Shepton

St. Aignan, France,
June 9, 1918.

"Dear Mother and Father—Have received your letter of May 12th, which said you had heard of my safe arrival in France. That makes fifteen I have received so far. I received twelve letters and one paper in one day, so I am more lucky than some of the other boys who have received nothing.

"Yes, I sure would liko to be there for some of the gatherings, but only for a visit, as I will never say quit as long as there is a Boche to get.

"There is a new order out stating that we can tell where we are, as you see by the heading. St. Aignan is located in almost the central part of France, about 150 miles southwest of Paris and forty miles south of Blois. We are surely having hot weather here now, but the river helps out a lot. Had some feed today. The mess sergeant was in good humor Here is the menu. Tomato soup, mashed potatoes, gravy, beef steak, lettuce, rice pudding, bread and butter and coffee. They say the closer one gets to the front the better chow they get, so you need not worry about us not getting enough to eat.

"The Marines are certainly making a name at the front these days. They are referred to as the Crack Unit of American Military Forces, and are called 'Yellow Doga' by the Germans. Hope to be up there in a short time myself.

"This part of the country is much warmer than Brest, where I was from the 6th to the 9th of May. I heard a very good lecture at the 'Y' the other night. Expect to get paid this week, have about three hundred and sixty francs coming as have not been paid since we were at Paris Island, S. C. Well don't wear the old Ford out, as I want another ride in it when I get back. Your loving son, LESLIE,

Somewhere in France,
June 17, 1918.

"My dear Sister—Have been through a perfect hell for the past week, for that is what the front line where I was is like.

"I left St. Aignan, where we have been located since we came to France and had our training. Passed through Paris on our way to the front, and Chateau Thierry, and was in the front line trenches from Tuesday night until Saturday night. Our battalion went over the top twice and gained both times.

"Several of my old friends are dead or in the hospitals. It was mostly open warfare, and the barrage of the artillery was terrible, and several of our men were gassed.

"It was nothing like most of the fronts, where they have well organized trenches, and many times during a four hour barrage with the shells screaming around and shrapnel flying, I sure wished I was some place inside a little dugout three feet deep and just enough room for one man. I came out of it this time however without a scratch, only I am tired out, as there was no sleep up there, so am enjoying the rest we are getting here at the rest camp now. The 3rd Replacement has been broken and divided among the marines, so am in the 5th regiment now.

"I expect I will not get any mail for awhile until they are through reorganizing. We took a lot of prisoners and gained lots of ground, but expect you have read about the 2nd Division's work in the papers a month before you read this."

LESLIE.

Corp. Leslie T. Shapton, 18th Co., 2nd Bat., 5th Regt., U. S. Marines, Am. Exp. Forces.

From Corporal Corbin

Corporal Corbin was connected with the Western Union telegraph office in this city during the season of 1917, and while here formed many acquaintances who will be glad to hear from him.

In Sunny France,
June 20th, 1918.

"Dear Mrs. Jarvis—To inform you that I arrived safely overseas sometime ago, and am located at the present at a camp in the southern part of France.

"We were very fortunate on the way and encountered no German submarines.

"Presume the summer season there will not be as lively as of former years. Would like very much to see you all and visit Charlevoix.

Fred Slaght Accepts Position With American State Bank

Fred L. Slaght, accompanied by his wife, left on Friday last for Detroit, where Mr. Slaght has accepted a responsible position with the American State Bank of that city.

Mr. Slaght, upen handing in his resignation as deputy city clerk, intended locating in Buffalo, New York, but at a later date he was offered the Detroit position, which he immediately accepted. We understand that he will have charge of one of that institutiens branch banks in the city, and the position carries with it considerable responsibility.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaght, during their residence in the city, have made a great many close friends who greatly regret their departure, but who at the same time extend them their best wishes.

Goodby Exchanges

In ordor to comply with the requirements of the government in its regulation of the newspaper business, the Courier has been compelled to cut off all its freo exchanges, etc. This is a new ruling, somewhat drastic, but nevertheless supposed to be a good measure.

A LEADER BY RIGHT OF MERIT

DEATH REMOVES A GREAT PUBLIC SPIRITED MAN

Who Hed Long Been Identified With Civic Affeirs in Charlevoix—Ill But Short Time

"The measure of a man's life is the well spending of it. Whe well lives, long lives."

Judged by tha standard of right living, tho passing of Robert W. Kane marked the end of a sucoessful life.

He came to Charlevoix in 1882, shortly after receiving his literary degree—a eellege graduate, bountifully supplied with the energy and enthusiasm of youth, and entered upon his life'a work. In 1888 he was admitted to the bar of Charlevoix county and immediately engaged in the active practice of his ehosen profession.

During his entire life he has been prominent as a citizen, his ability and zeal giving him leadership. Of strong convictions, he stood for the right, as he know it. Principle, not policy, directed his course upon all questions of public interest. A leader by right of merit he also toiled in the ranks, always willing to do his share and frequently carrying a major portion of the burden. He always strove to win, but by fair means, never underestimating nor misrepresenting an opponent. He would combat an evil without bearing ill will towards it's supportera.

Charity characterized his acts as also his beliefs. Public spirited he contributed freely of his time, strength and means to those causes that served the public good. He acted on many committees for public improvement and for years was a member of the Board of Education, in which position he aimed to place our scheols upon a high plane of efficiency. For several terms he was city attorney, during which time he became Interested in municipal affairs which interest he retained after terminating his official term. He gave much time and study to civic matters and was a firm believer in the commission ferm of government. He was a member of the charter commission which prepared the proposed city charter recently submitted to the people for their approval. His last public service was as chairman of the War Preparedness Board. Characteristic of the man he threw himself into the work with his accustomed zeal contributing largely to the loan and giving his best effort to secure success. Overtaxing his strength, he suffered a decline and was obliged by failing health to resign his position upon that board, a short time prior to his demise.

His passing marks the end of a good man. His public life was an open book from the pages of which one may judge accurately of his character. The public always knew where he stood upon matters in which they were interested. He was a power for good in the civic life of the community, and an earnest worker, at all times, in the cause of temperance. He held high ideals which were reflected in a life singularly, pure and simple.

In religion, he was an active member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist of Charlevoix in which for a period he served as reader. He was sincere and consistent in his religious beliefs and practices.

Robert Winters Kane was born in Galesburg, Ill., June 5, 1856. He married Alice Flora Hart, who survives him in May 1884. He leaves one son Forest H. Kane of Pontiac, Mich., and a daughter, E. Doris Kane of Washington, D. C., and one sister Mrs. Margaret Mosher, of Greeley, Colorado. He passed away after a brief illness at the home of his son. His remains now rest in Brookside cemetery in his heme city.

Viewed from the standpoint of those acquainted with him and who possessed a knowledge of his influence, it can be truly said that this community has suffered a great loss in his sudden taking. His life may be studied to advantage by all. His immediate family will receive strength and comfort in the memory of his life's work—Obituary written by Hon. Frederick W. Mayne.

Anoouncamant

I wish to announce to the people of Charlevoix County that I will be a candidate at the August primaries for nomination as the Republican candidate for the office of Prosecuting Attorney. Respectfully,
29tf. ARTHUR L. FITCH.

Announcement

I wish to inform the voters that I am a candidate for the office of Prosecuting Attorney of this county on the Republican ticket and ask the support of those who believe that if I should be elected the legal affairs of the county will be properly and carefully attended to.

Should I be elected I will endeavor to investigate all claims before issuing process when practicable so as to avoid all unnecessary expense to the taxpayers.

I am a graduate of the Michigan State Normal College and of the law department of the University of Michigan and for three years was principal of the Charlevoix High school. I have been engaged in the practice of law in this county for the past five years; supervisor from East Jordan the past three years; a resident of this county for eight of the past ten years and I am familiar with county governmental conditions.

29tf. DWIGHT L. WILSON.

Notice

As many have inquired of me, to learn if I would be a candidate for the nomination of Prosecuting Attorney this year, I wish to announce at this time to all the electors of the county that I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination at the August primaries. And I also wish to express my appreciation to the electors for the favorable manner in which they received my candidacy in the past.

Yours,
ROLLIE L. LEWIS,
23tf. Prosecuting Attorney.

MAY VOTE ON THREE AMENDMENTS

Possibility of Passing on Thrae at Fall Election

There is a possibility that the voters of Michigan will be called to pass upon three amendments to the state constitution at the November election.

The amendment authorized by the last legislature providing universal suffrage for the women of Michigan will be submitted, as will another amendment authorized by the legislature providing that in the future all amendments to the constitution to be submitted to an election to be placed on a single ballot.

At the present time each constitutional nmendment is printed on a separate ballot. During the last session there was considerable talk of proposing an amendment to the constitution limiting the number of amendments to be voted upon at any eleetion to two. This, however, was shelved, and it was decided to ask the people to establish a rule that all amendments be on one ballot sheet.

Baer and Wine Amandment

The two propositions are sure to go before the people in November. The beer and wine amendment also will be voted upon unless the Anti-Saloon league officials can convince the supreme court that the method of submission is irregular.

It is believed by many political scouts who have visited the state house recently that the beer nnd wine amendment will be defeated if submitted this year. Reports indicate the people are inclined to view prohibition as a war necessity.

On the other hand, there is a growing sentiment, it is elaimed, for the adoption of the suffrage amendment. Many prominent politicians who heretofore have opposed the suffrage amendment take the position that the part women have played in war work entitles them to the ballot.

Paint is a necessity —not a luxury

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait your house is worth less. Good-paint money is good paint insurance. And it's pretty good insurance on the value of your property, too.

DEVOE The Guaranteed Lead and Zinc Paint Fewer Gallons—Wears Longer

If your house needs painting, come in and let us tell you what it will cost you to use Devoe.

We say "Devoe" because it's absolutely pure.

That's why Devoe takes fewer gallons, wears longer—and costs less by the job or by the year. And that's why we guarantee Devoe without reserve.

you own in the world for a cup of coffee or a cigarette, the boys coming off duty or marching a forced march by night will find a Red Cross outpost which will serve them with a cup of coffee and a sandwich."

"The French women are wonderful. The old women will take an American soldier boy into her home and mother him as his own mother would, or as if he were her very own. Their kindness to our boys is simply wonderful."

"The French and Belgian people are teaching their children to speak English, and the trusting confidence of these little tots in our doughboys is but a reflection of the lesson taught in their homes. Almost instinctively it would seem, they approach our American soldiers as a child would an older brother. There is no ceremony in their approach and they seem as proud of our own American boys as if they were their own soldiers."

"The things that our government has accomplished in France are such as would make any man proud to be an American, and it has done these things in such a brief space of time. Six months after I went up from somewhere in the south of France I came back that way and where there was not a single building when I went up, I found on coming back immense warehouses, ammunition dumps and a veritable city, and the warehouses stocked with food, munitions and the what-not required to provide for a great army." At the close of his address, Lieut. Hampton was cheered by his attentive audience.

A quartette, consisting of Messrs. Hamlin and Irwin and the Misses Irene Finucan and Pauline Markham, led the singing of the national anthem, and rendered well, encored numbers.

A splendid meeting was held at the Methodist church, the speaker of the evening being Rev. Wentworth Stewart, who will engage in active war work as a speaker next month.

DEATH CLAIMS PIONEER RESIDENT

Had Been a Resident Here For Over Forty-Eight Years

Last Tuesday evening at 5:15 o'clock, death claimed one of the oldest pioneers of this city, when Mrs. Geo. O'Brien passed away at her home on Lincoln Avenue.

Mary Ann Wheaton was born in Riversdale, Ont., April 2nd, 1858, and came to Charlevoix with her parents in 1870. In 1872 she was united in marriage to George O'Brien, and they settled on n farm about five miles south of town, where they lived until seven years ago, when they moved to their present home.

About thirty-five years ago Mrs. O'Brien was run over by a wagon, and from that time has had considerably trouble with her hip, but was not confined to her bed until three weeks ago.

Mrs. O'Brien was a member of the Baptist church, and wns always ready to do her part in all church work. She was a good neighbor and willing to help any one in time of trouble. She leaves to mourn their loss a husband and one daughter, Mrs. Edwin Cook, of this city. Funeral services were held from the Baptist church, Thursday at 2:30 p. m., Rev. Rice officiating. Burial at the Brookside cemetery.

GIVES LIFE FOR HIS COUNTRY

Private Watkins of East Jordan Killed In Action

Henry E. Watkins, last summer a worker in one of East Jordan's industrial plants, was killed in action on French soil, June 8, according to the following telegram received by his mother, Mrs. Malinda Sexton, living at Orchard Heights, near East Jordan. The telegram was as follows:

"Deeply regret to inform you that Private Henry Elmer Watkins, infantry is officially reported as killed in action June 8. McCain, Adjutant General, Washington, D. C."

Private Watkins enlisted at Charleston, W. Va., January 5, 1918, as infantryman. He was later transferred to Co. 4, U. S. Infantry and landed in France April 25. In all he served his country a few days over six months.

He was 20 years of age and spent last summer in East Jordan with his mother and worked at the Chemical plant.

Notice

sand miles away. War seems almost like an abstract noun at present.

"I wish I could describe tha feelings I had when tha first class of mina looked on me expectantly. I reckon I chewed off a good third of my heart before I was able to get 'em faced and started—and all tha way to my little plot of ground, I was asking myself inwardly—asking frantically—"What in blazes will I say first?' And after it was all over Shep called all of we new instructors together, and, all of us implicitly expecting praise, stated as hsrshly as he could: 'You fellows were remarkably rotten today.' And then wa DID get it good and proper. And thera we had been so proud of ourselves. Today was my best day, so far. My morning class and afternoon class were both hard workers, and got along great. Up to today, my share has been a bunch that didn't know the difference between a hoa and a rifle.

"The casualty list grows every day. Today there was one broken nose. Yesterday a boob in the non-com. school stuck a bayonet through his own foot. 'Fitz' broke his arm the day before, and a boot struck a bayonet through Rinker's hand, so it came through about ten Inchas, the day before that.

"It's just about chow time and I don't know anything more to write about, so I'll close and—well, I mean I'll close. All my love, BOB.

"P. S.—I'm having some pictures printed, which I took of the trenches and a bunch in there. 'Ye knights of old' armor and wooden rifles. The armor is a big padded body protector, mask and padded gloves. I'll send them in my next letter.

DRAFT LAW TAKES FARMERS

Ruling Knocks Big Hole in States Farm Labor Supply

Michigan's agricultural scheme for the summer crops has received a blow no one expected or really realized until after it had fallen.

Congress in its apparent wisdom, placed in the law for the registration of the 21'ers clauses to the effect that they should not be called until class 1 of the 1917 registration had been exhausted.

On the face of things such a law looked good. But when it was carried down to the lowest detail it was found that a big hole had been knocked in Michigan's farm labor supply. Under advices from Washington some months ago, local boards left men on the farm who were "assiduously engaged in the planting and care of crops" until the harvesting was over.

Farmers Must Be Called

This was General Crowder's idea and was followed largely in the agricultural counties of Michigan. Now comes calls for a lot of men. The local boards in many places are shy and want to take the 21'ers but under the law they cannot take them until the original class 1 has been exhausted. The result is that men who are actually and assiduously working on the farms, under a deferred call, must be taken from their work and sent to cantonments.

The question has already been raised by some of the boards in rural counties, and Colonel Bersey has ruled under the law that the original registrants of 1917 have to be completely exhausted before the 1918 class can be utilized. The men on the farms are class 1 men and are liable, but their call was merely deferred a few months. Congress, however, has practically annulled the entire plan to help the farmers out this summer.

Water Main Broken

A break in the water main at the corner of State street and Park avenue cut off the water supply from a part of the valley, south side and business district for three or four hours Monday. The main broke entirely in two and spread apart about the width of a lead pencil.

The cuddie master sold thirteen dollars' worth of Thrift Stamps at his staad last week. Remember, caddies, money put into Thrift Stamps is helping our boys light, earniag ten per cent for you from the club aad about four aad a half per ceat from the goverament. Buy some stamps every week.

The "dime-a-week" club turned over to the local chapter of the Red Cross contributions amounting to $16.20 last week. Ten cents a week isa't much, but seventy-five dollars will buy lots of bandages aad maybe save a good many lives. We hope to reach the seveaty-live dollar mark by September 10.

There was a mispriat last week in regard to the size of our new flags. They are three feet by five, not five feet by nine.

The cuurse is open on Sundays after one o'clock p. m. Iloys who care to may find employaeat there at that time.

Caddie classes for girls are being held Mondays, Wednesdays aad Fridays at 5:00 p. m. at the golf course. Fifteen girls have reported so far. A lot of false reports have been going around lately in regard to the girl caddies. No boy is going to be laid off as long as he deserves employament. No scheme is beiag laid to throw the boys of the comamuaity out of work. No girl will be given work at the liaks until there are not boys enough to take care of the players. The double-sack jobs muy be eliminated, but caddies must remeaber that a golf corse is run for the accommodation of those who pay to play on it, and not for those who happen to work there. There may be good reasons why girls should not caddy, but if there are, neae huve yet beea given at tha links. If your only reason why girls should not cuddy is that they are girls, forget it and keep still. If you hang to that reasen you are a back number.

Eighty-eight numbers have been given out, and the fellowing boys accepted as registered caddies: Deaald Swinton, Geo. Higmnn, John Kelderhouse, Ted Cooper, Bradley Atchison and Harold Geiken. Some of these caddy only on Suadnys and holidays, and there are others who caddy regularly, but ure not registered.

The caddies master will be glad to help any caddie save his maoney by acting as his baaker for the week, or in any other way he cares. If you caa't get your money home you had better use him.

Williom Woods is working oa the greens aow, haviag takea the plnce of Chas. Hyek who is now awaitiag his call in the Naval Reserve. Woods is caddie 78.

Roy Aace (49) was slightly injured a few days ago by being struck in the face by a horseshoe. He dropped from the limb of a tree just as Harold Tayler (58) tossed the shoo. The injury was not serious, though it left Roy rather dazed for a while and gave him a big upper lip for a day or two.

Last Saturday evening the caddies had beea paid $676.83 for their services on the ceurse. Pretty good for four weeks, wo think.

THE WEEKLY TIP

Betting

Betting or gambling, is the most foolish method ever invented for giving money away. It happens that no boy can be a caddie for very long witbout seeing a lot of it going on emong the players, and the result is that many boys soon get to thinking that they also must throw away what little they manager to earn. They seem to forget that these players have thousands of dollars perhaps for evary pennly in the caddies' pocket.

Some fellows have the idea that gambling is a good way to double their money. The truth is, it is a very poor way. A great man once said that the only sura way to double your money is to get it into a bill, then fold the bill and put it in your pocket. He didn't mean that you were to leave the bill in your pockat, but that you were to take home what you earned and spend it wisely. Spending money wisely means buying what you need for comfort and healthful pleasure, giving some for others, and putting the rest in the bank or lending it to the government. Hoarding money in a stocking is nearly as bad as throwing it away.

Gambling makes a hundred times as many poor men as rich ones. If you don't believe this now, you will later.

Gambling debts cannot be collected by law for the simple reason that money won in gambling does not in eny way belong to the winner. And yet gambling debts are called "debts of honor!"

When you work mentally or physically you ere antitled to just peyment. You are foolish to throw away that payment when you get it.

Don't form the habit of letting Chance decida who gets what you earn. It is yours; keep it and use it well. Don't start playing "for a nickle a hole," or doing anything else to get money for nothing. Gambling makes your work worthless, spoils the spirit of your play, and in the end leads always to difficulties.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water aad phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behiad a certain amouat of incombustible aaterial in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary caaal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completly eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary caaal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, billousaess, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

FORD BOOM DEAD, AVERS TRIBUNE

CHICAGO NEWSPAPERMAN ANALYZES SITUATION

Datroiter "Lacks Self-Startar," and Osborn Has People's Backing, Says Investigator

"Lack of henking for the automobile man" is the "significant thing" discovered by Arthur M. Evans, staff correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, he relates in Tuesday's issues, after a trip into this state to learn what has resulted from the democratic picking Henry Ford for the republicun candidate for United States senuter.

He declares the democrats failed to equip the candidacy with a self-starter and that its engine is cold. The minority party is declared to be "still fumbling for the ear trumpets" while listeaing for the popular response.

Evans declares many business mea and labering mea said the bulk of the Ford talk is "anti" instead of "pro." "If there is any enthusiasm some one is doiag a clever job of concealment," reports the staff correspondeat. "The democratic jobholders, postmasters and such, are putting in strong words for Ford, but apparently these are not reflective of seatiment in other groups."

"A great breaking down of aacient factieaal liaes among the republicans," is another observation.

Drop Old Enmities

"Old enmities are beiag buried at a rapid rote," he writes. "Evea some of the mining men in the upper peninsula who roved at Osborn years ago when as goveraor he seught to put over a tonnage tax on iroa ore, ure saying that old scars are net to be opened. And seme of the standpats who yelled and shrieked when in 1912 he tried to get a presidential preference primary bill through in special session are droppiag the fued and remarking that the political fights of 1912 are not to be fought over in 1918.

"Former Gov. Fred M. Warner, who wns a candidate for senater, pulled down his periscope and came out for Ford as soon as the flivver monarch was catered. Other politicians declare it was a bond wagon proposition with Warner and that in his haste he mistook the hearse for the circus van.

"Besides, Warner bears no political friendship for either Osborn or Newberry. The republicans are not underestimating Warner's influence, particularly among the farmers, but men who have been out in the rural regions report that Warner just now is like a Mexican general, a leader with few followers.

Finds Sleeper Neutral

"Gov. Sleeper is maintaining a neutral attitude. Some of the administration's appointees are working for Osborn and some for Newberry."

A. C. Carton, secretary of the public domain commission, who is described as having been in politics for thirty years and knowing "the game inside out and upside down," is quoted at length in his support of Roosevelt and Osborn. The secretary's interview concludes, "There is no question in my mind that the fight lies between Osborn and Ford. If the election were today Ford perhaps would win, but when once the voters begin deliberating on the real issues and then get into their minds who is the most likely candidate to beat Ford, you'll find Osborn ruaning like a prairie fire."

"As regards Osborn and Newberry," concludes Evans, "I find in the counties that the fellows you meet at the conventions are lined up for Newberry, while the bunch in the rear is for Osborn. The Newberry men have been lining up the county organizations, while the rank and file seem to be with Osborn. Right now I'd say it stands fifty-fifty between Osborn and Newberry, with all the prospects being that the greatest accretions of strength will be made by Osborn. He's got more potential strength than the others because he will develop his power right down among the people."

Announcament

To the voters of Charlevoix County:

I will be a candidata for the nomination for the office of County Treasurer, on the Republican ticket, at the August primary. "Forty-five years a resident of the county and am qualifed for the office."

Yours respectfully,

28tf. W. W. BAILEY.

WHEN THE TREATY OF PEACE IS MADE

WHEN the time comes to make a treaty of peace to end this war, we must have in the Senate, the place where treaties are ratified, men of the highest ability, the broadest experience, the best judgment and the most pronounced Americanism.

Our future will be in the balance.

Every man, woman and child will in some way be affected—each one of us will be directly or indirectly concerned by what is then done.

There must be no peace without victory.

The victory so dearly won by our boys on the field of battle must be defended and safeguarded at the Council Board of the Nations.

Trumon H. Newberry

Let Michigaa send a man to the United States Senate who not only has the ability, but whose training especially fits him to meet the demand of a task so vital to us all—a red-blooded American who will insist that there be no peace until we have won the war—who will see to it that we do not lose in council the slightest part of what we have with so much sacrifice won in the field. Commander Truman H. Newberry is the Win-the-War Candidate.

MANY WORKERS AT ROAD BEE

Good Road Advocates Make Petoskey Road Passable

Seventy-five or more men and a large number of teams responded to the call for volunteers for repair work on the Petoskey road in Hayes township on Thursday of last week.

Under the direction of O. D. Hammond, county road commissioner, all but about a mile of the road between Greenski Hill and Bay Shore was made passable by filling ruts and chuck holes with gravel and smoothing out the rough spots.

Business men from Charlevoix, farmers on the road and citizens generally responded and every man on the job gave a good day of hard, volunteer service.

It is understood that the remaining unrepaired section of the road will be given immediate attention by officials of the township of Hayes.

You Are Losing Money

BY TRYING TO FARM WITH OLD WORN-OUT IMPLEMENTS

Don't do it. Prices are high and the demand for foodstuff too great for any farmer to spend his time tinkering up old farm implements. Buy new—a kind that will do efficient work. We have a large stock of

MOWERS, BINDERS, RAKES, HAY LOADERS

DEATH CAME AS GREAT RELIEF

AFTER EXTENDED SUFFERING FROM BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Edward Tillotson Had Resided in Banks Township Since 1901—Friends Mourn Daparture

Edward Tillotson was born in Barry county, Michigan, in 1856, and died at his home ona and one half miles west of Ellsworth at 11:30 p. m., on Wednesday, July 3. Mr. Tillotson was married at Grand Rapids, Michigan in 1898, to Mary Hovingh, and to them were born three children, all living. They are Edward, age 18, John 11, and William 9 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillotson came to Banks township in 1901 and settled on the farm where Mr. Tillotson died and where the widow and children still reside. Deceased was one of the peculiar few who had a heart of gold beneath a rough exterior. He was stricken with Bright's disease last fall and declined rapidly and was unable to leave his bed during the last two or three months of his illness.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Kridler of the Ellsworth Holiness church from the family home at 2:00 p. m., Friday, July 5, and h wesauberdi and he was buried at Boss cemetery.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the family left behind.

IS IT "JUST A COLD?"

Charlevoix People Should Ask Themselves This Question

Don't say: "It's just a cold."
It may turn into backache, rheumatic aches, achy joints.
Or other serious sickness that comes from weak kidneys.
Colds are due to congestion.
Congestion makes the kidneys overwork to filter the blood.
Colds often leave the kidneys weak.
First break the cold;
Then use Doan's Kidney Pills to avert the kidney dangers.
Let this Charlevoix resident tell you about them.

Mrs. Albert Lemieur, 704 State St., says: "A heavy cold settled on my kidneys causing me much suffering. My back got so sore I could hardly get around. Spots appeared before my eyes, blurring my sight. I can never forget how badly I felt. I had dizzy spells also. Mornings I felt more tired than upon retiring. On the advice of a druggist I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and three boxes removed the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lemieur had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

R. H. Lockwood and wife of Wichita, Kansas, C. R. Harding of Columbus, Ohio, A. R. Hatcher, C. Shaffer and J. N. Carr of Wellington, Kan., have been spending the past week at the New Orient and have been making some good catches of bass.

Miss Kate Wieland has quit work at the W. A. Boss home, where she has been employed for the past four years. She will visit her parents at East Jordan a few days before leaving for Grand Rapids, where she expects to work this summer.

The call for the registration of women was fairly well answered to in this township. Miss Chelles, in charge of the work here, announced about two hundred registered. Miss Alida Beuker was the first lady registered and of the total number, about a dozen signified their willingness to go overseas.

Isaac Horrenga closed a deal last week whereby he became the owner of the Lucas property where Mr. Horrenga and family have been living the past two years, the deal being made by Stewart Barr, acting as agent for Mrs. Lucas. The new owner expects to alter and improve the property so that when completed it will be one of the best residences in Ellsworth.

SILO CAMPAIGN URGED BY U. S.

Request Made to Stop All Waste That Will Affect Food

Our government is making a request of all the people to stop any waste which in any way may affect the supply of food.

An effort is being made in a great many states to interest all farmers who do not have silos at the present time, in erecting silos to take care of the corn crop for 1918.

The silo is an insurance of the corn crop in the fall. It also preserves the corn plant and makes 100 per cent of its value available. The corn plant when not put into the silo looses one half of its feeding value.

The health of animals also feed on good silage is assured and is readily seen by the conditions of such animals.

When sickness does occur from silage it is mostly due to moldy silage caused from not being firmly packed at the time of filling the silo.

Any one needing a silo should take the matter up at this time in order that he may have it in time for use in the fall.

Many meetings will be held in the county in the near future. At these meetings there will be speakers who are well informed on silos and feeding of silage.

ROCK ELM

Lyle and Edna Donaldson have been on the sick list for a few days.

The annual school meeting which was held at the school house, July 5th, was well attended. H. E. Hutton was re-elected director. It was voted to have a nine months school with a potato vacation to be given at the discretion of the board. The chairman of the water supply committee reported that as soon as a suitable fountain could be procured and installed, the water system would be complete. There were five applications for high school tuition. Motion carried to raise $700.00 for general purposes. At the close of the school meeting Mr. Howard Porter of East Jordan gave an address on the task before us. Arthur Secord gave a patriotic recitation. Mrs. Secord and Mrs. Robinson assisted by some of the young people of the district furnished several selections of patriotic music.

Which shows that they weren't fools.
When Mary dons a college cap,
Her bond will help her through.

TWO ASSOCIATIONS ALREADY FORMED

Expected to Have Marketing Associations in Every Town

Co-operative Association for the farmers seem to be the leading program for the year of 1918. Already five strong associations have been organized and three more are being worked upon for this county. When they are organized there will be a Farmers' Marketing Association in every town in Antrim County.

Friday evening, July 12, Alba organized to enable her farmers to market their own produce and receive all that it sells for without turning it over to the buyer, broker, jobber, and commission house system as we have it today.

The farmer can buy his supplies through the same association and can get his feed in 100 pound lots or in 10,000 pound lots at the same car lot price and save all the profits for himself and have the advantages of large quantity buying. Every association will have a warehouse in which to do business and they will all handle cream as well as other products of the farm—The cream will be tested at the warehouse so the shipper can know what his test is and the large cream companies have said that they will pay from one to two cents more per pound for butter fat in large quantities than they will for one individual lot of cream.

Mancelona Marketing Association was organized on Saturday evening, July 13, with a large membership and will soon be ready to do business. The board of directors for Mancelona was as follows: Bert Fox, Jas. Gaylord, Isaac Lichty, Frank Priest; Frank Vincent and Henry Nothenstein.

The board of directors for the Alba association are: F. M. Shepard, C. Bennett, Geo. Tobias, Frank Glidden, Wesly Olds, August Enble, C. Wing and Jas. Byers.

All farmers wishing to get advantages of these associations should see some of these directors and become members as soon as possible.

These Associations are being organized in all other counties of Northern Michigan and will be federated together which will make the strongest organization in Michigan. —Farm Bureau Notes, A. B. Large, President.

Liberty Loan Anticipation
U. S. Certificates of Indebtedness

Dated June 25, 1918 - Due October 24, 1918

The banks of this country have been called upon by the Treasury Department of the U. S. Government to purchase Certificates of Indebtedness in anticipation of the Fourth Liberty Loan. This bank, believing it to be its patriotic duty to respond to this call, will take all it can of these Certificates from time to time as the Treasury Department needs funds to finance the war.

To the people of this community, who have responded so loyally in purchasing past issues of Liberty Bonds and who expect to take bonds of the Fourth Loan, and to those who may desire a short-time Government investment, we recommend the purchase of these Certificates, which we will supply in denominations of $500, $1,000 and upwards without profit to this bank.

WILDWOOD

Mrs. Chas. Cornwell and children are home from Charlevoix again.

Mrs. John Crawford and daughter, Miss Jayne, were in Central Lake on business on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wilson attended the funeral service for Mr. Wiles in Central Lake on Thursday.

Arthur Knowles of Central Lake bought and butchered a couple of veal calves at John Crawford's on Thursday.

O. P. Barber has practically repaired the Crawford home where damaged by lightning. Both chimneys have been rebuilt.

Mrs. Patterson has been driving with the mail of late while her husband is enjoying his vacation. We'll bet a burnt cookie he's as tired as anybody on the job, "sitting around (?) all day."

(Too late for last week)

Mrs. Cornwell, Sr., is very sick at this writing.

Haying is occupying the farmers time these days.

School meeting Monday evening did not have a very large attendance.

Mr. Fairbanks of Elk Rapids was in this neighborhood buying cattle the first of the week.

Mrs. Chas. Cornwell and children are in Charlevoix this week guests of Mrs. Cornwell's mother, Mrs. Hale.

Mr. Kling, accompanied by his nephew, Postmaster Chas. Hudkins of East Jordan, spent Sunday with Jas. Wilson and family.

Miss Catherine Crawford spent Sunday with her brother and family near East Jordan, returning in the evening with her mother.

Jim Wilson brought his 12 h. p. International gasoline engine home from Ellsworth on Monday, and will be fully equipped for the business as soon as grain harvesting is on.

Mrs. Jas. Wilson and daughter, Della Maxine, visited their uncle, Supervisor Wiltse and family on Sunday last. Edward Wiltse, who is in training at Camp Custer, was home from the day, having arrived on the flyer in the forenoon, returning to camp the same evening. While he would rather be at home he says the discipline and training the fellows get in the army is great and our present undertaking of recruiting such an enormous army is wonderful. He is looking and feeling fine and says the treatment is fine and the grub splendid and altogether he is contented and happy.

ATWOOD

Ben VanderHeide is able to be up and about again.

John VanderSlik is visiting relatives here at present.

J. VanderHeide is contemplating the purchase of a Ford.

Henry Berens is working in a garage in Charlevoix at present.

A small number were present at the school meeting last Monday evening.

Mrs. J. Essenburg accompanied her daughter, Rose, to Denver, Colorado.

Haying is well under way and the last few warm days are making crops and weeds come right along.

Paul DeVries' new house is going up rapidly. The entire building is boarded and roof boards are all on.

C. E. Densmore from Bellaire was out canvassing this district one day last week for signatures to vote for him at the primaries.

A. B. Sneller traded horses one day last week. He will now be able to do heavy work having a heavy horse and a Ford ton truck.

A petition is being circulated to stop the free county fair movement on foot in this county. It seems as if our taxes will be high enough without this extra burden.

Two young men from the Zuns Indian Mission, Messrs. H. VanderBeek and James Solomon, the last named an Indian convert, spoke in the Holland church here Sunday afternoon. They gave a talk on mission life in Zuns, New Mexico, among the Indians.

Wish we had a paper in Atwood with an editor who could see things at home as being large, thrifty, prosperous, while belittling every move made by the towns around him like one we know, through receiving a paper through some charitable advertising medium in a town south of here. He might succeed to feed our vanity for sometime at least.

Notice

To the taxpayers of the City of Charlevoix:

Notice is hereby given that the July roll of the City of Charlevoix has been delivered to me and that the taxes therein levied are payable at my office in the Carnegie building at any time on or before the 15th day of September, 1918, without charge for collection. On all taxes remaining unpaid after the 15th day of September, 1918, a collection fee of four per cent will be added until the first day of October, 1918, after which time until October 30th, 1918, an additional one per cent interest will be added on all taxes remaining unpaid.

Office hours: 8:30 a. m. to 12 noon. 1:30 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Some one has said: "If one of our boys hesitated as long in going over the top as some people do in buying Liberty bonds or War Savings Stamps, he would be court-martialed and shot for cowardice. And if the same punishment were meted out to non-combatants for financial cowardice and awful lot of people would be shot at dawn."

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

"Like this country fine, although in the heart of a true American it cannot compare with the good old U. S. A.

"About five years of gay living in this country would get the average American. I was always under the impression that we of the U. S. A. were 'it' when it came to fast living, but you should see these French people enjoy life.

"We are located about five miles from one of the largest cities in the French Republic and life over there would make our New York White Way look like a ministers conference. But oh these French railroad trains. A railroad train here looks like a line of taxicabs being towed by each other. Four people to each compartment. Can you imagine a mother-in-law, daughter, and son-in-law having to travel in one compartment for a distance of several hundred miles? They run about the same speed as that draw bridge in Charlevoix.

"The merchants here have evidently had a few years training in a French Wall street, as they sure know how to separate a soldier from his coin. I am of the opinion that wealthy American tourists have ruined the people here with their generous tipping, for they think that all of our industries in the United States are money mints, and they are making and bringing it over here as fast as our ship building program advances. The high prices may be due to the war conditions, and not to my imagination.

Prohibition is in effect here from seven a. m. until four p. m. After four we soldiers are permitted to drink light wines and beer in any cafes. I might add that about every other house or building here is a cafe. They are as thick as hot-dog stands at Atlantic City.

"We have a nice Y. M. C. A. here which shows movies, and vaudeville most every night.

"American newspapers are published in several large cities here daily, and we get the latest American news each morning.

"Haven't been here long enough to learn much French, but a person picks it up pretty fast.

"Must bring this letter to a close now, for I have to write several others tonight.

"Write me real soon. With kindest regards to you, and all Charlevoix friends, yours sincerely,"

CORP. R. C. CORBIN.
Radio Co. 305th Field Signal Battalion, Am. Exp. Forces, France.

From Dick Jarvis

U. S. Radio School, Harvard University, July 7, 1918.

"Dear Mother—I have many times promised you a letter containing a few of the incidents of becoming a sailor, and today I will try to give them to you, taking my own experiences, which is a good sample of what thousands of other Gobs (by the way in case you don't know, Gob means an enlisted man in the navy, and doughboy in the army) have gone through before becoming seagoing salts.

"The first thing is the medical examination, they test you in different ways, make you run, jump, and go through a regular physical culture exercise, at the end of which you feel that having been able to pass them you must be about perfect.

"Then we were sent into Camp Farragut for our three weeks detention, where they again examine you, and in case of needing dental treatment, or anything, they take care of you, doing all kinds of dental work of course free of charge, and right here I want to say that the doctors and dentists of the U. S. Navy are as good as can be found anywhere, and are far from being the killers some people seem to think all military doctors are. You are treated just as humanely by them, and suffer no more pain than you would by going to a first class man on the outside.

"While in detention we were given our full outfit of clothes, which absolutely takes in everything from needles and thread to bedding and boots, and from then on we look like real soldiers.

"After our detention was over, we were sent to Camp Perry, where our bunch had to go through another telegraph exam. to find if there were any who were unable to hold 'their ratings, but most of us came through with flying colors and 'stood by' to be shipped across to France for land service. After standing by for about two months they picked thirty-five of us to go to London, and returned all the rest to civil life on indefinite furloughs, and let me tell you, we who were picked to go across were the happiest bunch in camp, but time went on and for some unknown reason we were never sent, so after about three weeks more I went to headquarters and asked if we were going to be shipped soon, they told me no, so I requested a transfer to radio to come down here, which was granted.

There were seventy-five men in the bunch I brought down here (I being the highest rated petty officer present) and we had some trip by the way of Detroit, through Canada, across at Buffalo and then down. While coming through good old Michigan we sure were treated right, wherever we stopped we could own the town if we only had time enough to take possession. Every person on the streets and country roads, in factory windows, offices, residences and farm houses would drop whatever they were doing to give us a wave and good luck.

"At Detroit at the Michigan Central station we were met by a red Cross detachment with cigarettes, sandwiches, post cards and stamps, etc., all free. It sure made me love old Michigan, she sure does give a welcome to her boys, and when the Kaiser is canned its me for Michigan for the balance of my life.

"Upon arrival at Cambridge we started in on the sixteen weeks electrical course, and have already gone nine weeks, so in about seven weeks we expect to be out 'fishing for the tin fish,' and I sure will be glad. The course here is a four years course condensed into four months, so you see it requires some study. Already I feel as though I know more about electricity than Marconi, Edison and all the rest put together.

"We use nearly all the Harvard buildings and dormitories, and it certainly is fine. The treatment given us here is fine, the food even better than what we got at the Great Lakes, and all in all I am perfectly satisfied except I want to go to sea and get a crack at the Hun.

"Think this gives a general outline of the past six months, so will close.

"With best regards to all my friends at home and lots of love to yourself, as ever."

How Tire Prices Battle War Costs

HERE is new light on tire prices, old and new. War has sent all prices higher.

But Goodrich Tires have responded least to the rise.

A glance at Goodrich tire prices for nine years reveals a pleasing surprise to tire users.

Goodrich tires are not costly for war times, or any other time.

This year's increase of Goodrich tire prices is far below general price increases.

You can buy Goodrich tires 35 per cent less than you paid for tires nine years ago.

And remember with Goodrich prices you get the sure, full value service of GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

That is, the maximum of easy riding comfort, gasoline economy, and prolonged mileage — in service on your car and on the road.

It is good war economy to buy GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

Letter from Bob Merriam

"My Dearest Grandmother—I'm getting more in love with my job all the time. Now that our own training is over, and we are instructing, it's a lot easier, and also a lot better for ourselves.

"In the training, when we had to do our movie stunts of throwning each other over our heads, and stimulate breaking our arms—it wasn't at all fun—but now when we have to supervise the throwing it's lots more amusing.

"They took movies out here yesterday, and then of course we had to work on each other. The man who did the working on me was about six feet two—his name is Hardy, and believe me he is. I had a headache all day from the first fall he gave me. Of course you can hold yourself limp, and fall easy, but when a big stiff nails you sudden, and you find your feet describing the are of a circle about twenty feet in diameter—you're going to grit your teeth and straighten out all over—and you're going to light blamed solid. I know. Of course it looks good in the movies—but what are movies?

"We had to box for the camera, wrestle, and all the rest of the work. Shep and Van our two aergeants in charge, did a few disarming stunts, and then the whole bunch dummies, made our way through the dummies made our way through the trenches etc.

"I could have paralyzed Captain Emphey for one thing. Four of us were supposed to hop into the trenches in a machine gun emplacement, which was about three feet wide. 'Myrtle' Hannan went in first and, as you are supposed to jump in, bayonet down, he tripped and stuck his bayonet into the boards. 'Pup' Gore hopped in after him burying his bayonet in the sand. 'Cutie' Lescalletti jumped in on top of 'Pup' and to avoid casualties, held his point up. I had the choice of two things. Either to jump on to Cutie's bayonet, or wait until the three of them got untangled. Naturally, having a fairly strong liking for my life, I waited. There I was, standing all alone on the parapet, and that movie machine grinding away.' When the three of them got started, I jumped in but not until I had received from Captain Emphey, 'get in there, you big dope!' Of course, he couldn't see the thing as I did, but it made me mad just the same. I could easily have bitten off the point of my bayonet, I know.

"When I have time, I'm going to write a book, and call it, 'Paris Island, or Why Drill Sergeants Go Mad.' 'Cause if all 'boot' companies are as totally bone-headed as the ones I get for bayonet work, something's wrong with the mentallty of the nation's youth. I'm only about a month out of a 'boot' company myself—but then I know WE couldn't have been so solid as these. But, mebbe so. When I think how terribly green and foolish we were, the day when we were issued our clothes and became 'boots,' I can't blame Mammat for swiping me over the head the way he did. I know, if now, I'd have that same old company in hand, I'd be up for murder in the first degree.

"But I'm frank to state, that an instructor's job is a lot harder on the instructor than the men he has to handle. I don't mean the work we do, hut the mental effort, I at least, have to do. For I never was a 'hard guy,' and when it comes to stepping all over a guy, I can't do it. I have to resort to sarcasm, and it isn't half as effective ns a good bawling out—but I can't do the latter. And when a fellow makes a mistake, it's funny to me, and not the cause for a good cursing. But I guess I'll learn to do it some days—'ere's 'oping.

"According to the way our names are listed, I guess I'll be able to get a furlough about the last of August. Anyway I'm praying that it isn't any later than that. I haven't spoken to a girl in nearly three months—been on this Iisland, which was nothing but a swamp before the marines began to use it for a training camp, until we began to think that there isn't any war, and that the United States must be at least three or four thou-

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR CHARLEVOIX

COMMITTEES HARD AT WORK ON PLANS

Beet Sugar Factory to be Re-habilitated and Enlarged by New Food Products Company

Ample capital for the successful operation of the enterprise assured if sufficient beat acreage and the co-operation of the local business interests are pledged.

At a meeting of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce held last Thursday evening, a committee was appointed by President Crane to prepare tentative plans for the organization of a Food Products Company. The course of action was determined upon because of a very generous offer to co-operate in the establishment of such an enterprise by one of our Charlevoix neighbors, Mr. Albert H. Loeb.

The personnel of the committee appointed is such as to assure an early and satisfactory solution of the problems that must necessarily be worked out before a permanent organization can be undertaken.

The committee appointed met Monday of this week and perfected an organization assigning specific duties to each member: R. F. Sloan, chairman elect, was instructed to secure cost estimates and data on mechanical features; A. A. Swinton secretary, was appointed to secure pledges on City of Charlevoix cooperation; Harry Nichols, to secure data on sugar beet production; R. C. Hammet, to secure data on available sugar beet acreage and rural investment; Chas. E. See to secure a survey of creamery and farm products available for canning purposes.

The idea being to secure pledges of sufficient sugar beet acreage to insure a profitable and continuous operation of the plant. In addition it is planned to operate the factory the year round, furnishing the workmen with steady employment by adding the manufacture of such other food products as local conditions will justify.

An efficient and capable management of this new industry is a foregone conclusion. A selling organization will be unnecessary as a steady year round market for the products of the enterprise is now assured. Here is a chance for splendid civic team work by the citizens of Charlevoix and the growers of farm products in this vicinity.

The committee will hold regular meetings on Monday of each week for reports and conference. They should be given the whole-hearted support of every citizen of Charlevoix.

CHARLEVOIX HOTELS VISITED

State Inspector William Alee Makes Annual Inspection

William Alee, state inspector of hotels, factories, etc., completed a very careful inspection of the hotels of Charlevoix last week, and he reports the fire prevention and escape measures as applied to Charlevoix hotels as being entirely adequate, and the sanitary features as unusually fine.

There will be a dance at the Ironton Grange Hall, Saturday evening, August 3. Don't wait for a special invitation—come and have a good time. 30t1

FOURTEEN PATRIOTIC CITIZENS OF CHARLEVOIX HAVE SUBSCRIBED $12.00 IN THRIFT STAMP PRIZES

To be given by the Charlevoix Courier to the boys and girls of this county who save and buy the greatest number of Thrift Stamps from July 10th to August 6th.

The boys and girls must not disappoint the men and women who have given these prizes, they must not disappoint the boys who went to Camp Custer today, because the money loaned to our government when you buy a Thrift Stamp is used to arm, equip, clothe and for food for our boys who are going "over there."

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. JONES LEWIS

Stricken Last Wednesday Evening by Heart Failure

Mrs. Jones Lewis, wife of Jones Lewis, a well known farmer of Hayes township, died suddenly Wednesday evening about 9:00 o'clock, death being due to heart failure.

Up to last spring deceased had enjoyed the best of health, but since had gradually failed until the end came Wednesday evening. On the evening previous she attended a grange meeting and during the day attended to her household duties, showing no signs of fatal illness until about a half hour before death.

Deceased was born in Farmington, Oakland county, April 14, 1862. She was married to Charles Harper July 4, 1878. To this union one son was born, now living in Union City, Washington. After the death of Mr. Harper in 1890, she was married to Jones Lewis, who survives her. She was a member of the M. E. church, a thorough Christian and a good mother and wife.

To mourn her loss are left a husband, a son and an adopted son, two sisters and three brothers, besides grandchildren. Funeral services were held from the home Saturday at 10:00 conducted by Rev. White of Boyne City, interment in Undine cemetery.

A French conversational class for beginners will be organized in Charlevoix Friday afternoon of this week by John Couchois Wright of the Bay View French circle. Call at the library for particulars. 30t1

SERVICES WERE MUCH ENJOYED

METHODIST CHURCH FILLED TO CAPACITY

Bishop Francis McConnell Tells of Work of Y. M. C. A. From Personal Observances

Those who attended the Sunday evening services of the Methodist church were treated with one of the most interesting and humanely understandable stories of the soldier boy's life in the trenches that has been the good fortune of the people in this city to be favored with.

Coming almost direct from the trenches overseas, where Bishop McConnell was engaged in the welfare work of the Y. M. C. A., his message was a re-assuring one and well calculated to hearten the parents of the boys who are "over there."

Bishop McConnell's style of delivery is an inimitable one, and carries a conviction of sincerity and earnestness. Among many other interesting things he said: "I visited and delivered addresses to the American soldiers at some twenty-eight stations and during the entire time I saw just one American boy who was intoxicated."

"While the boys are up at the front they are so intent on the work in hand that there is no risk of let down. It is when they come back to the next billet, dead tired and exhausted that they appreciate the hand clasp of clean fellowship and wholesale recreation. This the Y. M. C. A. is striving to supply to the utmost."

MAKES RECORD ON RIFLE RANGE

Joe Powers Shows Great Ability As a Marksman

Owing to his ability to handle a rifle and repeatedly hit a bull's eye, Joe Powers is now on his way overseas with the 85th Division of American troops.

Joe made a splendid record, scoring eight dead hits out of ten on the one hundred line and also eight out of ten on the two hundred line. In the days' shooting he made 198 points, the next highest score being 204. To qualify as an expert marksman it requires only 165 points.

Of the 7,000 troops sent to Camp Custer the last of June, 2,000 were selected to go overseas, and Joe was included in this number.

GIVEN A SPLENDID SEND OFF

CHARLEVOIX SELECTS BADE GOD-SPEED BY CITIZENS

Fifty-Seven Leave for Camp Custer Early Today Amid Cheers and Song

Fifty-seven fine young men, the best we've got, marched to the P. M. station to entrain for the trip to Camp Custer at eight o'clock this morning. When they arrived at the station they were met by a crowd that filled the platform and overflowed across the tracks into the park.

"Good-by Harry!" "Good-by Dad!" Just that. No weakening in these chaps as the moment for the last handclasp grew nearer. God bless them, they were a thousand times more anxiously concerned about those left behind than they were about their own future.

Sheriff Novak organized the boys for the "muster in" and the party will be accompanied to Camp Custer by the Rev. I. J. Harris, Y. M. C. A. worker and religious director of Camp McArthur, of Waco, Texas, who is home on a furlough.

One thought that must bring comfort to the hearts who will cherish the memory of these boys who have been chosen to make the world safe for humanity is the fact that no officer was in evidence, except the Y. M. C. A. worker, the first friend of the soldier boy, who was there to look after their welfare. What a splendid commentary on American democracy.

A quiet, mild mannered lot of determined boys, who's going out spells the doom of Kaiserism and militarism. As the train slowly moved out from the station the assembled crowd joined in singing, "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

BLOWOUTS NEVER WORRY THIS GIRL

IVA MAY BABCOCK MAKES A HIT WITH EMPLOYER

Raised in a Ford and Shows Natives She Can Get Around Better Than the Men

The Tacoma News-Tribune, issue of July 11, contains a lengthy article concerning a former Charlevoix young girl that will interest many here at home, and may be the means of inspiring some other young lady to do at least as well, if not better. Following is what they say about Miss Babcock:

"Doing her bit on the bread wagon while the boys that once ran the truck, solicited orders, delivered bread and kept the car in repair, have gone a soldiering—that is Miss Iva May Babcock's idea of patriotism—and if holding down this man's size job to the complete satisfaction of her employers and customers is really doing her duty by her country in time of war, this 18-year-old miss is really one of Tacoma's most patriotic citizens.

"For many weeks up at the Barker bakery, where crisp, brown loaves, some of them with raisins in, are baked for wholesale distribution over the city, man succeeded man on the truck—one after another, they went to war or to the shipyards, until the problem of getting bread to Tacoma's hungry hordes became a trying one. Then came the solution when slim, energetic, ambitious, little Miss Babcock came along.

"Could she drive a truck? Well, rather—she was born in Michigan and raised in a Ford. Could she take care of the car? Certainly—she knew what every knock and squeak meant, and how to fix it. Did she think she could mend a tire if she had a puncture? She laughed at their fears.

And so it was settled.

For six weeks now, clad in khaki bloomers and jacket, a baker's cap jerked down over her coils of soft brown hair, she has buzzed around from one end of the city to the other covering her long route. She carries the huge trays of bread into the shops, pauses for a few cheery greetings, takes her orders for the following day's deliveries and then breezed on.

Fixes Blowouts

"She has tripled her route," said her proud employer, "and she does more and better work than any man we ever had. She keeps her car in perfect order. Only yesterday she had a blow-out, but she fixed it herself and soon was on her way again."

"Miss Babcock is a thorough believer that the sweethearts, sisters, wives mothers, cousins and aunts—in fact the whole kit and kaboodle of women folks left mournfully at home—should get into the game and keep the wheels of the world turning around while the men folks are taking their little trip to Europe to help the Kaiser decide on his boundary line.

"She realizes that it isn't every girl who could earn her own board and et ceteras driving a truck, but for herself, she can, and she much prefers it to a 'regular job' such as rolling up ribbon behind a counter or twiddling the keys of a typewriter in an office.

"I love to be out of doors and I've always driven a car," she said, as she explained how she chose this line of work.

Gets Early Start

"I came from Michigan only three months ago," she went on, with a twinkle in her eyes, in tribute to her native state as the birthplace of the universal car. "I can't remember when I couldn't drive a Ford. I can take it apart and put it together again. The rest is easy. The people are kind and the weather is nice, and I love the smell of the warm loaves. I have to go to work early in the morning—before 7 o'clock—but then I am through early in the afternoon, and that's very pleasant you see."

"In Miss Babcock's success is contained the suggestion for many a woman seeking employment and the solution of a problem that is bringing crow's feet to the corner of many a business man's eyes. The lily-like air of they-toil-not-neither-do-they-spin has put the poor weak woman attitude quite out of fashion. Women in elevators, women in railroad shops and factories, and women in every conceivable line of office and clerical work have already become familiar.

"Women who "just loved to drive a motor truck in France" are awakening to the fact that they can fill a patriotic duty by driving a motor truck at home.

"Here she is—the woman truck driver. All hail. She's mighty welcome, and, according to the merchants who are chuckling in their glee, there is room for a goodly number of her kind."

BOYS OF 16 MAY ENTER MARINES

WANTED AS BUGLERS AND DRUMMERS IN FRANCE

Thousands of Lads Longing for Chance to Serve Uncle Sam Are Given Chance

Thousands of western Michigan youths of sixteen and seventeen who have longed to enlist and fight against the Hun, side by side with their big brothers on the western front, have at last been given a chance to get into the big fight.

Sergeant Kamrick, in charge of United States Marine recruiting station at 220 Monroe avenue, Grand Rapids, has received orders from the Detroit headquarters to enlist immediately boys of sixteen and seventeen to serve as buglers and drummers with the marines in France.

The boys must be in good physical condition to pass a rigid examination, must be sons of American citizens, and the parents' consent for the boy to enlist must be received by the recruiter before a boy can be accepted.

The parents' consent must be executed in proper form and sworn to before a notary public. The boys will be sent to Paris Island, S. C., for training, but the marines still are in need of cooks and truck drivers.

TRAIN WRECK NEAR FIFE LAKE

Seven Freight Cars Piled Into Heap and Traffic Delayed

A freight wreck on the G. R. & I. railroad near Fife Lake on Friday morning of last week caused a delay of several hours on all trains going north and south. A broken flange on a carwheel was the trouble, which resulted in seven cars being piled up and considerable track damage.

G. R. & I. passenger trains running over the P. M. during the forenoon caused considerable wonderment here until the cause was explained. The track was repaired during the day and regular train schedule resumed.

DEATH TAKES J. H. ADAMS

HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH FOR FIVE YEARS

Was a Loyal and Public-Spirited Man and Will be Greatly Missed In Community

James Henry Adams, for years a prominent farmer of Marion township and one of the county's most respected citizens, died at 12:00 noon, Monday, following an illness of several years.

Mr. Adams had not been in good health for the past five years, but was able to be about most of the time until early in May, when he was confined to his bed.

Death had been expected for several days and the public generally knew of his serious condition, but the shock of the announcement was felt throughout the community.

James H. Adams was born September 7, 1846, in Wayne county, near Detroit. He removed from there with his family to Charlevoix in 1881, purchasing from Charlevoix county what was then known as the old County Farm, and has since made his home here.

Especially loyal and public spirited as a citizen, Mr. Adams has taken a deep interest in all that tends to serve the material prosperity of his home community and county. He served his township as supervisor for 11 consecutive years, as clerk for eight years, and was also township clerk for several years. As director of School Dist. No. 5, he served 25 consecutive years, giving his closest attention to the details of the work connected with each office. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, also a member of the Grange.

Mr. Adams was a staunch American and stood squarely behind the administration in this war. No more lovable man ever lived in this community, and his life was unselfish in the highest degree. Passing through his three score years he left a trail of sunshine, of self effacement, of service in the highest sense. The happiness of his friends, their successes and their joys found genuine reflection in his kindly eyes. He spoke well, or remained silent. He was glad of every success and full of sustaining hope in every reverse.

Besides his widow, the following children survive: Mrs. Robert Gregory, Miss Edith and son, Jay, who both live at the farm home. One son died in infancy, and a daughter at the age of 16 years.

Funeral services were held from the home Wednesday (today) at 2:30 p. m. The last rites of the Masonic fraternity for a departed brother were carried out at both home and graveside, assisted by the Reverend C. E. Taggart and A. G. Pontious.

MARRIED SATURDAY IN PETOSKEY

Bride and Groom Are Well Known In Charlevoix

William A. Houck and Miss Louise A. Macey of this city were married at the Presbyterian manse in Petoskey, Saturday evening by Rev. P. B. Ferris of the Presbyterian church. The young people were unattended.

The bride is a Charlevoix girl who has lived here practically all her life. The home of the groom is Cheboygan, but for the past year has been in the employ of the Courier as linotype operator. The young couple have the best wishes of their many friends.

HUNDREDS ON BATHING BEACH

Citizens Seek Relief From Hot Wave In Waters of Lake

Swimming was the order of the day Sunday afternoon and evening, and hundreds of resorters and residents of the city enjoyed the cool waters of Lake Michigan and Pine Lake to their heart's content.

Swimming and beach parties were enjoyed along the beach, many taking their suppers and spending the evening where the cool breezes of the lake counteracted the sweltering heat of the day and evening.

Sunday was the hottest day of the present season and indications are that the hot wave will last for several days. Reports from other states is that the heat is terrific, the thermometer registering as high as 110 in several places.

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

Farmers are very busy now-a-days, making hay and killing weeds and quack grass.

Rev. Dr. A. Rood and family of Copemish, motored up from near Bellaire. where they are camping, and called on old friends in Barnard last Thursday.

Word has been received that three Barnard boys, Ed. and Harry Potter and Howard Ball have been sent from Camp Custer to Camp Mills, Long Island, preparatory to overseas duty .

The chairman of the Red Cross Society of Barnard sent in this report of work accomplished: 10 1-2 pajama suits, 8 comfort kits and 8 pairs of socks. They expect soon to have the yarn to begin work on the sweaters.

Quite a large delegation attended the quarterly conferenee at Norwood last Friday. Tha proposition of changing Barnard into the Charlevoix eireuit was brought up and quite favorably discussed, but nothing definite can be decided until the annual conference.

The Rev. Dr. Kerr of Detroit preached at Barnard last Sunday. The Dr. is one of Michigan's foremost Methodist evangelists and will be with us again next Sunday, and may stay for the rest of the conference year. Everybody should be out to hear him next Sunday and we are sure that they will be more than repaid for their trouble.

HAYES

Nora Ward will make her home in the future with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Booth.

Mrs. Hinton of Petoskey came Thursday evening to the Jones Lewis home, called here by the death of her aunt.

Mrs. Chester Hagerman was called here Wednesday of last week, by the death of her sister, Mrs. Jones Lewis.

Mrs. Edna Patterson of Charlotte arrived Friday of last week and Mrs. Chester Hagerman and son, Oscar, also Joe and Nelson of Petoskey, arrived Saturday morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. Jones Lewis.

On Wednesday morning of last week Mrs. Pant called Mrs. Jones Lewis by phone and asked how she felt, having attended a grange meeting the preceeding evening. Mrs. Lewis stated that she felt somewhat better and believed her evening's entertainment had been beneficial to her. At 8:45 the news came to Mrs. Pant that she was dying. The end came very suddenly, almost without warning. It was a great shock to the entire community, although it was generally known that the end might come suddenly. Mrs. Lewis had been a member of Maple Grove grange, also Pomona grange for a number of years and had made close friends who will greatly miss her. The entire community extend their sympathy to those left to mourn their loss. A more complete obituary is published elsewhere in this issue.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning, all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

EVELINE

Eveline Farmers Club met as usual in the Walker school house on Friday evening, July 19. Among those who addressed the meeting were attorney E. N. Clink, of East Jordan, Mr. Cill of East Jordan and our county agent, Mr. Smith. The meeting was well attended and was enjoyed by all. Mr. Clink gave one of the best talks we have heard. Our next regular meeting will occur August 2. A good program is being arranged. It is expected that Prof. W. C. Lotta of Indiana, will be the principal speaker. Others will be added to the program, making it one well worth hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker were in Petoskey Sunday.

It looks now as though this might be a good year for beans, oats, buckwheat and potatoes, but corn is less promising, if possible, than a year ago when it was a total failure.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Allison, July 16, a daughter.

Mrs. A. L. Darbee returned home from Petoskey Sunday.

EAST CHANDLER AND THUMB LAKE

Robert A. Tousley is now cutting hay for Harvey Valance.

Some people of Owosso are now at the lake camping for a few days.

Frank Atkin and Wm. Clark, Jr., were Vanderbilt callers Saturday morning.

Frank Atkin went to Petoskey Sunday to have a visit with his sister, Martha.

Clarence Smithengell of Clarion, and family, visited at his parents home Sunday.

Carl Clark and Bert Walton and son, Ernest were Boyne City callers Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Clark and son, Leslie, were guests at the Forest Ashman home Sunday.

George Cadwell has purchased a stone crusher near Gaylord to finish the state reward road here.

Elsie Davis is now at home for the summer, from Vanderbilt, where she has been working in the chair factory.

Al. Smithengell and niece, Bertha Wittum of Flint, are now visiting James Smithengell for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Tainter and daughters, also Miss Alice Tainter of Boyne City, were visitors at the Wm. Hughes home Sunday.

Harry Smithengell, Miss Bertha Wittum and Elsie Davis were present at the dance in the Gleaner hall near Vanderhilt, Friday evening.

Cecil Hughes and Wm. Clark, Jr., were Alanson visitors Sunday. We congratulate them for missing their train and having to walk part way.

Announcement

To the Electors of Charlevoix County:

I will be a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds for second term. If my work for the past two years has been satisfactory I would appreciate your support at the primary election held August 27, 1918.

THE CADDIE COLUMN

(A column edited by the Caddie master for the purpose of sharpening the caddies' interest in their work and keeping parents in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

Here are some financial facts concerning the week ending last Saturday evening: The boys earned $345.30 during the week and contributed $6.60 to the Red Cross and invested $13.00 in Thrift Stamps in the same length of time. The heaviest day in the week was Thursday the 18th, in which there were 127 players and the boys harvested $67.40 for their services.

Nothing has been said as yet about the excursion this year. Of course there will be one, but the trip will probably be made to some point on Pine Lake as there is no large boat convenient, and also it would be foolish to spend as much money for a boat as it would cost to bring one from Petoskey, Harbor Springs or somewhere else. The caddie master will begin making definite arrangements for the outing about the first of August. Girls registered as caddies will be given a supper instead of an excursion.

Sometime in August, at the height of the season, Mr. Priest will take a group picture of the entire caddie force—boys, girls, flags and all. The picture will be a "classy" one, and will be published in the Golfer's Magazine this fall, together with a statement of money contributed to the Red Cross, invested in Thrift Stamps and saved in the banks during the season. Caddies are doing these things all over the country, and we shall not be behind.

After a course of preliminary instructions covering a week and a half, eight girls were registered as caddies last Friday evening and given work Monday morning. The presence of girls on the course as registered caddies makes this week unique in the history of the links. If the experiment works, boys who continually miss their turns and in other ways show that they cannot be depended on, can look to lose out. Tha girls will be given letters instead of numbers. The eight already 'lettered" are: Irmatrude Sanford, Beulah Sweitzer, Isabel Sweitzer, Eleanore Kelterhouse, Delia Holland, Ida Curtis, Ruby Babcock and Luella Woods. Instructions will he continued this week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday at five o'clock, for those who wish it.

John Woods, Mark Smith, Geo. Higman, Melvin Bacon, Clinton Sanford and Bradley Atchison were the professional's caddies last week. Frank Krulik has the job all this week. This position is awarded each Saturday for the following week for good service and behavior.

Our friend, the printer, got one too many figures in our Red Cross subscription last week. It was $6.20 not $16.20.

Clinton Sanford (60) made a valuable find as he was going around the course last Monday morning. He found a watch-chain and locket for which a reward of $10.00 was offered. This is the largest reward that has fallen to any caddie since Lee Young and Will Grigham found a diamond setting, and received $15.00 for their luck. This was in 1913.

The girl caddies are reminded that they are entitled to all the privileges that the boys have in the way of saving prizes. They will be paid ten per cent on savings in the bank, and on Thrift Stamps bought of the caddie master.

THE WEEKLY TIP

Right Now

"Right Now" is the very best time in which to do things. People who are always planning to do this, that or the other good thing in the future, but never start doing it, finally die without ever having done much to make it very important whether they died or didn't.

Napoleon said the reason he whipped the Austrians was that they did not know the value of five minutes. In the same way the reason that so many people have to be supported in their old age by others; the reason that so many people never get the education they need; the reason that so many people are continually losing opportunities of all sorts is that they do not know the value of "Right Now."

"Right Now" is the time to commence saving your money for the fall and winter and to quit spending it on needless and worthless things. Right now is the time to commence investing your money in Thrift and War Savings Stamps; right now is the time to begin working for the prizes to be given in September; right now is the time to begin doing the things that will make a man or woman of you, and to quit doing the things that won't.

"Right Now" is the only time that is yours. The past is gone and the future isn't here yet. It is good to look ahead and plan, but "Right Now" is the time to begin earning, saving and living right. Success is looking hard for "Right Now" people. Are you going to be one?

OUR APOLOGY TO THE DEVIL

We have been calling the kaiser names, and in a way, it does seem childish, doesn't it. Beeause the kaiser is just the kaiser, just one of 60 million Germans and largely the produet of hia heritage nnd his envlronment.

But on the other hand, ho is the emblem, the symbol of ths idea whicb the Germans have set up and consequently we are entitled to use him as a convenient target.

But quite aside from this impersonal idea, there is a personality of the kalser which we have been comparing to that of the devil, and so now we'd like to apologize to the devil. We don't pretend to know any more about his Satanic Majesty (meaning the devil, not the kaiser) than other people do, but this much aeems clear; he is the embodiment of evil in the world. Being such, he is not responsible for himself. As long as evil exists in the world, in various forms, and we want to condense it to a personality, some peraonality has to stand for it, and we have elected the devil. 'Tisn't exactly his fault. Aa far as we know, he wasn't even a candidate for the poeition. His's the embodiment of evil. He's the devil; that'a all.

That's as bad as can be! you say. It would seem so, but not quite. The kaiser goes the devil one better, Joking? Not a bit of it. We say it deliberately. Ths kaiser is woree than ths devil. And here's proof.

The devil is content to bs ths embodiment of evil. He is frnnkly aad candidly of evil. He's not a sneak, a cur, a coward. He doesn't dodge his own evil. He's not a Hypocrite!

But the kaiser! He blamee his devilishness on God. He kaeps claiming that Deity is reaponsible for his wars, his murders, his schreeklichkeit. This is nothing new in him. All through his enreer he has claimed to be the War Lord, the Divine Choice and Voice, until "Me und Gott" becamo a provorb at least 20 years ngo.

The kaiser had a choice between war and peace, between good and ovil, between eivilization and schreeklichkeit. He deliberately chose ths worso in every instance. He is damned of his own election.

Not so the devil. His worst enemies have never accused him of bragging about "Me und Gott." By the vote of the world we made him Emperor of Hell and we kesp him him there. We'll leave it to a vote of the world whether Bill Hohenzollern shall remain Emperor of Germany.

So if ever we have compared the kalser to the devil, we apologize—to the devil. The devil is the devil, but the kaiser is the kaiser.

RESPECT FOR OLD GLORY

It will seem atrange to the people of some communities to read complaints of residents of other communitiea that when the U. S. flag passes in a parade most of the by-standers fail to take off their hats. Observance of this means of showing respect for the national emblem is very largely a matter of local custom. In some communities the people have become accustomed, through tactful leadership, to uncover when the "Star Spangled Banner" is being played, or when the flag is passing in a parade. In other communities no such custom has been established. To fail to uncover, under the latter eircumstances, is no indication of lack of patriotism or respect for the flag. It is no more no less than a failure to recognize the lifting of the hat as a necessary expression of patriotic feeling. In some communities it is the almost universal practice of men to take off their hats when in the same elevator with a woman, while in other communities no such practice prevails. In the latter case the failure to remove the hat could not by any means be construed to be an indication of lack of respect for womanhood.

The practice of uncovering and standing at attention during the playing of the national anthem or during the passing of the flag in parade is one that should be encouraged by every proper means. It is a practice very generally taught in the schools, in Boy Scout organizations, and by managers of theatres. Theu tendency of general ogservance bf the custom is certain to be beneficial, though no man's real patriotism can be measured by his outward manifestations. In aay event, nothing is to be gained by scolding and casting slurs at those who have not been trained to look upon this an an essential act on the part of a loyal American eitizen. Many a man who never lifted his hat to the flag until required to do so by military regulations will follow that flag to a hero's death between Paris and Berlin.

MEN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

More than 700 slackers who had failed to register or otherwise to comply with the provisions of the Selective Draft Law were rounded up in the recent raids in Chicago. A total of 10,000 young men were netted by the police. Many who had fully lived up to their patriotie obligations to tbe nation were unjustly dragged to jail until proof of their standing could be obtained. But with the splendid patriotic spirit which has inspired Americens of the draft age since our entrance into the war, there was scarce a protest. Ths discomfort aad embarrassment were taken pbilosophically, for as ons is quoted: "We enn stand n little of this stuff, if they'll get the sleckers." Americans have an utter contempt for the young man who seeks by any means to avoid the servics he fairly owes his country. The draft has been in force long enough so that all know there are no injustices. Men are being called to servico who nre able to go, whose absence will least upset the economic welfare of ths eommunity. Ths man of draft age wbo fails to fulfill his obligations is in truth a man without a country. His cowardice nnd duplicity will react againat himself. So long as our aoldiers are fighting Freedom's battlea he will be an outeast, aad when the strife ends in victory he will be forsver ostraeised from ths companionahip of honorable men.

IS YOUR LIFE A HARD ONE?

Do you people at home feel at timos that this war hes mads your life pretty hard? Read what an American correspondent writes nbout ons of our boys who had been doing his duty:

"In u little field hospital west of Montdider I atopped at the bedside of an American boy, one of those vietims of the German mustard gas, with which the Huns are making all their present gains. His eyes were matted with yallow pus and he could not see. His face was terribly burned. His lips were swollen and purple. His whole body had been turned the color of an Indian, and portions of it looked liked melted flesh, as though it had been liquefied.

"The fighting had been renewed all along the American lines and German wounded had begun coming into our hospitals. I said to this soldier:

"The boys are getting their rsvenge for you fellows tonight." He smiled through his seared lips, and in a voice so faint that I had to bend down to listen, he gasped, 'God! I wish I was back there with 'em!'"

Do you still think your life n hard one?

Help support that boy and ths hundreds of thousands of others doing their duty. Buy War Savings Stamps to the limit of your cnpacity.

Prof. T. N. Carver of Harvard university, says: "Anyone who, in these days of impending doom, buys anything whieh he does not need for his health, strength, or efficiency is hiring someone to do something which is unnecessary. He is hiring some one to stay out of the essential industries. He is competing with the government for materials and man power which it needs to win the war and preserve the liberties of mankind."

Russia is slowly waking up to the fact that the Kaiser is one man with whom it is impossible to live at peace.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble—Neutralizes acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent litbia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Announcement

I wish to inform the voters that I am a candidate for the offiee of Prosecuting Attorney of this county on the Republican ticket and ask the support of those who believe that if I should be elected the legal affairs of the county will be properly and carefully attended to.

Should I be elected I will endeavor to investigate all claims before issuing process when practicable so as to avoid all unnecessary expense to the taxpayers.

I am a graduate of the Michigan State Normal College and of the law department of the University of Michigan and for three years was prineipal of the Charlevoix High school. I have been engaged in the practice of law in this county for the past five years; supervisor from East Jordan the past three years; a resident of this county for eight of the past ten years and I am familiar with county governmental eonditions.

29tf. DWIGHT L. WILSON.

Notice

As many have inquired of ms, to learn if I would be a candidate for the nomination of Prosecuting Attorney thia year, I wish to announce at this time to all ths electors of the county that I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination at the August primaries. And I also wish to express my appreciation to the electors for the favorable manner in which they received my candidacy in the past.

Yours,
ROLLIE L. LEWIS,
23tf. Proseeuting Attorney.

Announcement

To the voters of Charlevoix County:

LEST WE FORGET

"We regrat being unable on this occasion to follow the counsel of our masters, the French, but the American flag has been forced to retire. This is unendurable and none of our soldiers would understand their not being asked to do whatever is necessary to re-estnblish a situation which is humillating to us and unacceptable to our country's honor. We are going to counter attack."

While glorying in the splendid showing of our hoys who have gone "over there," let us not forget the sacrifices that they are making, nor should we be tempted to delude ourselves with a notion that our boys are going to parade to Berlin.

Remember, we are only beginning to fight and many weary heart-breaking days of unremitting toil and continuous struggle will be the portion of our boys. Many a strongly fortified German position yet remains to be captured before the war will be over. Temporary checks is only one of the fortunes of war, and must be expected, hut our boys may be depended upon to re-estnblish the situation.

The war is being fought in Europe, but we also have a battle that must be won right here at home. We must do whatever is necessary to re-establish a situation which must be humiliating to any red-blooded American.

German propaganda in America in a thousand insidious ways is still carried on—we must establish a thorough-going Americanism that will render this work abortive. Under the German cnmouflage of its "cultural" value, German text books are still permitted to be used in some of our schools supported by the money of American citizens. The old style politician is still attempting to play the old game of log rolling politics, and which if permitted to continue would result in turning our entire war program into a hideous farce.

We still have a larger anti-social and anti-American element in our population than it is pleasnnt to admit. This element must be made over—converted to a loyal Americanism.

But the impending situation is the political one—the records of the men who aspire for public office this year must be such as will prove them to be thoroughly American. These things we must do if we are to develop a civilization worthy of the boys who are going over.

Let us clean house at home while our boys are clenning up on Kaiserism.

DOING YOUR BIT

A Much Misunderstood English Expression

The American people are so accustomed to the superlative in expressing even fleeting emotion, that they fail to understand at this distance the fondness of the English for depreciating their most laudable achievement. For instance, the writer met a youthful scion of one of the finest families of old England, who come up from one of the provinces, with his polo pony. When quizzed as to his plans, he had bought his commission, furnished his own horse and paid twenty-five pounds for the privilege of going over the channel to fight for his country and his King. He called it "doing his bit." He was killed at the battle of the Marne.

A grizzled old veterno of an honored name was found doing the work of checking clerk at one of the channel supply stations. He had lost his youngest son at the Marne, the oldest son had seen three years service as a surgeon in the field hospitals of France, another son, the remaining one, was serving with the Mediterranean fleet. The wife at home in London was busily engaged in welfare work for the benefit of the girl munition workers.

His family were only doing "their bit" was the way he expressed it.

Some of our boys have caught this habit of depreciating, as one young chap who bore an honorable part with the marines at Chateau Thierry when interviewed as to his part and description of the engagement his reply was, "Oh, it's just mud and guns and men, lots of noise and gas and the acid fumes from the exploded shells, and you just carry on like the rest of the fellows. My but they were a fine bunch."

the Madison Square Garden exhibition, New York. The following year she captured seven second prizes at various shows, all in the Single Comb Black Minorca class.

In 1915, however, during the molting period, she began to turn white. She molted three consecutive periods, becoming whiter each time, until in January, 1916, she became snow white—shanks, toe nails and beak. In September she was awarded second hen ribbon at New York state fair and later first hen prize at Brockton, Mass. Then she was sent to the winter show at Madison Square Garden, where she was awarded third hen prize. These last three awards were made in the Single Comb White Minorca class. There is no record of a bird winning in one color as a pullet and then returning in three years or any time and winning in the same showroom in the opposite color as a hen. To recapitulate, in 1913 she was awarded fourth pullet in the Single Comb Black Minorca class at Madison Square Garden, and in 1916 she was awarded third hen in the Single Comb White Minorca class at the same place, an unprecedented record.

MADISON GIRL AS A PURE WHITE MINORCA

POTATO CROP IN DANGER

BLACK LEG AND BLIGHT REPORTED IN COUNTY

Cases Widely Distributed and Is Caused by Planting Infected Seed

Considerable trouble is being experienced among the farmers with their potato crops. Black Leg, Blight etc., seems to be very common during the present season and steps must be taken immediately for it's control. The number of cases is very widely distributed in the fields and can be blamed to but one thing: the use of infected seed.

The Black Leg especially is a disease which requires immediate attention if it is to be stamped out. The affected seed when planted in the ground communicated the disease to the sprout and under favorable conditions the plant will be killed within a very short time, sometimes before the end of the first month or the disease may progress more slowly.

Black Leg is a good deal like blight in one respect: it will sprend much wore rapidly in warm wet seasons than under other conditions. Very little is known of the nature of the disease from the standpoint of the casual organism. It is probably carried from the infected plant by the washing of water or the insects, in some instances cultivation acts as a carrying agency.

About the only control that is possible in the control of Black Leg is to select seed that is free from infection. Wherever this disease is detected the plants should be carefully pulled out, carried from the field and destroyed. This will prevent the spreading of the disease to the other plants.

Blight may be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture. The plants should be sprayed every 10 days or two weeks beginning when the tops are eight or 10 inches high, especially in a section where blight has been prevalent in the past. If it has not been common to the section, the protective sprays may be neglected but otherwise the plants should be sprayed every 10 or 14 days apart. When the top has blackened and the foliage wilted, it is too late to cure but when seen in the early stages, it may be prevented by spraying with the Bordeaux.

This mixture is what is commonly known as 4450 and is made up as follows: (for making 25 gallons.) put two pounds of Bluestro (called Blue Vitriol or copper sulphate) in a cloth sack and hang over night in one half tub of water (12 1-2) gallons. Bluestone dissolves slowly. Hang is so that the sack is just under the surface of the water.

Make a lime paste by slaking two pounds of fresh stone lime in one-half pail of water. Stir this into the half tub (12 1-2 gallons) of cold water. Hydrated lime (comes in sacks) may be used. Use 2 1-2 to three pounds of hydrated lime. Both of these solutions will keep if properly covered. Mix the two and use at once in sprayer.

Bulletins covering potnto diseases and cures may be obtained by applying at the County Farm Bureau offices in the Chamber of Commerce, Boyne City.

R. R. Crossing Repaired

The P. M. railroad crossing near the D. M. Ferry seed warehouse has been repaired and placed in excellent condition. The planking has been extended a number of feet, making a former unsafe crossing quite passable. The work was done under the management of the city street committee.

TIME EXTENDED FOR PASSING SENTENCE

Transcript of Blossat Case as Passed on by Court

Last week we made brief mention of the postponment of sentence in the Blossat case, and on account of the volume of matter to handle did not give the reasons for postponement. Following is the transcript of the case as prepared and passed upon by the court::

State of Michigan,
Circuit Court for County of Charlevoix.
The People of State of Michigan.
vs.
Cora E. Blossat, Defendant.

It is hereby stipulated and agreed by and between R. L. Lewis, Prosecuting Attorney and Lisle Shanahan and J. M. Harris, attorneys for the respondent, that the time be extended for passing sentence to enable the respondent to complete her appeal for the following reasons:

1. Since the verdict was rendered in said cause that the respondent has been diligently trying to obtain money for the purpose of securing the transcript of the testimony for making her appeal in said cause, and that for the last two months the respondent had assurances, from what the respondent considered reliable sources, that the money would be provided by which the respondent could take the appeal.

2. That the respondent relied upon from time to time receiving the money but has not received it. And on Friday of last week, it became apparent to her that she would not receive the money from the sources from which the respondent had been relying and expecting, and that the respondent immediately turned to other sources and on the following Tuesday, July 16th, late in the evening, the respondent succeeded in raising and now has some two hundred dollars, the amount necessary to secure a transcript of the testimony taken upon the trial.

3. That the respondent has been advised by her counsel that her case is such as in their judgment, it is likely to be reversed for errors which the counsel claims exists on the record, and R. L. Lewis, Prosecuting Attorney, has advised the counsel that he would consent to an extension of the time for perfecting the appeal that the case can be reviewed in the Supreme Court after sentence, as well as before sentence, and no unnecessary delay is caused by the said continuance.

Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, July 17th, 1918.

ROLLIE L. LEWIS,
Prosecuting Attorney.
LISLE SHANAHAN,
J. M. HARRIS,
Attorneys for Respondent.

LIBRARY NOTES

Books placed in circulation this week: "Three Men of Judea" by Henry S. Stix. In presenting this book to the library, Mr. Stix says: "It is the hope that this little book may in a small measure diminish the prejudice against my people. It is ignorance that has created a wall of antagonism between Jew and Christian. If I could break down this barrier between two great religions and help to reconcile their differences, I would consider my humble efforts a great reward for many thoughtful hours I have spent in seeking out the true history of "Three Men of Judea, John, Jesus and Paul" who have most to do with the founding of the Christian Religion." Mr. Stix is a well known Charlevoix summer visitor, having spent the past six or seven summers in the city.

In the Race For Value All Wool Always Wins!

Two Reasons Why All Wool Always Wins

The first reason is in the way they tailor—you get better fit and style. All-wool suits hold their shape and are stylish as long as you wear them.

The second reason is in the long wear they'll give you. All-wool fabrics render greater service and satisfaction. They save you money because you don't have to buy so often.

SOME FISHERMAN -THIS MAN

MAKES PUBLIC SECRET OF HIS WONDERFUL CATCHES

Catching Twenty-Eight Pounders an Everyday Event—Has Surplus of Tackle

Two years ago Wm. Louisells moved from the Bentley Hill neighborhood to a farm near Phelps, said farm being on the shores of Lake No. 26, and of course as Mr. Louiselle is a fisherman, he puts in all his spare time on the lake.

Soon reports began to come in of wonderful catches made by him. Following on the heels of such reports, all fishermen for mile around would flock to "Twenty-six" but for some reason the fish would refuse to bite.

It soon became noised around that "Bill" had some secret system on the order of "Black Magic" by which he achieved such wonderful success, and following the report last week that he had captured an eighteen and one-half pound grass pike, a committee was appointed to call on Mr. Louiselle and endeavor to worm from him his secret.

William was in his back yard when found by the committee. He had been on the lake that morning and was just classifying and tagging the contents of the stomach of a twenty-seven pounder which had fallen under the influence of his hypnotic powers during his thirty minutes of reercation.

The committee waited long enough to see a collection of artificial baits which would stock a first class fishing tackle store. Among other things were seven Dowagiacs, nine Wilson Wobblers, four Crab Wigglers, two Tangos, two Stump Dodgers and about two dozen red flies. Mr. Louiselle, who is an authority on such things, say they had been in the fish's stomach about ten days and probably had belonged formerly to a party of Chicago fishermen who were stopping at the Liberty home at Ellsworth and had reported loosing these things during the preceeding week while fishing at Twenty Six.

After "Bill" had his fish dressed and the hams and shoulders safely hanging in his smoke house, he rolled a cigarette and in a few words gave his formula for making big catches. He claims hooks and lines are old stuff—not used by our best people at this time.

The tackle he uses is simply a few large sponges, a cedar pole about eight feet long, a short steel cable and a pair of skidding tongs. On reaching the lake with his outfit he rows to one of the runways of the big fellows, and using the pole he punches a hole into the lake. After this is done in a workmanlike manner, he sprinkles the sponges (which must be thoroughly dry) on the surface of the lake near the hole and then pulls away a short distance and sits in the shade.

Mr. Fish soon sees the hole in the water and comes up to the surface. Mr. Louiselle claims sponges are natural feed and of course the first thing the fish does when coming up is to eat all these delecacies in sight.

The salt makes them thirsty and after about two drinks the poor fellow is so badly swollen at the belt line that he cannot get back down the hole. The rest is easy. A few minutes in the hot sun and the victim is sound asleep and all our hero has to do is sneak up and fasten the tongs onto him and tow his ashore. Sometimes when the fish is too large to use the tongs on, Mr. Louiselle waits until his victim dies from sunstroke.

Mr. Louiselle claims this is the first time he has ever made the secret of his success public, and trusts that other fishermen wishing to try the experiment will choose some lake other than the one at Phelps.

ELLSWORTH LOCALS

L. VanSkiver sold his car to Ralph VanderHeide, one day last week.

Miss Kate Ardema is working at the W. A. Boss home at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Best and family of Alden visited Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Wm. Patterson.

Amasa Brown, wife and two children of Kalamazoo, visited Friday at the home of Mr. Brown's sister, Mrs. Frank Pearl.

The carpenters have finished work on the G. VanderArk barn and left Wednesday for Bay Shore where they have a job awaiting them.

Mrs. Lila Kiddy of Becknell, Ind., and Miss Mabel Madill arrived Tuesday for a few weeks visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benp. Madill.

E. H. Maltby of Bellaire was an Ellsworth visitor one day last week. Mr. Maltby is a candidate for sheriff to be voted for at the August primaries.

John Rushnell of Alba has announced himself as a candidate for sheriff of Antrim county and was in town on an advertising campaign one day last week.

Mr. Creamer of Charlevoix, A. H. Fox of Cincinnati, Ohio, R. A. Groham of Evansville, Ind., und J. A. Butler of Kansas City, Mo., were among the fishermen stopping at the Now Orient the past week.

Tracey Boss has moved into one of the F. H. Skow houses on Main street and Stuart Baar is papering and painting the house vacated by Mr. Boss and will move his family here from Central Lake in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. George Klooster and son, Elmer, left on Saturday of last week for Chicago where they will visit two or three weeks. On their way home they will stop for a few days at Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

During the storm of last Thursday evening, lightning struck the residences of A. Senkos and Frank LaLonde, near neighbors, living about four miles east of Ellsworth on the East Jordan road. No one was injured however, and practically little damage was done in either case.

The Y. M. C. A. camp on Torch Lake sent their ball team over last week and walked away on the long end of a 7-4 score from a bunch of the fellows from around here. They expect to be here again some time in August and possibly it will be a different story then.

The organization of a Farmers Co-operative Association at Ellsworth failed to materialize at the meeting at the Blue Hall last Wednesday night on account of there being too few farmers lined up. County Agent Cribbs will be here again next Monday night, however, and it is hoped that by that time something may be done.

The Congregational church was filled to capacity last Sunday evening, when Dr. Wentworth F. Stewart of Boston delivered one of his famous lectures on the war and the causes leading up to America's entrance into it. Dr. Stewart is one of the best, if not the best, speakers in the entire country, and but for the fact that he is spending the summer resting in Charlevoix his presence on this occasion could not have been secured.

IT PAYS TO USE FERTILIZER

CROP PRODUCTION GIVES EVIDENCE OF ITS WORK

Atwood Farmer Makes Experiment In Oat Field With Most Astonishing Results

John Bos of Atwood brought in two samples af oats last Saturday which are a fine example of what good, scientific farming can accomplish.

This spring Mr. Bos after carefully preparing a field for oats, used Swift's fertilizers on a part of the field and sowed without fertilizing an the other part. The part not fertilized is a strip about fifteen feet wide clear across the field.

The samples brought in consists of thirty average stalks taken from the fertilized section and thirty average stalks taken from that part which was unfertilized, the two samples growing not more than five feet apart. The oats are the new "College Success," grown for the first time this year in this section. Following are some of the qualifications of each.

Those grown without fertilizer: The stalks average about twenty-eight inches in height; heads from 3 1-2 to five inches long with from fifteen to twenty-eight kernels to the head. Those grown where fertilizer was used average from forty-two to forty-eight inches in height; the heads are from 8 1-2 to twelve inches long and have from fifty to sixty kernels each.

A person will have to talk loud and fast from now on to convince Mr. Bos that commercial fertilizer is not a success.

ATWOOD

J. H. Smith has been spending the past week helping with the work on his farm here.

Ralph J. VanderHeide bought a Ford touring car of L. VanSkiver of Ellsworth.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

10. Wilfully advocate, teach, defend or suggest the doing of any of the acts or things above enumerated.

DELAYED REPORT IS MADE

COUNTY NATIONAL DEFENSE COMMITEE COMPLETE WORK

Three Thousand Seven Hundred and Forty-One Women in County Have Registered

The Charlevoix County Committee of the Council of National Defense, Michigan Division, are glad at last to report the registration of this county. Returns were delayed for some time, but the work was nevertheless well done. Three thousand seven hundred forty-one registrants among the women of Charlevoix county bespeaks an almost one hundred per cent county. The few who through ignorance or stubbornness failed or refused to register are being listed and reached in every way possible.

But the committee is proud to report to State Headquarters in Kalamazoo that the city of East Jordan registered 411 and surrounding rural districts 159, making a total of 570; that the city of Charlevoix registered 729 and surrounding rural districts 365, making a total of 1,094 that the city of Boyne City registered 1,010 and surrounding rural territory registered 336, making a total of 1,346; that Boyne Falls and surrounding rural territory registered 195, and Beaver Island 170, making in all the grand total as above stated, 3,741.

The cards are now being corrected and will be tabulated and listed occupationally and will be permanently on file at County Headquarters of the Council of National Defense under the care of the secretary, Miss Belle Roy of East Jordan.

The State Headquarters have sent orders that the chairman, Miss Stewart, is to appoint a committee on placement. Whenever the country is in need of help the county quota of each division of labor will be sent to this committee and they will be required to fill the quota from the volunteers who have expressed their preference in the cards which they have filled out. For instance, suppose our country is in need of 100,000 munition workers and State Headquarters figures up and decides that our county quota of munition workers is 32 women, the committee on placement will look through the cards and discover which women have registered as volunteers in factory work and which women have said they could go anywhere in the United States, these women will then be notified that they will be wanted for war service and be instructed as to when and where they are to appear for work.

It is to be hoped that unless very good reasons interfere with their former choice of labor that every woman will stand back of her registration and that the general public will bring pressure to bear such that new volunteers will appear for esch line of labor in which there is need.

The Pride of the U. S. A.

If you had a boy and I had a boy,
And both were of man's estate,
And the country called for our only joy,
Would either of us be late
In sending all that we held so dear
To the fiery, flamin' front?
No! Not while the call for men came clear
To share in the nation's brunt.
You'd give your lad and I'd give my lad,
And then we would kneel and pray
And thank our God that both of us had Such manhood to give away.
Well, she had a boy, and he had a boy,
And both put their trust in Fate.
Till the clarion call of war's annoy
Came over the peaceful state.
Then mother and father loosed their chains
On the hearts they had ever held,
And no one dreamed or knew the pains
That deep in their bosoms dwelled;
For she gave her lad, and he gave his lad,
And all through the livelong day
Two hearts were breaking, and yet were glad They'd manhood to give away.
Oh, a sailor's a boy and a soldier's a boy
In the eyes of the maiden fair,
And hearts like these are without alloy
In the crucible Over There.
So we'll pledge tonight to the nation's brave—
The mothers and fathers and all—
To the sisters and sweethearts and wives who gave
Their men to the solemn call;
And to those lads, each a wonderful lad,
Our heroes who go away,
We'll toast again, "To the Service Clad,
The Pride of the U. S. A."

The Submarine is Centuries Old
On Sale at all Goodrich Brooches and Depots
GOODRICH SAFETY TREAD
CONTRARY to common belief, seacraft traveled under water at least 300 years, and probably 3000, before John Holland's submarine.
James I., in 1621, took a submarine trip several miles long, in a submarine invented by Cornelius Van Drebbel. Van Drebbel's craft was a true navigating submersible, made water-tight by greased leather, and propelled by twelve oarsmen, who rowed with oars fitted through water-tight holes in the hull.
Though the submarine in its development has appeared in a hundred fantastic forms, the automobile tire has matched it in freakish inventions.
Goodrich's clear-sighted direction was needed to hold it to principles of usefulness, and produce—
GOODRICH
SERVICE VALUE TIRES
Gondrich loyalty to practical service was logical, for Goodrich values tires solely by SERVICE VALUE.
Goodrich judges tires solely by what they do for you on your car and on the road in easy riding, economy, dependability and durability.
Therefore, Goodrich, in the twenty-two years it has directed the destinies of automobile tires, has worked and watched to put SERVICE VALUE into its tires, SILVERTOWN CORDS or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, and to keep it there.
SERVICE VALUE in tires is in harmony with the thrifty spirit of the times. Be thrifty by demanding Goodrich Service Value Tires.

Resolutions of Charlavoix County Bar Association Upon the Death of Robert W. Kane

The death of Robert W. Kane, long and uctive and respected member of the bar of this state, occurred Friday, July 12th. In the death of Mr. Kane the bar of Charlevoix county, and this community, have suffered a distinct loss. He was known and appreciated by his fellow practitioners aa a close student, a hard and conscientious worker in his profession, and aa a courteous gentleman. While possessing a splendid knowledge of fundamentul principles, it noticnbly in his ability to make application of the precedents in the law that he came to he recognized as one of the strong men of his profession. The deceased was born in Galesburg, Illinois, June 5th, 1856, and was admitted to the bar May 17, 1888. In his earlier practice he was associuted with our present Circuit Judge, Honoruble Frederick W. Mayno at Charlevoix. Later he was Identified with the late Andrew D. Cruikshank. During the past twenty-two years hns has kept separate office in the general practice.

He was a public spirited citizen, taking always, a keen interest in the affairs of his community, the state and nation. Although never aspiring to public office, he was called to numerous positions of public trust, serving as a member of the Board of Education, and several terms as City Attorney of Charlevoix. Up to a short time before his death he was chairman of the Charlevoix County War Board and in this position was markedly efficient and enthusiastic. His patriotism knew no bounds and his untiring zeal and hard work brought hearty words of commendation from those who knew of his labors and the sacrifices he had made. The task drew heavily upon his physical strength and in the opinion of his friends, no doubt hastened the workings of a malady of long standing of the existence of which even his closest advisors knew but little.

And Whereas, It is fitting that the members of this Bar Association should pay fitting tribute to the memory of the departed.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Charlevoix County Bar Association that we give expression of our feeling of profound grief and sorrow in this bereavement and convey to the family and friends of the deceased an evidence of our dearest and heartiest sympathy. and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this resolution be spread at length upon the minutes of this Association and that the same be moved upon the records of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix at the first day of the next term of the court and a copy hereof presented to the family of the deceased.

Adopted at a meeting of the Charlevoix County Bar Association held in the Court Room in the City of Charlevoix, Monday, July 15th, A. D., 1918.

J. M. HARRIS, Pres.

A. L. FITCH, Secretary.

The First Envelope.

The first envelope of which there is any knowledge inclosed a letter sent in 1696 by Sir William Turnbull to Sir James Ogilvie. The epistle, with its covering, is still preserved in the British museum. At that period, and long afterward, it was the general custom to fold letters and seal them with wax. Early in the last century envelopes began to come into more general use, and stamped envelopes achieved wide popularity in England shortly after the establishment of the penny post in 1840. By 1850 they were largely used on this side of the Atlantic.

Digging.

It is seldom that men discover rich mines without digging. Nature commonly lodges her treasures and jewels in rock ground. If the matter be knotty and the sense lie deep, they must stop and buckle to it, and stick upon it with labor and thought and close contemplation, and not leave it until they have mastered the difficulty and got possession of the truth.—Locke.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble—Neutralizes acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

Local Postmaster Receives Bulletin Telling How Letters From France Are Handled

Charlevoix people who fail to receive responses to letters written to men in France after waiting a few weeks, are urged by Otto Praeger, assistant postmaster general, to exercise a little more patience inasmuch as it requires an average of 30 days to deliver mail to men abroad.

The following extract is taken from a bulletin relating to mail shipment received recently by postmaster, T. G. Finucan.

"Mail for American troops stationed in England is transmitted by the postoffice department to the army postoffice, London, England, which gives the mail to the proper military authorities for delivery to the addresses.

"Mail for the Americans who may be serving in the English, the Canadian or the French army, is dispatched as foreign mail to the postal service of the foreign government with which such American is identified, and the delivery of such mail is effected by such government.

Handled by U. S. Army

"Mail for members of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, including civilians and independent organizations attached to the American Expeditionary Forces, is handled by the United States army postal service, which delivers the mail in bulk to the proper military mail authorities, who undertake the delivery of the letters, papers, or parcels to the individuals to whom they are addressed. All mail for the American Expeditionary Forces in France is made up in this country to companies and others units and under military regulations is delivered by the postal authorities in France to the regular military mail orderlies or their agents, who upon returning to the camps or stations of the troops, undertake the delivery of this mail to the individuals to whom it is addressed, or if they can not deliver it, undertake to have it sent to such other unit to which the addresses may have been transferred. Should an addressee not be known in the regiment his letters are returned to the postal authorities, who endeavor to locate him at the general military headquarters. Should the addressee have been transferred to some other unit the mail orderlies are under instructions to re-address his letters to the proper unit. Every effort is being made by the American authorities in France to effect, as promptly as war conditions admit, the delivery of mail for our troops.

30 Days for Transmission

"Complaints as to delay or failure to deliver letters, papers or parcels arise, in the main, from the fact that persons communicating with our troops do not take into consideration that approximately 30 days are required from the time of mailing for a letter to reach the addressee, owing to the disturbed ocean traffic. By far the larger part of the mail is taken to France on the army transports, which, of necessity, must give preference to men and supplies, and the movement of mail across the water consequently is very irregular. Again the railroad transportation in France is strained to the utmost to meet military needs. Many persons who have complained to the postoffice department have later advised that the mail is reaching the persons to whom it is addressed in a satisfactory manner. Their original complaints were due to not allowing sufficient time for their letters to get across and the answers to return.

"Another cause of complaint is due to the insufficient manner in which letters are addressed. Thousans of communications as well as parcels, reach the military terminals with an insufficient address, and weeks must sometimes elapse before it is possible to obtain the necessary information to complete the address. The English and French governments refuse to forward letters which do not carry the complete address, and with the steady increase in the volume of mail from this country to soldiers in France the postoffice department will shortly be compelled to follow the same practice and return to the senders all such pieces of mail."

Delivery in France

Mr. Praeger further stated that after July 1 the delivery of mail to members of the Expeditionary Forces will be conducted under the jurisdiction of the war department. The plans for a military postal express service under the direction of Lieut. Col. T. D. Howe of the United States army were announced on June 11. Thus far mail for the Expeditionary Forces has been delivered by the postoffice department to the "rail head" in France; that is, to the end of the railroad nearest the headquarters of the division or regiment for which the mail is intended. After July 1 the army will assume jurisdiction over the delivery of this mail from the time it leaves this country. It is hoped that this transfer of jurisdiction may tend to hasten the delivery of letters to men in the Expeditionary Forces, especially to men who have recently arrived in the war zone and whose location is known only to the military authorities and for military reasons cannot be disclosed to civilian employees of the post office department.

To deliver a letter to a man in the American Expeditionary Forces takes on the average a little less than 30 days from the time the letter is put in the mail box in America until it is delivered to the mail orderly of the United States army at the rail head in France. Some letters have made this trip in 17 days; in other cases it has taken 42 days, and 60 per cent of this mail makes this trip in from 20 to 25 days.

THRESHERS ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Step Taken In Conjunction With Givernment Requirements

At a meeting of the Charlevoix County Threshers held in the County Farm Bureau offices, Boyne City, Thursday, July 18th an Association was formed consisting of the following threshers: White Bros., J. J. Hunt, Fred Wagner, Ernest Slaughter, Jas. Evans, Frank Addis and Arthur Nicloy.

James Evans of East Jordan was elected President of the Association, Arthur Nickloy was elected Secretary and Treasurer. Through this organization the produce can be very efficiently handled.

This step was taken in conjunction with government requirements for the purpose of conserving all produce possible during the coming season, as but the waste of one bushel per farm on the 6,000,000 farms in this country would mean an enormous loss that the nation cannot afford to loose.

WANT INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

PLANS OPEN FOR WESTERN MICHIGAN MEN

Pershing Says More Trained Men Are Needed Behind the Lines In France

Western Michigan registered men, those who were enrolled June 5th, are to be given the same privileges and opportunities afforded the registered men of former classes, according to plans which have just been worked out by the directors of the War Industrial Training Institute. The scope of the Institute work has been enlarged so that room may be found for between 250 and 300 new men. In order to provide for the registered men of Western Michigan who may want to prepare themselves for preferred positions in the army, the directors will keep open a large number of the places for the enrollment of Western Michigan men. Grand Rapids manufacturers have also taken a further interest in the Institute and have turned over more factories for the teaching of industrial lines. The Institute no whas the use of more than $400,000 worth of factory equipment.

The War Industrial Training Institute was organized about three months ago, in keeping with the request of General Pershing that more industrial workers be sent to the Western front for service behind the lines. He declared that three soldier mechanics are necessary for every man in the trenches, so that the guns and war machinery of the latter may be kept in order. Unless the fighting machines are fit for service, the men with the guns would be useless.

The Institute was started more as an experiment for classes one and two. The course of instruction was so arranged that once through the Institute, the registered men would be capable of holding any kind of a non-commission office, would have a knowledge of industrial lines, and would be of greater service to the country. The experiment worked out better than was anticipated and 500 men took advantage of the opportunity. Many of them are now overseas and many are in preferred positions.

The courses prescribed by the Institute embrace such industrial lines as are most needed in France. The airplane engine repairing branch is one of much interest, as are the others which include motor truck, acetylene welding, practical electricity, accounting, machine shop practice, concrete construction, and signal corps school of telegraphy. In the latter, more than 75 per cent of those who took the course are now in preferred positions, one of the advantages of this branch being that when a man attains a speed of ten words of the international code, he is at once inducted into the service and sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

The institute is operated in connection with the Federal Board for Vocation Education, the war department and the local draft boards. Chairman Leonard Verdier, of the latter boards, has just issued an announcement to the registered men calling their attention to the advantages offered by the War Industrial Training Institute.

The registered men of Western Michigan have been extended an invitation to come to Grand Rapids and take this course so that they may be ready for preferred jobs when they are called. Many may wish to enter the service before they are really called and to these men the training is of much value.

Grand Rapids manufacturers have promised to provide employment for every man who comes to Grand Rapids to take the course prescribed by the Institute. This gives the men from Western Michigan the surety of employment while waiting to be called to the colors, and gives them an opportunity to take the training as all classes are held at night.

Verne H. Smiley and R. M. DeWitt, who are in direct management of the Institute, are at all times ready to give information relative to the Institute and its work. They are located in the Y. M. C. A. building and have proven most helpful in placing out of town registrants in positions of employment and in advising them as to securing proper boarding houses and desirable sleeping quarters. They extend an urgent invitation to all Western Michigan men to address them for any information which may be desired.

DUTY'S CALL

Sounds to Every American

To some it means the shouldering of arms; to those of us at home it means serving by saving.

A Savings account with this Institution is an effective weapon in the hands of man, woman or child.

It safeguards against surprise attacks of misfortune; it opens the road to opportunity; it holds out promise of a peaceful future.

THE BIG BANK ON THE CORNER

Truman H. Newberry

Michigan's Gift to the Nation

'Tis true, Michigan never fell short in her duties to the country at large. A big state always coming through in a big way.

But now there comes still another opportunity. This year we elect senators—representatives of ours—to protect our rights and those of the country at large.

We must send to the senate men who are real Americans and who will uphold American ideals to the uttermost.

We have such a man in Truman H. Newberry who has in the past and is now serving his country in a big way. His past experience wonderfully fits him for this important position.

He's a fighter from the word go. A man of iron will, energetic and not to be bullied or coerced. Firm in his convictions and positive in his determination. His stand for the right has long been the topic of men who know. He is the people's man and Michigan's gift to the nation.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING

Charlevoix, Mich., July 8, 1018.

The regular annual meeting of School District No. 1 of the Township and City of Charlevoix was called to order by President Hampton.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved.

The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read and on motion were accepted and ordered placed on file. Motion carried.

The election of two trustees for the full term of three years was next in order.

The chairman appointed H. S. Harsha and Brayton Saltonstall as tellers.

The tellers being duly sworn, the election of a trustee to succeed Mr. A. F. Bridge was then in order and the name of A. F. Bridge was placed in nomination, and upon motion of Mr. H. S. Harsha the rules were suspended and the secretary was instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the meeting for Mr. A. F. Bridge. Motion carried.

The unanimous vote of the meeting was cast for Mr. A. F. Bridge for the office of trustee by the secretary.

Mr. A. F. Bridge having received the unanimous vote of the meeting for the office of trustee for the full term of three years, was declared duly elected.

The election of a trustee to succeed F. M. Glassford was next in order and the names of Mrs. R. B. Armstrong and F. M. Glassford were placed in nomination and the ballot taken with the following result.

First Ballot:

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong	9
F. M. Glassford	7
Total	16

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong having received a majority of all the votes cast for the office of Trustee for the full term of three years was declared duly elected.

There being no further business on motion the meeting was adjourned.

E. J. HILLER, Secretary.

Remarks on Finances

At the beginning of the school year, 1917 to 1918 we owned at the bank $2,000.00 and have borrowed during the year $9,000.00, making in all $11,000.00. We have paid on these loans $8,000.00 and now owe $3,000.00, which will be due as follows:

August 6th	$ 500.00
August 8th	1,500.00
August 22nd	1,000.00
	$3,000.00

We also owe on Heating Plant $1,130.00 balance due on new boiler, the installation of which is about completed. The total cost of boiler being $2,230.00.

As a sort of comparison, we have approximately the same cash balance now as we had a year ago, not over $11.00 difference. We paid practically 50 per cent on the new boiler this year and we expect to pay the other 50 per cent the coming year. We owe at the bank $1,000.00 more than we did last year and this is approximately the amount we start out with in excess of last year's liabilities.

However, there will be a material increase in teacher'a pay roll, in janitor service and in the cost of fuel for the coming year.

Our bonded indebtedness now stands $11,000.00 of which $1,000.00 will be due this fall as usual, another $1,000.00 next year and then we also have $9,000.00 due and preparations will have to be made for the refunding of same.

Respectfully submitted,
OLUF NORDRUM, Treasurer.

WOULD CONNECT CHICAGO WITH NEW YORK

The Type Used in One Year to Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty thousand benefited people gladly testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end, the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 50,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Charlevoix sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Charlevoix case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

Barney Herington, cement contractor, 108 W. Garfield Ave., says: "About eight years ago my back gave out on me. It become so lame and sore I could hardly bend over and when I did, sharp knife-like pains caught me in my back and I could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were not acting regularly. As I had often read about Doan's Kidney Pills I tried them and three boxes cured me and fixed me up in good shape. Since then when I have had to use a kidney medicine, Doan's Kidney Pills have always done good work."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Herington had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Ragged Boy

An Easter Story

By ETHEL HOLMES

One Easter Sunday morning a girl about twelve years old sallied forth from a spick and span farmhouse to go to Sunday school. On the way she overtook a boy about her own age whose forlorn appearance touched her heart. He was out at the elbows, out at the knees of his trousers, and his toes appeared between the upper part of his shoes and the soles. The expression on his face was in accord with his apparel—it was one of misery.

"Aren't you going to Sunday school?" asked the girl.

"Sunday school!" the boy repeated, as though he had not heard aright.

"Yes. This is Easter Sunday. Didn't you know that all the children go to Sunday school and all the grownups go to church?"

The boy looked at the girl's clothes, then at his own. She was a picture of neatness, he a picture of poverty.

"I couldn't go to Sunday school looking this way, could I?" he said.

The girl looked doubtful. Then suddenly an idea seemed to come to her.

"If you did," she said, "they would all look at you as if they were afraid you'd touch them. Come with me. I'll show them that you're a friend of mine."

The boy demurred, and the girl insisted. She took him with her to Sunday school, but she could not get him forward among the other children. He took a back seat, where he was not noticed. But the girl sat beside him. There was an open window near them, and a draft was coming in on them. The boy shivered, and the girl took off her coat and put it over his shoulders.

During the exercises a collection was taken up. One of the boys passed the plate to where these two were sitting, but the girl made no move to put in a contribution. Of course her friend, the ragged boy, had nothing to give, but the boy who was taking up the collection wondered, for the girl was the daughter of the richest farmer thereabout and was a liberal giver. That Mary Treusdall gave no Easter offering was indeed a surprise.

When the services were over Mary and her protege went out together, and he insisted on hurrying away before the others could get a view of his dilapidated condition. When they came to a fork in the road and no one was near Mary took a five dollar bill from her pocket.

"This was to have been my Easter offering at Sunday school. But, you see, I couldn't give so much when you had nothing to give. It would have made you feel ashamed. So I thought I'd keep it for an Easter offering for you."

He drew back. There was that in him which had led him to appreciate her delicacy in avoiding hurting his feelings, and it was this same appreciation that led him to decline her gift. She understood at once.

"Take it as a loan," she said. "Some day a small amount like this will be nothing to you and you can repay me."

There was a hopeless look on the boy's face, a shamed look, as he permitted her to thrust the bill upon him. He said nothing, but his eyes spoke volumes. She took his hand in hers, pressed it, then turned to go to her home, he following her wistfully with his sad eyes.

This was the first kindness that he had received from a stranger, a kindness shown him by one near his own age. He stood, occasionally dropping his eyes to the bill in his hand, then raising them to the retreating figure of the girl who had given it to him. Then came a great change in him. He had received an incentive. It seemed to him that an angel had been sent from heaven to lift him out of the slough of despond. A resolution came to him to be worthy of the donor. With the encouragement he had received it seemed to him that he could move the world.

The sun rose on another Easter morning twelve years later and shone on the same location where Mary Treusdall took the ragged boy to Sunday school. Upon the hill was the Treusdall farmhouse, but it had lost its spick and span appearance. The farmer had lost a succession of crops and had died with a mortgage on his farm. Mary was struggling along trying to save the property by raising vegetables and such other produce as she could raise without the investment of capital.

Easter came late that year, and the air was balmy and fragrant with opening buds. An automobile passed over a rise in the ground and, descending a declivity, stopped at the fork of the roads where Mary Treusdall had made her loan to the ragged boy. In the car was a young man. From the neatness of his dress one would not suspect he was that very ragged boy. He looked up at the Treusdall farmhouse and noted its dilapidated appearance. He turned his gaze to the church where Mary had taken him to Sunday school. It had been converted into a guild room, and a new church had been built beside it.

This transformed ragged boy drove his auto to a hotel in the village and registered himself as Martin Sanford, New York. A distant bell told him that a service was about to take place in the church, and he strolled forth in that direction. Children were straggling into the guild room for Sunday school. Sanford saw a woman emerge from the Treusdall farmhouse and go toward the church. She entered it, and Sanford followed her in, taking a back seat. The woman went up on to a dais and conducted the school. Something about her convinced Sanford that she was the girl who had made him an Easter loan. There was enough of the child left in her to denote this, and there was unmistakable evidence in her manner.

Sanford remained in his seat while the school was in session, and when a collector came to him for his Easter offering he folded a $100 bill in a bit of paper, on which he wrote in pencil, "Principal and interest of an Easter offering that should have been made ten years ago."

The contributions were handed to Mary Treusdall, but what became of them Sanford did not know. He left the place with the children and strolled about near by till he saw Mary emerge. She was moving in the direction of her home on the hill when he joined her.

"Pardon me," he said; "I am a stranger here. Perhaps you can give me some information that I need."

She turned her eyes upon him. If he had had any doubt of her identity it was dispelled. There was the same kindly, honest look in them he had seen as a boy and which had contributed to change him from a ragged boy to a prosperous man.

"That farm," he continued, pointing to the hilltop—"why is it not prosperous? Is there anything the matter with the soil?"

"Nothing. My father, who formerly owned it, had a succession of bad years on account of the weather. He left the property to me encumbered, and it has since been all I could do to pay the interest on the mortgage."

"I am an investor in farm mortgages," said Sanford. "What interest do you pay?"

"Six per cent."

"Indeed, I find it difficult to loan at 5. How much is the mortgage?"

"Five thousand dollars, but there is also an accumulation of interest, which brings the total up to something like sixty-six hundred."

By this time they had reached the farm, and Sanford paused.

"Since you are a stranger here," said Mary, "I should be pleased to have you dine with us."

Sanford accepted the invitation. The family consisted of an aunt of Mary's and a younger sister, in whom the guest saw a duplicate of the girl who had befriended the ragged boy. After dinner he made an inspection of the farm, or pretended to inspect it, and when he returned to the house asked Mary if she could give him the amount of the principal and interest due on the mortgage. She did so, and he said to her:

"I will consider it a favor if you will allow me to add this to my other loans."

Mary was puzzled. She was not aware that the loan was especially desirable as an investment. However, since the stranger asked as a favor what would be an advantage to her she assented. As soon as she had done so Sanford whipped out a pocket checkbook and wrote her a check for the amount, telling her that the papers in the case could be executed the next day.

Sanford did not seem inclined to hurry away, and the afternoon was well spent before he made a move to depart. Then Mary said that, being a stranger in a strange land, he had better take tea with them, and this invitation, too, was accepted. During the evening he and Mary were sitting together before a little blaze on the hearth, for the nights were still cool, when she suddenly said to him:

"Did you put that hundred dollar bill in the Easter offering at Sunday school this morning?"

"I did."

"What did you mean by what you wrote on the wrapper?"

"Ten years ago today a little girl, the daughter of a prosperous farmer, met a ragged boy on the road, took him to Sunday school and afterward loaned him the amount she was to have given for an Easter offering. You are that farmer's daughter and I am that ragged boy."

Mary's eyes were fixed on him for some time without speaking. She was trying to recall the incident. Presently she said:

"It is coming back to me."

"That Easter Sunday," he continued, "a revolution took place in me, and you were the cause of the change. I needed heartening, and you gave it. The heartening brought courage, the courage a resolution to take hold of the world and win. I am not a very rich man, but I have a-plenty to return your loan with interest. The rest—the most valued part of what you did for me—I can never return."

Sanford did not stop at paying off the mortgage on the Treusdall farm. He put it in order, and it was eventually sold for all it was worth. But this consummation was not arrived at till he had married Mary Treusdall and taken her with him to New York, where prosperity for him has continued.

He claims that the great spur needed by many who have been knocked down in the world struggle is a kindly word and a helping hand. Through his wife he gives largely, but prefers to seek individual cases for his benefactions. While he approves of charitable societies and feels that the surest way to profitable giving is through them, he is willing to be deceived in four cases in five provided he can help the fifth.

His favorite anniversary is Easter.

IMPORTANCE OF A CONGRESSMAN

SHOULD BE A MAN OF STRONG CONVICTIONS

Present Day No Time for Flop-Flop Methods Adopted by Many Now In Office

Every day we are more and more impressed with the necessity of electing big, brond guaged men to represent us in congress. There are so many important things to be settled that we simply cannot afford to send to congress any mun who does not stand up and fight for the best in American ideals.

We need men of broad vision, wide experience, unquestioned integrity and undaunted courage, not only for questions which arise out of the war, but for the still more intricate questions which are bound to nrise when autocracy is conquered, nnd there must comc the readjustment for n new and greater demoeracy with a world-wide scope. America will have great problems to solve and it is going to take men with great foresight and strong wills to solve them.

We are the government in a demoeracy and if we mnke mistakes in the election of our representatives, we must suffer the consequences. Therefore we should exercise all the care possible in selecting our representntives. We must select men who will be on the job every minute, not staying away to dodge issues that by voting one way or the other might jeopardize their political standing "bnck home."

Knowing our needs and feeling the danger that might result from an error, the Courier is convinced that Senator James C. Wood of Manistique, Michigan, who has had the expericnce of three terms in the state senate, and demonstrated his ability, is the man we should send to congress from this district.

In nnnouncing his candidacy, Mr. Wood says:

"I am a candidate for Representative in Congress for the Eleventh Congressional District of Michignn, upon the Repuhlicnn ticket at the coming August primary.

"During my three terms in the Michigan senate I endeavored to serve my constituency always with a view to the best interests of public welfare and the state at large. Upon public questions and matters under legislative consideration, my position has been open and above board nt all times. I have never "dodged" and issue or "hedged" upon a proposition; nor have I been given to "fence-riding" or "band-wagon" statesmanship. In my work in the senate I endeavored to give careful, conscientious and constnnt application to the work in hand, and consider this experience in legislative procedure of inestimable value in fitting me for the duties of the higher office for which I am now a candidate. Should I be elected, I will give the same service and the same constant nnd painstaking efforts as characterized my senatorial work. I shall not hesitate to assume the full responsibilities of the office to which I aspire, believing that assumption of responsibility goes with service and ahould not be sacrificed for political expediency.

"This is not the time for petty politics. The political effect of proposed legislation upon the individual office-holder should not be considered. My sole desire in dealing with matters pertaining to the office will be to consider the public needs and welfare of my constituency, as they may relate to the needs and welfare of the nation. I shall endeavor to secure for my district legitimate appropriations commensurate with its growth and development, hut I shall not be a party to nor shall I countenance so-called "Pork" legislation.

I have always been a Republican, standing for Republican principles, and I now favor and have always conaistently advocnted the Republican principle of protection. I believe that in the coming dnys of reconstruction this principle should be firmly established in our national policy. This policy of protection should he for all things American; our country; our business interests; our American laboring men. There ahould he no incompatability between cnpital or business interests and labor; one cannot exist without the other; each should be given honest and fair consideration, nnd a common ground established upon which justice may he enjoyed by bath.

"I stand for a policy of conservation of our natural resources.

"I favor the enactment of an equitable and understandable system of taxation, believing that the burden of governmental support should be shnred justly by all.

"I favor the encouragement of agricultural education, internal improvements of merit, canals and important water-ways and highways. The government should foster and liberally assist in the establishment and maintenance.

"The moral, physical and spiritual improvement of the young manhood of our country, brought about by their training in our camps and cantonments, justifies the adoption of some system of universal military training.

"In the interests of American citizenship, our immigration and naturalization laws should be revised.

"Let us have a budget system of appropriations, and an economical business administration of governmental nffairs, devoid of red tape and hampering restrictions.

"The magnificient achievements, patriotic service nnd loyalty of our women entitle them to immediate

C. C. A. COMMITTEE REPORTS

PROGRESS ON BEET SUGAR FACTORY PROJECT

Large Amount of Work Involved and Great Interest Is Being Shown by Citizens

A large amount of necessary details remain to be worked out before the future of this project can be definitely announced. The committees are hard at work on the subject and more definite results will be announced at the next meeting of the committee, which will be held next week.

Potash Now Obtained from Sugar Beets

Potash is being produced as a by-product of the beet-sugar industry. The content of potassium carbonate in sugar beets is not large, but at this time of serious shortage and exhorbitant prices, it amounts to enough to make recovery commercially feasible. The product is obtained from the "waste water" that remains after working the molasses left at the completion of the first step in sugar manufacture. When all of the water has been evaporated and the solids burned, a mineral ash is left which contains about 35 per cent potash. Practice has shown that approximately four pounds of potassium carbonate are to be obtained in this manner from a ton of sugar beets. It is estimated that 4,000 pounds of potash are available annually in the sugar beets grown in Colorado alone.

What the ultimate advantage will arise from discoveries of this nature remains problematical as yet. In the event of the location of the beet sugar factory in Charlevoix, it may mean thousands of dollars put into circulation in this vicinity yearly. At any rate, thanks to German war hydrophobia, we are rapidly becnming the most self-centered nation in the world.

HYDROPLANE SAILS INTO CHARLEVOIX

Fly North Sunday and Return to Spend Two Days Here

B-r-r-z-z-z—the residenta of Charlevoix were given a hint of what the approach of a bombing plane sounds like, when a big hydroplane flew north over this city Sunday morning. A closer acquaintance was secured when the plane returned from its northern trip on Sunday. Coming down on Pine Lake it was brought to the shore line and anchored between the draw-bridge and the Inn bathing pavillion.

The machine wns that of B. W. Judson of Detroit and accompanying him were Harold D. Kantner and R. E. Alberts of Muskegon.

The party remained until late Tuesday evening visiting friends in Chnrlevoix and after circling about on Pine Lake they passed out over the harhor entrance and flew south, ostensibly hound for Muskegon.

BAN ON BENEFITS FOR RED CROSS

NO INDIVIDUAL EFFORTS TO BE ALLOWED

Chapter and Branches May Conduct Campaigns for Local Expenses However

The following communication is of much interest to everyone interested in the Red Cross. Orders have been received from headquarters which place a ban on individual efforts at money raising for the benefit of the Red Cross. The only efforts of this kind allowable are those conducted by the Red Cross chapters or branches and no person or child will receive permission to give any kind of money raising benefit. Business places and private residences are to be cleared of their Red Cross posters as the work of these posters has been accomplished and the Red Cross drives are over for this year.

The American Red Cross

"From Washington and Chicago have come two requests; First, that all posters and banners calling attention to the Red Cross shall now be taken from the windows of private dwellings and from places of business. Their purpose being accomplished, the need for their removal is apparent. Second, that no child or grown person shall be permitted personally to try to raise money for the Red Cross. The war fund campaign for 1918 is over and the people should have a rest. This request however does not in any way debar a Red Cross branch or chapter from an organized effort to increase its revenue for local expenses. Let us obey orders."

SMALL BLAZE AT FOLEY COTTAGE

Spark From Chimney Causes More Excitement Than Loss

Fire on the roof of the Foley cottage on the Chnrlevoix Summer Home Association grounds between eight and nine o'clock Tuesday morning caused but little damage, although the excitement ran high for a time.

A spark from the chimney lodged on the roof, causing a small blaze which was quickly gatten under control. Repairs are about complete and the loss is fully covered by insurance.

Monday's nlarm proved a false one, but the fire department was found right on the job in case they were needed.

Tilly-Larsen

At the Methodist parsonage, Wednesday, July 24th, Miss Sybil Tilly of St. James and Mr. Martin Larsen of the same place were united in marriage by the Rev. Quinton Walker. Mr. and Mrs. Larsen are well and favorably known on the island where they will he at home to their friends after August 1st.

POLITICAL POT STARTS BOILING

NOMINATING PETITIONS FILED BY CANDIDATES

Contests for Republican Nomination for Practically All Offices On Ticket

The political pot for the August primaries in Charlevoix county as well as the state is now boiling, and with the closing of the time for filing petitions Saturday last, the big show is now on.

On the county Republican ticket for the office of clerk there are two candidates, for representative two; for sheriff, two; for prosecuting attorney, four; for treasurer, two and for clerk two and county road commissioner two.

But one candidate on the Democrntic ticket filed n petition, that for the office of representative. A full ticket was made up, we are informed, but arrived too late in the clerk's hands for filing.

Regardless of this fact, however, four political parties will be represented at the August primary, republican, democratic, socinlist and prohibition.

Following is the line-up as filed:

Republican Ticket

For representative—
Simon M. Rose, Charlevoix.
Jacob E. Chew, East Jordan.
For Sheriff—
George W. Weaver, Charlevoix.

PAT McCOY AT BEACH HOTEL

BOMBARDER CUTS LOOSE ON WORK OF HUNS

German Private Bad as Officer, and Officer Bad as Kaiser, Says McCoy

Out of the inferno of the European war, gassed, racked by shell shock, and with one arm shattered by the impact of an explosive bullet, Pat remains the same irrepressible, high-spirited American chap he was when he sailed for duty overseas in 1914, as a publicity man to fight German propaganda in England.

The casino was filled to capacity, a very large percentage of the splendid audience consisting of summer visitors and guests at the hotel.

Preliminary to the address Mrs. Max Liebenstein sang an inspiring rendition of the national anthem.

VnnPutten, who assamed the nom de plume of Pat McCoy, to evade the military regulations, enlisted with the Scotch Highlanders in 1914.

This is n time for straight thinking and straight talk and Pat believes in using unadulterated straight from-the-shoulder American English in expressing his abhorrence of the Hun and his methods of making war. "Who started the war? Let me tell you," says the veteran, "the Germans had 50 guns to our one and 1,000 shells to our one when we stopped him at the Marne."

As illustrative of the lack of credence given the early stories of Hun barbarity in the ranks as well as by the civilized world, Pat tells this story:

"Who inaugurated the barbarous use of poison gases? Why there were hundreds of Scots in our regiment that would not believe the story, even after the poisonous stuff was reported to have killed men in other sectors. They threw away the sponges furnished them for protection and when the first gas attack was made on our trenches they were consequently without any means of protection, and 600 of them paid with their lives for their belief that the Hun would play the war game like a man.

"They play no favorites over there—men and officers alike share the hardships and discomforts of the trenches.

"Many Americans at home believe the devilishness of the Hun is due to orders from higher up. This the speaker emphatically denied as being true in many instances.

In explanation he stated that time and time again in the ammunition belts of the Germans captured were found dum dum cartridges that the German private soldier had fashioned with a dum dum head by filling it himself. The dum dum bullet for the benefit of those who do not understand what its use means, can be best explained by stating, that the bullet approved by international law mnkes a clean smooth wound, recovery from which is rapid. The dum dum makes an ugly, ghastly wound, tearing and rending the tiasue it comes into contact with.

Of scenes behind the German lines, of conditions as found in villages captured from the Germans, he drew a vivid and damning picture of old men and women with skulls crushed by rifle butt; of boys and girls in their youthful teens, mere children, mistreated and then killed. The Germans had to surrender quick to save himself after that. "Of course we never killed a German with his hands up, but he had to get them up quick."

Closing the speaking said "our boys over there are playing the game and they believe you folka at homo are playing the game and appreciate what they are doing, let them know thnt you are and prove it."

A pathetic little incident happened just before the speaker began his address, after heing introduced to t heaudience by Mayor Rose. A chic little French Mademoiselle, F. Carmins, maid to one of the guests at the Bench, advanced to the platform and presented the speaker with a purse containing a gift of somo souvenirs of her own handiwork and a remembrince from guests of the hotel.

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

A great change of temperature was noticed on Monday.

Mrs. Joseph Clarke is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ronald Reel, in Detroit, for a few weeks.

Mrs. Chas. Townsend was called to St. Johns, Mich., to see her mother, who is very ill.

Three auto loads of friends from Boyne City visited at the W. N. Lewis home on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. George Sands of Charlevoix, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Shapton, the latter part of last week.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet on Wednesday, August 7, with Mrs. Edmund Shapton. Every member is urged to be present.

Plans are being made for a Union S. S. picnic to be held some time in August, and at which we shall have the plensure of hearing Dr. Musser.

We are promised an attraction in the way of new teachers from Charlevoix for the three adult bible classes of the Sunday school. Every class member is urged to be present and bring some one and make next Sunday a sort of rally day for the Sunday school. Rev. Dr. Kerr will preach and we hope to have a large audience.

IRONTON

Will Johnson and family spent Sunday in Boyne City.

The wedding bells will soon ring again in our neighborhood.

Some of the young people took in the show at Charlevoix last week.

Mr. Stewart gave us another good interesting talk last Monday night.

The Y. P. B. C. met at the home of Vern Woodworth last Wednesday evening.

The boys and girls club had a marshmallow roast at the north beach Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Meggison and children took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ogden Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Asbury from London, Canada, for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickloy and daughters, Laura and Hazel and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webb picnicked on Pine Lake last Tuesday.

The neighborhood gathered in for a friendly chat with Mr. and Mrs. Will Webb one evening last week. Mr. and Mrs. Webb have returned to their home in Boyne City.

HAYES

Margaret and Ethel Monty spent Sunday with Edna Kane.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Monty and children visited Mrs. Helms Sundny.

Hayes boasts of corn 72 inches high and some higher than that in places.

Mrs. Jeanette Ervin and children of Petoskey, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Agnes Banks.

Residents of Hayes saw the hydroplane as it passed over Lake Michigan enroute to Petoskey Sunday.

EAST CHANDLER AND THUMB LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Snyder and daughter Irma, were Wolverine callers Thursday.

Wm. Hughes and son, Cecil, also daughter Gertrude were Petoskey callers Sunday.

Perry Mackie and Dewey Bushe of Springvale were in Charlevoix Friday to be examined.

Mrs. Waggoner and daughter, Signe, are visiting at the Wm. Hughes home for a few days.

Mrs. Melvin Greene of near Vanderbilt is now preaching at Thumb Lake every Sunday morning.

Mrs. Wm. Clark went Thursday to Vanderbilt to work for Mrs. Gooseberry for a few weeks.

Mrs. George Segtnan of Saginaw is now making a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jewell.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Howard and the Misses Della and Margaret Clark were Vanderbilt callers one day last week.

Frank Atkin is getting so expert that he can pick a suit case out of an upstairs window. Funny where people get so much education.

Two fellows started Saturday night to Vanderbilt with a Ford that never balked, but it gave them their first lesson over by the Sturgeon and evidently if fortune had not favored them it would have meant a long walk for them

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

From Myron Corey

Myron Corey delivered the Grand Rapids Press here for four years, and the Grand Rapids News for five years, later moving to Detroit.

Great Lakes, July 21, 1918.

"Dearest Mother—Received your second letter, but not your first one. I might be able to find it in the lost mail department. You should have seen me yesterday. I went in the kitchen yesterday morning at seven thirty, and worked until eight thirty in the evening. I helped slice sixty gallons of tomatoes, 150 gallons potatoes, 90 gallons of carrots, and cut eyes out of thirty-five bushel of potatoes. I think that is some days work, but I won't have to do it again while I am here. We all take our turn in the kitchen. Every Friday we have to clean our barracks from one end to the other, polish silverware and so forth and on Saturday we have to be inspected by officers and every thing has to be just so.

"We had to sign a church card here, and I got an answer from mine but I don't think that it is the one that you belong to. We have bible study in our barracks every Sunday morning at nine o'clock, and church at ten thirty, so you see the Navy will teach me something that I had nearly forgotten.

"I have had my second shot in the arm, and will soon get my third one. Neither one bothered at all, so I must have good blood. I expect that we will be in quarantine for mumps, as one of the fellows is in the hospital. I am all sun-burned and peeling off, so I am some looking sight.

They have lots of good shows here for us, so we do not get lonesome.

"The navy certainly is a clean place. They never send any eats back, they all go into the garbage can. We do not get any cake, sugar, salt or pepper here in detention, so tell my friends up there that if they have any cake they do not want, to send it to me and I will promise to do justice to it. Well I must close, so good-by. Love from your sailor son, MYRON D. COREY."

Co. 391, 8th Reg., Barracks 854. Camp Decatur, Great Lakes, Ill.

RULES FOR HOUSEHOLDERS

"STAND BEHIND THE BOYS AT THE FRONT, BUT NOT TOO FAR BEHIND."

All kinds of food especially wheat, meats, fat and sugar should be economically used.

WHEAT—Mr. Hoover's request: "Use no wheat or wheat products until after the next harvest." Will you do your share? A copy of "Wheatless Recipes" may help you. If you have not had this leaflet, ask your Food Conservation Chairman for a copy. Wheat flour substitutes are hominy, corn grits, cornmeal, corn flour, edible cornstarch, barley flour, rolled nats, oatmeal, rice, rice flour, buckwheat flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour, soya bean flour, and feterita flour and meals.

MEAT—Save Beef—On account of increasing demand for beef for our growing army we ask householders not under any circumstances to buy more than ONE AND ONE-FOURTH POUNDS of clear beef or ONE AND ONE-HALF POUNDS including the bone, per person per week. There is an increased supply of pork in the country, therefore we urge people to substitute fresh pork, bacon, hams, and sausages to a certain extent for beef products. (Copy of telegram from Mr. Hoover.)

SUGAR—Householders in towns and in cities under present regulations, may not buy more than two pounds of sugar at one time, and the people in the country may not buy more than five pounds of sugar.

"Maximum Canning With Minimum Sugar"

In canning and preserving only one allotment of 25 pounds can be sold by the retailer to any user without permission from the County Food Administrator, who will endorse the certificate by writing his name upon the back. This permission can be given by the local County Food Administrator on two additional allotments of 25 pounds each.

Never has home canning been as important a factor as this year. People will have to depend upon their own canned vegetables and fruits. We advise that housewives put up as much fruit and vegetables as possible, but should use less sugar in canning than they have in previous years.

Experiments have been tried at the Michigan Agricultural College in substituting corn syrup for sugar in making currant jelly and preserves. They find that the jelly and preserves will be just as thick and clear as with sugar; there will also be a larger amount of jelly as the bulk of corn syrup is greater than sugar. Use syrup in the same proportion as sugar, excepting when making jellies entirely of syrup, use a cup of syrup to each cup of fruit juice, because the syrup is not as sweet as the sugar.

Saccharine should never be substituted for sugar in canning.

Dairy Products

Fresh milk, and milk in evapoorated and condenser form and cheese may be liberally used.

Butter may be used for normal consumption.

See that children have plenty of whole milk and good wholesome food. Their growing bodies demand it.

These regulations are neccssarily subject to change at any time as the needs of the Allies and our own needs demand.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches And Ills of Charlevoix People

As one weak link weaken a chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and generally when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills frequently come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards dropsy, gravel or fatal Bright's disease. When the kidneys fail there is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. Charlevoix testimony is proof of their effectiveness.

Mrs. Jennie Smith, 1206 Bridge St., Charlevoix, says: "My kidneys acted irregularly and my back got so lame I could hardly get about my housework. Finally I had to take to my bed, where I remained several days, absolutely helpless. I couldn't even turn over. I felt miserable and was in a terrible condition when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought relief from the first and continued use cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

How Best to Save

The question of the day is not whether or not to save, but HOW BEST TO SAVE.

The best way to make the start is to open a Savings Account.

The proper time to begin is right now when work is plentiful and wages high.

The sure method to make progress is through systematic, regular deposits.

The right place is in this Institution where new accounts are welcome and depositors are given every possible banking assistance.

THE RED CROSS IN AMERICA

How many citizens realize that the millions and millions of dollars worth of Red Cross supplies stored in the warehouses of this wonderful association in France, represent dollar for dollar if viewed from a strictly commercial viewpoint, an equal value in labor, the consecrated work of the wonderful women of America. Who be it who may approximate in understandable terms the pains and loving care expended by these women upon the work of preparing the surgical dressings and the garments intended for the intimate use of the wounded soldier boy.

In untenanted storerooms, bare of any comforts, where other quarters are not available; in the club rooms formerly devoted to their intellectual development; and in the comfortable, well furnished homes of more fortunate members, they work; these women; feverishly, eagerly, unceasingly; fearing that some mother's boy, American, French or English or that of any of our Allies might suffer unnecessary pain for want of proper supplies for caring for their injuries.

These women are consecrating the spots where they labor, making them a place to be revered, indeed it would not be ill-becoming in American manhood to salute them in passing.

Splendid as has been the response of our American manhood to the call of duty in this war, who can say that our American women are not matching them or even overmatching them in this noble spirit of self-sacrifice. Quietly, patiently they are working, but let no biped delude himself with the idea that they are lacking in civic consciousness as they work they are consciously or unconsciously fixing a standard that the manhood of America must measure up to to maintain their respect.

Political controversy is forever baned from the counsels of the Red Cross, but heuven help the shilly-shallying politician, who through venality or incompetency, indulges in policies that will endanger the lives of our boys.

The shirker and the slacker will have an accounting to make with these women and the German propagandist will be given his or her just dues.

Their antidote for the poison of Prussianism and its propaganda will prove as efficacious as the machine gun fire of the Yank's over there.

NO POLITICS IN RED CROSS

Politics and the Red Cross must not be mixed.

That statement comes direct from the War Council of the American Red Cross, at Washington, and applies to everybody connected with the chapters as well as the higher organization.

It means that if anybody at present officially connected with the Red Cross wants to run for a public office, he or she must resign from the Red Cross.

The reasons for this drastic course will be apparent to everyone. The Red Cross must maintain its non-partisan, non-political character inasmuch as it is supported by all citizens regardless of party affiliations.

The approaching elections are the first general elections since the country entered the war, and the War Council is acting well in advance to assure the proper conduct by all Red Cross workers.

A Utah marine, previous to his enlistment, spent a few months learning to cuss fluently in German. Those boys never go on a job unprepared.

For the heaps of German dead it was in fact a peace drive.

STR. AMERICAN CHANGES SCHEDULE

Leaves Charlevoix at 2:15 On Each Trip Hereafter

After this week the Str. North American will leave Charlevoix each Thursday and Sunday at 2:15 p. m. instead of the old schedule.

Under the former schedule people desiring to spend the week ends here and get back to their work in Chicago on Monday, arrived too late in the day. Under the new schedule, the boat will arrive in Chicago at 12:30, Mondays, each Monday and Friday.

Another French conversational class will be organized next Tuesday night, August 6, at 8:00 o'clock in the Latin room of the high school building, Charlevoix. Lessons of one hour each will be given three times per week, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, for six weeks. Now is your chance to learn French easily and quickly. These popular classes are for beginners. Correct Parisian pronounciation, accent and inflection guaranteed. The tuition for the course is only $10.00. If weather is unfavorable come the next night. John Conchois Wright, of the Cercle Francaise. 31t1

Iceland and America.

Although Iceland lies far out of the beaten track of the American tourist, yet she is an island that possesses many interesting associations with this country. It was from Iceland that came the first European discoverers of America, who a thousand years ago had their prosperous settlements all along the New England coast, as far south as Long Island. It was to Iceland that Christopher Columbus went for information about the new world before starting off on the first of his epoch-making voyages across the Atlantic.

Some Fish!

"In my entire piscatorial experience," said the truthful traveler, "I never came across a fish so accommodating as the shovel fish of South America. It has a snout the shape of a shovel and it will jump out on the bank and dig bait for you to catch it with."

The Greatest Transportation Force in the World

A True and Amazing Story of the Automobile as a Force in America

By John N. Willys

DO YOU KNOW that right now there are 5,000,000 motor vehicles in use, or one to every twenty persons in the United States?

In these cars, twenty-five million people, one fourth of the population, could be transported 100 miles or more in a single day. Only the first filling of gasoline would be needed for the journey.

Before the war produced unheard-of conditions, it is not astonishing that people had paid little attention to these matters and had not analyzed the usefulness of the automobile. The manufacturers themselves believed their splendid sales organizations to have been responsible for their marked sales increases, when as a matter of fact, the motor car had come to fill a demand which had existed for centuries.

But now we have stopped to analyze the food we eat, the clothes we wear and the time we can save.

How then does the automobile fit into this big plan? Who uses it? There was only one way to find out definitely and that was to ask the people who owned and operated cars. This was accomplished by getting an expression from every man who purchased an Overland car in 1917, showing the occupation in which he was engaged. This information has been tabulated in classifications by trade to conform with the census figures.

Investigation Proves Usefulness

The result of this investigation, when charted, showed some interesting figures.

The first one is that this survey indicates that over 80 percent. of automobile use is for business purposes.

The next great fact, gained at a glance, was that the men whose business depended upon covering a great deal of ground in a short space of time were its largest purchasers. While these figures apply only to the 1917 production of Overland cars, we feel that we may safely assume that approximately the same divisions by trades are applicable to automobile ownership in general. We have therefore assumed this to be the case in our conclusions.

The combined daily travel of all the automobiles in the United States represents a distance of 1600 times around the world.

Shall we expect to find automobiles in the city alone?

Look at the first occupational division of the chart. The great American farmer, representing 33.2% of the population of the country, bought 53.1% of the automobiles last year. The farmer is buying automobiles because they have done more to lighten labor and change his entire plane of living and doing business than any other invention since the harvesting machine.

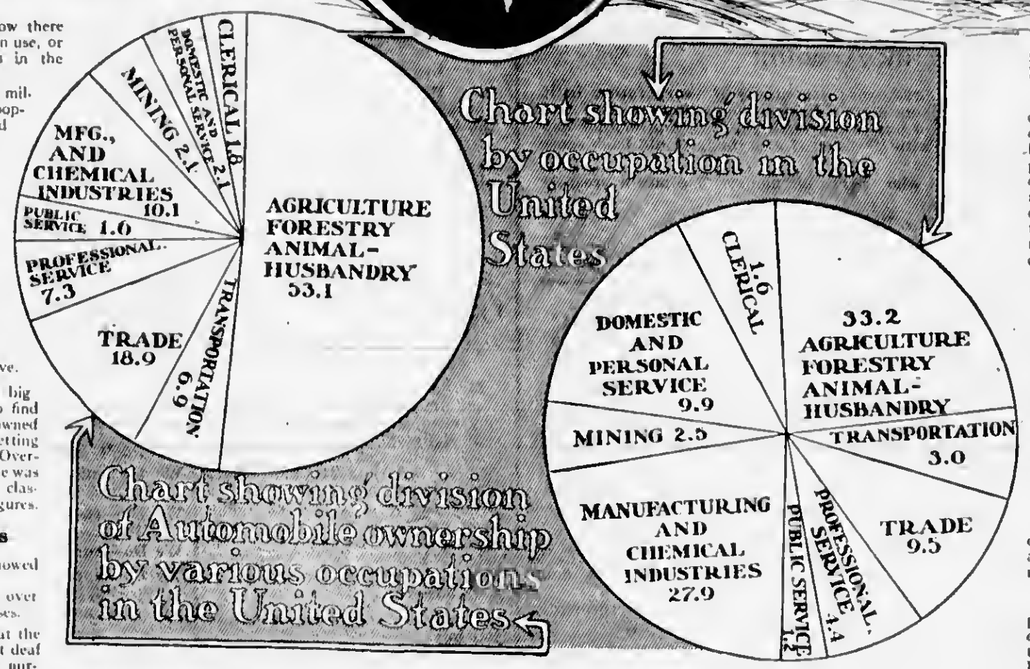
Motor Cars Save Food

The government estimates that it requires five acres of ground to support a horse. On this basis, assuming that each automobile on a farm replaces one horse, the automobiles in use on farms today alone release more than 10,000,000 acres of land—sufficient to support 3 1-3 million people.

In the business of farming the automobile has become invaluable. With it one farmer can raise more products and reach more markets. It helps him to make up for the depleted labor supply and at the same time aids him in cultivating more acres himself, more intensively. The bushel of wheat in the granary is not doing any good until it gets to the mouth of the fighter. This requires transportation. And here the automobile not only helps to raise more crops but transports them as well.

So the motor car is helping the farmer raise more wheat with less men, carry it to the markets and buy more government bonds with the proceeds which could not be his without the aid of the automobile.

In harvest time, a needed repair part no longer delays the farmer. His son, daughter or wife quickly goes to town and returns with the needed part in so short a time that the delay is negligible. But think of the change it has wrought in his daily life. Pass those machines on the way to and from the city markets, loaded with butter, eggs, produce and perishable products. The automobile has made the farm 30 miles from town with the use of a motor car as valuable as the one 5 miles away that depends upon the horse.



Increases Value of Farms

You need only to refer to any government report covering the increase of land values to see that the total amounts to millions of dollars on both farm and suburban property.

The isolation of the country is gone and in its place have come the educational and market advantages of the city, more contentment on the part of the farmers' families. The combined advantages of the city and the country belong to the farmer with the motor car. It is no longer a matter of the farmer being able to afford an automobile, he can no longer afford to be without one. For the farmer without an automobile pays for it whether he buys it or not.

Again, the "trade" classification of the chart shows a large percentage of cars owned and again the cause. For this division is comprised largely of salesmen. This classification embracing 9.5% of the population owns 18.9% of the automobiles. These men have found that with the aid of the motor car they can make themselves much more effective in their work. Obviously, salesmen in these days must make themselves more efficient. Many a salesman is adding to his territory that of someone in the service.

I asked one of the greatest and most important food concerns in America what the motor car means to them in their business.

A Time Saver for Big Food Concerns

Their answer was typical of the saving in time, railroad facilities and man power that the automobile is making. These people told me that the salesman with an automobile could cover from 10 to 20% more ground. In the city the salesman can call on the trade more frequently. In other words, the automobile is the equivalent of 10 to 20% extra man power.

The motor car has been an invaluable aid to men in professional service as is shown by the fact that in this classification representing 1.4% of the population, 7.3% of the automobiles are owned. Here in this highly important occupational division we find the physician called out in the middle of the night, or speeding to save a life by prompt response to an emergency call. We also find him taking care of more patients over a wider area to make up for some other physician wearing the uniform of the army, the navy or the Red Cross.

But what of the country preacher? He, too, is going about, using his passenger car to minister to the wants of his congregation, increasing his Sunday attendance and helping in a thousand ways, taking the place of the "circuit rider" but using his automobile in his mission of mercy.

Likewise the lawyer, the judge, the college professor all find that the passenger car helps to conserve time in their duties.

Another significant fact is that the classification, "Public Service" shows that, comprising as it does 1.2% of the population, it contains 1.6% of the automobile owners. This branch is composed of city and county officials, mail carriers and men in the employ of city, state or national government. Many of these men must cover a wide area in their duties and it is here that the motor car is helping.

Helps to Speed Up Industry

The manufacturing industry affords another of our vast resources. This classification covers the factory owner, contractor, baker, blacksmith, and their operatives. This branch represents a total of 27.9% of the total population of the country and yet shows only 10.1% of the automobiles owned.

Located in the cities, industry is not so dependent upon the automobile and still every motor car in this great branch is doing its part in speeding up production. In the business community having 1,000 automobiles it is safe to say that each one in service will save an hour a day. This would mean that such a community is 125 working days ahead every day. Carry these figures to the 5,000,000 registered automobiles in this country and it means that the nation is 625,000 working days ahead every day in time saved. Or compute this into man power and it gives America the extra services of an army of 625,000 men at work every day. Do we need this extra effort now?

Sixteen great army cantonments, to house almost a million men, the ordinary accomplishment of years, were built in ninety days. This was accomplished by crowding an immense amount of energy into an inconceivably small space of time. One of the largest contractors told me that it could not have been done without the aid of the automobile. To haul the nails used in the construction of these cantonments alone would require the combined capacity of 930 five-ton motor trucks.

One Hundred Million Horsepower at Work

The total horsepower used to turn the wheels of America's industrial plants is only 11,000,000. Balance this against the 100,000,000 horse power of time saving energy represented by the passenger cars of this country alone.

For the busy man, the automobile practically makes the whole community his office building where he may go from one business engagement or meeting to another in his motor car almost as easily as he steps across the hall.

Under the heading "Transportation" are included all of the managers, superintendents, foremen and employees of the many public service corporations of the country. Here we find the railroads, telephone and telegraph companies and many like occupations. They represent 6.9% of the population and own but three per cent of the automobiles. The reason for this small percentage of car owners is at once apparent as the bulk of the business of these men is over various carriers of the country and here the automobile is not so much an essential to the conduct of their duties.

Mining Minutes With the Motor Car

The next census occupational division covers the mining, quarry and oil-well industries; including owners, superintendents, foremen and operatives. Here we found that while this classification represented 2.5% of the population of the country, 2.1% own automobiles. This occupation is not one which must necessarily cover a wide area. Yet every hour and minute must count for all of the products are vitally necessary in the war program.

It has been estimated that we have enough coal and crude oil underground to provide amply for even the needs of war for hundreds of years, but these products must be mined, piped and transported to keep the fires of industry at full blast. Time is therefore an essential and time saving of paramount importance. Here we must, mine minutes and here again the automobile is helping.

The next two classifications are composed of hotel proprietors, restaurant owners, boarding-house keepers, clerks and employees. Here, if anywhere, we might expect to find the passenger cars used almost wholly for recreation. But, while these two combined classifications represent 11.5% of the population, only 3.9% of these people are automobile owners.

This survey of the automobile and its many and diversified uses only serves to strengthen the conclusion that it constitutes the greatest transportation force in the world. A force that is more needed in the war than any other. For only a few months back New York harbor was filled with vessels loaded with materials vital to the war needs of our allies.

Transportation—a World Need

These vessels as badly as they were needed could not proceed, could not help to lessen the congestion in New York terminals because they had no coal. The situation was so grave that colliers from England came across the Atlantic Ocean to bunker these ships. This serves to emphasize the importance of transportation of which the automobile is one of the great contributing factors.

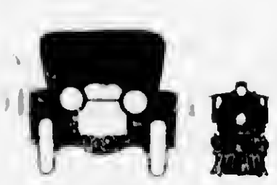
Assuming that every automobile saves one hour a day, the total time saved represents an army of 625,000 men at work every day. Compare this with the total number of men in service today.

Under the ruling of the Fuel Administrator, all industry suffered a five-day shut-down for the lack of coal. This could not mean that the United States was short of coal, but that the speeding up of industry on the war program had destroyed the balance. It was again transportation that was needed. We simply shut down output long enough to allow the carriers of the country to catch up.

Compared with the Railroads

The estimated possible annual passenger mile service of motor cars is about 60,000,000,000 as compared with 35,000,000,000 passenger miles attributed to our railroads. These multipliers of energy are traveling 40,000,000 miles a day, the equivalent of 1,600 times around the world. Many a nation has been conquered, not for lack of bravery or men, but for the lack of transportation. We are farther from our bases of supply than any warring nation.

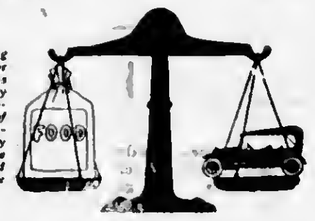
This nation must devote every ounce of energy to produce more food, more munitions, but with the enormous increases must come more transportation; more done in less time. We cannot go back to the days of the army mule and pack saddle, the prairie schooner and the "One hoss shay." Speed, speed and more speed is the cry. And America answers with her 5,000,000 automobiles—the greatest transportation tool, the greatest aid to personal efficiency in the world.



The estimated possible annual passenger mile service of motor cars is about 60,000,000,000, as compared with 35,000,000,000 passenger miles attributed to our railroads.

There are 5,000,000 registered automobiles in America. This means that there is one automobile to every twenty persons

By replacing horses the motor cars on the farms of this country represent a potential saving of sufficient foodstuffs to supply the wants of three and one-third millions of people annually.



FARM BUREAU WORK

About 17 girls attended of the demonstrations conducted by Miss VanHoulen, assistant state leader of Boys and Girls Club work and Mrs. C. F. Smith in the domestic science room of the Boyne City high school building last week. All methods and manners of canning and preserving fruits and vegetables were demonstrated and a very great deal of interest was shown in the work.

At noon a pot-luck dinner was served which was greatly enjoyed by all the girls present, after which games were played. The girls were divided into teams consisting of three people each, and training was given in canning work. In the afternoon one of the teams gave a demonstration which surprised the instructors not a little and showed up very nicely in the work which Mrs. Smith and Miss VanHeulen had instructed them. In each meeting one team will give a demonstration during the coming months.

The same teams met with Miss VanHeulen and Mrs. Smith together with other interested people Friday, in the high school building and further instructions were given and the summer's work will be commenced in earnest.

FRENCH "LINGO" HARD TO LEARN

AMERICAN BOYS CAN'T SEEM TO GRASP IT

Latter Describes Beautiful Scenery and Tells of Wonderful Summer Weather They Have

The following letter from Andrew Wynsma was received by his sister, Mrs. Andrew Essenberg. Army life evidently agrees with him, but he longs for news from the folks at home:

Overseas, June 11, 1918.

"Dear Sister and Husband—Your most kind and welcome letter received and will write a few lines in return. A letter from home or anywhere else is appreciated to the utmost extent over here. We do not get the mail very regular at present. The last time I received it I got nine letters, so was treated fairly well.

"I am enjoying the fine summer weather we are now having. The scenery around here is beyond description. We can see the mountains at a distance, and in the morning presents a beautiful sight. Concerning our camp and location, we are not allowed to give a description of details.

"I find it rather hard to learn the French language, still I know a great many words and manage to make myself understood when I want anything. Am writing this letter in the Y. M. C. A. and will say we enjoy the privileges they extend us. My health is good and we are ready for a fracas with the Hun at any time. Give my regards to inquiring friends and write as often as you can.

ANDREW WYNSMA."

M. G. Co., 126th Inf., A. E. F.

Following is a short letter from Andrew Postmus, which will interest his friends:

"We left Camp Custer on Sunday at 3:00 o'clock p. m. Will write again when we land somewhere. The next postal will probably be sent from a point 50 miles from New York. We are at Camp Mills now, near New York. Got a bible from the Red Cross so will send the one I had home, as it is too large to carry around. Do all you can for the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. as they are deserving of it."

ELLSWORTH LOCALS

Stuart Baar is moving his family here from Central Lake this week.

Chas. Smith is slightly better at present, but is still unable to sit up.

Dr. Leahy of Petoskey was at the New Orient on Tuesday of this week.

Walter Oliver of New Jersey is visiting at the F. H. Skow home this week.

D. E. Clow and A. L. Ely spent Sunday at the Broseke home near Traverse City.

James Wilson was in Charlevoix having some dental work done one day this week.

Nick Dekkenga was at East Jordan one day this week to get lumber for his new house.

Mrs. John Merriam and daughter, Alice, of Grand Rapids, visited last week at the Foster home.

Ed. Zellers of Charlevoix visited over Sunday at the Madill home from Saturday until Monday.

Mr. Geo. Frink and family of Bellaire visited at the Benj. Madill home Saturday evening of last week.

Workmen from the Sanitary Engineering Co., at Charlevoix, were in town the first of this week finishing the plumbing at the school house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Powers of Harbor Springs were Ellsworth visitors one day last week. Mr. Powers was the carpenter in charge of the school house here during its erection.

J. D. Armstrong and Holly Enler of Rapid City have been in Ellsworth the past week building a water tank and making other improvements at the Libby, McNeil & Libby pickle station.

Miss Anna Rubingh, with the silvery chimes of wedding bells drawing near, has relinquished her position at the hotel here and is at her home at present busily engaged in building her "true-so."

The Libby, McNeil pickle station opened the first of the week with H. J. Timmer again in charge. John Doctor was the first one to deliver pickles. The prospects are bright for a good crop this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Litner and two children of Enst Jordan, spent last week at the hotel here. Mr. and Mrs. Litner were Ellsworth residents several years ago, and this visit served the double purpose of renewing old acquaintances and doing some fishing.

A party consisting of Dr. Geo. Boardman and wife, C. VandenBerg and family, Lenier Pylman and family and Rev. G. Hoeksma and family, all from Grand Rapids, arrived on Mondsy of this week and are occupying the Geo. Klooster home. They expect to remain about two weeks.

Thirty-five of the farmers of this vicinity signed up for the co-operative association at the meeting held last Monday night at the Blue Hall. As this is not enough to organize, another meeting will be held Monday evening, August 4, at which time the association will be formed if there are enough names on the list.

Thursday, August 8, is the date set for the annual Mission Festival of the northern Michigan association of Reformed churches. This year as in years past, the meeting which is in reality a huge picnic, will be held in the beautiful grove on the H. S. Peebles farm, three and one-half miles west of Ellsworth, and if the attendance of other years is duplicated there will scarcely be standing room when the event gets in full swing. This year the Central Lake band will furnish music and there will be singing and speaking by local talent in addition to a patriotic address by Rev. Hoekmu of Grand Rapids. Chairman Timmer and the committee are also endeavoring to get as a drawing card, Rev. Samuel Zwemer of Holland, who has but recently returned from ten years missionary work in India, but whether they succeeded or not the meeting with the good music and speaking already assured will be well worth attending.

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

To ace the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose complexion is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

ESSEX

Fine corn weather of late.

Early potatoes and potato bugs are a good crop this year.

Several persons from here delivered cattle and hogs at Ellsworth for shipment Friday.

Miss Pauline Wieland of East Jordan spent last week visiting her uncle, Peter Wieland and family.

Mrs. M. Letiner and children of East Jordan, who are staying at the Orient hotel this week, visited Mrs. Wieland Thursday.

Herman Dekkenga, who has been out west for several years, is home recovering from injuries received in an accident some time ago.

Mr. Wieland delivered a cow at Charlevoix Wednesday to the man who has been buying cattle around here the last couple of weeks.

The Tillotson family spent Sunday at Bowman's. Vernie called for them in the morning and brought them home in the afternoon with the car.

Dr. Parks, of East Jordan, made a midnight call at Bowman's Saturday night to see Isabelle Bowman, who was sick from indigestion and the heat. She was improving at last reports and we wish her a quick recovery.

MAY USE CLASS TWO MEN SOON

FIRST CLASS EXHAUSTED IN MANY STATES

Draft Ages to Be Extanded Whan Congress Convanas Late In August

There is a possibility of exhaustion of draft class one before congress can finally act to extend draft ages.

Some states have wired to Provost Marshal General Crowder that they are on the verge of drawing their last men of the first class.

To rescue the situation so that it will not necessitate invasion of deferred classes it is likely that a call for men who have turned twenty-one will be issued before January 1, 1919. That, however, may not prevent invasion of the second class unless congress acts hastily upon extension of draft ages when it reconvenes at the end of August.

Chairman Dent of the house military committee predicts that there will be a fight in congress if there is a too radical sweep downward, though he said that the house probably will yield to anything "reasonable." The house is the most opposed to the extension downward, but it is likely that it will not go to the point of attempting to thwart the president's wishes.

There is some tendency to complain because Secretary of War Baker deferred action on the draft until congress completes its recess. Leaders say that had he favored draft extension earlier the possibilities of the present situation would have been averted.

The need for men in the army is illustrated by the order to restrict navy and marine enlistments from the draft for the next two months. Navy and marine corps officials are disposed to be critical of this decision, though they believe their requirements can be met in that period by voluntary enlistments.

Draft officials are planning to make a wider use of limited service men than they have made to date provided Secretary of War Baker approves the plans now before him.

THE CADDIE COLUMN

(A column adited by the Caddia mastar for the purposa of sharpening the caddies' interest in thair work and kaeping parants in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

The girls have undoubtedly been making good as caddies, as a number of the players, both men and women have been free in saying. Ruby Hull was given her letter a few days ago, making ten girls registered. It might be interesting to know exactly in which points the girls tend to be better caddies than the general run of boys. True, the girls lack something in the way of strength and just at present want some of the skill in spotting balls that the more experienced boys have. But when it comes to being on time, willing, quiet, and continually paying attention to business the girls more than make up for what they lack in other ways. The girls will gradually learn the skill and acquire the strength which now seems to belong more to the boys. Will the boys fail to acquire the qualities in which their sisters excel?

The caddies earned $421.70 last week, raising the total for the season to $1,443.83. Of the amount earned last week the eight girls, working mornings only, earned $22.85. Tuesday, the twenty-third, was the week's record day for the caddies, their fees amounting to $76.10. The contribution to the Red Cross amounted to $7.00.

Sadie Curtis (1) while coming from her home to work last Saturday morning, was struck on the right arm by a ball driven from the first tee. She was at the edge of the woods in the first hole when the ball, which was pretty well spent, struck her. The accident did not keep her from work that day.

The professional's caddie is a scarce article—that is one who can stand the strain. Frank Krulik (14) commenced last week, but fagged on the second day. Frank Novotney (4) took his place for a day or two, and likewise resigned. Clarence Shaw (57) worked a morning, made $2.25 in that time, and decided he had enough—money or exercise, we don't know which. Arthur Cross (39) finished up the week. Raphael Gordon (12) was given the job for this week.

The following caddies, members of the dime-a-week club, have paid up their Red Cross subscriptions for the year—the subscription being a dime a week for ten weeks. Carl Gordon (1), George Jeffries (6), Leon Solomon (33), Gordon Todd (16) Harold Dutcher (38), Lewis O'Neil (18), Ormiston Parmalee (92) and William Haight (95.)

There is a star in the caddies service flag for Howard Major, whose name was not included in the list published in the column a week or so ago.

Mrs. Art Alcock has lately received a card stating that he son, Harry, has arrived safely in France.

Whenever a caddies looks at the caddies' service flag he ought to feel a pride in every Thrift Stamp he has and for every dime contributed to the Red Cross. And he ought to feel pretty cheap if he hasn't anything along these lines to be proud of.

The attention of the caddies is called to the Thrift Stamp competition now on. The contest is open to boys and girls fourteen years of age and under and the object is the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps. The plan is fully explained in the Courier of July 10. Eight prizes will be given the boy or girl who earns the money to buy the largest number of Thrift Stamps from July 10 to August 6, 1918. Caddies have good opportunity to earn and the prizes should be won by them if they enter the competition. You can get full particulars from the caddie master or from the Courier, under whose auspices the contest is going forward.

THE WEEKLY TIP

Spare Time

If you want to know exactly what kind of a fellow some one is, ask him two questions: How much spare time do you have every day? and, what do you do in your spare time?

Your spare time is the time you have for rest and play. If you rest and play more than you work you may be pretty sure something is wrong, that you are losing out in the race. If you have no spare time, that's too bad; but if you have some and spend it getting into mischief and trouble that costs you money and damages your health and reputation, you would be better off if you had none at all.

The use you make of the hours you are off duty will do as much to determine your success or failure as the way you do your work. And that is a whole lot. Some boys have the knack of turning their "hours off" to good for themselves and for others, and these as a rule become our later business and professional leaders.

Just from the standpoint of your own personal comfort you ought to watch your spare time. First of all, don't "lay off" when you ought to be at work. This is very easy to do in the caddying business, with swimming, ball, hunting and other pastimes as handy as they are. And next, when your spare time comes, don't be a loafer in it and find companionship with other loafers. Company of that sort leads in just one direction and to no place at all. Whenever the shariff "wants" someone he looks first among the loafers.

To live a real boys life, a boy must have some spare time, time in which to rest and play. Our great and good men come from among the boys who find rest in a change of work, and who find pleasure in play that leaves the reputation good, the character clean and strong.

"CUKE" CROP IS THREATNED

PREVENTATIVE STEPS SHOULD BE TAKEN AT ONCE

U. S. Garden Expert Seys Kill the Lice or There Will be No Cucumbers This Yaer

Unless something is done at once northern Michigan's cucumber crop will be a total failure, says a U. S. garden expert.

A large majority of the cucumber vines last year wilted down and died just when the crop looked so promising to every one. Be careful not to get caught in the same trap this year.

I have been asked the question on every hand, "What shall I do for my cucumbers?"

Last year they seemed to contract a blight and die just as the cucumber began to form and get about the right size to begin using.

From what I have been able to learn from the inquiring people and from what I have seen in the past week, I am thoroughly convinced that the trouble is caused by lice.

Suck Life Blood From Plants

The lice eggs are laid on the underside of the leaf. In a short time the young animals begin their destructive work. They inject their little beaks into the veins on the underside of the leaf and suck the very life blood from the plants. The leaves then slowly curl, which seems to be a special protection for the lice, by keeping them from being seen. Later the leaves turn yellow and the plant gradually wilts to a point of death.

These lice are very small, about the size of the head of a pin. They are brown when young, gradually turning black, and may be easily identified by looking on the underside of the leaves. This should be done every few days to insure safety.

The Quick Remedy

What shall we do to save our cucumbers? These lice are sucking insects, not chewing. Therefore, they cannot be killed by poisons but must be dealth with by the use of contact sprays. That is, we must use a spray that will kill these soft bodied insects when it touches the body.

"Black Leaf 40" is the answer. This material may be obtained at the drug stores in any amount, all ready for use. Be sure to turn the leaves so that the underside will be thoroughly treated. This material may be applied with a hand spray or a small whisk broom.

Who Wore the First U.S. Uniform?
THE "First-to-Fight" Boys. The U.S. Marines. Before the Continental Congress authorized and uniformed either Army or Navy, it mustered into regular service on November 10, 1775, two battalions of American Marines.
Goodrich, too, "does it first." But whether Goodrich was making the first American pneumatic tire, the first American clincher tire, or the first American cord tire, Goodrich was always building—
GOODRICH
SERVICE VALUE TIRES
SERVICE VALUE in a tire is its value to you on your car and on the road in speed, easy riding, gasoline economy, freedom from tire trouble, and mileage.
And all Goodrich experience, research, skill, and integrity in tire making, and all Goodrich inspection labor year in and year out to put SERVICE VALUE in Goodrich Tires, and keep it there, SILVERTOWN CORDS and BLACK SAFETY TREADS.
And Goodrich Test Car Fleets maul it through millions of miles of road testing to prove it is there.
When you see Goodrich on tires, you know they have SERVICE VALUE.

HEADS OF ALL WAR ACTIVITIES

TO MEET AT TRAVERSE CITY AUGUST 6-7

Men Who Have Seen Actual Service on Battle Fields Among Leading Attractions

The greatest gathering ever held in Northwestern Michigan will be held August 6 and 7 when the northeastern Michigan war conference is held at Traverse City under the auspices of the Michigan War Board and the National Council of Defense. Several figures of national repute, women famed for their active participation in war work, Governor Sleeper, members of the Michigan War Board, state officials, state leaders in every war activity, state heads of women's organizations, representatives of war boards of 25 counties, and their townships, representatives of the draft boards of the same counties, county, city and township heads of war activities of every nature, county fuel administrators, county food administrators, county agents, agricultural experts and public school teachers interested in patriotic work in the schools, will attend the gathering.

Traverse City is preparing a royal welcome for the visitors, Mayor Lautner, chairman John R. Santo, of the County War Board, chairman W. J. Hobbs of the Red Cross, and secretary of the Bay City Board of Commerce, are making preparations for the housing of delegates, who will more than tax the capacity of the city's hotels. The best homes in the city will be opened for such visitors as cannot be accommodated at the hotels. Secretary Hobbs declared that no person coming to Traverse City need fear lack of accommodation.

Most interesting among the speakers will be Lieutenant Paul Perigord of the French army, on leave of absence in this county following severe wounds. He is accounted the most eloquent Frenchman who has yet been sent to this country. Another is Lieutenant R. Renard, military attache of the French embassy in Washington, assigned there after being wounded, to release an able-bodied attache for active service. Hans Reig of Washington, chairman of the War Savings division, and other Washington officials will also attend. Lieutenant Perigord, one of the American officials from Washington, and Lieutenant Governor Dickinson and Ex-Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris will be the speakers at the public mass meeting scheduled in the armory. Governor Sleeper will preside at this gathering. The general meeting of the conference when heads of all war activities of every nature will have brief discussions upon each topic, will be held during the afternoon of August 6. Sectional meetings will continue throughout August 7th, when the sections and speakers will be as follows:

War Savings Stamps—Frank Hubbard, Detroit, state director.

Liberty Loan—Frederick R. Fenton, Chicago, Federal Director of Sales.

Woman's Liberty Loan Committee—Mrs. Delphine Dodge Ashbaugh, Detroit, chairman.

Junior Red Cross—Fred L. Keeler, Lansing, state Superintendent of Education.

Boys Working Reserve—C. A. Parcells, Detroit, State Director.

Public Service Reserve—John A. Russell, Detroit, State Director.

Food—George A. Prescott, East Tawas, State Food Administrator.

Fuel—W. K. Prudden, Lansing, State Fuel Administrator.

Council of National Defense—Dr. Caroline Bartlett Crane, Kalamazoo, chairman, Women's Committee Michigan Division.

County War Boards—Mark T. McKee, Detroit, Secretary Counties Division Michigan War Preparedness Board.

Six Foot Oat Stalks

Some enterprising farmer left a sample of his oats at this office the latter part of the week while the editor was out and not knowing who he is, we cannot give him the credit he has coming to him. The oat samples left run from five and one-half to six feet high and each head contains from 60 to 80 kernels to the head. Would suggest that the stalks be saved and utilized for firewood. There would be money in it at the present price of wood or coal.

COUNTY'S SHARE OF STATE AUTO TAX

Will Receive $3,878.45 Which Is One-Half of Amount Paid In Charlevoix county's apportionment of the motor vehicle tax collected in Michigan during the quarter ending June 30 is $3,878.45, which is half of the amount collected in this county.

The apportionment as worked out by the department of state was certified by the auditor general. The amount received by Charlevoix and other counties of the state is one-half of the amount collected. The other half goes to state highway work. Charlevoix's share, under the law, must be used for road betterment. The total collected all over the state is $1,076,246.69 of which $538,123.15 goes directly to the counties.

Church of God

There will be no services at the chapel on Hurlbut Avenue for two Sundays as the annual camp meeting begins this week Friday, July 2, and lasts until the 12th. Grounds two miles south of Belvedere station. We are expecting a good meeting this year. Evangelist O. E. Line of Indiana, will be present. Brother Line is an able speaker of considerable experience. Come and hear him. Services daily at 10:30, 2:30 and 7:30. Come and bring your friends with you.

recognition, and their right to the ballot can no longer with decency be denied them.

"In the suppression of the liquor traffic, the incalculable benefit to mankind and posterity must be acknowledged by all thinking men. Michigan, through its coming legislature, will ratify the amendment providing for national prohibition.

"Our first and most important business is to put through this war, and to this end I stand for an unqualified loyalty to and support of the President, in a policy looking to a speedy and vigorous program on all matters necessary to a successful winning of the war. Vigorous verile Americanism should prevail, and prompt action for the suppression of all un-American propaganda should be taken, with speedy and adequate punishment for all who violate the spirit of American patriotic duty. We have no time for the spy or peace propagandist. They should be speedily eliminated.

"When this war shall end, then will we need to take wise counsel with each other, and build for a future which shall be secure in its peace, its business activities, the happiness of all our people and the integrity of the nation.

"Upon this platform which is my covenant with an intelligent electorate, do I commend my candidacy to the consideration of the people of the district."

PAT MCCOY AT METHODIST CHURCH

Will Relate His Experiences While on Battle Field

A great treat in store Sunday night August 4th, at the Methodist church.

Pat McCoy, who has been in the service for four years, and was wounded in the battles of Arras and the Somme, will relate his experiences. Mr. McCoy is a vivid, thrilling and interesting speaker. No charge will be made, but a collection will be taken.

This is your opportunity to hear one who has gone over the top many times.

Political Announcement

I wish to announce that I am a REPUBLICAN candidate for the nomination of COUNTY CLERK at the August Primary.

As Sheriff of Charlevoix county for the past four years, I am familiar with court proceedings and the work in the Clerk's office.

I am chairman of the United States local draft board which pays the members a nominal sum for their services. I trust that my record as a public official will merit the support of the Republican voters.

If nominated and elected, I will give the position my best attention.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES NOVAK.

OPPOSE FORD IN BOTH PARTIES

JAMES HELME ENTERS DEMOCRATIC RACE

Four Out for Place In Republican Ranks—Two Democrats Would Be Governor

There will be four candidates for the republican nomination for United States senator—Henry Ford, Truman H. Newberry, William Gerald Simpson, of Detroit, and Chase S. Osborn, of Sault Ste. Marie.

Senator Smith's withdrawal was not entirely unexpected as there has been a persistent rumor in state political circles for the past two days that he would drop out of the race at the last minute, although petitions were filed Friday afternoon to put his name on the republican ballot.

While he will have three opponents for the republican nomination, Henry Ford will have but one candidate against him on the democratic ticket. James W. Helme, of Adrian, a prominent member of the state grange and dairy and food commissioner during Gov. Ferris' administration, has qualified as a candidate for the democratic nomination for United State senator.

When the Democrats held their conference in Lansing several weeks ago and indorsed Henry Ford as the candidate of both parties, it was agreed that Ford would have no opposition on the democratic ticket and Helme's entrance into the race was not in accordance with the plan of National Committeeman William Connolly and other democratic leaders.

In addition to the contest for United States senator in the democratic party there will be a spirited battle for the gubernatorial nomination between John W. Bailey, of Battle Creek, and Edward Frensdorf of Hudson. Evart L. Gardner, of Midland, will be nominated as the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor without opposition.

Governor Albert E. Sleeper, of Bad Axe, is unopposed for renomination on the republican ticket. Lieut. Gov. Luren D. Dickinson, of Charlotte, will not be opposed for renomination on the republican ticket.

Five of the republican congressmen will have primary opposition. Congressmen Louis C. Cramton, Gilbert M. Currie, Joseph W. Forney, Frank D. Scott and Charles Nichols will be opposed for renomination.

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 26. NUMBER 32. TEN PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1918. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

RECEIVING WELL MERITED SUPPORT

SEN. JAMES WOOD CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESSMAN.

Bases Campaign on Merits Alone, Not Previous Political Activity or Promises.

Senator Jnmes C. Wood of Manistique, candidate for Congress in the Eleventh district to succeed Frank D. Scott of Alpcna, is receiving encouraging and well merited support from all parts of the district.

Mr. Wood is one of the most popular men in the state and will possess great strength in this congressional race. During the three terms which he served in the state sennte he made an enviable record, and the loyalty of his colleagues throughout the district testify as to his popularlity among them. Mr. Wood is first a gentleman. He is a man of integrity and stalwart Amcricanism. He is a through Michigan product, hnving been born in Hastings, Michigan, und spending nlmost his entire lifetime in this state. He practiced law in Chicago for a time nnd later returned to Michigan, where hc has since continually resided. He is unassuming, but a hard worker and n close student of governmental affairs. His work at Lansing was of the highest order, and he justly earned the distinction of being a hard worker and one of the most valuable men in the Michigan senate. In his legislative work he has always been ready and willing to assume the responsibility which necessarily follows in this line of work. He has never been afraid to make his position known, and his constituents always knew where he stood on important matters. He was prominently identified with the most important legislation passed during the past six years and the results of his painstaking efforts will be found in many of the best hills pnssed.

Senator Wood has been active in his home community in all war relief work. He is a member of the Legal Advisory Board of his judicial district; chairman of the War Savings Stamp campaign; n speaker on the staff of four minute men; and interested in Liberty Loan work. His Americanism is unquestioned, and in all war relief work he has hewed to the line, letting the chips fall where they may.

Senator Wood comes before the voters of this congressional district upon his merits alone, and not upon his previous political activity or political promises. He is not leaving behind him in this campaign a trail of political promises. To him a political promise is just as sacred and just as binding as any other promise.

The approaching primary is a serious one. Many important problems will he before congress, and Michigan should be represented by men who are courageous and unafraid; whose past record prove their worth, and their value in future service; men who will consider problems solely from the standpoint of whnt is best for the nation, rather than for the political future of the individual.

Senator Wood measures up to these requirements, nnd is the type of man congress needs in this world crisis and in the days of reconstruction which will follow. With such a man as he representing this district in congress, we would be nsably represented as any section of the country. His nhility fits him for the task.

REV. J. P. HUGET AT CONG. CHURCH

Promioeot Divine To Speak Next Sunday

This noted divine of Brooklyn, N. Y. who has been working on an annual summer pilgrimge to Charlevoix is pastor of which is considered to be one of the largest churches in the world, has favored the summer visitors and the peaple of Charlevoix with one sermon each season for eleven consecutive years.

He will deliver his sermon of this season at the 10:40 morning service next Sundny. Those who are so fortunate as to attend this service are promised an unusually fine sermon and a cordial invitation hy the resident pastor, Rev. C. E. Taggart to attend this service.

MAPLE GROVE GRANGE PICNIC

Preparations Now Under Way for Semi-Anoual Affair

On Saturday, August 17, hundreds of automobiles, buggies, wagons and other kinds of conveyances will ba all headed one way—to Maple Grove, in Hayes township, the evant being the annual basket picnic held under the auspices of the Maple Grove Grange.

Committees have practically all arrangements completed for the big event. The farmer boys are practicing up on ball playing, and if you see a cloud of dust on the road late at night, don't be alarmed—it's some young fellow getting in trim for the foot races. All lines of business are forgotten on this day and all attend the picnic.

Jason Woodman of Paw Paw, a well known granger and a speaker of some repute, will spenk during the afternoon on subjects of interest to grangers, and also touch on the leading topics of the day. The "Get the Kaiser" program during the afternoon will be well worth hearing. Fill up the basket with a good dinner and rub shoulders with the rest of the fellows at the picnie. If you haven't the "makings" for lunch, the grange ladies will furnish it. We predict a good time for all who attend.

MARKETING ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

MEETING HELD IN CHARLEVOIX FOR THAT PURPOSE

Forty Farmers Sign Articles of Association and Become Active Members

The farmers from the vicinity of Charlevoix held n meeting in the Court Room last night, Tuesday, and organized a Charlevoix branch of the Farmers Marketing Association and elected the following members as directors:

Floyd Bartholomew, Harry Nichols, Gco. Meggison, E. A. Clark, Orton VanDusen, Sam Straw and Robert Paddock.

Some forty farmers signed the articles of the association, becoming members thereof and a campaign will be inaugurated to secure a large membership.

Notices for a meeting have already been mailed out which was scheduled for Friday evening of this week and the meeting was advaneed to Tuesday evening to enable Mr. Tennant of the U. S. Depnrtment of Agriculture to address the meeting, it being impossible to secure his appearance on the later date set.

The farmers were hastily assembled by phone calls but it was not possible to reach many of them as their phones were out of commission, being put out of use by the severe electrical storms in this section.

Briefly stated the object of the Farmers Marketing Association will be to secure in this section, at first, a standard grade of potato and to place it in the market through the facilities offered by the Association.

The many advantages accruing to the members of a co-operative association organized as this one is and with such a laudable objective are so obvious that it will non doubt secure a large membership in this section.

The success of the enterprise rests entirely on the calibre of the men selected for the management of the association's business, but it will also require the nctive and consistent support of its individual membership.

County Agent Clinton F. Smith is taking an active part in the organization.

RETURNS TO CHARLEVOIX

Pat McCoy Speaks to Large Audience Sunday Evening

Perhaps the largest audience contained within the walls of the Methodist church were on hand at an early hour to hear the second address delivered by Bomber McCoy in Charlevoix within a week. INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Leslie Shapton Tells of Finding German Maehine Gunners Chained to Guns—Claude Volkert Praises Merits of Ford Cars as Ambulanees.

From Leslie Shaptoo

The following letter, postmarked June 28, was received by Perry Mason of this city from Leslie Shapton:

"Dear Perry—Well, old boy, since I had the chance to write you last, your old 'roomie' has been dodging 'sea-bags' (shells) in the front line and I sure made some quick ducks. I guess if my knees hadn't doubled up as quickly as they did a few times, I would not be back here in the rest camp now, writing about it. But here I am and without a scratch on the old body, but some big sounds and impressions pounded into the old head.

"Since I have been in France, I have been in training with the battalion I came over with. A couple of weeks ago, however, we broke camp and boarded the box cars for where, we did not know but found out later. We came through Paris, but I did not see much of the place as it was at night and only through the outskirts. But the next day we proceeded on our way to the front and made part of our journey by motor truck. Some procession too, —25 men in a truck. We hit the war zone in the afternoon and stood by until nightfall, when we were taken up in the reserve line and stayed until daybreak. Thus I entered the trenches and heard the first shells explode. We were divided up among the 5th and 6th marines the next morning and put in the front line and in the afternoon I was under my first shell fire. That old boche artillery sure had things going too, and shrapnel was flying all ways, but I got close to the bottom of my dugout and only took an occasional peep. The barrage lifted after a while, but I had seen real war by that time. Several boche prisoners were taken further up the line and were marched past my dugout, and I also saw several of my comrades who had been further up the line being carried into the first aid stations, from where the serious cases were taken by ambulances to the hospital. It was a heavy barrage, lasting a couple of hours, several times n day and at night no man's land was kept lit up by star shells. It was some sight.

"We made two drives, that is, went over the top twice, and gained our objective both times. When one sees his comrades falling around him it sure makes a guy sore at the boche and we gave 'em HELL, spelled with capital letters. They call us marine 'Teufelhunden' or 'devil dogs' and we sure made them sit up and take notice. Some places where the machine gun emplacements were, they got several of our men while we were storming them and when we had 'em they would throw up their hands and call 'kamerad, kamerad' the nerve of the devils. Those we bayoncted or used our Colts on and plough, plough, plough they went down. It was found in a couple of places that they had their men chained to the guns, so that they had to fight, and to those we showed a little mercy and took them prisoners.

"War was certainly not exaggerated by Sherman, and I think that his expression is certainly too mild. Went swimming in the Marne river the first day out and am going fishing next Sunday.

"I don't know when we will go back again, but expect it will be soon. After one has been up there on the front flirting with death all the while, one sure knows how good it is to be living and how to enjoy it.

"Must close now and get some work done. Will tell you more about it when we marines get back to the old U. S., after parading the streets of Berlin. When you read in the papers about the crack unit of American fighting forces, it's a synonym for marines. Yours,

"SHAP."

Corp. Leslie T. Shapton, 18th Co., 2nd. Bat., 5th Regt., U. S. Marines, American Exp. Forces.

It must have been during a lull in the fighting that the following letter from Claud Volkert was written, as since that date, fierce assaults have taken place in the front where he is located, and the "Yanks" have the boche on the run. The letter is interesting and Courier readers will greatly enjoy it.

"Dear Uncle—Haven't heard from you in several days, in fact, we haven't received much of any mail for a couple of weeks, but know it will come in a bunch later.

"Today I received two Charlevoix papers which contained, as usual, many interesting bits of news. The way the Liberty Loan went over certainly shows that Charlevoix is sure enough in to the finish. In yesterday's edition of the New York Herald I read that Hugo Hampton had been cited for bravery and with others was in the thickest of the fray. Good for Hugo. It also stated that possibly he would return to the States in the near future. He has been stationed on a sector of the front where the hottest assaults in recent offensives have been met in an 'all American style.' We are still with the American division, as we have been since we came up, but don't know how much longer we will stick. Think perhaps we will go back with the French soon. The French system of ambulances is different from the American in as much as our units do nothing but transport the wounded, while the American system has what is called ambulance companies, which include stretcher bearers, orderlies, drivers and doctors and number about one hundred and fifty men, while our organization has only forty men. We have been loaned to the American army too, in a way, determine the efficiency of the two organizations.

"Things have been rather quiet with us for a few days past. Of course when I say quiet, I don't mean that it's the same atmosphere you

DIED WITHIN A FEW HOURS

MRS. GEORGE EAGLETON IS STRICKEN BY APOPLEXY

Attack Came on Return Home From Shopping at Eleven O'clock Saturday Evening

Mrs. George Eagleton passed away at her home on Mason street Sunday morning, following a few hours illness, death being due to apoplexy.

Pauline Olney was born on the south Manitou Island November 17, 1855. She was married to George Eagleton at Torch Lake in 1880, where they lived until coming to Charlevoix in 1889, settling at the home on Mason street.

Her death came as a shock to the community as she had apparently been in good health. She had been shopping Saturday evening and arrived home about eleven thirty and while preparing for bed collapsed and did not regain consciousness, passing away at eight o'clock Sunday morning.

She was a member of the Relief Corp, Rebecca Lodge and Canadian Order of Forresters, also a member of the Congregational church and the W. C. T. U. in all of which she took an active part. She is survived by a husband, son Edward, four sisters and five brothers.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at ten o'clock from the Congregational church, Rev. Taggart officiating.

GASSED BUT NOW BACK WITH COMPANY

Lee Allard in Hospital—But Only For Five Days

"Gassed, in the hospital five days, but now back with my company and ready for another bout with the Huns," is the word received from Lee Allard, with Headquarters Co., 125th Regt., formerly on the Vosges front, but according to late advices a part of the big force of Yanks right on the heels of the fleeing Germans.

In his letter Lee briefly told of being gassed, confined to the hospital and back again in the trenches. With him are Adolphus Allard and Frank Cody. The boys of the old national guard have been anxious for a fracas and from now on will undoubtedly take a leading part in all action in the particular sector manned by the American troops.

BOYS REGISTER FOR VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Twenty-One Register With Board Since July 15

County Clerk Richard Lewis, who is also clerk of the draft board, reports that twenty-one Charlevoix boys have registered for vocational training with the board since July 15, and that every member of the registrants have been called for duty, a majority of whom will be sent to the army school at Valpariso, Indiana.

WAR WORKERS RALLY DAY

TO BE LEADING FEATURE AT COUNTY FAIR

Each City, Town and Village Asked to Take Active Part—Looks Bad for the Kaiser

To touch the pulse of our patriotic citizenry and to make our fair the biggest fair in Northern Michigan, the Charlevoix Agricultural Society has decided to have a war-worker's rally day, Wednesday, September 18. At the noon hour of this day sharply at twelve, the band will lend with the Star Spangled Banner, and awakened by the modern Orpheus, all the war-workers of the county, clothed in patriotic garb will hasten to follow them.

First and foremost will come Uncle Sam, the Goddess of Liberty, and Columbia, correctly attired according to the best authority we can get from a costume house (from which we rent the costumes,) and arranged for by the Daughters of the Revolution, under the personal management of one of the daughters, Mrs. J. M. Harris of Boyne City.

The Grand Army of the Republic of the entire county will follow Uncle Sam. Mr. Harrington, commander of East Jordan post, will organize the veterans for this division of the parade, and with him will ride the speakers of the day. The Women's Relief Corps of the entire county will accompany them, transportation being provided and places assigned them by Mrs. Barrie and Mrs. Tindall of East Jordan.

A historic float, entitled: "Union of the Blue and the Gray and the Khaki," will constitute the fourth division of the parade, and Mrs. Wm. Boylan of the historical section of the Monday Study Club of Boyne City will be asked to see that this is cared for.

Having thus arranged for our modern day through our Revolutionary and Civil War periods, we are ready for our democracy of today and will witness the most touching part of our daily travel. The service division will constitute numbers of cars filled with the mothers of our boys in the service, each one carrying her service flag, her car entering free at the gates, and her presence signifying her backing to the Fourth Liberty Loan. This should include every mother in the country who has a soldier boy in the service anywhere in the world, and the responsibility for this float will be placed with the Council of Nntional Defense, under the guidance of its chairman, Miss May Stewart of East Jordan.

The introduction having framed the history of our country, our next chapter concerns our part in the world war, and our allies. Mrs. Cora Burney, president of East Jordan Study Club, will be nsked to assembla the first float, "Spirit of '76," (costumes for complete set having been made available from Lansing,) Michigan and Father Charlevoix will next be portrayed by the Charlevoix Historical Association, under guidance of its president, Mr. Saltonstall. England, Scotland and Ireland, will be portrayed by some sort of home scene and costumes appropriate for each have been secured. J. L. Crane, chairman of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, will be asked to organize this for the Charlevoix business men. France will be pictured by a fireside view and Mr. Ackerman of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce will be asked thus to represent his constituency. Cuba and Hnwaii, with gowns furnished by the above mentioned costumery, will be represented by the business men and Red Cross society of Walloon Lake and W. H. Ransom will be appointed manager of the float. The Boyne City Tannery will be asked to portray Russia, poor benighted Russia. Sunny Italy will follow, pictured in her sunshine and her sorrow by Roscoe Mackey, president of East Jordan Board of Trade. The big men of the east, China and Japan, with suitable costumes available for each, will he staged by the resort association of Charlevoix. The "Human Bridge," our sailor boys of the transports, will be left to Beaver Island for interpretation, under the guidance of the chairman of their war board, Fr. Jewell. A single float "Bleeding Belgium and Suffering Serbia," will be pleed in charge of the business men and Red Cross Society of Boyne Falls. Di-

BARNARD

John Holliday and family of Harbor Springs spent Sunday at the Howard Gornell home.

An eleven pound baby boy arrived on Sunday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter.

Ernest Ecklund sustained a serious injury while putting the roofing on their new barn. One finger was completely taken off and his hand badly crushed.

The severe electric storm of Monday night caused some damage. The home of Walter DeGroot near Ellsworth was burned, nearly all of the household goods being saved.

Word comes from Detroit, telling of the arrival of a big eleven pound boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Reed. Mrs. Reed was formerly Mary Clark of Barnard.

Work on the school house is progressing as rapidly as possible. The new furnace is being installed, and the contractor expects to finish up the carpenter and mason work this week.

Barnardites who are not attending church services are missing something really worth while. The sermon by Dr. Kerr and the music by the choir were especially fine last Sunday and we expect to enjoy them for a few more Sundays at least.

would expect to find in a country church yard, but it's nothing as it was during the attack a short time ago. However, the 'big breeze' seems to be blowing in our direction now. This afternoon I am sitting by the window of my private room (for six of us) basking in the sun. It's a beautiful day and fortunately we have had plenty of them—about like the June days in Charlevoix. Just returned from the Y. M. C. A. hut a few minutes ago where I got some paper and listened to a recital by the phonograph. The records aren't so new, about two years old, but they help to drown the gentle boom of the exploding shells which at times is no small task.

"Last night I had a trip to one of our posts up back of the lines. It was a dark night and the road was strung with ammunition teams which are means things to pass in the darkness. The only lights were the flashes from the guns, so we had to pick our way between flashes, with the exeeption of hurdling a couple of shell crates, which had fallen off an ammunition truck, the trip was without incident, as the shelling wasn't bad. Think the 'Ford' is the greatest car on earth. We don't even notice the shake out here—they ride like a 'Pierce-Arrow.'

"The food is good and we are all catching some good sleep nowadays. Haven't tested any scales lately but know I am taking on some weight.

"Will have to close now and 'chow' but will write again soon. Tell all the folks hello and don't forget—to write as often as you can as letters are certainly welcome out here in 'no man's land.' Wish I could write more but will have to save some until we go back across. Leaving you for this time, I am as ever,

Yours, CLAUDE.

"Dear Mother and Sis—I'm here because I'm here, and personally if it wasn't that it is the proper place to be now, I would much prefer being in the U. S. A. for the reason that one's own native land is the best place you can think of, especially when you are a long ways from home.

"News of a passable kind over here is not passable at all. To tell you the truth writing a letter for me at the present time is just about as easy as determining the best place for a dentist to start in pulling a hen's tooth. I will be one glad boy when I am sure whether telling my age is permissable.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

August 5, 1918.

The common council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date, Mayor Rose presiding.

Aldermen present—Benton, Geneit, Glassford, Hiller and Washburn. Absent—Ald. Geiken.

Minutes of the meeting of July 29, 1918, were read and approved.

Moved by Ald. Benton and seconded by Ald. Washburn, that the application of Wood Brothers with license fee and surety bond, of the National Surety Co., be accepted and a license be issued to the applicant. Motion carried.

Enter Ald. Geiken.

The Mayor referred the matter of vacating an alley running through block (12) of original plat of City of Charlevoix, to the street committee to investigate and report next meeting.

Alderman Geneit seconded by Ald. Washburn, moved the adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLVED, by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix, that the construction of a cement sidewalk along the north side of West Lincoln Avenue and abutting upon the south side of lots, Nine, Twelve, Thirteen and Fourteen of Block Three of Mason's Addition to said City of Charlevoix said lots being owned by and assessed upon the assessment roll of said city to the following named persons, namely, said lot Nine to Lemon H. Wheeler, said Lot Twelve to Martha J. Ayers; said Lot Thirteen to Charles Gordon and said Lot Fourtoen to the estate of H. J. Webb, deceased, and said proposed line of cement sidewalk being those parts of the said north line of West Lincoln Avenue between Bridge Street and State Street upon which no sidewalk has been built, the remainder of the sidewalks along said block having been heretofore constructed, is a necessary public improvement.

IT IS THEREFORE, further resolved that said sidewalk be and the same hereby is ordered constructed by the respective owners of said lots as above described and mentioned, same to be six feet in width, the inner line thereof to be laid upon the boundary line of said street and abutting lands and constructed of cement in accordance with the provisions of the ordinances of said City of Charlevoix relating to the construction of cement sidewalks.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED, that the City Clerk of the City of Charlevoix be, and hereby is, directed to notify the said above named persons in writing of the action of the council and notify the said above named persons to construct the said sidewalk within twenty days after the service of such notice. That service of such notice by said City Clerk be made by personal service of such notice upon each of such persons, or in case such personal service can not be made, then by registered mail with demand for return receipt of delivery.

AND IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED, that should the above named persons, or nay of them neglect or refuse to construct the sidewalk along the line of their respective lands as above described, that the Street Commissioner of the City of Charlevoix proceed to construct said sidewalks in accordance with the provisions of law and the ordinance of said city relative to the construction, maintenance and repairing of sidewalks within the limits of the City of Charlevoix, and the cost and expense of such construction be assessed upon the several pieces and parcels of land according to law.

Adopted at a regular session of the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix held in the council rooms the 5th day of August, A. D., 1918.

SIMON M. ROSE,
Mayor.

Charles H. Emrey,
City Clerk.

Resolution adopted this 5th day of August, 1918, by the following aye and nay vote. Ayes—Geiken, Geneit, Glassford, Hiller and Washburn. Present but not voting—Benton. Nays—none.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Benton that the Finance Committee be authorized to borrow $4,500 for a period of thirty days at best rate of interest obtainable. Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote. Ayes—Benton, Geiken, Geneit, Glassford, Hiller and Washburn. Nays—none.

FATE OF GIRLS IN HUN'S HANDS

SIX HUNDRED WOMEN TORN FROM HOMES

Two Girls In German's Hands for Two Years Tell How Women Are Treated

Hun Kultur in its worst form is bared in the narratives of two French girls recently repatriated from Germany after two years of slavery.

The narratives have been published in book form by Henrietta Celarie a Parisian authoress, and recite in detail the revolting conditions French women captives are compelled to endure.

Some of the most appalling records have been suppressed, those made public, it is explained, being usual rather than exceptional cases.

Yvonne X——, a woman of 30, belonged to one of the best middle class families of Lille. At 4 a. m. Easter morning, 1916, she was awakened by German soldiers who entered her room and demanded that she dress and accompany them.

She was given 20 minutes to be ready, and told that she would be dragged out as she was if she refused.

In the same fashion 600 women and girls, many of them 18 years old and older, were collected.

The women were driven into cattle cars. In the car Yvonne X—— was driven, 20 women and four men were herded like cattle. A sign chalked on the car read "Eighteen Women."

They were taken to Ardennes, where they were taken before a German major, who made the women pass before him, entirely naked, for a "medical examination."

Three of the girls wept bitterly. They had been reported "good for every purpose."

This meant they were to be turned over to the German private soldiers.

Housed with common prostitutes and treated with the utmost contempt by the soldiery, every effort was made to break down the women's morality. Several men would be lodged in the same house with one or two of the French women.

Even more revolting is the story of Marie X——, who tells of 150 women being penned in a barn, littered with vermin-infested straw, which was their only bed.

Every night German soldiers would open the door and call for the women they desired. It was useless to try to escape them.

Politicel Announcemant

I wish to announce that I am a REPUBLICAN candidate for the nomination of COUNTY CLERK at the August Primary.

As Sheriff of Charlevoix county for the past four years, I am familiar with court proceedings and the work in the Clerk's office.

I am chairman of the United States local draft board which pays the members a nominal sum for their services. I trust that my record as a public official will merit the support of the Republican voters.

If nominated and elected, I will give the position my best attention.

Respectfully submitted,

Letter from a Resorter, Suggesting the slogan "a More Beautiful Charlevoix"

Editor Charlevoix Courier:

One of the first places in your city that I was tempted to explore was the shores of Lake Michigan. Tempted by the sigh of the pines and the best of the surf beyond the hills, I started up Park avenue. I must confess that I was somewhat disillusioned on reaching the end of that driveway on finding the sidewalk heaped with a pile of dirt, which must have been there for a long time, as it was covered with grass, and the litter surrounding it was unscenic to say the least. To the south of this naturally attractive spot I found a street, grass and weed grown, an alley filled with noxious weeds and rubbish and in a few instances that the residents had a rather convenient if unsanitary method of garbage disposal, viz., it was dumped into the back yard out of sight of the house it came from, but in plain view of the passer-by.

I have visited many resorts, none of whom I like better than Charlevoix. You have a city that is naturally beautiful, and why spoil the perspective by tolerating mussy back yards or littered streets and alleys.

Your slogan should be: "A More Beautiful Charlevoix."

RESORTER.

PATRIOTISM BEGINS AT THE PRIMARIES

All candidates for public office should disclose where they stand on public measures.

The American people must know first where each candidate stands before he has a right to solicit the support of the voters.

Here is a tentative pledge which, with proper amendment, every candidate should be required to subscribe to.

The pork barrel system of disposing of public funds lead to loose expenditures and waste and a lowering of the morale of public men, as well as the electorate of America. I am opposed to is as a public menace.

I am in favor of and will work and vote for a national budget system.

I will whole-heartedly support the United States government and the officials selected to prosecute the war against the Hun.

I will be no party to petty political squabbles, which answer no good end and only tend to interfere with the prompt and orderly dispatch of public business.

I will oppose the exploiting of the working men and women of America for private gain, under the guise of patriotic war work.

It will oppose the taking of excess war profits by any firm or person employed in the manufacture of any class of goods or munitions and whether intended for private or government uses, during the continuance of the war.

I will work for such measures as will tend to strengthen the distribution or make available the securing of funds needed to supply the essential business institutions and the farmers located without the zone of war work with capital to carry on their work.

I will unqualifiedly support the messures necessary to secure an amendment to the constitution giving the right of suffrage to the women of America, a privilege to which they are by all the cannons of justice entitled to.

I pledge myself as an American citizen, and a man, to place myself on record as working and voting in favor of the foregoing measures.

Reckless expenditures of public money may lead to an exhaustion of our national resources, which would tend to discourage the people and tire them of war before the objective for which we are fighting was reached—which would mean that the sacrifices made by the men and women of America was made in vain. Loyalty to America and American institutions should be the first test—the acid test—every candidate should be required to prove up on. Country above party must be our slogan. Political soiled linen can be laundered at home and with less risk of loss of prestige as a first-class world power after the war is over.

SPIES AND LIES

Citizens Requested to Report Person Suspected to Government

German agents are eager to gather scraps of news about our men, our ships, our munitions, our home affairs, all of which they propose to if they are able to get this information through.

Watch your tongue. Do not discuss in public or with strangers, any news of the troops or bits of information that may come to your knowledge that is not known to the general public.

Do not become a tool of the Hun by passing on, the malicious, disheartening rumors he so eagerly sow. Remember he asks no better service than to have you spread his lies of gross slanders on the Red Cross, neglect of our army boys in camp, and other tales certain to bring anxiety and grief to American parents.

Do not wait until you catch someone putting a bomb under a factory. Report the man who spreads pessimistic stories, divulges, or seeks military information, cries for peace, or belittles our efforts to win the war.

Send the names of such persons, even if they be in uniform, to the department of justice, Washington, D. C. and give all the details you can, with names and witnesses if possible.

The fact that you have made the report will not be made public, and remember that you are an American.

"Jingo."

"Jingo" is used as a substitute for something else, as in the phrases "By George" and "By Jiminy;" in Goldsmith there is the expression, "by the living Jingo." "Jingo" was originally applied in Great Britain to anyone who advocated an aggressive or vigorous policy in foreign affairs, and came into existence as a nickname for a supporter of Lord Beaconsfield's action in sending a fleet to Turkish waters to oppose the Russian advance in 1878.

Good Advice.

"Talk less and say more," is the advice given to a group of girls. No one expects a girl's conversation to be profound and philosophical, but there is no doubt that more thinking before speaking would make the words of many girls better worth hearing. The trouble is not that girls lack intelligence, but that they are rather lazy about using their brains.

EDITORIAL

"PEACE BEFORE AUTUMN"

(Contributed by Reginald Wright Kauffman to the National Security League's campaign of Patriotism Through Education.)

It has been my fortune to pass the last nine months in France, most of the time with one or other of the Allied armies. It is with amazement that, returned, I hear talk of a peace before next autumn.

The Germans—and the French know it—regard as one great battle the series of pushes that began on March 21. They have divided their plans into four forward efforts; of these the first is over, the second in progress; they intend the second to be stronger than the first, the third stronger than the second, the fourth as strong as the remaining reserves can make it, and the whole battle to continue into November. At each of these efforts is to be an attacking effort, and as, in modern warfare, advantage lies with the attacking force, the current advantage will be with our enemy until at least late autumn, and any peace proposed or agreed to during that time will be a peace with Germany in the ascendant. Therefore, the cry of peace before autumn is a cry for a German peace.

Austria may be blown up by an internal explosion and Germany may be unable to gather up the fragments. A military miracle may render possible an Allied counter-offensive and shatter all the Teutonic schemes. Ultimately, of course, the greater man-power of the Allies, due to the eventual entrance of a thoroughly trained and properly armed and equipped American army, will turn the balance and win us victory. But, so far as one may judge from previous experience, the enemy while unable to gain his final objectives, will continue to have something the better of this war until the winter of 1918-19. Not to recognize that is to prepare for a German peace; to recognize it, and to determine to keep on fighting, is to prepare for the conquest of Prussianism and the conclusive peace of the world.

Among the American enlisted men in the Lorraine trenches, and along the firing line in the north, you hear no talk of "peace before autumn;" the only talk that you hear is talk of victory. Here, after many conversations with him, is what I believe to be the point of view of the American enlisted man in France;

"We went into this war to smash forever Prussian militarism: Unless we smash that, we shall have lost the war. That being so, any compromise peace will be a German victory. Talk of making terms with a Germany not on her knees is treason, no matter from what source in American it eminates. We are going to accomplish the purpose that we set out to accomplish; if we weren't going to accomplish that, it would be a crime ever to have gone into this war. Our spirit is the spirit of sacrifice; the spirit of a compromise with Prussianism is a spirit that would waste the sacrifices that we have made, are making and shall yet make—and, whoever he is, the man that turns sacrifice into waste commits a sin against the Holy Spirit of God."

Just now, it is the first duty of every good American citizen to keep an eye on the wuster.

OUR PRIMARIES

The idiosyncracies of the Michigan primary law, which permits a man to run on both Republican and Democratic tickets, are brought out aptly in a recent editorial in the New York Times.

"Certain 'Republican leaders' of Michigan," says the Times, "metaphysically, among the Wolverines, he is a sort of strayed reveler and impartial candidate for senator, whose profound interest in politics may be judged from his recorded remembrance that he cast his first vote for "Garfield" in 1884. The Michigan primaries are free to all. Democrats can vote in Republican primaries. If a candidate is nominated by more than one party he has to choose, within five days after the official canvass, on which ticket he will have his name on election day. Mr. Henry Ford belongs to both parties, or to all parties, or to no party. His are the privileges of genius as well as those of the wise Michigan primary law.

"Since the object of that law must have been to confuse and break up parties, to destroy those partisan distinctions, why don't those Republican leaders rejoice in the situation which reveals fully the majestic sagacity of the makers of the primary law? They complain that there is nothing in that great statute that authorizes the refusal of nominating petitions filed with the secretary of state for one candidate by more than one party. They actually talk of going to the courts for the purpose and in the hope of keeping Mr. Ford's name from being printed on both primary tickets. Vain effort, wicked hope. Indeed, to speak of political parties in that paradise of the primary is to use meaningless and outworn language. How can there be a Republican party, when Democrats and Socialists have and use the right to name its candidates? How can there be any purty? At any rate, if there is one, it is sure to be run by its opponents. Not in Otopia, not in Bedlam could a nobler scheme be hatched.

"Not merely as a statesman, who has demonstrated radiantly his profound knowledge of national and international politics, is Mr. Henry Ford interesting as a candidate for senator of the United States. In his political aspect, so far as politics can be said to exist, except metaphysically, among the Wolverines, he is a sort of strayed reveler from Fairyland. Men of all sorts and conditions are eager to rush to the primaries and vote for him. In Michigan, politics are stowed away among old, unhappy, far-off things, and the primary which, like Hesperus, bringeth all things, has begotten the Romantic Movement."

HE'D BETTER DO IT NOW

When will Germany toss up the sponge? Why her defy with defeat looming large on the horizon?

Prussia's papa Willie has made his previous people some pretty promises.

They are to loot the Louvre, live in chauteaus, possess French women and persecute French men; rename Westminister Abbey der West Muenster Pier Garden, fill the London subway with British bodies and run a Zeppelin air line; transportation free for Prussians from Hamburg or Cologne to Liverpool or Edinburgh.

At least, it seems that the Hun heaven has been pictured this way to the plodding Pluitreutsch and their kin.

Now, if the Kaiser could sign a "Made in Germany" peace, every war weary dolt would awake with a jolt soon after, to the curse kultur had brought and wrought upon them.

Blighted lives, widowed wives, fatherless "kinder" would sturt a flame like spark in tinder—a blaze of wrath to sear a path of hate straight to the Hun chief's door.

Democracy would incubate and hatch death for the Prussian oppressor.

The under dog—even though he be a dachshund, which beast with much body and small head well represents the German people today—aroused by realization of long suffered wrongs, will shake loose the muzzle of tyranny and in a twinkling, reverse the situation.

His hoof on the neck of the German people, Wilhelm is struggling to keep not only the allied brogan but his subjects' boot from the Hohenzollern throat.

He is fighting for life—nothing less. It is "heads" we win, "tails" he loses either way—at our hands or the club fingers of his own butchers.

So long as there is Teuton blood unspilled, on will go the war unless before the last drop dries, truth dawns and the Boche worm turns.

It's a case of work the guns and drive the Huns with steel till the Rhine is red and autocracy dead in the ruins of Berlin.

DISHONORABLE WARRIORS

The German newspapers are raising "quite a row" because certain of our storm troops are equipped with that handy little American weapon, the sawed-off shot-gun. In fact, the Cologne Gazette warns the German army that our fellows are "dishonorable warriors."

Uh-huh. And how about—

Poison Gas—invented by the Germans and first used by their soldiers.

Liquid Fire—first used by the German soldiers.

Bombing Hospitals—the killing of helpless men in their beds; invented and practiced exclusively by German soldiers.

Rape—a war practice of the Germans; theirs exclusively.

Baby Killing—German warriors war weapon.

And many others, just as honorable, yet they gag at the sawed-off shotgun. But what's the use; the more we hear from the think tanks of the Germans, the more convinced we are that Germany is one whooping big crazy house.

It seems now, as if the Germans, and the Michigander, who has been accustomed to taking his nip regular, are in the same boat. They have had their "last chance."

Those inexperienced Yanks are putting the Huns through the bitter school of experience.

The Germans have discovered that they can't run the war on mustard gas alone.

Every time the Yanks go into battle, Berlin gets a trifle closer.

Germans is due for a bitter epidemic of war sickness.

Casualty lists show that good Germans are increasing.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR FAVORITE PERFUMERY.

—To the woman who has unemployed time on her hands and who would be interested making some practical experiments the following perfumery formulas, reprinted from the Electrical Experimenter, offer a unique opportunity:

In all the following formulas secure the best ingredients regardless of price. Quality is of the first importance. Procure the best spirits of deodorized alcohol obtainable. When the perfumes are mixed they should be frequently agitated and allowed to stand two or three weeks before filtering. Age improves all perfumes if kept in a moderate atmosphere and in a dark place.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if Kidneys feel like lead or Bladder bothers you—Meat forms uric acid.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

WAR WORKERS RALLY DAY

rect responsibility will be placed in the hands of Mrs. Oleson and Mr. Meyers of that village.

Having thus become acquainted with our friends and allies we shall turn our attention to the great organized forces at home that are backing our boys. Following is the list of floats of this division directly followed by the person who will be asked to take charge of the work:

Fourth Liberty Loan—Ira Adams, chairman of County War Board; Thrift and W. S. S.—Ira Adams, or someone appointed by him; Red Cross Floats—Military relief, by J. Porter, East Jordan, Civilian relief, Mr. Oldham of Charlevoix, Junior Red Cross, Miss Frieberg, East Jordan; Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.—Howard Porter of East Jordan; Knights of Columbus—Fr. McNeill of East Jordan; Fuel Conservation—R. C. Hammett, County Fuel Administrator; Food Conservation—F. Thompson of Boyne City, County Food Administrator, Food Clubs; East Jordan Chemical Co.; Canning Clubs—Mrs. C. F. Smith of Boyne City, County club leader; War Gardens—Ralph Sill, Ass't. Co. Club leader, East Jordan; Working Boys' Reserve—Supt. Stead of Boyne City, Co. Recruiting officer; Smileage—Supt. Craig, Co. chairman, Charlevoix; Home Guard (our public schools)—Supt. of East Jordan schools; Four Minute Men—W. E. Hampton, Co. chairman, Charlevoix; Junior Four Minute Men—Miss Annette Lardie, teacher oratory, Boyne City; Grannries of the West—Co-Operative Marketing Associations, one float for Association. C. F. Smith of Charlevoix county, County Farm Bureau; War Suffrage—Mrs. J. S. Baker and Mrs. Armstrong, chairmen for county; Camp Fira Girls—Mrs. Walter Fowler, guardian, East Jordan; Boy Scouts—Rev. Myron Hoyt, master, East Jordan.

At this point in our parade all the business men and farmers of the county are invited to represent their own original themes and enter the parade, merely getting in touch with the marshal of the day so as to be sure that the order of the study is correct. Individuals thus entering the gates will pay admittance as on all other occasions but will be eligible for competition in prize winning on equal footing the same as the war organizations above mentioned. Since this is a war-worker's parade, individuals thus competing are urged to make every float bear a patriotic message.

At the conclusion of this parade, verily at the tail end of all festivities cometh the Kaiser, properly chained and carefully guarded. The Vigilance committee of Charlevoix, under leadership of its chairman, S. M. Rose, will be asked to see that he is manipulated, forced to witness all the gorgeous preparations above described, and after being dragged twice around the race track following in the rear, that he be then properly executed in front of the grand stand.

Henry Cook of East Jordan will be asked to act as Chief Marshal of the day and will be requested to appoint four assistants in his work. The parade will form at 12:00 sharp, at the Carnegie Library building, and work northward to the cemetery, until complete, when it will proceed to the grounds and march, walk, motor, go about the race track two times while the judges with all thought and due solemnity shall review the situation preparatory to awarding the prizes.

This brings us to the subject of prizes. Yes, prizes will be offered but that is not an important thing at all. Most of the above organizations will care nothing at all for this idea. First prize, 5 W. S. S. Second prize, 4 W. S. S. Third prize, 3 W. S. S. Fourth prize, 2 W. S. S. Fifth prize 1 W. S. S. The keynote to the entire parade is war work and results for the year before us, and the prizes are incidental merely to a little friendly competition. In fact a few of the floats above mentioned will not compete at all in the prize-winning contest. For instance, we could not judge Uncle Sam and his attendants with any of our own frail ideas, and the appeal of the service division is such that others could not compete. The entire float of the Spirit of '76 is provided in costume by the costume house, so that we are sure that the Study Club will gladly furnish this with its reputation of stirring popularity. Neither would the veterans of the civil war, nor their worthy wives, care aught for competition in their appearance amid our war work. The mothers of our boys, old soldiers, and W. R. C. will all enter free at gates. We are proud to make them our guests. Others are urged to be association members but we are sure at any rate that the war workers will abundantly earn their admittance. Of all down to the Boy Scouts no questions will be asked at the gate. They are all urged to keep the float on the grounds throughout the afternoon.

My dear joy riders, have you noticed that reference is made repeatedly to correct costumes? Yes, we mean it. The County Agricultural Society has rented from a large costume house, the Boyler Costume Store, of Lansing, 19 costumes of America and her allies. Under the management of Mrs. Henry Roy of East Jordan these costumes will be loaned to the war workers to be distributed throughout the parade. Also have they procured a complete set for the Spirit of '76, and we know what we shall see is good. Our war workers always respond. This county has a state-wide record for such responses. We know what our parade will be and we have described it that you may know. All that is needed in addition to this is the crowd to make complete our war-worker spirit of today. Civilian soldiers, this task is yours and you are hereby detailed to bring your friends from miles around to the biggest fair in Northern Michigan.

SAGE AND SULPHUR —DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

THE CADDIE COLUMN

—o—

Last week (ending Saturday evening) the caddies earned $453.30, raising the total of the season to $1,897.13. The girls earned $33.65 and the professional's caddie $10.05. In the same period the caddie master sold $15.75 worth of Thrift Stamps and turned in $7.00 to the Red Cross as this week's contribution from the boys. Wednesday was the heaviest day for the week, with 148 players, and $82.45 for the caddies who worked for them.

—o—

On next Sunday, August 11, at one o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Priest will take a group picture of the entire caddie force at the golf grounds. Every boy and girl registered as a caddie should be there at a quarter to one sharp. Let's make a good showing. We have to make the appointment on Sunday because it is the only time all the caddies can be gotten together, and the only time the photographer can make a trip out.

—o—

Anna McCann, Luella Johnson and Hazel Allen were given letters last week. There are now thirteen girls registered, and as that has always been a pretty lucky number we'll let it stand at that. No more girls will be registered this year.

—o—

Six more caddies have paid their entire Red Cross subscription for the summer ($1.00.) They are, George Higman (68), Leonard Burns, (66), Airel Cooper (42), Roy Ance (49), Frank Krulik (14) and James Marsh (46.)

—o—

Raphael Gordon (12) stayed by the professional caddie job in great style—a good week's work. His earning for the week is mentioned elsewhere in this column. Martin Halverson (3) has the work this week.

—o—

Mr. A. H. Loeb, Charlevoix's well known neighbor, has put up three watches and fobs to be given to the three boys standing highest in attendance and behavior at the links from August 1 to September 7, this year. Boys aiming at one of these must see to it that they miss no more turns and that their behavior is all that it ought to be. The prizes are well worth the effort. The watches are open face, size sixteen, thin model, with cases made of a silver alloy that will stand for year the usage a boy will give a watch. The movement or "works" of the watches are Swiss, seven jewelled, have two adjustments, and are stem wind and set. The fobs are of ribbon with dull finished sterling silver chain, clasp and medal. On the front of the medal will be the word: "Charlevoix Golf Club, Loeb Award for Attendance and Behavior," and on the back will be engraved the name of the winner, whether first, second or third, and the year. The boys and those in charge at the course appreciate deeply this gift of Mr. Loeb.

—o—

The golf club offers each year five efficiency prizes of $10, $5, $3, $2, and $1 respectively. This year, owing to the fact that the Loeb prizes have been added, the three middle prizes $5, $3 and $1 will be given to the girls. They will be awarded on the same basis as to the boys—regularity, service and behavior.

—o—

Four things to remember: Money in the bank is working for you. Thrift and War Savings Stamps are better than gold. The Red Cross is giving our boys in France aid and comfort, these days more than ever. The time for us to get busy is NOW.

—o—

Next week the "column" will have something to say about the excursion and the supper.

HOW

To Plant Trees So That They Thrive Wonderfully

"I CANNOT understand why so many of the trees I planted last spring failed to grow. They were as fine a lot as I ever saw, straight, shapely and well rooted, and I set them out with more than ordinary care, but nearly one-half of them never put forth a leaf. What do you think was the reason?"

Complaints of this sort are frequently received from disappointed tree planters, and we believe the most frequent cause of failure is careless handling of the stock after it leaves the nursery. Sometimes this carelessness is the fault of the purchaser, but more often of the dealer who buys trees in large quantities for his retail trade. The nurseryman as a rule packs the stock carefully, knowing full well the danger of exposure of the roots to air and sunlight.

Exposure of the tender rootlets of trees and shrubs to sun and wind for even a short time is extremely injurious and should never be allowed. They should be carefully wrapped and kept damp from the moment they leave their native soil until they are transplanted.

Frequently the thoughtless or inexperienced planter is to blame rather than the dealer. Perhaps he is not quite ready to plant when the stock arrives and, instead of "heeling in" the trees or shrubs or storing them in a dark, damp place, allows them to remain exposed for some time until the roots are so badly dried out that they are practically dead before planting. Such neglect, whether the fault of shipper or purchaser, is a frequent cause of failure and discouragement in tree planting.

Good Advice.

"Talk less and say more," is the advice given to a group of girls. No one expects a girl's conversation to be profound and philosophical, but there is no doubt that more thinking before speaking would make the words of many girls better worth hearing. The trouble is not that girls lack intelligence, but that they are rather lazy about using their brains.

To the Housewife:—

We take pleasure in announcing that the well known

How Best to Save

The question of the day is not whether or not to save, but HOW BEST TO SAVE.

The best way to make the start is to open a Savings Account.

The proper time to begin is right now when work is plentiful and wages high.

The sure method to make progress is through systematic, regular deposits.

The right place is in this institution where new accounts are welcome and depositors are given every possible banking assistance.

TRAINED NURSES BADLY NEEDED

Country Now Badly in Need of Twenty-Five Thousand

To care for our rapidly increasing army, an increasing army of nurses must be preparing for service. Our trained nurses have volunteered until recruiting is necessary. Our country now calls for 25,000 student nurses between the ages of 21 and 35 to await their calls for service and to be placed in civilian or army training schools until actually needed in the base hospitals. They are to enlist in the nearest recruiting station, which in this county which are the county bank and Dr. Armstrongs office evenings.

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong of Charlevoix is county recruiting officer, and will be glad to get in touch with all women desiring to enlist.

The heroic work of nursea in war times need not be here described. Suffice it is to say that next to giving life for the cause of liberty is that of saving life that liberty may be secured. Charlevoix county men have freely given and we wish in this recruiting campaign to find that Charlevoix county women will heroically respond. Campaign opens August the twelfth. Enlist in Charlevoix. Registrations will be held August 12 and 13 at county bank and Dr. Armstrong's office evenings. All girls who registered to nurse or for training in nursing should now appear for application.

DECORATED WITH HONOR MEDAL

XELLE MILES HONORED FOR BRAVERY IN ACTION

Went "Over the Top" and Returned Without Injury—Boys All Anxious for Action

This interesting letter written by Xelle Miles, who is with the A. E. F. somewhere in France, was received on Saturday of last week by his parents, who have kindly submitted it for publication in the Courier.

France, June 21, 1918.

"Dear Mother and All—As I have not heard from home in more than a week I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know I am well and working hard. I hope this finds you all well and enjoying some good farming weather. It has rained for almost a week and things are rather muddy, as it is clay ground and a man can slide all over himself without half trying.

"Well, mother, you know I told sometime ago that I went over the top and all I could how things came out. Well, here is one thing I did not tell you and that is that I was decorated with a French honor medal, which was the French Croix-de-Guerre. I am sending a pecture of the medal and I am sure proud of it. Oh, I have been in several tight places alrcady, but I have pulled through so far and I am hoping for the best nnd I don't want you to worry one bit as it won't do any good. Just pray for me and I will be a true soldier boy.

"You know we boys can't die fighting for a purer and dearer country than the dear old U. S. A. Tell father and Gene to be of good cheer and get rich farming and that I will be back to help if God permits and no one hopes he does any more than I do.

Lt. Cummings and I have a swell location and a fine little hungalow, but it gets rather exciting at times, but we don't mind it so much now. I'll tell you that France, on the whole is a beautiful sunshiny place, but the poor people—I feel sorry for them—so tired and distressed. Things are a little cloudy but I think that we will be able to look on the sunny side yet. Tell sister that I will write a special letter to her soon. I can't now as I am pretty busy but I want her and Esther and all to write to your soldier boy in far away France.

"Well, mother, I will close for this time with lots of love to all and will look for a letter soon. Best regards tao all I know. I am your loving soldier boy, XELLE."

A THOROUGH TEST

One to Convince the Most Skeptical Charlevoix Reader

The test of time is the test that counts.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action.

The following case is typical.

Charlevoix residents should be convinced.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. M. Olney, 310 W. Hurlbut St., Charlevoix, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on diffcrent occasions for kidney trouble. I suffered from severe backaches and Doan's Kidney Pills greatly benefitcd me. Others of my family have also used this medicine for lame back and pains in the kidneys with good results."

.... Confirms Her Statement ....

Five years later, Mrs. Olney said: "I have never found another kidney medicine that can equal Doan's Kidney Pills. The occasional use of this medicine keeps my kidneys in good condition. I will never go back on what I have said before in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Olney had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

IMPORTANCE OF ROSEN RYE

TWENTY-THREE BUSHEL YIELD TO THE ACRE

Seems to be One of the Great Grain Crops of Northern Michigan

Rosen rye seems to be one of the best grain crops for northern Michigan, if not the very best.

Rye has been one of the great grain crops but until recent years everyone was using the common rye.

Rosen rye has shown its greater yielding qualities and in Antrim county it has yielded 23 bushel per acre while common rye yielded only 11 bushel in the same conditions. There is no excuse for not sowing the rosen rye as there is plenty of the seed this year and we wish to see every acre in Antrim county where rye is sown into rosen rye. The rosen rye heads are full four rows and more uniform.

Vetch is a very good seed to use with the rye nnd one of the best cash crops can be produced by sowing one bushel of rosen rye and 20 pounds of vetch seed to the nere. The vetch not only builds up the soil but will bring a good return in money for the seed after the harvest.

Rye and vetch are easily separated with a simple spiral separator. On most soils, when vetch is sown for the first time, it should be inoculated to enable it to do its best.

Anyone not knowing where they can obtain rosen rye or vetch seed should correspond with the County Agent at Bellaire—Farm Bureau News.

WHAT CATARRH IS

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors only irritate and do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from any harmful drugs. It is helping thousands. Try it.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

Gleaner meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Miles, August 3. Fifteen members were present.

Ralph Cleush, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Cleush, returned to his work in Muskegon.

Mrs. Susie Flagg has returned home after spending six weeks at a summer normal school preparing for teaching this year.

"I have been here quite some time now, and have written to you before, but maybe you got it and maybe you didn't.

"Say, if you folks could look into this room now you would be justified in thinking it was an orphan asylum. This is good, and when I get home don't forget to ask me about it so I can have a good laugh.

"I am going to bed now so guess in that case will either have to take this letter to bed with me or quit writing.

"Don't worry about me as I will be home before long on a furlough and you won't know me at all, as I am getting fat on tin fish and look like a walking representative of the beef trust. Give my regards to inquiring friends. Best love to you all.

"Your loving son and brother,"
GEORGE.

From "Lef" Carey

France, July 3, 1918.

"Dear Sis—I'll start this and see how far I can go without stopping. Sometimes if we are not in too big a hurry, we manage to get a letter finished before we get disgusted and quit. Is it any sort of an allbi to say that that has occurred several times? We get pretty hard pressed for subject matter sometimes, and the old line fails to hold and the result is a dearth in letters from France. I have been heartily ashamed of some of the contributions I've sent, but if they sufficed to let you know that all is well, it is quite enough—maybe.

"Your letter, mother's and dad's and I don't know how many others are waiting to be answered. This is going to answer three of them. For the sake of the censor if for no other reason (but there is no particulur reason for spending mercy there.) The roll of papers also came through yesterday and I've learned a whole lot about France from them.

"I'm starting this today so that you will not gather the impression that we had to wait for a holiday to do so. Tomorrow is the 4th of July here just the same as in Charlevoix, and I would not bet a cent that you are planning any bigger time than are the various secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. here. I think there is some arrangement whereby the French are to join with the American troops in the proper observance of the day. There are to be no duties outside of what is absolutely necessary and the whole day is given over to an athletic carnival at Cher Feld. This field is along the Cher River, I believe. Cher River is where the all-fortunate members S. O. S. troops stationed here partake of aquatic pastime. That is to say they are fortunate in having Cher River to frolic in. At least it must be enjoyable; my aversion to water acquired since coming to France, hum, has prohibited any participation on my part therent. It does look good from the road, however. Well, we are all going down to Cher River and see the soldiers run and jump and swim and all that sort of thing for a whole day and then we are going to resume the business of eliminating the Hun from the schedule of things that are to be. You see the S. O. S. (Services of Supply) has it pretty soft. If those fellows up in the advance section tried to pull a stunt of that kind, about nine million dirty Germans would butt into the game with hand grenades and mustard gas and probably bust up the party. So for fear these men are not going to be able to celebrate at all, we are making arrangements to make up the deficiency back here. It will be quiet and peaceable and everyone will have a thoroughly good time and no one will be injured. Perfectly safe and sane, as it were. One might say that the program was arranged to divide the festivities for the day into sections, instead of hours, as is the custom ordinarily, wherein the speeches and ball games are pulled off in the afternoon and the fireworks in the evening. The S. O. S. will take the oratory and sports and the Front will have all the fireworks. Looks kind of lop-sided, but it is the best that can be done under the present system of war projection. Its just like it used to be when we tried to have a party at home and some measly roughneck aggregation would steal the ice cream and kidnap some of the pricipal actors. Of course your bunch never did that sort of thing, but I know gangs that used to pull it quite frequently.

"The next morning. This is the glorious Fourth. Its starting out cool and bright, but this is quite likely to turn into heat before the day is done. There are a few clouds in sight but that is not necessarily an ill omen in this sunny clime. We anticipate a perfect day.

"I located Glen Dolberg last night. It seems funny in all the letters we have written that we had not gotten together sooner. We have been in Tours about the same length of time, although in different barracks. If I had known what outfit he was with I could have seen him two months ago. If the Courier hadn't come it is likely that we never would have gotten together. I had listened to the 6th cavalry band a dozen times or more without knowing he was in it. And even if I had met him on the street I would not have recognized him, although he called me by name right off the bat when I called for him at his barracks. He is wearing an eye-brow on his upper lip and when I saw him he was putting out a washing. He had just returned a few days before from a week in Paris and surely had an interesting story to tell. He is certainly looking the part of a healthy specimen. I expect we will see more of each other from now on as our barracks are only a few blocks separated, and his schedule of duties is comparatively light.

"Glad to know that Bert arrived and in time to get in on some of the heavy stuff. Surely hope that the entire year will prove to be a healthy one from the standpoint of business regardless of the unusual conditions attending.

"Mother's letter telling about the allotment coming through came the day after I had started a tracer out about it. I think the amount she received is O. K. as the allotment was to take effect February 1st and the check she received probably included May, four months. The check for June will have reached you by this time and you will be able to tell from that whether the first one is all right. I should like to feel that it is being made good use of, and not stored away somewhere.

"One of the fellows just called us out to see an airplane parade. There were at least fifteen machine in flight and most of them flew over this camp. Some of them dropped little puff bombs and took a few fancy flops before they got out of sight. Every day, of course, we see machines in the air; machines of different kinds and some times they give some real good exhibitions of fancy spins and turns. But this turnout today is the biggest I have seen. The nicest stunt I have seen in that regard was when the two machines flew over and dropped loads of flowers on the graves of a few Americans in a new cemetery, Decoration Day. They came so close it seemed one could almost reach them by standing on tip toe. But they went by like the wind.

"July 5.—It's just an hour before supper and I want to get this done up and on its way before anything else happens. We are due for a move either tonight or in the morning into new quarters, much to our disappointment, so you must not expect any more hilarity in this. We are so very comfortable here and the new place is not quite so inviting from the road. Maybe it will all work out all right though. Our mail address will be the same.

"Well, the Fourth was a grand success from every angle. The athletic carnival was very good and the ball game was first rate. I did not see the swimming contest. During the ball game a couple of machines flew over and did all kinds of stunts. And say, Sis, those birds (that's the correct term) surely do handle themselves with the most reckless abandon when they are so far off the ground. There is no use talking about those dives and tail spins and wing slips; in the first place I don't know the difference and in the second they are more than words can describe. Of one thing you are sure, whenever they are in the midst of a stunt, and that is that they are going to take an awful tumble. You see them falling, head over heels, so to speak, just as though the driver had lost all control, and appearing just like a dead leaf falling from a tree, and you begin to wonder what his favorite flower is, when suddenly the thing straightens out and glides off leaving you with your heart in your hand and a sigh of relief. Every American aviator must be able to do these stunts before he is given a job on the front.

"There may be a whole lot of things that could be said, but they do not occur to me now. I wish you would ask some of these questions and you can be sure I will answer all that I can and stay within the limits of censorship rules.

"My very best regards to every one, and love to all the family. Hope that everyone is as well as this is leaving me and that that boy of Leo's continues to get there.

"Wish you would write oftener although I grant you there is little incentive from the purely correspondence point of view. With very best love, your brother and son,

"LEFF."

A. B. GREEN OF HILLMAN

Announces Candidacy for Office of State Senator

A. B. Green of Hillman, accompanied by W. J. Pearson of Boyne Falls, were in the city Monday, calling on friends and making new acquaintances.

Mr. Green is a candidate on the Republican ticket for the office of state senator frim this district. He has served two terms as representative and has also been chosen for seven consecutive years as chairman of the board of supervisors in his home county. Mr. Green asks a careful examination of his record while representative, on the board of supervisors, and as a citizen. His regular announcement appears in another column.

Kill Germs and Save Human Life

The menace of militarism, the horrors of war and the toll of death taken in all frightful accidents is as nothing compared to the danger of unseen deadly germs.

Even in war itself the toll of human life taken outright by the whizzing bullet, the bursting shrapnel, or the piercing steel is less than that caused by the unseen deadly germs that attack the wounded and the well alike.

Human life will be lengthened and human happiness increased when we learn better to guard ourselves against the danger of the ever present germs of disease.

Powdered boric is one of Nature's most wonderful gifts to man, for it enables us, through antisepsis, to ward off the danger of infection.

Owing to its wonderful antiseptic properties it cannot be too highly recommended for liberal use in the care of the person wherever and whenever exposed to the germs of disease.

Pure powdered borie may be used with absolute freedom and safety in all the natural cavities of the body. To realize how healing it is, yet how safe, we have but to recall that the physician almost always prescribes it as the principal ingredient of an eye water.

The manufacture of powdered boric has been brought to such a high degree of efficiency by one concern that if we always remember to specify "20 Mule Team Powdered Boric" we know that we have the real article in full strength

On every package of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric will be found directions for its multitude of uses and the expense is so little that no one should ever be without it.

A solution of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric in water makes an absolute and positive antiseptic for all personal use. It is excellent for a shampoo, for it kills the germ which makes the dandruff that spoils the lustre of the hair and causes it to fall out and cease to grow.

It should be used as a mouth wash on account of its antiseptic qualities whenever there is the slightest danger of having been exposed by being brought in contact with persons suffering with colds, sore throats, etc.

To overcome the unpleasant effect consequent upon excessive perspiration the use of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric will give great satisfaction, making everything sweet and clean and healing any abrasion that may have occurred.

A hot foot bath with a liberal quantity of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric will make the feet feel ten years younger.

For the baby a liberal dusting with 20 Mule Team Powdered Borin not only assures freedom from chafing but helps to maintain an antiseptically clean condition on the little body.

To any cut or abrasion 20 Mule Team Powdered Borin should be freely applied.

20 Mule Team Powdered Borin is a foe to germ life.

It should be on the dressing table of every dainty woman and liberally used in every household where health is prized.

Authorized representative will soon call at your home and make arrangements for you to obtain, FREE, a full size package of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric from any of the following druggists:

CHARLEVOIX THE BEAUTIFUL

HOTEL ARRIVALS : SOCIAL EVENTS : SUMMER SPORTS

Resorters Come To Charlavoix

From a concensus of the reports received from other sections, the resort attendance at the Charlevoix resorts is far above the average. Many families have members missing and many familles are taking a post season vacation instead of spending the entire summer at Charlevoix.

War time conditions considered, Charlevoix is indeed fortunate, both in the resort attendance of this season and the character of the people who favor this region. Mr. Andrew I. Creamer of the Inn reports increasing bookings and the other hotels also report increasing business.

of an innocent girlie named Rose,
She let out a yell
That sounded very much like a steam cnlliope,
And what the snake thinks, no one knows.

BEET SUGAR FACTORY PROJECT PROGRESSING

Organization To Be Perfected By Committee

The committee of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce appointed for the purpose of investigating the possibilities of this project, have been diligently at work for some two weeks or more and bave given the matter of very careful consideration, collecting data from every available scource, and as a result of their investigations they are convinced that conditions as they find them are such as will justify the perfecting of an organization preliminary to the lnunching of the enterprise.

A meeting of the committee was scheduled for last night (Tuesday) but was postponed so as not to interfere with the attendance of the committee members at a meeting of Charlevoix County farmers at the court house to consider the subject of organizing a Charlevoix branch of the farmers marketing association.

The postponed meeting of the committee will be held this evening (Wednesdny). At this meeting it is expected that a definite working plan for future operations will be adopted.

DIED WHILE ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Death Came Suddenly to A. G. Rice of East Jordan

Alonzo Goff Rice of East Jordan passed nway Saturday, August 3, following an illness of only three days. Death being due to a rupture of the bowels.

Alonzo Rice was born October 26, 1879, in Marion Township, Charlevoix and lived there the major portion of his life. He was married September 26, 1904 to Myrtle Eva Dodd of Marion Township. POPULAR IRONTON COUPLE MARRIED Receive Congratulations of Friends and Many Presents.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hammond of Ironton, was the scene of a pretty wedding last Wednesday, August 1, when their granddaughter, Pansy Alerdyse, became the bride of Elwyn Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson.

The groom was attended by Mr. Clint Bowen of Detroit as best man, and Mrs. Sadie Bowen was bridesmaid. Little Ruth Bowen was flower-maid and Foster Johnson, the five year old brother of the groom, was ring bearer. The ceremony was performed at noon by the Ironton pastor, Rev. C. E. Taggart, after which a sumptuous and bountiful dinner was served.

The only guests were the immediate relatives and a few near neighbors of the families. Many pretty and useful presents were received and the young couple start out in life together with the best wishes of all their friends.

ANDERSON-COLE

Soldier Boy Marries Before Enter in Services of U. S.

At the Methodist parsonage on Monday, August 5, Harold J. Cole of Boyne City and Miss Myrtle Anderson of Holton, Michigan, were united in marriage by the Rev. Quinton Walker. Mr. Cole is well known in Charlevoix where he lived for some time and was very active in church work. He has just resigned his position in Washington, D. C., and is home waiting for the August draft. Mrs. Cole was a teacher in Boyne City nnd is held in high esteem there and also in her home town. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Cole and Mr. nnd Mrs. Herron of Boyne City. The happy couple have the best wishes of their many friends both in Charlevoix and Boyne City.

Leave August 15.

Following is a list of the boys who will leave here so they will arrive in Houghton the 15th of this month. They will attend the Michigan Schnol of Mines: Lewis Liscum, Stanley Sparks, Albert Wm. Dann, Howard D. Thayer, Wm. Amidon, Wm. Edward Fultz and Chester J. Kelts, all of Boyne City.

Announcement

I wish to announce to the people of Charlevoix County that I will be a candidate at the August primaries for nomination aa the Republican candidate for the office of Proseeuting Attorney. Respectfully,

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

RESORTERS MEET CHARLEVOIX MEN

IMPORTANT MATTERS GIVEN CONSIDERATION

Largely Attended Sessioo of tha Charlevoix Chamber of Commerca

From the standpoint of enthusiasm developed and in attendance the mesting of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce last Friday waa a notable one. The meeting waa held in the I. O. O. F. Club rooms and the meeting reached the standing-room -only stage early in the evening, many of the summer colony were in attendance and their presence was aurely stimulating, as they were disposed to support the regular year round members in every msasure intended for the welfare of Charlevoix.

Delegations from Boyne City and East Jordan were also present, E. M. Ackerman, secretary of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce, delivered an address on the subject of organizing the citizenship of the entire community of a city into a working unit represented by an association of commerce, His address was attentively listened to and his remarks relative to a closer co-operation, in so far as the interests of the county were concerned, of the tri-angle cities of Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix aroused the enthusiasm of the members present. Messers R. O. Bisbee, Roscoe Mackey and Dwight Wilson, representing the city of East Jordan, were in attendance and spoke briefly. Their remarks were in accord with the tenor of the meting, which was all of a disposition to promote as far as the influence of the Associatlon extended the measures that tend to creata a more attractive and prosperous Charlevoix, city and County.

Lisle Shanahan who has had charge of the legal end of the County Good Roads Bond Issue, read a statement from the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago relative to the conditions under which the county would be permitted to issue the bonds, This opinion appearantly presented no obstacle to the issue of the donds in denominations, which will in any event, not interfere with the work outlined for the present session.

Dallas Boudeman, one of the summer citizens, in a brief talk, gave an intimate resume of the work of the commission of which he was a drafted member at the first convention of the Dixie Highway Association, held at Chattenoga, Tenn. When the Michigan members srrived they found that there was no intention to even consider Michigan in connection with the proposed highway connecting the Northland with the Dixieland of the South, merely as a matter of courtesy the Michigan delegation were given a five minute hearing, Phil. Colgrove was put forward as the best informed member on the subject, the five minutes were extended to twenty, und according to Mr. Boudeman, his collegue told that convention more pertinent facts about the state of Michigan than he believed it was humanly possible for any person to do in the brief twenty minutes allowed him. When the result of the deliberations of the convention were ended it was found that the committee appointed to consider the claims of the various states interested, that the state of Michigan had been alloted a grenter mileage of the Dixie Highway route than any other single state.

The committees appointed to handle the matter of re-habilitating the sugar beet factory reported favorable progress; but none of the details of their investigations; reserving them for a later and complete report.

Charlevoix certainly hss every reason to congratulate itself, in being so fortunate, as to attract the class of men this city is favored with during the summer acason.

Aetion was taken unofficially to furnish a fund to be used to clear ths title to the property of ths Charlevoix Clay Products Co., which it is confidently believed will result in the re-organization of the Company and a resumption of work at ths plant.

Unsupressible optimist, Col. Geo. Geo. H. VanPelt, the Charlevoix County Good Roads Booster, was somewhat behind gafrw somewhat in evidence, as he usually is when he can lend a hand to help improve the rouda or anything else needed for Charlevoix county. His stories were just as optimistle and entertaining as ever.

GOVERNMENT TO TAX LUXURIES

ART OBJECTS WILL BE TAXED HEAVILY

Non-essentials and expensive Clothing to Bear the Heaviest Tax

A luxury tax schedule was adopted, an official tax advisory board for the treasury ereated, the tax on corporation capital stock doubled to produce an aditional $30,000,000 and a provision accepted making Liberty bonds security for all government contracts—this was Friday's work by the house ways and means committee in framing the $8,000,000,000 revenue bill.

The luxury proposal levies ten per cent tax on all jewelry, to be paid by the manufacturer, producer or importer. Covering approximntely 1,200 items of jewelry, it supplants the present law tax of 3 per cent on the mnnufacturer, producer or importer. The ten per cent tax is also to be levied on such articles as art objects, pianos and pipe organs, furs, cash registers, typewriters, photographs and tapestries.

Group is set aside

In view of the wide public demand for a tax on the price paid for certain other articles not counted as luxuries by reason of their nature except above a certain price the subcommittc proposed and the full committee accepted a limited number of other groups of such articles with suggested hasic prices paid for them by the consumer above which a 20 per cent tax is to be assessed "against the seller", to the consumer or user or to a person not for re-sale."

This second group and the amount of excess over which the article will be taxed follows:

Mens, and young mens suits or overcoats, $50. men's snd women's hats, bonnets and hoods, $25, womens and misses dresses, $40. womens and misses suits cloaks and coats sold at over $60.;boots, shoes pumps and slippers for men, women and children, $10.; men's and boys hats, $5.; men's and boys caps, $2. picture frames, $10;fans, $1.; men's waistcoats sold distinct from suits, $5;silk underclothing and hosiery, pure and mixed, $10; men's and boys neckwenr, $2; valises traveling bags, suit cases and hat hoxes, $25; women's purses, pocketbooks, shopping and hand bags, $7.50; umbrellas parasols and son shsdes, $4; house or smoking jackets and bath robes, $10.00.

Drowned While Bathing

Clyde Vaught formerly of this city was drowned while bathing on the pier at Boyne City. It is assumed that in diving from the pier he struck a projecting pile or other obstruction. The body was qoickly recovered hut life was extinct when it was hrought to the surface. Funeral services were held at Boyne City, and interment was made in Charlevoix Tuesday.

Wm. D. Kilpatrick, C. S., will lecture at Van Pelt Hall Friday, August 23. Do not fail to hear him. talk on Christian Science. 33t2

HELPING TO WIN THE WAR

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS AID ALL IN SERVICE

Welfare Work Cooducted In 45 Army and Navy Concentration Centers

Christian Scienee welfare work is now being carried on in forty-fivs army and navy camps in the United States under direction of the Christian Science War relief and camp welfare committee of the First Church of Christ, Seientist, In Boston, There are at present about seventy men and fifteen women engaged in this work, ths women serving mainly as welfare room attendants.

Conducted at first independently, the camp welfare has been merged with the war relief work which the Christian Scientista were doing in foreign countries before the United States entered the war. For both these purposes about one million dollars have been raised.

The aim of the Christian Seience camp workers is to be as helpful as possible to the men in the camps, whether or not they are Christian Scientists, and particularly to give assistance which may not be available at the time or place through any of the other camp welfare agencies.

A feature of this phase of the work is an arrangement for keeping soldiers and sailors in close touch with their relatives.

Quick Communication

Co-operating with the Committee in Boston, there is a Christian Science camp welfare committee in each state. The committee in the home state of the soldier or sailor co-operates by mail and telegraph with the committee of the state in which he is camped or stationed to form a direct and constant link between the soldier or snilor and his relatives. Thereby the relatives are quickly made acquainted with the needs of their boy in service, and he is provided with an avenue of quick communication with his home.

This linking of home and camp, combined with the personnl attention of the Christian Science workers in the camps, has frequently been the means of chsnging a soldier's outlook from one of gloom to one of joy, and not infrequently it has proved to be the means of relieving relatives of financial embarrassment, the committee in the home state making loans for use by the relatives until their hoy in camp should be prepared to forwnrd money to them.

Healings Recorded

The net result for which the Christian Science committee and camp workers have received many commendations, has been a noticeable rising of the morale of many men in the service and the development of a better feeling at home regarding the participation of their boys in the service.

The camp workers say that there is an increased willingness among the commanding officers and surgeons to allow Christian Science trentment for those who ask for it, and many Christian Science healings have been recorded. Recently, two requests for Christian Science services in hospital wards were received by camp workers from medical nurses who had observed the beneficial effects of Christian Science treatment.

In or near numerous camps, the Christian Seience committee hnve erected substantial buildings, with quiet places for reading and writing, and other buildings are in course of construetion. A light touring car has been added to the equipment of the Christian Science workers at each camp to be used wherever and whenever possible in assisting the men.

Notice of Meeting.

Having the reputation of never doing things in a half hearted way, the people have coms to expect the limit, in good wholesome recreation, when the Elks entertain, and it may in all fairness be ssid that, they lived up to their justly earned reputation last Sunday afternoon.

Petoskey Lodge No. 629, B. P. O. E., were the hosts on thia occasion. From Petoskey, Boyne City East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Pellston, to Charlevoix and Pine Point on Pine Lake they journied, to be met with the famous Elk brand of the good fellowship. The committees in charge of the day certainly extended themselves, as tho program developed.

The speaking was well worth the trip that the farthest away were required to make. The day was an ideal one for the occasion and was taken advantage of to ths utmost.

It was the good, old atyle basket picnic,, the swimming was fine and before and after the attendance on speakers the beach was alive with bathers, of all sexes and ages, and more than one were the comments made about the fine sand beach at that point.

The first speaker of the occasion was Lisle Shanahan and speaking of the part the Elks have taken in the support of the Government in carrying on the present war he said: "The Elks have contributed two complete hospital units, at a cost of $60,000, a hospital at Boston at a cost of $300,000, a hospital at New Orleans at a cost of $350,000. They have purchased $350,000 worth of Liberty Bonds and have donated a total of $100,000 to the Red Cross."

This is a record of which any organization might well he proud. Mr. Dallas Boudeman, delivered a patriotic address that roused his audience to a fine pitch of enthusiasm, and he was cheered as he closed his address.

The Petoskey hand furnished the music for the occasion both vocal and instrumental, and it certainly was appreciated by the crowd.

Major Cressey spoke briefly, was very well received by the audience and after his address, a collection was then taken up for him which netted $60.00 or $70.00.

SERMON FROM FAMOUS CLERGYMAN

Rev. Dr. William B. Lampe at Cong. Church Next Sunday.

Rev. Dr. William B. Lampe, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Chicago, will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday morning at 10:40 o'clock. Dr. Lampe is the present occupant of the historic Third church, a pulpit made famous by a number of the strongest men in the Presbyterian denomination. A strong, helpful sermon mny be expected. The public is cordially invited.

Last Sunday morning what was perhaps the largest audience ever assembled in the Congregational church, listened to a powerful and eloquent sermon by Dr. J. P. Huget of Brooklyn, N. Y.

For eleven successful years Dr. Huget has generously gave up a part of his vacation in order to speak to the congregation of the Congregation church. They are deeply grateful nnd hope he may be able to continue the service for many years to come.

RED CROSS NOTES

ADDING TO SHEEP HERDS OF MICHIGAN

Osceola County Gets a Big Shipment

Osceola county is taking its plaes in the ranch realm. Recently Judge Burch returned to this section after an absence of many years and began to make plans for shipping in shsep and cattle from New Mexico.

After interesting Grand Rapids parties in the ranch deal dealors in livestock from the southwest made a proposition to the Michigan men whereby 2,500 sheap and mors than 60 head of cattle were shipped to Lincoln township.

For two years the drought haa caused great trouble in New Mexico and the sheep were in a pitiful condition when they arrived; some 250 dying the first week. However, since that the stock has developed wonderfully and another deal is on hand for the shipping in of more sheep. It is possible to reclaim much land in this vicinity.

A DESERVED PROMOTION

Dr. Wilkinson Receives Reward for Work Accomplished.

Dr. A. M. Wilkinson's ability has again been recognized by the government. He has been promoted from head of the gas defense department to chief of the staff of the medical department, having charge of the depnrtment of eye, ear, nose and throat.

He reports a complete equipment of thoroughly modern operating apparatus. Capt. Wilkinson has performed at least twa major operations each day for the past month. In addition to his medical work he is taking a thorough course in French, and has four hours a week in a medical clinic.

No doubt the doctor will be doing service in overseas work soon.

SENATOR WOOD GAINING DAILY

STRONG MEN ARE WANTED FOR CONGRESS

Character Consistent With Best American Traditions—A Man to Be Trustad.

As a candidate for Congressional honors ths strength of State Senator Wnod lies very largely in the fact that, he leaves behind him an impression of earnestness and absolute sincerity. Chary of making promises, in the senss of favors to be extended, in the event of his election, he is not adverse to lstting the people understand just what his position will be on the matters which the people of his district are vltally interested in.

Hla past record is sueh aa leads to the impression that he is not only of the sturdy type of the Amerlean mnnhood who would not be afraid to look the Devil in the face and eall him by his right namo, but he is well qualified by his lengthy legislative experience to handle intelligently, his share of the task of prosecuting the national law-making program that is one of ths inevitable concomitants of a democracy at war.

Every action, every war measure undertaken by our national government must have the approval of the American people to make it effective, to make that approvel in accordance with the convictions of a majority of the American people it is our duty to see that our chosen representative is of a typs that is truly representative of our best American traditions.

Promise peace that you may be better prepared to wage war on the other nation is a typical German doctrine. Promises made during the political enmpaign, only to be disregarded as soon as the candidate wss elected, was an oft utilized expedient of the old time politician, who trusted to the forgetfullness or or indifference of the public to overlook his veniality.

Today the American people have too much at stake to be able to afford to be either careless or indifferent, we are making history that that will be either to our everlasting credit or the reverse, and no insignificant part of that history making will he participated in by the congress to be elected in part this fall. Senator Wood is of a type that we believe will measure up to the requirements of the occnsion.

HELD FOR FURNISHING LIQUOR TO INDIANS

Disturbance at Camp Meeting Results in Three Arrests.

Last Monday John Martin of Charlevoix township was taken into custody by Sheriff Chas. Novak, on a warrant charging the alleged sale of intoxicants to two Indians, Peter Walker and Joe Thomas. They were ejected from the grounds of the Indian campmeeting at Greensky Hill for disorderly conduct, and were subsuquently arrested by the sheriff and plead guilty, to a charge of being drunk and disorderly, when arraigned before Justice H. C. Cooper. They were released upon suspended sentence. A search of the Martin premises resulted in unearthing a quart of wine, but no other liquors were found. When arraigned in court Martin plead not guilty, and he was held for a hearing later. The offence alleged is a serious one the penalty in case of conviction being a fine of $200. and from thirty days to six months in the county jail.

THE CADDIE COLUMN

(A column edited by the Caddie master for the purpose of sharpeoiog the caddies' interest in their work and keeping parents in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

Even though the weather man did go on a tear last week, the golf business was pretty good. Here are some of the figures: Caddie earnings for the week $457.70, raising the total for the season to 2,354.83. The girls earned $27.85. The heaviest day was Saturday the tenth, with 163 players and $88.75 for the Caddies. Amount invested in Thrift Samps, contributed to the Red Cross $7.00.

—o—

Charles Dewey (75) Arden Ulrich (15) Carlton Dodge (24) Marshall Ackert (5) Roy Meyera (82) and John Burns (63) have paid Red Cross subscroiptions in full for the season. This raises the total number of "Paid ups" to twenty one.

—o—

The supper for the girl caddies, the first "annual" we hope, will be served at seven o'clock Sunday evening, August the 18th, in the home of Mrs. Art Alcock. The meal will be cooked and served by Mrs. Franz Rickaby and Dorothea Rickaby. The number of girls being so smull this year, the affair can easily be handled in a priveate home this way, nnd the Caddie master, who has alredy had considerable experience with Mrs. Rickaby's cooking advises the girls to be there.

—o—

The fifth annual excursion of the Charlevox Caddies will occur on Sunday August 25th. The Steamer Mabel will be chartered for the day, and the trip will be made to Crosbys Dock about 11 miles down the South Arm of Pine Lake. The boat will leave Wilburs Dock at 7:30 a. m., and the return will be made before dark that evening. Everyone who goes will as usual be expected to take just one thing—a tin cup. That's all Everything else will be supplied.

—o—

The annual excursion is supposed to be a reward for regular and worthy service as caddies. Many boys have had numbers this year but have not worked at the links at all to speak of. Accordingly, as we are somewhat pushed for boat space this year, only boys who have served will be eligible to go. The numbers of the boys who will go will he given in the column next week. Watch for it.

—o—

Plenty of older, larger boys will be taken along to help supervise the expedition.

—o—

Martin Halverson (3) made good as professional's caddie all last week, netting himself $12.50. Art Wexstaff (13) has been given the position for the present week.

—o—

Mr. Priest took a group picture of the caddies last Sunday afternoon. Almost sixty of the boys and girls were there. The prints will be eight by ten inches and Mr. Priest will "make us a price" on them so that any boy or girl who wants one can get it for very little. The caddie master will have a sample at his shack to order from.

—o—

Martin Halverson (3) Marshall Ackert (5), Earl Harrington (41), Airel Cooper (42), Lewis O'neil (18), Clayton Becket (21), Harold Dutcher (38)' Anna McCann (k), Irmatrude Sanford (a), and Beulah Sanford (b) poeed for pieturee at dlfferent timee last week for the Caddie Maeter. He intends to uee the pictures to illustrate a bookiet of caddie lnetructions which he expects to publish this winter.

Hope no one missed last week's "Weekly tip."

—o—

As the Grand Rapids Press says: "Buy a Thrift Stamp a day and and make this war a personal war." Also put some money in the bank each week. September will eoon be here.

THE WEEKLY TIP

The Square Deal

We all know that a square is a figure which has all four of its sidas and corners equal; and in modern slang a "deal" is any agreemant or transaction between two or mora paople. Therefore a "spuare deal" is an agreement. or transaction in which all concerned receive just and proper portions of the benefits or gains, that is, portions equal in fairness.

The biggest proof that we ought always to give the other fellow a square deal is that we always like one ourselves. The ways like one ourselves. The Golden Rule seems to be about the most popular rule there is —for the other fellow. If everyone was as careful to give a square deal as he is to demand one, the world, good as it is, might be even a little better place to live in.

The most valuable possession you can have is the reputation for always giving a square deal, whether you are being watched or not, and you cant hava that raputation without earning it first, and living up to it afterwards. The time to begin building such a raputation is now. You build it by being honest in every detail of your daily life, as well as in the large and prominent matters; by keeping your word of promise, not occasionally, but every time; by being always just as sure that the other fellow is getting what is rightfully his as you are that you are getting what is rightfully yours.

If you believe in the square deal, use it yourself in your home, at your work, in your sport,—everywhare. Square deal honesty, fair play, call it what you will; but whatever you call it, cultivate it. It need not keep you poor, and it will make you respected and loved.

MORE GERMAN PERFIDY.

Neville Taylor Gherhardi, in her memoirs, of her last days in Berlin after war was declared by the United Stated, says: "The atitude of a certain class toward peace was shown one day by a woman of a distinguished Austrian family, connected by marriage with Prince Bismark's family, who spoke apparently as she had heard things discussed by the men she was connected with.

She said how foolish of England it was to go on, when if she would stop then negotiations might be made that would be fairly satisfactory to her; but if she went on, the moment peace was declared Germany only had to build submarines enough and then could really starve England out with ease, which would be only n matter of time. This show their intention of keeping this thing up always even if there is a peace. This impressed me, as the woman was connected with many prominent German and Austrian families."

Those who are inclined to reason that threats and hatred of the German military party and its titular mouthpiece, the Kaiser only concerns England should read this that follows:

The Kaiser's Boast.

In a speech to the secret council at Potsdam in June 1908 the Kaiser, as reported in the New York Times of Sunday March 12th. said:

"Even now I rule supreme in the United States, where almost one-half of the population is either of German descent, or of German birth, and where three million voters do my bidding at the presidential elections. No American administration could remain in power against the will of the Germans- who through that powerful organization, the German Aamerican National League of the United States, control the destinies of the vast republic beyond the seas.

How many of our citizens still carry on in this land of glorious liberty, the yoke of the All Highest Kaiser upon their necks. How many realize that the German Agent is not dead, nor are all the adherents of the same All Highest interned in a detention camp where they would be practically innocious, and that that these agents are still at work in many sections of the country, carrying on their wark in an insidious and underhanded way and by hook or crook managing to keep within the law. To combat this insidious propoganda we must develop a type of Americanism that will effectually give the lie to this boasting and perverted and maliciously selfish ruler of the destinies of the German people.

We must wipe out the foreign language papers, who live by blackmail; or by- what is much the same thing- surrounding those who pay for it with a nimbus of glory- deifying the Kaiser in the eyes of the poor ignorant immigrant who has come to this land to escape the tyranny of his government.

We must begin with our youth, we must keep our schools free of the text books that; the german professor has managed to slip in unnoticed, because of our easy going tolerance of the opinions of others, and our inclination to respect what the propagandist so urgently calls personal liberty, under which guise he preaches a doctrine of hatred of all things, foreign to Germany and the selfish interests of its ruling classes.

BACK UP THE BOYS

You take no interest in politics, "Its a dirty game," What's the use of butting in? You wouldn't walk across the street to vote at the primaries.

But hold on. Those fellows who have ben fighting "over there" by the Marne. What are they fighting for? To protect America and what we call "American Institutions." Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, the State of Michigan, the National Government, including Conugress. Fighting to protect your government, local as well as national. Fighting so you may choose your own officers, instead of having them chosen for you by Berlin.

When the boys come home from abroad what will they see? Will they look over their local government and say, Isn't it fine to have such a great city and county governments as theese? It was worth it to protect American Institutions.

Or will our war worn fighters be ashamed of what they see. Isn't it up to you to go to the polls on primary day a week from next Tuesday and cast your primary ballot for the candidates, whom you are convinced are willing to do their utmost to support our government in carrying out it's war program.

Will you do this for our boys who are risking their lives for you overseas, Will you have the nerve to face them if you don't.

THE GERMANS ARE WATCHING US

The Germans have always had the greatest spy system in the world. They are watching us day and night to see if we are weakening. They are vitally interested in every sign that may show our attitude toward suffering in Europe, toward our boys at the front or our government at home.

The city woman was walking through the barnyard with the farmer. As they passed the pen in which the bull was confined he gave every evidence of being furious.

The woman said to the farmer; "I wonder what is the matter with the cow?"

The farmer replied: "I think is is that waist you have on."

Then the woman said: "Well I knew the waist was out of style but who would have thought that a country cow would have noticed it."

Many things that you do not think the German notices, have so impressed themselves on the German mind that they have influenced the duration of the war.

Every time the Germans see us fail to save wheat, or fail to help the war activities they think we are weakening.

Remember, alway, that you are an American.

Report any person to the department of justice, Washington, D. C., whom you find passing along or repeating any of the malicious or harmful lies that the German propagandists are so persistently trying to put into circulation, with intent to slow up our war activities.

The fact that you have made such a report will not be made public.

A GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT

The people of the 11th Congressional district are mightily interested in the answer that candidate Scott will vouchsafe to the apparently substantiated claim of his opponent, Senator Wood, to the effect that four years ago Scott promised the men who supported him in the lower end of the district that he would not contest the nomination or election of his successor if he was supported for the two terms, which was the limit of his ambition at that time.

As a matter of fact, the people are more and more coming to lose all interest in the candidate who is inclined to make loose promises or exaggerated claims as what he expects to accomplish for the people of his district, in the event of his election.

The French say the only trouble they have with the Americans is to hold them back. Odd. That's the same trouble the Huns are complaining of.

The Kaiser has issued a decree wiping out the Salvation Army in Germany. Never mind, lads and lassies, the Yanks will put it back for you.

Hun frightfulness is now trying to feed itself on fishing dories and helpless old schooners.

Von Hertling complains that the Allies insult Germany. Yes, and they are going to hurt something more than her feelings, too.

The Kaiser has the wrong idea. The war will end when he asks for peace terms, not when he proposes them.

In the first ten minutes of play those Yanks scored a touchdown.

Origin of Tea Drinking.

Tea drinking seems to have originated in China; and the Chinese, according to Prof. King, in his "Farmers of Forty Centuries," drank it first as a sanitary measure, having found that boiling their water saved them from typhoid and afterward adding tea leaves to make the boiled water palatable. Dr. R. A. Gortner of the University of Minnesota, writing in Science, believes that this is not an exact description of what happened, but that the discovery of the efficacy of tea as a typhoid preventive came after its general adoption in China as a pleasing drink.

Some Satisfaction.

Another reason why it is better to be an aviator than a motorist is because if your hat blows off the other aviators don't run over it.

Wirthmor Waists

SHOWING THE SPLENDJD RESULTS OF TRUE CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

—Yes, they are still $1.00. The same highclass, splendidly made, perfeetly fitting, eorreetly styled WIRTHMOR WAISTS. They smiply defy the rising tide of price, and will continue to be sold at this modest sum until a change is absolutely imperative.

—The sale of these wonderful waists at $1.00, when everything that goes into their making has advanced exhorbitantly proves conclusively these two things: that through our close co-operation with the manufacturers we CAN give you better values, and that in accordance with our never-failing policy, we DO give our patrons better values.

It is utterly impossible to obtain increased quantities of these Wirthmor Maists, the demand throught the Country being vastly in excess of the supply. Our allotment is limited and we consequently urge an early call to avoid disappointment.

WIRTHMOR WAISTS CAN BE SOLD IN JUST ONE GOOD STORE IN EVERY CITY. THEY ARE SOLD HERE ONLY

SCHOOL OPENS AUGUST NINTH

TEACHING STAFF HAS BEEN MATERIALLY CHANGED

School Board Has Made Wise Selections In Teaching Staff—Building Completed.

It has been settled that school will start in Dist. No. 0, Monday, August 9, and it is hoped and expected that school this year will be a hummer from start to finish.

The teaching staff this year will be changed considerably from last year, only one of last years teachers having been re-ingaged. The high school room this year will be in charge of Mrs. C. L. Taisey, who before her marriage taught the Ellsworth school with entire satisfaction. She will be remembered as Miss Agusto Culbertson. Since her marriage to Mr. Taissy she has kept in practice by substituting for other teachers on occasions, and upon the death of her husband she decided to again enter the teaching field. Mr. McKee, who taught the high last yeor is in training at Great Lakes, Ill., for the U. navy.

In the intermediate room this year we will also find a change in teachers. Miss Chelles, who taught this room last year, decided to accept the school ot Pleasant Grove, near Mancelona, and the bonrd was extremely fortunate in securing Mrs. Wm. Patterson. Mrs. Patterson, formerly Miss Maud Best, has taught not only in the Ellsworth schools, but in several other schools in this vicinity, is considered one of the best teachers in Antrim county, and the school board were forced to use the strongest persuasive powers before she could be induced to again enter the school room as an instructor.

In the primary room Miss Lowr, who taught this room last year, has consented to remain for the coming year. This will be good news for all, as Miss Lowr made a host of friends during the past year, but it will be doubly plensing to the parents of children of the primary room.

The school building is completely finished and as a result, the teachers and pupils will not be handicapped by cheerless, ill-ventilated rooms as was the case last yenr, and it is hoped that teachers and parents may co-operate this year as never before.

THAT BACKACHE SPELLS DANGER

Action Today May Save Charlevoix People Future Misery

A bad back isn't a bad thing if it serves as a warning of hidden kidney disorders. Kidney diseases are frightfully common today. We over do so much. We don't give the kidneys a chance to rest up, and while a bad back, some urinary disorder, an occassional dizzy spell or a persistent headache may be the only outward sign, the kidney trouble that is behind it all may be overlooked or neglected. Put your signs to use. Take them as warnings. Fight off kidney weakness. It takes only a slight kidney disorder to start a case of fatal Bright's disease, from which 100,000 people die in the United States every year. Prompt treatment at first —that's all that's necessary to keep kidney weaknesses from turning into gravel, dropsy, gout, heart trouble or Bright's. Use Doan's Kidney Pills— the oldest, the most widely used, the best recommended Kidney pill. Fifty thousand Americans recommend them publicly. Here's one Charlevoix case:

John McCall, 905 Bridge Street, says: "My back was so lame I could just about move. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. Dizzy spells bothered me and I would often have to grasp something to keep me from falling. I was in awful shape when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I tried them. This medicine completely and permanently cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McCall had. Foster Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Rev. B. O. Shattuck will preach at the Holiness church here, Thursday evening, August 15.

E. A. Dean received word yast Wednesday that their son, Russel Dean, had arrivsd safely overseas.

W. A. Boss established a red letter day in the hardware business last Saturday, when he sold three binders.

D. E. Clow and E. R. Harris spent Tuesday and Wednesday of last week at Traverse City attending a war meeting.

Mr. Rice of Pewamo, representing the International Harvester Co., was in town on business two or three days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roat and son arived here a week ago Saturday from Escanaba, for a ten day visit with Mrs. Roats' parents.

Mrs. John Kooyer of Muskegon, and Mrs. Henry Kooyer of Glenwood, Minnesota, are visiting at the home of Wm. Kooyer.

Arrangements are being made by many Ellsworth people to attend the Gleaner picnic to be held Thursday of this week at Eastport.

Mr. and Mrs. Roat visited Mr. Roat's sister, Mrs. F. Curtiss, Tuesday. They also visited Mrs. Edson, Mr. Roat's sister, Friday.

A fine time is reported at the Holland picnic held on August 8, and a large crowd was present despite the rain which fell nearly all day.

J. A. Runkle is at home for the balance of the year, having been given deferred classification at Camp Custer, where he has been stationed.

Mrs. H. Hunter and daughter, Grace, of Detroit, arrived on Monday for a short visit with the former's son, George Hunter and family.

Herbert Madill of Wajamega, Michigan, is at home for a few weeks while he is recovering from injuries sustained when an elevator in one of the buildings fell.

Mr. and Mrs. Roat and son, also Miss C. Dean, started for Escanaba, Sunday, going as far as Petoskey and and spending the night with Mrs. Roat's brother, W. Dean.

A company consisting of Chas. Warner, Ethan Joliffee, Geo. Parsons, John Parsons, Jr., and George Lord hove purchased the threshing outfit formerly owned by Carlos Himebaugh.

Cucumbers are coming in fast since the rains of last week and a bumper crop is looked for. One man has already received nearly one hundred dollars and has scarcely made more than a start.

There is strong talk of a state reward road being built from Ellsworth to East Jordan, work to be started early next spring. It is hoped something more than talk will develop, as there is no place in the world where a good road is more needed.

Rev. B. O. Shattuck, formerly pastor of the Ellsworth Holiness church, has been visiting friends in Ellsworth and attending the Holiness camp meeting at Boyne City the past few days. Since leaving here Mr. Shattuck has had charge of a church at Baltimore, Md., and but recently returned to Flint, where he is now stationed.

Wednesday, August 7, occurred the wedding of Clarence Venema and Miss Anna Rubingh. Both young people are well known and highly respected citizens of this community. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Rubingh, brother of the bride, at his home at Arcadia, Michigan. The happy couple will reside on the groom's form south and west of town.

ROCK ELM.

Mrs. Lawton and son, Jesse, attended services at the Baptist church in Charlevoix Sunday evening.

BUY WAR SAVINGS STAMPS!

BANKS TOWNSHIP CO-OPERATIVE ASSN.

Formed Monday Night With A Membership of Fifty-nine

Northern Michigan farmers are busily organizing Co-operative associations. Last saturday the Kalkaskia Produce Co. an organized stock company met at the court house in Kalkaska and voted unanimously to re-organize into a non-profit, non-capital stock association, so that they can be federated with the other associations of this section for the sale of the farmers produce.

On the same evening there was an association organized at Gaylord with 101 members to start with and many more will join as soon as they are given an opportunity.

The men oround Gaylord are very enthusiastic of this form of organization which will enable them to market their products and buy their supplies without having a profit from them on all sides.

Ellsworth also organized a co-operative company on monday night with a large membership or 59 to start with. This association was named the Bonks Township Co-operative association of Ellsworth.

They will be in shape to handle the farmers produce of that section this fall and arrangements are being made to handle feed immediately.

A very strong board of directors for the Banks association was elected. They are: John Bos; F. H. Skow; Herbert Peebles; Hans DeYoung; E. R. Harris; Evert VanDeraark; D. H. Brat.

Mr. Skow was elected to be the director to represent the Banks Association on the central board of directors, which will meet in Traverse City on August 9th. and 10th.

William D. Kilpatrick, C. S., will lecture at Van Pelt Hall Friday, August 23. Do not fail to hear him, talk on Christian Science. 33t2

Your Children Should Wear

Lee Union-Alls

Because Lee Union-Alls are the most practical, convenient, comfortable and satisfying play suit ever made for romping youngsters. They are made just like Dads. Those eight large pockets and the long trousers will appeal to the boys. And they're so easy to put on and take off, because they're all in one piece. They can be worn next to the underwear or over the clothing.

LEE UNION-ALLS will make mother's work easier and the clothing bills less. They save stockings, mending and washing. Lee Union-Alls represent the best in material and workmanship. They endure the hardest wear because every strain point is reinforced, steel buttons are rivited to the cloth, all seams are tripls-stitched and button holes are whipstitched.

Active children do not like clothing that binds, pulls or bothers them. Lee Union-Alls are made on a fit-form pattern just like tailored clothing and fit so perfectly that every muscle enjoys healthful ease and freedom. They are particularly attractive in appearance, made of high quality khaki and hickory stripe. Sizes from two years up.

We sell and recommend the sturdy Lee Union-Alls because we believe that they are the best value we can offer our trade friends.

ATWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Richardson are the proud parents of a baby boy.

Grain harvets is well under way at this writing and crops are good.

Mrs. K. VanHouten sold two cows to John DeGroot of Mapleville last Saturday.

Miss Maggie Petter spent a week with her parents, returning to her work last week.

Mrs. R. A. Muller from Grand Rapids, spent a few days at the home of Adrain Bos last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Posthumus, formerly of Ellsworth, now residing at Bishop, Michigan, are spending a few days at the Rev. Pickart home.

J. T. Odbert is disposing of his cattle, getting ready to leave for the winter. He disposed of six head last week to A. VanAllsburg of Charlevoix.

John Petter received a cablegram last week that his son, Henry, had reached England safely. He left for Camp Custer with the June contingent.

Everybody come to the meeting in the interest of the Banks township Marketing Association, to be held at Atwood Town hall, Monday evening, August 18.

A very large crowd attended the annual Mission Festival held in the Peebles grove last Thursday. This event is drawing a larger crowd every year. The speaking was enjoyed by all present.

The ladies of this community are cordially invited to attend a sewing bee to be held in the town hall next Wednesday, August 21, for the Red Cross. Our quota for this month is exceptionally large and everybody please come and as many as possible bring sewing machines.

Far too few of the farmers in our neighborhood are taking an active interest in the Farmers' Marketing Association being started in Ellsworth. It is organized and has 60 members signed up, directors elected and by the time this is printed will have held another meeting to form by-laws and other business which may come up ot that time. This is not a thing which may be or which we are still thinking about, but it already exists and is backed up by some of our best farmers. The time to join is right on the start, an don't think you are merely joining this little association here, but you are getting in with about 2500 or 3000 farmers in northern Michigan, who are going to insure for themselves a future market. You had better sign up right away and will find a petition for your signature with any of the directors, who will tell you anything you may want to know in regard to the matter. Following are the directors of the Banks Township Marketing Association: Herbert Peebles, president; John Bos, vice president; E. R. Harris, secretary; F. H. Skow, treasurer; E. VanderArk, Hnns DeYoung and D. H. Brat.

RANNEY DISTRICT.

Mrs. F. J. Ranney visited her son in East Jordan last wek.

A large crowd attended the dance last Friday night at the South Arm grange hall.

The reapers are busy. Oat harvest is at hand with promise for a good yield.

Alex Burbank passed away on Wednesday of last week. Old age was the cause of his death.

Roscoe Smith was called to Grand Rapids last week by the death of his father, Albert Smith.

Reuben Liskum and Claud Johnson expect to leave our midst to join the colors on Thursday, the 15th. Everyone will miss them.

BOOKS FOR THE SOLDIERS

Charlevoix Residents Asked to Contribute

The Charlevoix Free Library has received today a request from the American Library Association's headquarters in Washington for more books from this community for the men overseas.

The appeal from Washington states that new novels and good Western stories, whether old or new, are most needed. Books by Zane Gray, Rex Beach, Jack London, Ralph Connor, Owen Wister and O. Henry are very popular. The Library announces that it will receive and forward all suitable books that are turned in. It urges the friends of the soldiers and sailors, many of whom have already responded most generously, to give more books.

The communication received by the Library from the Washington Headquarters states that over 600,000 books have been sent overseas. The supply is nearly exhausted, and several hundred thousand more will be needed soon by the six dispatch offices which are now shipping books to France. The books are packed at these dispatch offices in strong cases, so built that they serve as a book case.

They go on the decks of transports, in cargo vessels and in naval vessels. Those that go on the decks of the transports are open so that the men may have reading matter for use on the voyage. All these books are gathered together again, however, replaced in the cases and delivered to the proper officials in France.

In France the books are distributed by an experienced Librarian, representing the American Library Association. Most of them go to Y. M. C. A, Red Cross and Salvation Army Huts, hospitals and canteens. Others go directly to Chaplains and officers.

Canning Time

They tell us to can everything we can.
And dry everything we can dry.
But the thing to my notion that's needed the most.
Is to can or dry up the spy.

They tell us to pickle whot won't dry up or can.
So make up some strong brine tonight,
And pickle the lies that come drifting your way.
And fasten the lid good and tight.

A Handy Hammer Might Help.

A Chicago minister says he doesn't think a street corner masher ought to be killed outright, as there may be a chance to reform him. Hm! As the late Sam Jones used to say, you may be able to [illegible] scoundrel but what in the name [illegible] can you do with a fool?

TOMMY ATKINS OFTEN HUMUROUS

SINGS OF FUNNY THINGS AS HE FIGHTS

Probably Boche Would Not Get the Meaning, but British Soldier Winks Knowingly

Behind the British line in France—A striking feature of the British soldier's war songs is their humor. Even the French find it difficult to understand how it is that the Tommy apparently looks upon as mere comedy what is in reality the greatest tragedy in the history of the world. The truth is that the British private has discovered a new philosophy appropriate to modern war—he has discovered that it is too serious a business to be taken seriously. Humor and flippaacy is the only antidote to its unutterable ghastliness.

Not Like German Songs

In all the British soldier's songs, the contrast to the songs of the German army is most striking. Here is one which might well be called the British soldier's Hymn of Hate:

"The bells of Hell go ting-a-ling-a-ling,
For you and not for me.
For me the angelssing-a-ling-a-ling,
They've got the goods for me.
O death, where is thy sting-a-ling-a-ling,
Where death they victoree.
The bells of Hell go ting-a-ling-a-ling,
For you but not for me."

That is the nearest he has ever approached to an expression in song of his religious faith.

He Wens to Go 'ome

There is one song in particular which might well the called the Song of the British army. Every soldier at the front can sing it. It is to be heard in every trench dugout and billet in France. The words do not scan and the music cannot be commended for martial grandeur or delicate harmonies, but it is Tommy Atkins' masterpiece. It is almost a dirge or lament, colored with just that touch of elusive Cockney humor which shows that it is not to be taken seriously. These are the words:

"I want to go 'ome,
I want to go 'ome.
The shells and the whizzbangs they rush and they roar,
I don't want to go to the trenches no more.
I want to go over the sea
Where the Allemans cannot catch me;
Oh my,
I wnnt to go 'ome.

What Would Teutons Think?

One can imagine a German overhearing this song and drawing certain inferences as to the singer's morale. But the British soldier will utterly confound those inferences every time.

He has a great weakness for sentimental love songs which remind him of home and of associations thot left him out of the sombre surroundings of his camp or billet.

He has no illusions as to the glories of modern warfare. One of his favorite songs begins:

"When this bloody war is over,
O how happy I shall be."

A TOAST TO THE FLAG

A tribute in the "New Britan Herald" (Connecticut), recited in the House of Representatives by Hon. Hubert D. Stephens.

Here's to the red of it—
There's not a thread of it,
No, nor a shred of it,
In all the spread of it,
From foot to head,
But heroes bled for it,
Faced steel and lead for it,
Precious blood shed for it,
Bathing it red.
Here's to the white of it,
Thrilled by the sight of it,
Who knows the right of it,
But feels the might of it
Through day and night?
Womanhood's care for it
Made manhood dare for it;
Purity's prayer for it
Kept it so white.
Here's to the blue of it—
Heavenly view of it,
Star spongled hue of it,
Honesty's hue of it,
Here's to the whole of it,
Constant and true.
Stras, stripes and pole of it,
Here's to the soul of it—
Red, white nnd blue.

Searching for Franklin.

Sir John Franklin, the celebrated Arctic explorer, started on his last voyage May 17, 1845. Thirty-nine relief expeditions, public and private, were sent out from England and America in ten years to search for Sir John. By one of these expeditions, sent by Lady Franklin, traces of the missing ship were found and its fate decided.

Kill Germs and Save Human Life

The menace of militarism, the horrors of war and the toll of death taken in all frightful accidents is as nothing compared to the danger of unseen deadly germs.

Even in war itself the toll of human life taken outright by the whizzing bullet, the bursting shrapnel, or the piercing steel is less than that caused by the unseen deadly germs that attack the wounded and the well alike.

Human life will be lengthened and human happiness increased when we learn better to guard ourselves against the danger of the ever present germs of disease.

Powdered boric is one of Nature's most wonderful gifts to man, for it enables us, through antisepsis, to ward off the danger of infection.

Owing to its wonderful antiseptic properties it cannot be too highly recommended for liberal use in the care of the person wherever and whenever exposed to the germs of disease.

Pure powdered boric may be used with absolute freedom and safety in all the natural cavities of the body. To realize how healing it is, yet how safe, we have but to recall that the physician almost always prescribes it as the principal ingredient of an eye water.

The manufacture of powdered boric has been brought to such a high degree of efficiency by one concern that if we always remember to specify "20 Mule Team Powdered Boric" we know that we have the real article in full strength

On every package of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric will be found directions for its multitude of uses and the expense is so little that no one should ever be without it.

A solution of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric in water makes an absolute and positive antiseptic for all personal use. It is excellent for a shampoo, for it kills the germ which makes the dandruff that spoils the lustre of the hair and causes it to fall out and cease to grow.

It should be used as a mouth wash on account of its antiseptic qualities whenever there is the slightest danger of having been exposed by being brought in contact with persons suffering with colds, sore throats, etc.

To overcome the unpleasant effect consequent upon excessive perspiration the use of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric will give great satisfaction, making everything sweet and clean and healing any abrasion that may have occurred.

A hot foot bath with a liberal quantity of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric will make the feet feel ten years younger.

For the baby a liberal dusting with 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric not only assures freedom from chafing but helps to maintain an antiseptically clean condition on the little body.

To any cut or abrasion 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric should be freely applied.

20 Mule Team Powdered Boric is a foe to germ life.

It should be on the dressing table of every dainty woman and liberally used in every household where health is prized.

Authorized representative will soon call at your home and make arrangements for you to obtain, FREE, a full size package of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric from any of the following druggists:

The Workingman for NEWBERRY

The Michigan Workingman will support Truman H. Newberry for United States Senator

BECAUSE—

First — He is splendidly qualified. His Americanism, his ability, his experience, his high character, his good judgment and his knowledge of the war make him the strong man for senator.

Second — His Relations Have Always Been Most Friendly With Labor. While Secretary of the Navy he came into daily contact with labor and labor leaders and his course at that time met with their unqualified approval. He made it possible for men to hold meetings and participate in the making of wage scales.

The business institutions with which he is connected are noted for what they have done to improve working conditions.

He is a friend of labor.

Third — He favors an eight-hour day, with extra pay for over-time.

Fourth — He stands and will continue to stand for the protection of the workingman's wage. He believes in and fights for the great principle of Protection.

Fifth — The laboring man will vote for Truman H. Newberry because he can be elected, will be elected, and when elected will stand as the champion of labor.

Charlevoix Courier;
Dear Sir:-

Having occasion to come down town Sunday afternoon, I was surprised to find the main street of our town of which we are so proud, and call the "beautiful", littered with papers and strewn with rubbish that was even more unsightly.

As a practical housekeeper I asked myself, why is it this is permitted? and on looking around I found that the litter boxes that are a part of the sanitary equipment of every well organized city, now-a-days was missing from our streets.

Why not have some of these useful covered boxes purchased by the city fathers, and have them placed at convenient points with this lettering on them; Please help keep our city clean. Deposit waste paper and rubbish here.

WELL KNOWN COUPLE WEDDED

The Ceremony a Simple Home Wedding—Congratulations.

The wedding of Miss Marion Ione Swinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Swinton, to Harry Allen Craig, on Wednesday, August the 7th, at the home of the bride at 210 Dixon avenue, was an event of more than passing interest to the host of Charlevoix friends that this well known couple have acquired during their residence here.

The ceremony, an informal one, occurred in the early morn, attended only by the intimate relatives of the bride and groom. Mrs. Robert Craig of Sault Ste. Marie, and brother, Ralph, of the same place, were in attendance.

Instead of the stereotyped wedding march, the accompanying music were the soft strains of Jensen's Bridal song, by Mrs. Archie Swinton, wife of the bride's brother.

The ceremony was performed amidst a bower of summer flowers, sweet peas and ferns predominating. Rev. C. E. Taggart officiated.

The bride, Miss Swinton, has been a resident of Charlevoix for a period of seven years, and has been an active member of the social life of the city since her residence here.

Harry Allen Craig, coming to Charlevoix a number of years ago to accept a position as principle of the high school, was three years ago appointed superintendent of the schools of Charlevoix, a position which he has since filled with more than ordinary satisfaction to the citizens of Charlevoix.

No going away trip was contemplated by the newly wedded couple. They were content to spend the first days of their new found happiness in "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen Craig are now at home to their friends at 210 Dixon avenue.

BAKER FOR SENATOR.

Will Get Larger Grange Vote in Charlevoix County.

Herbert F. Baker of Cheboygan county, candidate for state senator from this district, with several of his close friends, were in the city Tuesday, renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. Baker was a former speaker of the house of representatives, a man not afraid to voice his views, and will no doubt get a nice vote, if not a majority one, from this county. He is a good man for the place he seeks, and will stand for all matters of proper legislation especially need at this time.

In the State Class.

Another little thing we have noticed is that some people spend a great deal of time at the brooks and lips and eyes, neglecting on the bad little [illegible] to wash behind the ears.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

At the Primary Election to be held August 27th, 1918 the voters of Charlevoix County will nominate the men they wish to conduct the business of the County for the next two years; one of the most important offices to be filled is that of Sherriff.

It is essential, especially at this time, that this officer should be a man in whom the voters have confidence that he will administer the affairs of the office with fairness and impartiality and with a strict compliance with the law.

I am a candidate for this office. In asking your support and vote I do so because I am personally known to most of you and received such splendid support from you when elected County Treasurer four years ago. My record is known to you all. I have served you to the best of my ability and I think with satisfaction to the voters.

If nominated and elected Sherriff, I shall endenvor to perform the duties of that office to your entire satisfaction.

Your vote and interest will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE W. WEAVER

(Political Annuoncement)
ALDEN E. M. CROSS

respectfully asks your favorable consideration of his candidacy for the office of County Treasurer of Charlevoix County

REPUBLICAN TICKET
PRIMARY, AUGUST 27, 1918

Believes his knowledge of public affairs especially fits him for this office and if made the choice of the electors will move to the county seat and give the same his undivided attention. 31tf.

CHEBOYGAN'S CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

HERBERT F. BAKER

Herbert F. Baker of Cheboygan County has filed his petition as candidate for state senator from the 29th. district.

Mr. Baker was a member of the legislature for the sessions of 1907-1909, 1911. It is a noticeable fact that he is the only farmer to occupy that position since the session of 1879, a period of 40 years.

Mr. Baker's friends challenge a close inspection of his legislative record.

He appeals to the voters of this Senatorial district not only upon his record of performance in the legislature, but upon the following propositions as his platform.

Place entire resources of state at disposal of the U. S. Government to the end that peace with complete victory may come at earliest possible date.

Stars for those making sacrifices for their country and stripes for grafters, theives and profiteers.

Prompt attention to the great problems of re-construction to follow the war, recognizing the principle that man is more important than Money.

In the light of her war sacrifices and accomplishments, justice to women should no longer be denied and our candidate's vote is pledged to extend the franchise to her.

Michigan has spoken in no uncertain tone on the subject of prohibition and if nominated and elected his vote will be cast for National Dry amendment.

In accordance with his past records, steadfast insistence upon efficiency and economy in every department of the state government is assured.

The Republicans of Cheboygan County are united in presenting him to the party of the district as a candidate for senator and respectfully solicit for him the support at the primaries of the republicans of the district.

C. S. REILLY,
Chairman Republican County Committee.

Queen of the Great Northland Resorts, Mecca of Summer Tourists of a Great Continent

THE skies of Italy are not more genial; France is not more fruitful; Venice presents no more beautiful water-scape than does Charlevoix. Land of Indian legend and romance, where the forests that skirt its lake shores sweep down to the water's edge. Land that once was the happy hunting ground of the Chippewa or Ottawa Indian is now the play ground of the present day masters of America.

On the high hills on the north bank of the Pine river, where the ancient Indian factories for making arrow heads were once located, sweep the broad boulevards of a modern city, bordered with attractive homes, each with its villa plot of trim lawn, shrubbery and flower gardens. Unusually favored by nature; accessible from Charlevoix by motor boat or automobile, lie some 80 miles of lake shore, located on the shores of Lake Michigan and bisected by Round and Pine lakes, the hot south-west winds of summer are made temperate and cool by crossing this large body of open water. These same waters protect the fruit and farm products of this region from early frosts. Thousands of summer tourists visit Charlevoix every season, from South, East and West these visitors representative of our best American people, make an annual summer pilgrimage to Charlevoix; invariably they promise to come again and invariably they do.

As a summer convention city, Charlevoix offers advantages that convention visitors praise with a uniformity that is eloquent. Our guests praise not only the unexcelled facilities for housing them, but also our brand of unadulterated hospitality.

Within a few minutes walk from any home in Charlevoix are spread lakes of the bluest, fishing of the finest and limitless boating; broad, smooth, well kept motor roads lead into the country in every direction; there is an infinity of pleasures or recreation for every varying taste or mood.

Charlevoix is developing progressively; it owns its own Waterworks, its own Electric light plant, it has spent money with a liberal hand to provide the facilities that make for comfort, beauty and good citizenship. It aims to attract only the better class of visitors.

Early History of Charlevoix the Beautiful

To one having an eye to either business or beauty, the banks of the Pine river early presented attractions as an eligible site for a town. A mile back from the shore of Lake Michigan lies Pine Lake, its arms stretching away to the south-west twenty or more miles into the interior. Between it and Lake Michigan lies Round lake, covering an area of a hundred acres or more. Pine river, the outlet of Pine Lake runs directly through it. The river in its natural state was a narrow, crooked, swiftly flowing stream, full of snags and overhung with trees, as unlike the broad deep and almost straight channel through which large steamers now go up into Pine lake as one can well imagine.

In the sheltered basin of this landlocked harbor whose towering terraced shores were crowned with stately forests of century old oaks, the commercial life of the town of Charlevoix was given its first impetus in 1864.

The erection of a single store and the construction of a wharf was commenced in this year. The first school was opened in a fisherman's shanty on the South side of the river on or near the site now occupied by the Blanchard Hardware Co.'s store. It was without windows, and the young men of the settlement vouluteered to put it in order. The funds for the necessary improvements and equipment being raised by the good women of the village; who conducted a supper and bazaar for the purpose. Though a wintry storm was raging, the settlers for miles around attended the event which netted the sum of $75.

From such a modest beginning illustrative of the sturdy qualities of the good old pioneer stock that founded it, Charlevoix the Beautiful had its beginning.

Located in the most favored spot in this glad land of Sun and Summer where the days are never long enough for the facination they bring, many of which are halted at their close with sunsets as glorious as any Italy can show.

The Charlevoix of today is a city of beautiful homes, of well paved streets where the big trees arch above to shelter one from the rays of the mid-day sun.

Charlevoix is a prosperous, progressive town of 3000 permanent citizens, while its summer population averages more than 6000 people. It is surrounded by fertile lands and prosperous farms, one of the largest sections of uniformly good land to be found in the state is hereabouts.

It is hardly too much to say that it is exceptional in the quality and character of its citizenship.

Charlevoix is a city of Churches, of modern efficient public schools and the chosen summer home of a great number of Summer visitors. For the tourists there are a number of modern hotels, each with an attractively parked lakeside location. These hotels are prepared to cater to those who naturally expect the finest service. A number of semi-private homes open their doors to those who prefer more quiet and restful places.

Golfers who have played the Charlevoix course, located on a broad upland between Pine lake and Lake Michigan, declare the course a flawless one, for a fair test for the fine points of the game, yet not unfair for a tyro.

Municipally Charlevoix is an orderly and well governed city; its tax rate being entirely consistent with the privileges, comforts and conveniences afforded its citizens.

The water supply of the city is drawn from deep artesian wells, the supply being pronounced absolutely pure by state analysis and equal to the famous Waukesha Water.

The Hydro electric power plant owned by the city will provide, when equipment being at present installed, an equivalent of 350 horse power for day and night service.

U. S. Government Fish Hatchery at Charlevoix

For the purpose of maintaining the fresh food supply derived from this section, the U. S. Government has located at this point, which will prove when fully equipped, to be one of the largest institutions of its kind in America. The principal hatch at this station will consist of white fish and lake trout, though other kinds will be hatched in limited numbers.

Commercially Charlevoix ranks well with cities many times its size. The banking facilities are entirely adequate, no legitimate enterprise need go outside of this city for want of financial support.

With all of the foregoing in mind it seems superflous to add; Charlevoix is a fine type of American city; that it has a boulevard system of lighting; owns its own water works and electric lighting system; that it has miles and miles of broad, well built highway leading into the surrounding country in every direction; well kept lawns and fine homes; stores modern and well stocked. A business men's Association, its Board of Commerce made up of a live bunch, who understand what co-operation spells; and a city that has a warm hearted welcome for those seeking a summer of rest, content, and recreation; or for those seeking a home or a business location.

The present municipal officers of Charlevoix are S. M. Rose, Mayor, who has served three terms as Mayor and eight years in the city's service. The councilmen are Messrs. Frank M. Glassford, Grover Geneit, Ralph Washburn, E. J. Hiller, L. E. Benton and G. C. Geiken. The other executive officers are John Cook, Treasurer; Chas. Emrey, City Clerk; A. L. Fitch, City Attorney; Henry C. Cooper, City Assessor.

Charlevoix Invites You

Charlevoix is favored with splendid transportation facilities. From Chicago it is served by palatial, speedy steam boats which furnish frequent and regular service. The Pere Marquette Railroad furnishes a direct resort service from Toledo, Detroit, Chicago and Grand Rapids. The equipment of its resort special comprise all that is understood in modern train excellence.

A city of good stores; Charlevoix is a city of thoroughly modern and progressive stores, in the variety and excellence of the stocks carried and service rendered they are truly metropolitan.

A favored place; Those who make Charlevoix their home throughout the year, believe it to be the most favored spot in a highly favored state, where nature has been most lavish in her gifts to man.

Splendid city; aiming to deserve the fine civic loyalty of its summer citizens; We invite you Mr. Doctor and Lawyer, Merchant and man of Business to come and bring your family; We think you will find that all of the things which will contribute to the well being of the other men, will also contribute to yours; You will find Charlevoix offering you opportunities for recreation, contentment and everything that makes "life worth living."

A Sonnet to the Northland

By John C. Wright
(Author of Northern Breezes)

In far-away countries over the seas are beautiful paintings and sights to please;
But never a picture one-half so grand as nature has hung in this Northern land:

The rocks of Lake Superior,
Niagara's mighty falls;
The crags of rugged headlands,
High flung, with granite walls;
Great basins, plains and valleys,
Where giant monarchs grow;
Glens, glades and pleasant grottoes,
In sunshine, mist or snow;
Bays, gulfs and rippling waters,
Where the sunlight dancing down
Rears palaces of brilliant hues
Near the landmarks of some old town;
Rich gardens in the wildwood,
Where nature's charm enthralls;
Many, many moonlit lakes,
And dancing waterfalls;
Long lanes thru silent woodlands,
Where life is wild and free—
These and a thousand more besides,
Are the thing that appeal to me.
I gaze across a shimmering lake,
At a wonderous sunset scene—
Watch the burst of glowing crimson,
Dark red and purple green,
Like the crown of some fabled goddess
Piercing the utmost sky
And my soul is at rest in the perfect joy
Of a love that can never die.
The North is aflame with the sacred fire!
And my spirit longs to take
Its flight and follow the sun's decline
Down yonder behind the lake.
As evening breezes fill the trees,
In reverential mein,
I thank the Lord for the earth and skies
And the gift of this treasured scene.

THE INN :

One of the Commodious, Finely Located Summer Hotels That Have Made the Charlevoix Brand of Hospitality Famous : : : : :

It is difficult to write about any of the admirable institutions of Charlevoix, save with enthusiasm.

The Inn is a notable example of the well ordered hospitality that has helped to earn for this city the wonderful, and so richly deserved loyalty, of its summer citizens. The Inn is located in a natural park of about fifty acres, included in which is some of the primal forest growth of this region.

Upon the handiwork of nature, man has lent his endeavor to enhance the beauties so bountifully provided; Midway of the sloping hillside where once the Indians pitched their teepes, now attractively terraced; partly concealed from view stands the Inn.

To the westward less than a mile away lie the circling forest covered shores of Lake Michigan—to the south less than two city blocks away Round Lake spreads its placid waters. From the parked front of the Inn, Pine Lake sweeps away for a distance of twenty miles and into the rolling uplands and wooded shores of one of the most picturesque sections of the state.

These waters teeming with gamey steel head, black bass, and rainbow trout are connected with each other through Pine river, navigable by the largest of lake steamers. Round lake furnishing a sheltered harbor in which the larger steamboats discharge their freight and passengers.

The Inn a wonderfully complex organization, is conducted with a smoothness that does not even hint of the host of workers employed for the comfort, pleasure and well being of its guests. Three hundred and fifty guests can be accomodated with comfort and a very large proportion of the guests each summer return again to spend an entire season at the Inn.

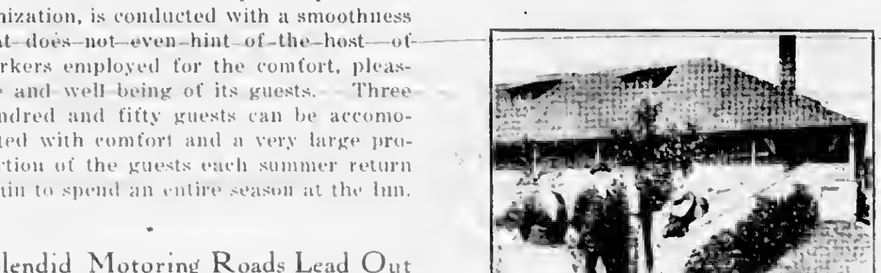
Splendid Motoring Roads Lead Out Into The Surrounding Country

The velvet roads of Charlevoix county radiate in every direction from this point and the milage of smooth well kept roads are being increased every year, in fact a comprehensive plan for improving every highway in this county is being developed.

The broad smooth roads and innumerable bridal paths wherein the beech, maple and cedar interlace their foliage invite the pre-breakfast gallop.

At the guests disposal are a splendid string of Kentucky and Virginia saddle horses. The riding school at the Inn gives particular attention to women and children interested in horsemanship. This school is owned by Frank Welch—assisted by W. A. Sanky, an expert horseman. Several well stocked garages provide for the morning spin.

The Smiling waters of the surrounding lakes issue a daily challenge to the fisherman.



Repose Under the Birches

"THE INN" a Convention Center

In the pre-resort season the Inn has been favored with several high class Conventions, notably the convention of the Alpha-Kappa-Theta fraternity of girls colleges last season, and the Michigan Bankers Association and the Pi-Beta-Phi, another college girls fraternity this season.

The casino with its lofty ceiling, splendid accoustics, perfect ventilation and attractive location, provides unusually well equipped convention quarters and capable of caring for four or five hundred delegates. Those attending the conventions that have been held in Charlevoix, many of whom have acquired the convention habit, expressed themselves as favoring Charlevoix for the conventions of the future, because of its ideal environment and the conveniences they were able to secure.

In the resort season the Casino is used for dancing parties and such forms of entertainment as justify its use.

The Dutch room or mens lounge and billiard room are located on the first floor, the walls of the former being decorated with trophies of the chase and the implements of the sportsman. One end of this room is filled with a massive brick faced fireplace, the supporting columns and side walls being paneled in natural cherry.

The main lobby and mezzanine floor, of the hotel is furnished with restful seats, and the decorative value of flowers in doors have been fully realized by the use of attractive flower boxes plaeed above the cornice surrounding the railing of the gallery. The lobby is the scene of many animated and pleasant gatherings of the guests in the evenings.

The Charlevoix Golf Course Located Near "The Inn"

A summer without golf would be a summer lost to the golf enthusiast. The number 1 tee of the charlevoix Club golf course is located a distance of only two city blocks from the Inn entrance. The course lies high and between Lake Michigan and Pine Lake. It is an 18 hole course of 5812 yards—bogey equals 80, the greens are always kept in good playing condition. The course offers some fair sporting shots and is not difficult enough to discourage a beginner at the game.

Notably Adequate Provision Made For The Comfort of Guests at "THE INN"

The Pere Marquette railway operates the Inn, with its chief objective the pleasure and comfort of its guests. From the first day it was opened it has been content only in giving its patrons the best in entertainment and service.

The staff at the Inn is headed by Mr. Andrew I. Creamer of the Highland Pines Inn, of Weymouth Heights, Southern Pines, N. C. This hotel of the Southland is one of the newest and best equipped hotels in a section famous for the high character of its hotels. Its structure is unique in hotel building—being a reproduction of the Southern colonial type home. Its growing popularity being due to the charm of its homelike atmosphere.

The same competent staff that has contributed so largely to the popularity of the Highlands Pines Inn, accompanying Mr. Creamer on his annual return to the Inn at Charlevoix, thus elimipating the risk of using untrained or occasional summer resort service.

Mr. Frank L. McDonald acting as assistant manager at both places.

The parked terraces on which the Inn is located is made accessible and inviting by means of well paved walks, that invite a saunter through this attractive park. Birch bark teepes lend an air of primitive to the scene, modified by the refreshing splash of a rustic fountain centrally located in the park whose pool is stocked with beautiful lake trout.

Cottage Colony at The Inn

In connection with the Inn a group of bungalows have been built in the old orchard belonging to the Inn. The buildings are of modern construction both as to type and conveniences afforded, and being located within the Inn park proper they provide their occupants with the privacy of home life and the social features so agreeably furnished by the nearby Inn.

Some of these cottages have been occupied by the same family season after season.

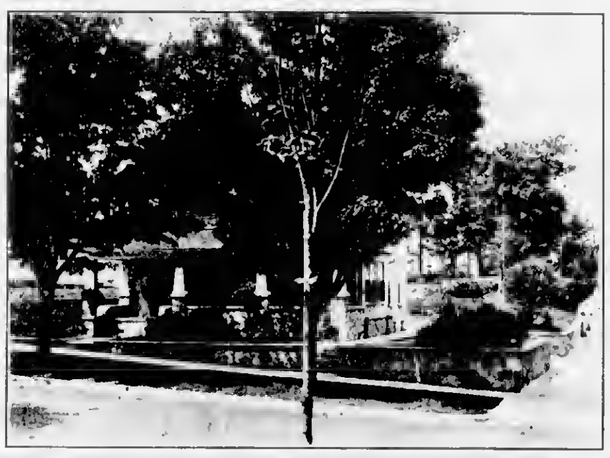
The orchard cottage is occupied this year and for the eighth successive season, by Mr. and Mrs. Milton S. Florsheim and family of Chicago. The Vassar cottage is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Sig Silberman and family also of Chicago. The Kentucky cottage is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Steinberg and family of St. Louis, Mo. The Dixon House is occupied by Mrs. M. E. Mock and family of Cincinnati, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Drey and family of St. Louis Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. L. Mosenfelder of Rock Island, Ill.

The bathing pavilion located on Pine Lake has proven to be one of the most appreciated of the recreation features of the season, the temperature of the waters of Pine Lake maintaining an average of 70 degrees this summer. The beach adjoining the pavilion being a gradually sloping one offers safe bathing for children, and for those who desire deeper water for diving, built out docks and diving platforms have been provided.

ATTRACTIVE LAKESIDE SUMMER HOMES

The Dixon Avenue Home of Mr. A. F. Bridge.

A chateau type of structure, with exterior walls of field stone and brick, the third floor gables being rough cast stucco plastered. Standing well back from the street it presents a wide sweep of well kept lawn, broken by attractive native growth birch trees. At the rear it looks down on Round Lake.



The Park Avenue Home of Dr. Louis A. Greensfelder.

A home and garden are the better words descriptive of this Charlevoix Villa.

Rugged walls of field stone surround two sides of the lawn, while at the rear the land sloping up to a point commanding a magnificent view of the harbor or Charlevoix and Lake Michigan have been utilized to its utmost by the landscape artists, the owners.

All is neat, gay and sweet, in this little formal garden, and obviously intended for a little stroll with ones guests to view the ever changing pictures painted on the waterscape.

The LURE OF CHARLEVOIX

There is a lure in the quiet beauty of Charlevoix which brings summer visitors back again and again to enjoy its refinement and hospitality. Of these numbers have built substantial summer homes whose artistic structure contributes to give Charlevoix an appearance usually associated only with the better residence sections of cities of much greater size.

The Charlevoix Summer Home of David H. May

This summer home planned for informal living and a thorough enjoyment of life is a splendid example of early colonial architecture. In its well proportioned simplicity and its beauty of design both exterior and interior it presents many aspects well worthy of study. The house is of weatherboard construction—the simplicity of its roof lines being relieved at front and rear by quaint dormer insertions.

The view from the rear is out over the broad waters of Lake Michigan through a wind brake of pine and birches, the property extending to the lake shore. The house is painted a solid white the only color note being the green window blinds, surrounding lawn and well kept shrubbery.

The front entrance; the hall and its staircase are frankly of the better colonial type. The staircase at left of entrance hall is finished in old ivory enameled, with hand rail of mahogany and rises in an eliptical ell to the second floor, a rest landing half way up coming directly over the entrance doorway.

All of the living quarters may be entered directly from the entrance hall. On the south side of the house is located the dining room. Wood paneled three fourth length and finished in old ivory. Facing the lake a sun room filled on two sides with mullion windows and opening onto a rear veranda through a pair of French doors is only divided from the dining room by a wide cased opening.

On the right of the entrance hall opens the living room a large pleasant apartment, finished in gum wood natural finish, with a side walls high paneled. At one end is a great brick fireplace with old time accessories.

The Charlevoix Home of Harry L. Oldham

The Charlevoix Lakeside Home of F. M. Glassford

This spacious home as shown in the illustration was photographed from its least attractive side facing Round Lake. The dense foliage on the front, (Dixon Avenue) side obscuring the view of the camera.

It is of wide weather board and rough cast cement construction shading from deep to a lighter toned brown shade of color, with trimming of cream.

EVERY CHARLEVOIX HOME HAS ITS VILLA PLOT

In many communities it is possible to select a certain number of attractive home views for illustration. It is only possible to show in this limited section but a very small percentage of the attractive homes that are available for this purpose in Charlevoix and of those shown it is impossible for the camera to do them justice. it cannot show the sweep of well kept lawns, nor the shrubbery or summer foliage with which they are surrounded.

The Hillside Home of Dr. R. B. Armstrong

As the retaining walls of field stone would suggest this home is situated high above the boulevard that passes it. And commands a close range view of Round Lake and beyond it the wooded shore line and waters of Pine Lake.

Residence of Will E. Hampton

This property, situated at No. 307 Michigan Avenue, is one of the most desirable in the city, for a summer home. The lot is 66 ft. wide, and extends west to Lake Michigan, with a beautiful sandy beach for bathing and children's play-ground. Large lawn in rear overlooking the Lake gives a splendid view of the water and shipping.

The Property is Offered for Sale

The house has seven sleeping rooms and two sleeping porches; also two basement bed-rooms, and three living rooms and dining room, two baths, toilets and laundry facilities, with basement under entire house. Good furnace and good plumbing. Lake front property is the most desirable, and the hardest to obtain. For personal reasons the owner will dispose of this sightly and charming place at a reasonable figure. If interested call on

Looking Into the Central Court from the East

The Farm Home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Loeb Located on the Wooded Hillside Shore of Pine Lake Near Charlevoix

THE Loeb farm house is designed and intended for more than mere temporary occupancy or as a casual summer residence. It is planned for and will be occupied by the owners the greater part of each year, partaking of the aspect of a permanent home and provisions have been made for heating and making it comfortable as a winter as well as a summer residence.

The site selected for this farm home is peculiarly adapted for the purpose, including the advantages of a considerable elevation and a very beautiful landscape. The character of this landscape may be inferred from one of the illustrations given herewith. The view looking over the country-side from the central court discloses an undulating country side, neither soft nor rugged in its effect, finely and firmly moulded in its contours and with pleasant alternations of woodland and field, and in the fore-ground the placid waters of Pine Lake.

This particular hill on which the country home is situated is a fairly prominent one, and is conspicuous from many points in the neighborhood. The view of this farm house from Pine Lake forms a pleasing picture that will not be readily forgotten.

The architectural problem was to place a house on this hill which would look well at the considerable distances from which it may be seen, and which at the same time would make the landscape appear at its best to the inhabitants of the house.

The architect, Mr. Arthur Heun, has designed a house and garden which is admirably wrought to meet these conditions.

The first thing which will strike the observer of the house is the emphatic simplicity of its appearance. It is a long, irregular, half timbered building of field stone picked up on the farm, with flush plastered joints, and second story of matched upright unplaned weather board, with ells at both ends, running up through both stories surrounding a central court, and with a roof which slopes only in one pitch. The cornice line is emphatic and applied architectural detail reduced absolutely to a minimum.

A house situated in such a commanding position must necessarily make its effect by simple and emphatic means.

The irregularity of the plan makes the house look very much better from some points of view than from others, but this irregularity affords such a convenient interior arrangement that it fully justifies itself.

Many architectural expedients which would ordinarily be very effective, become wholly insignificant, and the peculiar success of Mr. Loeb's farm house can be traced precisely to the manner in which this essential design has been disentangled and made of dominant importance. The architect has dared to be simple, but the simplicity never becomes attenuated or empty, because of the strength with which the essential elements of the design has been handled.

If the design of the house has been wrought with care to make it the one dominant note in a wonderfully attractive landscape, the plan has been wrought with equal care to the end that its occupants may enjoy to the utmost the advantages of the location. The most beautiful view to be seen from the hill looks toward the East, the house was, of course, faced East for the convenience and comfort of its inhabitants and to command this landscape at its best.

Perhaps the most generally admired feature of this house structurally, is the patio or court. It is roomy and airy, inclosed on three sides by the house exterior walls. It is floored with a slate, a rose and grey tiles of irregular blocks. Overhead it is entirely unprotected, save for the wide projections of the roof, while from the open side a beautiful vista of rolling uplands and water greets the eye. To further accentuate the out-of-door atmosphere of this delightful home, an arcade surmounted by a continuous gallery surrounds the three inner sides of this court. No one room in the two wings of the court is entered by means of another room, each is detached and preserves its own individual dignity.

One feels from the first glimpse through the entrance hall that not only is architectural excellence presented to the fullest degree, with the utmost care for the right of cement, but that a beautiful kind of comfort has been the object of creating and decorating the entire establishment.

Anything more graceful and humanely hospitable than the picture presented by this entrance one could not imagine. The side walls are of grey rough-cast cement plaster. The floor of uneven block tile in slate rose and grey, the color note being a heavy matting rug in green and red tones. The entrance door from the court is of a gothic type, while the whole north end of the hall is taken up with a broad, leaded window of the same design.

Entering from the court side on the left of the entrance hall and reached through cloister type glazed doors, is the living room, extending the full width of the house at the west side, and on this side of the room is located a recessed, built-in window seat extending fully one-third of the length of the room, backed by casement windows extending the length of the seat.

The corners are filled with built-in book cases, and almost completely filling the north end of the room is a massive colonial type fire place.

The ceiling is arched and wood paneled in squares. The side walls are finished in antique ivory, and the ceiling in two tone bronze and blue.

In the dining room located on the left of the entrance hall, the better type of old mission influence is felt, extending so far only as to its substantialness. Overhead the solid beams of Oregon fir are suspended at the ceiling angle. The beading and mouldings of the beams are carved by hand from the solid timber.

The side walls are gothic three-quarter length panels of fir, finished in a soft brown tint, which serves to bring out the beautiful grain of the carefully chosen wood from which the panels were selected.

Opening directly from the Arcade facing the north end of the court and occupying the entire first floor of the south wing is the game room, intended for indoor recreation. Here one gets a fine sense of unobtusive perspective, for it must be fully sixty feet from end to end of this room. The east end of this room is crescent shaped and in which are located five pair of French windows. The south side of this room is filled with four pair of mullion windows, flooding with light a recess large enough to accommodate a billiard table, but the most unusual feature of the room is the fireplace with its inglenook located in the center of the north side of the room. The high backs of the seats which flank both sides of the fireplace are glass paneled, affording warmth and comfort, without obscuring the cheery view of the fireplace. The room is finished in subdued antique green, with delicate purple high lights. At the time this was written and until the close of our great world war, this room will remain the assembly room and work shop of the summer colony of the members of the Chicago Chapter of the Red Cross.

The house being located on a rugged hillside to the East, the approach consequently leads inevitably to the west side of the building and the driveway terminates in a wide sweeping circle from which the entrance is reached through a covered colonade as shown in the accompanying illustration.

Surmounting the building on this side is a sturdy bell tower, suggestive of the mediaeval buildings of continental Europe.

The architect has been very skillful in his combination of round and square openings, and in the sense of height in the comparitively low roof, and in the structure of the entrance, which seem admirably suited to the unostentatious design of the owner.

To the West: What a fair and smiling country is to be seen in that direction. Fully a mile away toward the City of Charlevoix one enters the Loeb Farm proper. The entrance is an informal one. On the left of the driveway is located a substantial house, built from field stone, which is the home of the farm superintendent. Curving and winding this driveway sweeps on over a highway built from crushed rock, bordered by rustic fence and line of maples on both sides. At given intervals of fifty feet one notes a bird house perched on the top of a tall sapling, and meadows of lush timothy spread away to the borders of Pine Lake or run to the hill sides on the south.

The way in which the architect, Mr. Heun, has managed the different phases of this house is interesting. On the eastern side, where the hillside is broken, steep and rugged, the structure conforms to natures outline. From the western prospective, where the slope is gentle, the architecture becomes simple and in complete harmony, producing a fine silhouette against the sky line, well conceived and executed.

Friends of the Birds

In the work of reclaiming the land that forms this farm, the forests and trees, marshes and meadow that were the natural nesting place for the birds were taken from them, and to give these birds a nesting place, homes were built for them and located at innumerable points about the farm, providing safe nesting places and to encourage their domestication.

The Park and Garden Surrounding the Loeb Farm are Informal.

The landscape surrounding this farm house is as unspoiled as it was possible to keep it when preparing the ground for building.

The Pine Lake landscape consists for the most part, of sloping pasture and alternating woodland.

The land upon which the Loeb house is situated was rough and broken and required a great deal of leveling, clearing and grading, before it could be fitted into a well formed architectural design.

Immediately surrounding the house on the north side remains part of a well grown orchard planted years ago. Aside from this orchard, the shrubbery and trees planted near the house and giving it an appearance of having existed on its present site for years, are of native growth and which were transplanted from the nearby woodland.

On the south, undisturbed by man, stands a grove of young oaks, beeches and the many coniferious fragrant colored trees of this northland.

Below the lake-side hill, from the shore line of Pine Lake, a boat channel five or six hundred yards long, is being dredged, and at the foot of the terrace will be located the docs and boat house. This will bring the boat landing within a very convenient distance from the house.

The Service building is connected with the house by a tiled walk, flanked on its lake-side by an annual flower garden.

The Broad Acres and Modern Dairy Barn of the Loeb Farm. Improved Farming and Dairying Equipment to be Utilized. Experiment Station to be Established

The Loeb Farm consists of some 1600 acres of undulating fertile land, copiously watered by flowing springs.

As at present organized, the operation of the farm will be carried on under five distinct department heads.

First in order of importance will come the development of Holstein registered dairy stock.

Second, the development farm. This will partake largely of the nature of the work now carried on by the M. A. C., but with special reference to the products that may be profitably produced in this section.

Third, the horticultural department. For the development of the sections of the farm best adapted for fruit growing.

Fourth, the dairy. The foundations for the dairy is based upon a herd of splendid registered Holstein stock, which will be added to as rapidly as cows that will measure up to the standard set of this modern dairy can be secured. Provisions are being made for a stand of 200 head.

Fifth will come what is termed regular commercial farming, consisting of the production of grain and forage crops and such other farm products as may be grown to the best advantage in this section.

Each department of the farm will be placed under the supervision of an expert in his particular line, and sufficient experimental work will be carried on to show what crops may be most profitably produced on the lands of this section.

Dairy Barn at the Loeb Farm

The most completely equipped if not the largest of its kind in America. Provides for a stand of 200 head.

Located on a hillside facing the north, on a solid foundation of concrete, the superstructure of field stone and tile raises an imposing front.

Four silos built of stone and lined with tile will provide storage capacity for 1000 tons of silage. Part of the "off pasture" rations for 200 pure bred Holstein milch cows.

On the front side of the building, divided by a broad, open court, will be located on the left the living quarters of the master of the herd. This home will consist of an eight-room house, furnished with every modern convenience, and will be accessible directly from the barn, but separated from it by stout, fire-proof walls.

On the right will be located the milk room. This room will be equipped with the most modern approved appliances for cooling the milk, sterilizing the milking equipment and for separating the cream from the milk.

The building proper on its foundation will measure 307 by 221 feet.

In the center at the rear and surrounded on three sides and opening to the south, the exercise yard is located, and by reason of its sheltered location, it will be possible to allow the herd the run of this yard in even the most inclement of stormy weather. This exercise yard will be concrete floored

Detail from Colonade Leading to West Entrance

Ranged about this rear court will be arranged the quarters for the cows. The floors will be of concrete over-laid with cork brick beds for the stock. The side walls to a wainscot height will be of tile for obvious sanitary purposes. The walls above the wainscot will be cement plastered.

Each cow will be provided with an individual drinking fountain, and in winter or when the normal temperature of the water is below that which is proper for a maximum production of milk, the water will be warmed for the herd.

Accurate tests of the milk and butter production of every cow will be made at each milking. This will be recorded in the herd book, providing a complete history of each working unit, or milch cow of the herd.

Many untoward conditions faced the engineers when preparing the ground for the foundation on which the building rests. The site selected was the one most favored as to location, but the ground was full of living springs, and to overcome this condition a very comprehensive system of tile drainage was first installed.

More than simply fortunate were the results secured when the efforts to secure a water supply for the dairy were undertaken. It was decided to sink a well for that purpose and at a depth of 160 feet, an underground supply was tapped which flows up 12 feet in a six inch casing and having a pressure of approximately thirty pounds to the square inch on the ground level.

The dairying industry will undoubtedly be given a considerable impetus through the location of this modern dairy near Charlevoix. The land thereabouts being naturally favorable for this purpose.

The superintendent of construction, Frank M. Glassford, agrees to have the barn in shape for occupancy for the coming winter.

The supervising and consulting engineer is R. F. Sloan. These two gentlemen were also responsible for the splendid construction record set in the building of the Loeb Farm Home. Working in conjunction, they have intelligently standardized a system for building construction from foundation to interior finish on schedule and without delay at any point, (that considering the many obstacles to be overcome, including the securing of right material) which it would be hard to equal.

Homes in Which American Influence Predominates

The American people are patently developing a national consciousness finding themselves. In no field of human endeavor is this more patently evident than in the fact that we are developing a type of architecture that is truly American, both as to type and treatment.

Nowhere is the tendency to build the really American home more plainly in evidence than in the summer home section of Charlevoix as the accompanying illustrations show. The result has been: homes more in keeping with their invironment and with a proper regard for the rights and comforts of their occupants.

Charlevoix Lakeside Property of Emma B. Kellner

Many attractive homes completely furnished, have been built in the City of Charlevoix for the purpose of renting them to resorters who desire a pleasant place in which to live during the summer. The houses illustrated herewith are a point in example.

On the left of the picture the cottage shown is commodious and arranged with a proper view to architectural proprieties as well as the convenience of its inhabitants. It contains two large, pleasant rooms, excellent culinary conveniences, seven bedrooms, two fine sleeping porches on the lake side and four modern bath rooms.

The cottage at the right is three storied, of rarely good construction, in relation to a commodious house on a city lot.

The front entrance is through a loggia type porch which affords a street side lounge with reasonable privacy. Within every modern convenience has been installed including a large living and dining room, so arranged that they [illegible] the lake front, a cheerful sunroom, eight bedrooms and six bath rooms.

On the lake side at the rear is located a wide porch or second floor veranda, from which access by stairway to the beach may be reached by easy stages.

Charlevoix Summer Home of Alvin D. Goldman

Mr Goldman's fine house illustrated herewith, is indeed, in the strictly American sense of the word, a Villa—that is, a house intended only for habitation during a few summer months, and for this purpose it is splendidly adapted. Its open beam ceilings and smartly paneled and ceilinged side walls; its large living room overlooking Lake Michigan, and its informal garden, inclosed by a rustic fence and lakeside arbor of birch saplings, suggest wholesome summer comforts.

Blue Bird Cottage, Home of Mrs. G. A. Crouter

[illegible] are two wide French doors opening onto a broad [illegible] these doors are screened and may be used to convert the entire first floor into an out of door living quarters. A character description of the attractive interior treatment would be too small to do it a scant justice.

"The Pines," Lakeside Home of Mrs. H. L. Iddings

This home stands on the crest of a terraced hill that rises abruptly from the shores of Lake Michigan. Located at the apex of the triangle formed by Park Avenue Boulevard and Grant street to the East, it presents a view of the city. To the North it commands a view of Charlevoix harbor and coast line, and to the West the wide sweeping waters of Lake Michigan.

The illustration foreshortens the appearance of this very commodious home of large airy living quarters and nine bedrooms. From every room with the exception of the kitchen, a view of Lake Michigan may be had.

THE RESORTER OF AN EARLIER DAY

Years before any provision had been made for their accommodation; when conditions were indeed primitive, many men and women, from the then southland as far as the Ohio river, journeyed by portage and boat to this region in search of health. Realizing the benefits they were deriving, many stayed on until late Autumn, or even until near the close of safe navigation on the lakes.

Considering the privations the resorter of the earlier day was content to undergo, as compared with the luxurious traveling methods of today; it is small wonder that those who now come to this glad-land of cool lake breezes and glorious sunshine, and knowing the joys of living here for one season, should return to it again and bring those with whom they would share their good fortune.

The Blanchard Hardware Co.'s Store at Charlevoix as a Customer Sees It

By H. N. CLARK

(Reproduced from the Hardware Age as illustrating the high quality of the service rendered The Summer Visitors at Charlevoix.)

"IT'S the only hardware store I ever saw that I didn't want to hurry out of. This one fascinates me."

"Yes, they say there's no finer in Chicago."

The speakers were two sophisticated-looking city women—typical "resorters," as they are known in Charlevoix, the northern Michigan summer place, where between 5000 and 7000 people spend their vacations.

It was my first day in town, after the winter in the city, and I was interested to see the new store. Five years as a cottager in a summer resort makes one feel like a real inhabitant, and proud of all its improvements. Besides, I had an errand. I had heard there was a porch swing in the window of that store that was exactly what we needed. So I went in.

The pleasant impression produced by the passing remarks of the women on the street and by the fine large windows—yes, the hammock was there, and was—what I wanted—deepened, as I entered.

A salesman greeted me courteously, and though I was disappointed to find that the swing in the window was sold, I was told another just like it would be in in five days. It came duly and was sent up promptly, and—as an illustration of the careful attention every order seems to get here—a day later I was called to the telephone to learn that the swing I had bought would be $8 instead of $8.50, the price I had been given at first, as an extra attachment, for which, it happened, I did not care, was missing from it. I had not even noticed the omission and should never have complained, but I was pleased at being told of it.

Now, this is mentioned because it is a part of the atmosphere of the Blanchard hardware store, and explains the popularity of the place, as even its fine new building and almost perfect equipment cannot.

The Blanchard Hardware Company is a stock company, organized under the laws of the state of Michigan, and owned mainly by Mrs. L. D. Bartholomew, a sister of the late F. S. Blanchard, whose name is thus perpetuated.

H. K. Allen, the manager, came to Charlevoix in July, 1915, from Minneapolis, which was headquarters while he was traveling for the Hackett, Gates, Hurty Company, of St. Paul, and later for Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Company, of Chicago. Before this, he had been manager of the hardware department of the New England Furniture Company, of Minneapolis, one of the largest stores of its kind in the Northwest. He spent a number of years in Illinois as a clerk and manager of country stores; all these changes had been made on account of his health, which has now been regained.

Owner's Son the Architect

F. L. Bartholomew, a son of the owner, was the architect, and the building was constructed under his personal supervision. Shoemakers' children may go barefoot, but architects' families are usually fortunate enough to have their buildings designed by skillful relatives. Mr. Bartholomew has done his work well. The impression received as you enter is of warmth and space. Anyone can see that these are essentials. Hardware is cold. It looks repellent, housed in dingy, colorless walls, and fatally repellent, if things are piled together in restricted space. The orderly housewife revolts at that.

Here the colors are, red walls, cream ceiling, black shelving. Not many counters, but numbers of show cases. Every article of hardware merchandise can be seen by the customer; as he looks about. No need to use that ancient sign: "If you don't see what you want, ask for it." The idea is to make everything visible to the customer—not to wait for him to ask.

In the center of the main floor is a quadrangle of show cases, rounded corners of course, and above this is an opening in the second floor ceiling, 15 ft. square, around which, on the second floor, is a railing, with openings on the four sides. This offers space for displaying sporting goods. Charlevoix, being a resort town, it is necessary to carry a full line.

In the quadrangle cases themselves, fishing tackle is displayed. There is "water, water everywhere," about Charlevoix, for not only does it lie on Lake Michigan, but two smaller lakes are connected with the larger one and many resorters go off for a day, during their vacations, to carry out that dream of theirs, which begins in early spring in the city:

"I'm just a wishing
To go a-fishin."

The quadrangle cases contain 72 ft. of space, and of this, three 15-ft. shelves are devoted to fishing tackle. Indeed, Manager Allen thinks it right to say that his stock is unusually complete, perhaps the best anywhere in the Northwest.

In this main show case there are also twelve 6-ft. shelves; three showing pocket knives; three for scissors and shears; three for table silverware, and the same number showing butcher knives.

The hollow center of the main floor square rather puzzled the manager at first. Here was a desirable section of the store vacant. In it he placed a palm. That was very well for the opening day, when the crowd was so dense that space was at a premium, but later he felt that it looked bare. So he put in a wooden pyramid, 8 ft. square at the base with five shelves, including top. He covered this with black crepe paper and arranged on it a simple line of aluminum ware. He finds that the sale of this has been increased 400 per cent by this method of display.

The Warren system of shelving is used, and the sections along the north side of the store are divided as follows:

The first is devoted to guns and ammunition; the second and third to carpenters' tools; the fourth and fifth to builders hardware. The stock is carried behind glass-covered display boards. The base sections of the shelving are composed of drawers of different sizes, numbered consecutively and used for various lines of stock. An index system enables the salesman to find any article readily.

On the south side of the store wall is the kitchen ware, in enamel, aluminum and tin. A total of 385 ft. of this is displayed.

An Interesting Paint Department

The paint section would interest hardware men. On the shelves are samples of all the kinds of paints and varnishes carried in stock, while above them, an 8 ft. glass case has an artistic arrangement of paint brushes. The paint room at the south end of the main floor has 114 bins, in which are arranged the different colors and grades. This stockroom, which is under the landing, has excellent daylight as well as electric light.

Among the convenient arrangements for handling merchandise on the first floor, three particularly interest the average customer, and are as follows:

1. The Eclipse revolving nail bin. This is composed of twenty-five compartments and holds a ton and a half of nails. A scale is hung by a chain from an adjustable arm, allowing the hopper of the scale to be placed in front of any of the nail bins. Thus the nails can be readily removed from bin to scale and from hopper to the final wrapper, without the salesman shifting his position.

2. The Mosher adjustable tool rack is admirably adapted to its purpose. Every tool can be easily seen. The rack is on casters and can be moved to any part of the store. It is easy, too, to keep the floor clean under the rack.

3. The arrangement for selling rope is unique. At least, this customer has never seen it before. Along the baseboard of the floor, beside the stairway, is a compartment 4 in. wide and 5 ft. long, with a hinged lid. Turning up this lid discloses ends of rope, the coils are in the basement just below, and these ends can be pulled up as wanted. This arrangement serves two purposes, perhaps three. It keeps the rope ends clean and gives a pels the tinsmith to walk several steps to get the sheets on his bench. There is no patent on this plan."

To return to the main floor again. At the rear, a broad stairway leads to a landing, flanked on each side by returning stairways to the second floor. The left side of this landing, or mezzanine floor, is used for office purposes. The manager's desk is placed close to the railing, so that he can see the entire main floor and be ready to go down, if necessary. A filing cabinet is a conspicuous feature of this portion of the landing. It was made by the Shaw-Walker Company for Mr. Allen, and holds 500 catalogs, with card index, for locating instantly any catalog. There are compartments in it, too, for invoices and correspondence.

The Rest Room

The east end of the mezzanine floor is devoted to the ladies' rest room, something new in hardware stores. Yet this is a greatly appreciated feature in a store which draws much of its patronage from the farming community about it. Mothers must bring their children with them on a long shopping trip, and they need the easy chairs of this retiring-room, which also contains a table, with writing materials and papers.

The second floor is used for displaying stoves, ranges and refrigerators, and is splendidly lighted, the front being entirely of glass, while windows in the back afford light from that end.

The basement is almost as attractive as the upper floors. In the northwest corner is the steam-heating plant. The arrangement of auxiliary stock down here is excellent and makes it possible for even a new salesman to find at once the article he is looking for. "Save time by order," seems to be the motto governing the arrangement.

The nail kegs are so placed that the sizes most used are nearest the elevator. Each size of nails is numbered on the beam above the row in which it stands. The same system is shown in the arrangements for the care of the wire stock, roofing and building paper. The prices of coal hods, hanging from the ceiling in another section, are marked plainly on the bottom in white chalk.

A large and substantial glass rack holds in its many compartments all sizes and grades of glass, with a cutting table under the prism light just at hand.

A screen-door rack covers a floor space of 16 in. This will hold, in an upright position, thirteen screen doors, for immediate display.

In one corner of the basement, Manager Allen has his own little workshop, partitioned off from the main room. Here he works out problems of window displays and assembling of stock, and in this den he feels he can do more work than in any other place in the store.

The ventilation is the Kirchen system, which changes the air throughout the building every hour. The heating, as has been indicated, is steam, and the electric lights are beautifully placed. An Otis elevator carries freight to the upper floors.

Oil Pumps Installed

One of the most notable features of the perfect equipment of this store, is the series of pumps installed for bringing oil up from the basement. A battery of five are located in the rear of the store, including one each for boiled and raw linseed oils, turpentine, kerosene oil and lubricating oil. For the convenience of the Autoist, a gasoline tank, and a tank for cylinder oil has been placed in front of the store.

The opening on March 1st, 1916 was attended by between 2000 and 3000 persons; this remember, was before the summer population came, and was made a social event by the management. Three popular women of the city did the honors of the feast, one made biscuits, another coffee, a third had charge of the serving. Not an inexpensive function as 125 lbs. of flour, 12lbs of butter, 9 lbs. of coffee, 18 lbs. of honey and 12 quarts of cream were consumed.

Demonstrations Popular

At the opening of the store, demonstrations of wire fences and ranges were in progress, and in the spring he showed separators in the window in an unique way. Two weeks in advance, he advertised that an honest-to-goodness cow would be in the front window Saturday afternoon, and not only that she would be milked and the milk put through the separator to show how it worked. No one else thought it could be done and lovers of a good joke were out in front, to give the manager what George Ade would call the "merry ha-ha," when bossy should refuse to enter the marts of trade.

But Bossy had no chance to protest. She was brought to the rear, through the alley, and the elevator lowered to the entrance, and then brought to the main floor. At the main floor elevator shaft, a cage, fitted with manger full of hay, and with casters on the bottom, was waiting for her, and into this she was pushed, and pulled, and then rolled into the window. She was a docile little Jersey, and accepted the situation gracefully, when she found resistence useless, so the demonstration was a great success, and those that came to scoff remained to buy.

The sales of 1917 were more than double those of the year before, and there seems no reason why the store should not increase in popularity.

Since the foregoing was written by one of the Charlevoix summer citizens, Mr. Allen has acquired a third interest in the Blanchard Hardware Co. and in other ways has thoroughly identified himself with the business life of Charlevoix.

Several departments have been added to the already comprehensive stocks carried by this store, notably ivory-ware including toilet articles, the better class of toys including a line of high class dolls, another department and of unusual importance to the home keeper being a complete line of electrical appliances with emphasis on the devices for lightning the drudgery of housekeeping, these devices comprise an electric grill, stoves, flat irons etc.

But by far the most appreciated innovation was the addition of the china ware department, Haviland, English, hand painted Nippon and American ware and several qualities in each grade are carried in full sets and open stock. Already a large local business has been developed in this line and shipments have been made this season to Kansas City, Nashville, Memphis, New Orleans and many out state points. These later shipments are noted for the reason that the selections were made by people of means and excellent taste, who reside in cities many many times the size of Charlevoix.

A Children's Story Hour

Charlevoix is very fortunate in having as Summer Visitors not only noted literatures, authors, lecturers and eminent divines, but also men and women prominent in practically every vocation in life.

It was through the kindly agency of one of the resorter friends of the Blanchard Hardware Co., or rather Mr. Allen that this city was favored with a "Peeps" day. "Peeps," as everybody in Charlevoix now knows is a fairy doll. She is the visible incarnation of a really truly fairy. The handiwork of Mrs. Jessie McCutcheon Raleigh, a sister of John T. McCutcheon the cartoonist.

Mrs. Nancy Cox-McCormack has written a pretty little fairy story about "Peeps" and asked Mrs. Raleigh to make the doll to visualize the fairy to the children.

"Peeps" is only one of the Raleigh dolls. All are beautiful and full of character. They are modeled by a sculptor from real children Their hair is put on just the way that real children's hair grows. They are not freaks, but human looking dolls, which invite their youthful parents to dress and undress them, to scold and pet them.

"Peeps" day was the formal "coming out" party day for "Peeps" and her sisters. On this day in Charlevoix Miss Herma N. Clark of Chicago read the story of Peeps to a delighted audience, composed of the mothers and little girls invited to the party held at the Blanchard Hardware Co's store. The audience was prepared to adopt the little "sunshine fairy" unanimously—but unfortunately there were not enough dolls to furnish each little girl present with a playmate fairy "Peeps" of her own.

More of the dolls are on their way to Charlevoix as fast as the express trains can bring them and many a little girl will be made glad by its arrival. "Peeps" day was the neatest bit of publicity ever secured by the Blanchard store.

Mrs. Raleigh is also the originator of the good fairy, a figure which is expected to bring good luck to its possessor simply because it brings out the best in him or her.

Mrs. Raleigh did not model the good fairy, but she explained her idea to Miss Josephine Kern an Art Institute Student, who put it into clay and now the little creature, whose hands are held out in a spirit of rapture giving is known everywhere.

Prizes for Fisherman

For the purpose of creating a friendly rivalry amongst the men who "go a fishing" this store annually offers prizes amounting to $50.00 For the largest brook trout, steel head, wall eyed pike, muscallonge, and bass respectively, the prizes in this class amount to $25. and in addition a sweepstakes prize is given for the best fish in any of the above classes.

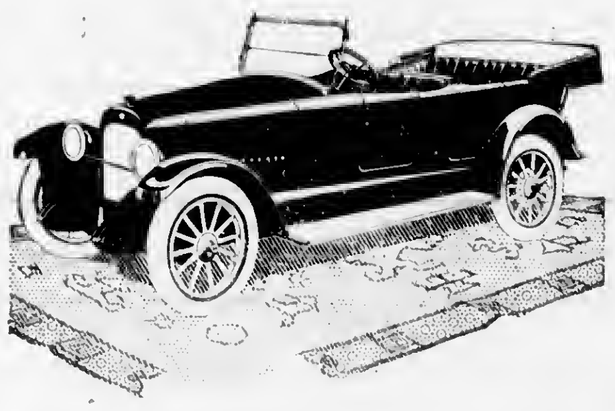
NASH SIX

PERFECTED VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTOR



Two important facts have been registered since the introduction of the NASH SIX.

FIRST—the buying public did expect Nash Motors to product a remarkable car.

SECOND—they have found in the NASH SIX a car that fully realized their expectations.

Probably no other car in the history of the industry has received a more remarkable welcome.

We are not very proud of our salesrooms this year, but we are proud of the Nash cars because we believe they are the best value for the money of any car on the market. Let us show them to you.

Service: First Charlevoix Enterprise

The Benjamin Brown Sales and Service Station

"I am in the service business for the purpose of selling automobiles and I believe I can best serve this purpose by giving the Auto user the best that money will buy in accessories as well as service."

But few firms in Charlevoix antedate the entry of Benj. Brown into the business life of Charlevoix. Eighteen years ago Charlevoix was a hamlet, small, but confident of its own future; today this belief in the future of Charlevoix has become an accomplished fact.

The business handled in the earlier years was harness and mens heavy clothing. These lines have been retained, but five years ago, after proper consideration of the subject Mr. Brown accepted an agency for the Overland Automobile.

The new line of business required enlarged quarters and the present building was erected. Not considering the storage quarters occupied with reserve parts on the second floor, the first floor space alone measures 98 by 132 feet. For convenience, proper display of various lines and efficient service this first floor is divided into seven departments.

The one feature that most impresses the casual observer of this splendidly organized business, is the system of perfect ventilation employed. No matter how many chaffeurs are tuning up their engines, there is an absence of the noxious exhaust gases that one has been wont to associate in his mind with the word garage.

In connection with this business a complete vulcanizing plant has been installed, being the only one of its kind in this section.

High grade cars are kept for rental, and expert drivers well acquainted with this section of the countryside are employed to handle them. Bicycles for sale and rental are also handled.

The auto tourist or the summer visitor to Charlevoix may store his car here with an assurance that it will have watchful care, as a practically day and night service is maintained.

A purposeful policy of handling only the best or the dependable qualities in every line of accessories, from spark plugs to auto tires, has built up a good will and a confidence in the business methods of this man that may be reckoned as a principle asset of any firm, as well as by this one.

"They who shall have the happiness some day to inhabit this pleasant and fertile country will remember their obligation to those who first showed them the way." --Father Hennepin, 1720

The same pure air and temperate climate, the same lakes, rivers and forests, fish and game, the same natural conditions; heritage of these noble pioneers is the good fortune of the possessors of this naturally favored land today.

Charlevoix County, formerly Reshkenko, its Indian designation, obtained its present name by petition, and legislative enactment, March 8th, 1843.

Father Charlevoix, the pioneer missionary after which this county was named, was the literary man of his time. While working with the zeal equal to any of the rest, he kept a record of all things worthy of note. He passed through this section of primeval Michigan in 1720, thence to the Mississippi and down to New Orleans.

Michigan was fortunate in its early pioneers and Charlevoix was doubly fortunate. The men who came here to wrest a home and a livehood from the wilderness were God-fearing, upstanding men of boundless and simple faith in the future of their adopted homeland. Its vistas of sparkling lakes, giant oaks, and grassy meadows, its rare and beautiful wild flowers to them was indeed a fairyland. Fruit grew wild and in abundance.

The Indians Had Fruit Orchards.

That Charlevoix County is the natural habitat of the apple, the plum, the cherry and many other varieties of fruit is borne out by the fact that, with even their limited knowledge of horticulture, the Indians of this region had their apple orchards and groves of plum trees which bore an abundant and rarely failing harvest, despite an absolute neglect of even casual cultivation. Indeed, the Michigan apple now known as the Surprise variety, was originally called the Squaw apple, the skin of this apple being a delicate yellow, and its fruit or flesh the color of a pink rose. The Indian plum was a large,luscious, yellow plum.

Because of its land-locked harbor, which offers a safe haven for the boats of the fisherman and the trader, Charlevoix had many itenerant inhabitants, but its real history as an orderly settlement begins with the day when Mr. John Dixon and his family arrived at the mouth of Pine River, where the city of Charlevoix is now situated, on the 11th day of May, 1855, in the little schooner Emmeline, which had been chartered to bring him and his party from Old Mission, the party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon and their three children, Mr. Wolcott, a prospective partner of Mr. Dixon, and Frank May, a young man whom they had employed to assist them.

The current of Pine River of those days was so rapid that the boat when headed could not be propelled against it, and the banks were so obstructed by overhanging trees, brushwood and fallen timber as to make towing impossible. Clearing the banks of the river to make towing possible, a landing was effected on the north shore, just about where the plant of the Charlevoix Lumber Co. now stands.

The persecutions and annoyances that this little band and of those who came to their assistance, at the hands of the Mormons, who attempted to dominate this fertile section, is one of the most tragic chapters of Michigan pioneer history.

After the expulsion of the Mormons from their stronghold on the Beaver Islands, the settlement of this county proceeded in an orderly and rapidly accelerated pace. Its first industry was the supplying from the forests of hardwood timber (that grew down to the borders of Pine Lake) fuel for the steam boats that plied Lake Michigan. The supply seemed inexhaustable then; mammoth oaks that in our day would be invaluable were sawed into cord wood lengths and used for steam boat fuel.

Following the pioneer came the husbandman—the farmer—who has found in the soil of this county a wealth never found in its forests.

The soil of this county is mostly that of a gravelly loam; in some parts clay lands are to be found. There is also muck land well suited to the growing of garden truck. In some sections are found lime stone deposits, the result of the decomposition of the fossil remains. This is an important element because it makes possible the furnishing of a necessary fertilizer at a minimum cost.

The farmer has learned that the oaks that were indigenious to this region will only grow to their full development on a strong soil, viz: one that is particularly favorable for the growing of farm crops with little fertilizer, the land does not have to be built up first to secure good crops. The hardwood forests which have stood for ages, have dropped their wealth of leaves and these have furnished a mold, which supplies the soil with the humus so necessary for its profitable cultivation.

A Bit of the Scenic Beauty on Old Pine River

Famous as a Summer Play Ground

Fully 100,000 acres of a fertile land as may be found anywhere in the world are available for cultivation in this county, and these lands may now be obtained under the most favorable conditions possible, both as to terms and the price at which they may now be purchased.

The days of pioneering hardships has passed. Charlevoix county is now a well ordered community. Its country schools are the Michigan Standard school, which Means the highest type of rural school and provides for a higher education without the hardship or inconvenience of sending the young folks away to school—and it seems almost unnecessary to state that in a county that has developed such a high type of citizenship, that churches of every denomination are easily accessible in every section of the county.

A Good Roads County

Nothing better illustrates the progressive spirit of Charlevoix than the splendid highways that have been built and are under construction in this county. These newly built highways will be permanently maintained, which will not only bring every farm in the county miles nearer town, in time saved, but will add thousands of dollars to the value of every farm in the county.

Charlevoix County's Executive Officers

From the first day the county was organized it has been favored with an efficient staff of county officers. Its present county officials prove an notable emphasis of that favoring condition. Sheriff Chas. Novak is now finishing a four year term as sheriff. Richard Lewis, as county clerk, has seen 12 years of county service, six of which he has served as county clerk. Geo. W. Weaver is now completing a term of four years as county treasurer, R. L. Lewis, an active exponent of good roads, is now completing a four year term as prosecuting attorney. M. A. McDonald, now finishing a two year term as Register of Deed, served the county for a long period of time as supervisor. Probate Judge S. A. Correll, now finishing a six year term as Judge, also served one or more terms as supervisor from Melrose township.

For Hauling Farm Products to Market

One man and a Maxwell Motor-Truck will equal the hauling power of two men and two teams. The extra man can hurry the load on the truck and do needed work while the truck makes the trip to market. The truck when idle is not eating it's head off.

The Maxwell Worm Gear Drive have already to its credit records of 100,000 miles of service and going as good as new.

The Maxwell Timken Worm Drive 1½ Ton Trucks are $500 under the market for equal equipment. We can make instant delivery now.

We have four used cars on the floor that will prove a splendid bargain for the early buyer.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

A Modern Institution

When you come to Charlevoix and look at this bank, located in the heart of its business section, with its foundations of solid concrete and its structure of granite, steel and marble, you are impressed with the stability of this institution.

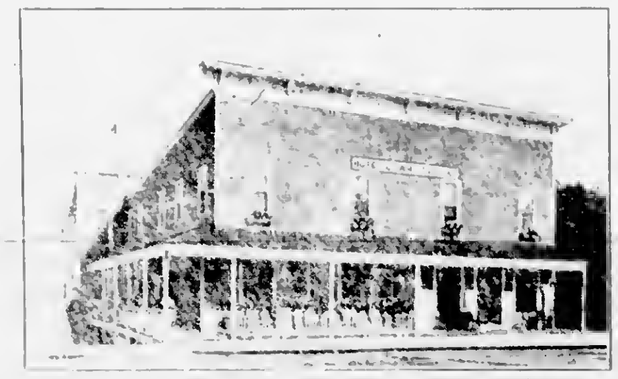
When you go into it's vault of steel and concrete, guarded by time locks and protected by a perfect electric burglar alarm system.

When you learn further that its floors are of reinforced concrete and the entire building is as fire-proof as any vault can be made you think that here is the last word in security. You are satisfied that your money is safe in this bank's keeping.

But the functions of this bank are not merely negative. It's objective from its beginning has been the encouragement of every worthy enterprise in the community it serves.

From the day it was organized in the year 1900, the personel of it's officers and stockholders have been such as would recognize the wisdom of adopting a broad policy of helpful public service. It has set aside institutational gains in the firm belief that the ultimate good for Charlevoix would re-act in its own advancement. The casual or regular patron alike receive every consideration, and every possible convenience is featured that make for conducting business pleasantly at this bank.

The present officers are: J. L. Crane, President; H. S. Harsha, Vice President; A. A. Swinton, Vice President; A. D. Crimmins, Cashier; Archie L. Livingston, Assistant Cashier.



HOTEL CHARLEVOIX.

A YEAR ROUND COMMERCIAL HOTEL

Rather unpretentious as to its exterior, but modern in its appointments, the Hotel Charlevoix furnishes the commercial traveler, the auto tourist and the resorter on the way to the resort hotels of this vicinity excellent accommodations. Located in the very center of the business section of the city and on the west shore of Round Lake, it offers the traveler a prospect of a cool summer night and refreshing rest. It has 40 well-appointed rooms, with steam heat for cool summer evenings. The hotel at present is under the management of H. P. Hansen.

LINDA VISTA COTTAGES

Situated on a High Terrace Overlooking Round Lake and Charlevoix

Cottage life with its freedom of restraint and the excellence of hotel accommodations is the happy combination that year after year lead the guests of former seasons to return to the Linda Vista. Located on the crest of a series of terraces seventy feet above Round Lake, at the foot of the second terrace, the Belvedere Boulevard leads to Pine Lake, a half mile away in one direction and in the other it leads into the center of Charlevoix, not more than five minutes easy walking distance away. The larger of the two cottages provide accommodations for fifty guests. In the smaller cottage at the left is located only the dining room and quarters for storing supplies, and the kitchen for cooking. Home cooking is the most appreciated of its popular features. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Saunders own and conduct the affairs of this attractive resort home.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 26. NUMBER 34. EIGHTEEN PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 21, 1918 PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

U. S. MAKING A WORLD RECORD

GREATEST IN TAX HISTORY; MANY TAXES DOUBLED

Luxuries Hit Hard, Incomas Must Pay. Joy Rider Assessed; Gasoline Taxed.

Washington—Within less than $500,000,000 of its $8,000,000,000 goal the new revenue bill rapidly is nearing completion. The house ways and means committee still has to decide the excess and war profit questions.

Some Taxes Doubled

Income taxes are in some cases doubled and in the case of intermediate incomes trebled in the bill as compared with the one passed by congress a year ago.

Exemptions of $1,000 for a single man, $2,000 for a married man, with $200 additional for each child under 18, stands.

The normal rate of the first $4,000 of taxable income is 5 per cent.

The new $8,000,000,000 revenue bill provides for taking more money than there is in circulntion in the United States.

Experts figure our maximum in circulation is $5,300,000,000.

The payment of these enormous taxes in one day would bankrupt the country temporarily, but this is avoided by providing for payment in installments.

After that the rate goes up to 10 per cent with the following schedule of taxes:

On portions of income between $5,000 and $7.500, 3 per cent; between $7,500 and $10,000, 6 per cent; between $10,000 and $15,000, 10 per cent; between $15,000 and $20,000, 15 per cent; between $20,000 and $30,000, 20 per cent; between $30,000 and $40,000 , 25 per cent; between $40,000 and $50,000, 30 per cent; between $50,00 and $60,000, 40 per cent; between $60,000 and $70,000, 45 per cent; between $70,000 and $80,000, 47 per cent; between $80,000 and $90,000, 48 per cent; between $90,000 and $100,000, 49 per cent, between $100,000 and $200,000, 50 per cent; between $200,00 and $300,000, 55 per cent; between $300,000 and $500,000, 60 per cent; between $500,000 nnd $1,000,000, 65 per cent; between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000, 70 per cent; over $5,000,000, 75 per cent.

Life insurance policies above $40,000 are included in the inheritance tax for the first time.

Luxuries Pay Heavily.

Next come luxuries taxes, hitting practically everything of everyday life except necessary minimums of food and clothing.

On articles, including jewelry, phonographs, pianos, electric fans, thermos bottles, tapestries, athletic goods, brass ornaments and paintings, regarded by the committee "as out and out" luxuries, a tax of 10 per cent is levied. Platinum jemelry is taxed 10 per cent extra.

On perfumes, cosmetics and practically all other toilet articles there is levied a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents in sale price or fraction thereof. The same tax applies to proprietary medicines.

On semi-luxuries the committee levied a 20 per cent tax on the sale price over a certain figure. A partial list of these follows:

Fiber carpets and rugs costing more than $5 a square yard, trunks over $50 and valises, traveling bags nnd other luggage over $25; men's and boy's sults exclusive of uniforms, $50; women's ready made cloaks and suits more than $40 and the same articles tailor made over $50; men's hats over $5 and caps over $2; all shoes over $10; men's and boys' silk stockings above $1; women's $2, and pajamas over $3.

The joyrider will have to pay his bit to Uncle Sam whether he travels on land or water.

Stenographars Wanted.

All ladies who registered for stenographie work and desire positions apply at once to Belle Roy, chairman of placement, East Jordan, Michigan. 34t2

CAPTAIN J. N. EMORY STRICKEN ON STREET

Paralysis Stroke Overcomas Noted Charlevoix Citizen

Monday morning about 9:30, without the slightest warning, while talking to a party of friends, Captain J. N. Emory was suddenly stricken by paralysis in front of the Captain Rose barber shop on Bridge Street.

He was removed by friends to his cottage on Round Lake and Dr. King when summoned to his bedside, found a complete paralysis of one side of the body.

Emerald Emory, son of the Captain, living in Detroit was communicated with at once and will arrive in Charlevoix today, (Thursday.)

The Captain has been a resident of Charluevoix for 17 years. He was reported as resting easily when this paper went to press and with some hopes for an ultimate recovery to partial health at least.

Resigned and Re-appointed

Ira A. Adams has resigned as chairman of the Charlevoix County War Board, but he was not long out of office, his local friends securing his appointment as Chairman of the Liberty Loan Committe.

SEN. J. S. WOOD AS A CANOIDATE

KINDERGARTEN CLASS CONGRESSMAN NOT WANTED

Remaking a National Reputation Requires Men Qualified For Task.

Our Uncle Sam is a mighty busy man just now. He is fighting for you and for me and your children and my children. He has his hands full, and its the job of the American people to send home and keep home the fellows who are trying to, or by their incompetence, are accomplishing the same result, of bedeviling him down nt Washington.

Besides carrying on the greatest war program ever nttempted by any nation, one that not only comprehends our own future, but the welfare of the nations over the seas.

Senator Wood is the type of man whom we believe would fight any thing suggestive of made in Germany legislation, or law making tactics, and of an acumen that, judging from his past legislative record will enable him to spot any legislation that favors the Hun directly or by omission.

This is a time when as a nation we must put the best man available on every job. Our boys that are going over seas are the best soldiers in the world, as the crack Potsdam guards have learned to their discomfiture and loss. They are type A. Its our duty to send to congress men of a like stamp, and give a deferred classification to the first class second rate congressman.

This is the time when defeat awaits the timorous legislator. The man who places what he thinks is political wisdom above patriotism. and the man who thinks it good politics to stand in with the politicians of his district instead of the people who comprise it.

We believe that Senator Wood will be found "present and voting" every day that congress is in session if we should send him to Washington as a member of that body.

I. W. W. MEMBERS FOUND GUILTY

INTERFERING WITH RIGHTS OF AMERICAN CITIZENS

Haywood and Associates Face a Penalty of a 20 Year Term In Prison and $10,000 Fine

A fitting and much to be desired quietus has been placed upon the attempt of the Haywood gand operating under the title of the I. W. W. to terrorise the farmers und mine operators of the west.

Everyone of the 100 defendents charged with sabotage and sedition in the famous I. W. W. trial before Judge K. M. Landis in the federal court was found 'guilty as charged" after an hour's deliberation by the jury saturday.

The maximum punisbment is five years' imprisonment on each of four counts, or a possible 20 years and $10,000 fine for 'Big Bill' Haywood and each of the other 99 I. W. W. membera on trial with him.

Judge Landis withdrew one count of the indctment which charged a conspiracy to violate the postal laws and submitted the case on the other four.

These specifically charge violation of the espionage act, the section of the crimnal code interfering with the civil rights of cltizens the selective service act and the conspiracy statute.

While both the government and counsel for defendants characterized Judge Landis's instructions to the jury as concise and fair, the defendents were clearly taken back by the promptness with which the jury returned its verdict. Haywood told newspaper men that he expected a "hung jury" in some of the cases.

GIRLS REGISTER AS WAR NURSES

Fifteen Charlevoix County. Girls Volunteer Their Services

Charlevoix County girls to the number of fiftcen have registered as willing to do nursing, three of these are to enter hospitals in September next, and six have filed applications.

Several have been unable to meet requirements as to age and education. Many object to the two or three years training, not wanting to follow the profession after the war, saying they would go if needed right away overseas or after a six weeks intensive training, forgetting that the boys who enlist and sacrifice so much, must be trained before they are soldiers, and will not be soldiers after the war.

The call of the government for student nurses is still open. As many more volunteers from this county will be required to fill the county's quota.

CHILDREN DELIGHTED WITH "PEEPS" PARTY

Blanchard Hardware Company Entertain Their Young Friends

Sixty Charlevoix and visiting children chaperoned by their mothers and nurses attended the "Peeps" party arranged for their entertainment by the Blanchard Hardware Company.

The party was one of surprises and delightful experiences for the children, the reading of the story of the "Sunshine Fairy" by Miss Herma N. Clark of Chicago, and the unexpected appearance of "Peeps" proved to be the most appreciated featurea.

PRIVATE SMITH TO TALK AT INN

TUESDAY EVENING AUG 27th. DATE ANNOUNCED

An American Boy; Gassed; Lost a Limb; Will Tell His War Story

W. G. Smith, an American with the tales of a ravished and outraged Belgium ringing in his ears. While still a boy in his teens, he left tbe school he had been attending inChicago, went to Windsor, Ont. and enlisted, through a clever subterfuge with the 4th Canadian Rifles, being under the military age for enlistment. Was gassed and lost a limb in successive engagement with the Germans.

A happy go lucky chap, he is now earning an honest living by doing any odd jobs that he is capable of handling, and is now operating a shoe shining stand in front of Captain Rose's barber shop. His story is an interesting and intimate one of war life in the trenches and war camps over seas and this will be the only opportunity that the people of this section will have to hear him as his plans are for leaving Charlevoix the latter part of next week.

Of the 1100 American and Canadian boys that went over with Private Smith but thirty of them are alive today.

The Y. M. C. A. will profit through this lecture.

Congregational Church

Rev. George A. Butterick of Quincy, Ill. will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church next Sunday morning at 10:40 o'clock. Rev Butterick is a young minister whose unusual gifts of mind and heart give promise of a great usefullness in the ministry of the gospel. The public is cordially invited.

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, invites you to attend a lecture by Wm. D. Kilpatrick, C. S., at Van Pelt Hall, Friday evening, August 23, at 8:00 o'clock. 33t2

RESORT HOTELS WELL FILLED

LOCAL CONDITIONS REPORTED VERY FAVORABLE.

Fewer Young Folks Here This Saason Due to War—War Benevolence Activities.

According to the reports from the managera and judging from the number of guests in evidence at the three larger hotels the number of arrivals, and guests for the season is now greater than that of last yesr.

The Inn, The Beach and the Belvedere have more than their usual quota of guests at this season of the year and large numbers have expreased their Intention of staying later than usual.

The cottages at the Inn and the since early in the season, and at the Belvedere where the number of cottages is greater, the cottages are nearly all occupied.

Not so many young folks are in evidence as ususl, and much of the gaiety of other seasons are lacking, and the fact that the number of resorters here is greater is due in a measure to the fact that, in many families, who only come occasionally, have come this season and are staying longer, because the homes from which the Sons have gone to War is now a lonesome place without them.

The social life of the city has taken on a much quiter tone this season, the gatherings of a social nature being tinged with a war time spirit and as a rule some war benevolence is the occasion for the party when one is held, notably the tuesday meetings of the members of the Chicago Chapter of the Red Cross and their freinds at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Loeb.

The Charlevoix ladies who usually entertain are now all active in some phase of the war work. Altogether it may be said that the sobering effects of the war has extended so fnr as to influence our recreations as well as the daily life of the American people.

The retail stores report much the same volume of business as in other seasons, but the character of the purchases are changed. The older folks and the younger ones are buying more of the essentials and of gift articles to he sent to a soldier in some camp in America or to Some Where in Camp or in the trenches overseas.

BANKS REPORT A GAIN IN DEPOSITS

Charlevoix Banks Show Net Increase of 25 Per Cent

According to reports received from the Charlevoix County Bank nd the State Savings Bank, their combined rescources show a sum of approximately $775.000 and both also report a gain in deposits equaling twenty1five per cent. This would indicate that the confidence of the people of Charlevoix and Charlevoix County in the outlook for the future,is all the more noteworthy in view of the fact the Charlevoix County over aubscribed the last Liberty Loan Bond issue by $87,000.

Farm crops look very promising in this section and it is believed are above tbe average for the state, and while the young men are continually going on the draft ealls, their places are being taken either by older men or by improved farming methods including the greater use of labor-saving machinery in many instances.

CELEBRATES THEIR SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Gennet Surprised By Friends

Friday August 16th, Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Gennett were reminded of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary by thirty of their friends from Charlevoix and Central Lake. Luncheon was served at six thirty and while seated at the table they were presented with a silver casserole. The evening was spent by living over by gone days. Miss Bernice Crandell rendered several piano selections, singing by Mrs. Reed Gennett, both of which was greatly enjoyed by all. Surprise does not express it for Plenny forgot his French entirely.

The Shopping Center of Charlevoix

THE EYES SHOULD HAVE EXPERT ATTENTION

Careless fitting may inadvertently injure instead of improving the eyes that need the attention of an Optometrist.

The Charlevoix citizen and the resorter alike appreciate the prompt service and accurate adjustment assured when this vitally important work is undertaken by Fred A. Bellinger, Optometrist.

Mr. Bellinger brings fourteen years of experience as a workman to bear on the subject of which he is also a graduate of the Chicago and Detroit colleges of Optometry.

In addition to his reputation as an optometrist Mr. Bellinger has acquired a fairly earned reputation as a more than ordinary competent watch repairer, each branch of the work co-ordinating with each other and requiring the same nice accurate adjustments. Watches that require the most delicate adjustment are brought to this shop for the necessary repairs or adjustment that they may require and many of the resorters wait until they reach Charlevoix for the annual cleaning that they have been accustomed to give their valuable time pieces.

This store carries a complete Jewelry and Clock line and cut glass of the better grades and everything in the optical line.

FRED G. BELLINGER

This store is located conveniently in the center of the shopping district of the city and on Bridge Street opposite the Hotel Charlevoix.

The Home of Good Dry Goods and House Furnishings

Building a Business on Quality of Goods and Service

Eighteen years of merchandising experience is reflected in the present stocks, equipment and business methods of this store. Thrift items dominate every section, which in shopping terms mean that real savings can be effected in the purchase of needed goods. It is a store in which the nimble sixpence still has retained its power to purchase its full values worth, despite advancing war prices, and where every possible provision is made for shopping comfortably and economically.

Occupying the greater part of three floors with entrances on both Bridge and Clinton Streets, the departments are arranged for convenient shopping. All of the main floor except an ell facing Clinton Street is occupied by the dry goods stock which contains every item which may properly be included in a stock of this nature. The ell on the main floor is occupied by the mens department, including mens furnishings and clothing. The second floor is pleasantly lighted and on this floor is located a large department given over to the sale and display of ladies ready-to-wear garments. On this floor is also located the Rug department comcomprosing, room size and place rugs also the small rugs that are washable. The larger rugs being the product of the leading American looms. Draperies and curtains complete the stocks carried on this floor

Blankets, pillows, comforts and Voudor porch shades occupy an important place in the basement store room. This basement is thoroughly ventilated and well lighted by both day and electric light. In this basement storeroom are also shown the linoleums, both in yardage and the rug patterns, so largely used now in many homes.

Selling goods to the same patrons season after season has resulted in the establishment of a out of state trade. Many resorters from the larger cities make it a point to purchase here for personal or home use before going home the things that they will need in the larger city, because even with the cost of shipping added they believe they are effecting a real saving.

The owner and manager of this store, Mr. J. L. Crane, has been active for many years in the civic improvement work of the city of Charlevoix.

McCANN BAKERY A QUALITY FIRST BAKE SHOP

Baked Goods to Order On Short Notice

Wholesome appetite - tempting baked goods is the product of this modern bake shop, but it's popularity with the resorters is to a very great degree due to its special order department.

Macaroons, made in any shape, or any other baked delicacy that the hostess who is serving an afternoon tea or luncheon may desire is furnished on short notice, promptly and of a delicious quality.

Cakes and pastry from this shop to order, or from the regular everyday baking are always good. The bread list includes: Rye graham, barley, victory loaves, French loaves, sandwich loaves, and of any, shape or size, which may be ordered, with an assurance that the loaves delivered will be toothsome.

The practical housekeeper in the summer season now orders her bread cakes and pastry from McCann's.

A Modern Merchant Tailor; F. E. Cartier

When the Courier man called he said:

"To the man who looks solely at the price per garment we have nothing to offer. The economy that we offer is in the extra service that all wool fabrics give. Such cloths wear so much longer and look so much better, that even at their slightly higher price cost, they are really less expensive, from the point of longer satisfactory usage."

"Our customers' personal appearance is what we make it and in our estimation it cannot be too good."

"To insure the utmost in satisfaction service we have installed a strictly modern, sanitary system of cleaning and pressing clothing, designed to keep the suit we make you looking as good as new during its long wearing life time." The Cartier Tailoring Shop is located just north of the Hotel Charlevoix. On Bridge Street.

An Oriental Bazaar at Charlevoix.

Exhibit of Oriental Rugs 80 to 400 Years Old

The odd, the unusual, the bizarre and the beautiful, gathered from the far away orient are grouped against a truly oriental background in a Charlevoix storeroom located next to the channel that forms the outlet from Pine Lake to Lake Michigan beyond. In this room are displayed the treasures of the East; Rugs from Persia, Egypt, and historic Babylon, the age of the youngest is eighty years old the oldest is fully four centuries old.

The rug exhibit consists in part of a collection acquired by the owners in 1861 and which were awarded a gold and silver medal at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904, because of the rare colors so skilfully woven into their texture centuries ago.

Representative in Legislature

A resident of Charlevoix for 36 years. Has held many positions of public trust. Three terms as mayor of the City of Charlevoix. Eight years service in responsible positions for the state of Michigan. In all of this work he has made good and satisfied the people in every instance. Has personal knowledge of conditions in practically every county in this state and understands the needs of Charlevoix county in matters of legislation. He stands for honesty, thoroughness, economy and progress and asks the voters of this county to have a care for their own best interests in the selection of the man who is to represent them during the next two years. Personal ambitions of any candidate must give way to the public good. Mr. Rose is a candidate at this time because he believes and KNOWS that he can be of service to his county and accomplish something for the good of the residents and tax payers.

Your support is respectfully requested and investigation invited. 33t2

Political Announcement

I wish to announce that I am a REPUBLICAN candidate for the nomination of COUNTY CLERK at the August Primary.

As Sheriff of Charlevoix county for the past four years, I am familiar with court proceedings and the work in the Clerk's office.

I am chairman of the United States local draft board which pays the members a nominal sum for their services. I trust that my record as a public official will merit the support of the Republican voters.

If nominated and elected, I will give the position my best attention.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES NOVAK.

Lacquer and inlaid teakwood plaques, trays, tabourettes and innumerable bits of this beautiful handiwork is displayed. Hand wrought jewelry from Egypt, rings with settings rare, but inexpensive, because of the wealth of man power existing in that country when the painstaking work of fashioning them was performend.

A. Salem Mussellam the proprietor also maintains a like business in St. Augustine, Fla.; alternating tho conduct of the two places as the season ehange. To escape the inevitable loss through breakage from reshipment of such a large stock, The chinaware stock of each season is disposed of at the original purchase priee or even below it.

This season because of over purchases of linen pieces, it has been decided to close out the linen stock, including many beautiful pieces, at the eost of the weaving. The linen stock being placed on aale with the revised prices marked on them at the game time that the chinawaro stock will be disposed of. In the chinaware stock to be aold at a sacrifice of all profit, are included, tea sets, vases, chocolate sets, plates and cups and saucers.

Charlevoix folks have alwaya patronized this distributor of articles for beautifying the home nnd will no doubt share in the savings to be effected by this end of the season sale of linen and chinaware.

The Dry-Goods Section of A Modern Department Store.

A. B. Mason Handles Nationally Advertised Lines.

The aid of the specialist trained in providing for the many and varied requirements of the wardrobe of the well-gowned woman has been drafted into the service of this department. Only lines that bear the stamp of approval by the arbiters of the correct in vogue and the worthy in merchandising terms are permitted a place in this stock.

In every line of business there is some particular line in which unusual excellence have been acquired, in this instance the depnrtments are nicely balanced, but if unusual completeness, in variety and quality of assortment carried, can be claimed by any, it is the corset stock. Dressmakers and tailors say the corset is the foundation for all good dressing. Assuming that this is literally true, the Bon-Ton, Royal Worcester, and Justrite corsets carried in a complete range of models, furnish a correct corset model for every type of figure. And justify this store's claim of leadership in this line.

Art Needlework furnishes a pleasant diversion to those not inclined to more active forms of reereation and for those this atore furnishes complete Royal Society package outfits or any of the material for work which is already under way.

Black Cat hosiery for the "whole family," Puritan knit underwear for ladies and children. Muslin underwear which is american in makinf, but with a fineness in texture and fashioning closely approaching the needlework of France, comprise three of the lines strictly essential for comfort.

Shimmering silks are carried in a range of qualities, widths, shades and patterns usually found only in the stores of the largest eities. In the dry gooda stoek ean be found the all-wool fabrics of the noted Jamestown Mills, in widtha, weavea and patterns for suits, dresses and coats.

The dry gooda section is so located that it may be entered from the main floor of the store or directly from the street, but it is eompletely seperated from the main body of the store, furnishing a reasonable and desired measure of privacy for the shopper. The storo is located at the eorner of Bridge and Mason Streets.

A Day-Light Dry-Goods Store

An Old Established Store Doing a Successful Business; M. A. Levinson, Owner.

What'a up-to-date today is antedate tomorrow and so it has been with the old atylo dry goods merchant at least so far as the City of Charlevoix is concerned. The merchant who carried a little of everything and not a eomplete stock of any single line is now only a memory in the history of merchandising in this community.

This store is a notable example of the newer business methods now in vogue. Take knitting yarns for a simple instance; this store stocks such brands as Good Shepard, Minerva, Utopia and Fleishers yarns, each carried in complete assortments of weights and colors.

The ladies sweater line comprise, both silk and wool garments, slip-on and button styles, in light and heavy weights and in a full range of color effects.

Ladies hosiers, both in eotton and silk are earried in colors to match any costume shade. The ladies waist stock is as comprehensive as may be found in any big city store —including cleverly fashioned waists in silks, crepe-de-chene and Georgette crepe, ench in a good assortment as to sizes and colors.

The cretons are carried in a quantity suggestive of a metropolitan patronage,containing many patterns that are just having their first showing, in the larger city stores. The ladies wash skirts and petticonts stocks nre unusually complete. The men's lines handled are, furnishing goods and suits, the latter are carried in the Hart Schaffner and Marx line only.

This is a store who's policy, long before it had become the slogan of a famous hotel manager, "The customer is always right." Exchanges are made at this store without question, and the subject of offering an inferior substitute is never permitted. Indeed it may in all fairness be said that there are few stores in Ameriea in which the interest of the eustomer is so carefully safeguarded, or one in which their tastes are more intelligently consulted. This store is located right next to the post office on Bridge St.

CHARLEVOIX HAROWARE CO. FOUNOED IN 1871

Still Building A Reputation On Quality and Service.

Specializing in Implements of the Sportsmen and the Hunter and Fisherman.

The business organized nearly a half century ago, today is a progresshive metropolitan store as to its stocks and its service.

Ouly the good or the dependable grade of goods are permitted a place in the stock rooms of thia store, and the goods are sold on a fair profit basis.

The main business of the store is based upon a hardware stock complete in every detail including a complete stock of builders hardware, and to this line has been added elosely allied specialty lines, eare being taken in each instance to select a leader in its elass.

Sure Edge cutlery including carving and pocket knives and Heath and Milligan paints require no introduction to the American people, they have an established quality reputation and are representatives of the lines handled by this store.

Monarch ranges made of malleable iron, the range that requires no blacking and will not rust inside is another of the standard lines earried by thia store.

And so it goes down the entire gaumut of the linea handled, but of the utmost importanee to the housekeeper is the kitchenware stoek. In this line the Standard acid proof enameled ware, triple coated and guaranteed against imperfection in coating is earried in stock including every useful or needed cooking utensil.

For the Sportsman: the winchester or Amerlean shotguns stock permits of a choice of a quiek sure-shooting sporting firearm. Rifles are carried in the aame brand.

Fishing tackle, rods,reels, and artificial baits are carried in every line that have won the approval of experienced fisherman, and these too like the other stocks carried by this store are sold on the fair profit basis.

Plant Rebuilding Auto Tires Operatating Successfully.

Tire Expense to Auto Owner Reduced 40 to 50 Per Cent.

The H. R. Fox Auto Tire plant located at 303 Antrim Street has been operating at a steadily increasing pace since it was placed in operation weeks ago. Mr. Fox knowa tires as no other man can, exeept the tire making expert. Before organizing this business Mr. Fox determined to find out all about tires from the insideout as well as the outside in. Going at the matter in a thorough going way, he went to headquarters first, the factory end, taking first a course of study at the Goodyear Repair school at Akron, Ohio. Finishing there, he completed a post graduate course of tire study at the Silvertown Cord plant, one of the factories in which the B. F. Goodrich Co. make their highest grade tires. From there he went to the Goodyear and Kelly Springfield plants, where as a workman and a student he learned the tire building methods in operation at both these plants. When he determined to atart a plant of his own he choose Charlevoix for its loeation. He ereeted a fire proof building in the rear of lot 303 on Antrim St. and installed the most efficient equipment known to the auto tire making trade. The Akron Williams system proving to be the one adopted, including a complete equipment for aectional repairing and rebuilding tires.

As at present the plan of operation consists of the purchase of factory adjustment tires and tires from the Auto owner that are worthy of rebuilding." These tires are then rebuilt completely including new linings, breaker strip, when needed new side walls and retreaded, producing a tire that as a rule will give a mileage equal to a new factory tire. The tires so rebuilt are sold to the Auto owner at a cost of only 40 to 50 per cent of the price of a new tire, which may in a measure account for the rapidly growing business of this new firm.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT OF CHARLEVOIX

The mental attitude of a people is reacted upon and influenced by their surroundings to a much greater degree than is generally real- and a desire for attractive surroundings, instead of the uncouth ugliness of the aversge city, is a great asset. the one is stimulating in its effect, the other depressing and deadly to either civic improvement or commercial growth.

Fortunately Charlevoix is free from many of the consepuences of undirected industrial developement, it has many admirable features, but much work yet remains to be done. What it's future will be rests to a very large degree with the present generation.

We in Charlevoix are proud of our yesterdays, of our achievements, but there is plenty of civic history yet to be made. It remains with us to demonstrate the fact that we are capable of taking our place in the process of forwarding the commercial and civic developement of the great Michigan Northland.

The civic effort of the future should tend toward a perpetuation of the advantages already gained, a practical and comprehensive survey for the future developement of the city with this end in view should be undertaken. With a citizenship keenly alive to the advantages that have already accrued to this city because of it's natural and acquired attractiveness, ways and means will be found for the developement and perpetuation of the objective to be reached.

Splendid city well deserving the loyalty of it's citizens at home, well deserving of new friends from outside, let us folks at home strive to make our city deserving of the fine civic loyalty of our Summer Citizens, let us plan and work for a "more" Beautiful Charlevoix.

With those things in mind the Charlevoix Courier submits this it's initial Summer Resort issue to its readers.

CHOOSING A CONGRESSMAN

It is difficult for the average citizen to consider the actions of some of the present members of congress dispassionately in view of the present needs of the government requiring prompt and decisive action.

To give to the people of this community an intimate picture of the condition as it exists it is only necessary to say that through the whole hearted co-operation of our Allies we have been able even if tardily to place an army in France of suffieient numbers to effectually stop the German raid on civilization.

Now that the success of the Allies have through the masterful tactics of the Allied chief and the splendid work of our boys have gained what is an apparent tactical advantage, the government is disposed to press home that advantage to the limit at which it can be effectually done without unnecessary casualties, to realize this objective it is necessary to mobolize as soon as possible the entire man power of America.

The obstructionists to the speedy adoption of the program proposed may be patriotic in their intentions, but by their actions they have shown that they are hopelessy out of touch with the sentiment of the American people.

Not to develope the full resecources of manhood for war purposes is a hideous injustice to the men who have gone over expecting that those at home would carry on as are doing, but it is an equal and flagrant neglect of our duties as Americans if we permit the return to congress of a single member who does not measure up to the needs and duties of the hour.

At this time more than ever the people of America needs exercise the utmost care in the selection of the men who are to represent them in the administration of our National affairs, we must not only be assured that the man selected is of a type representative of the best thought and inspirations of the people as a whole, but he must be qualified by training and mental equipment to lend a hand in the speedy enactment of necessary legislation to prosecute the war.

Never before in the history of our nation was the need greater for men of the highest calibre needed in our national legislature because it may in all fairness be said that the questions to be dealt with not only concern ourselves as a nation, but they concern the whole world.

The disposition is to give the recalcitrant members and their acts the specific description warranted. However we have every two years an opportunity to put and end to, the pernicious activity the egotistical obstreperous member who is more interested in furthering his own political fortunes, than in serving the interests of the people who's interests he was elected to represent.

Let us hope that the American people will not be found lacking now in the characteristics attributed to them by the immortal Lincoln Viz: " They will do, the right thing in the right way once they have seen the way."

A COUNTY OF MANY CROPS

Charlevoix county is not a one crop county, it is one in which diversified farming pays well. It's fruit has a flavor that commands the highest market prices. Potatoes grown on it's gravel-loam soil are always in demand by the American hotels which cater to a high class elienteile. It's dairy herds produce the highest per cent of butter fat from its lush meadow grazing lands. And with all of these favoring conditions, it is a section where climatic conditions favor the farmer. it's many lakes and rivers render the risk of loss through unseasonable frosts unlikely.

GERMANY BEATEN

Potsdam reiterates it's wail that this war was forced on Germany. Whether or not it was at first, it's going to be forced on Germany now. Fetch your boasted shock troops Fritz—they're going to get shocked, as sure as they'r horn. We have always had the enemy outnumbered. Now we have them outmanned, outfed, outhorsed, outguessed, and outgunned. We're going to whip him. Don't let there be any doubt about that on either side of the Atlantic.

THE MILLS ARE GRIDING OVERTIME

Somebody said, somewhere, at one time that, "The Mills of Gods Grind Slowly," now in war times they seem to be working overtime; the incompetent;The inefficient and the deliberate obstructors of our fight to make the world a decent place to live in, have every reason to expect and will receive a speedy accounting.

MICHIGAN PRIMARY

Michigan has an important primary election approaching, a primary which may be more important than the election. It deserves consideration. A Citizen slacker in domestic politics, is a menace to our free American institutions.

We need red blooded two fisted upstanding American boys in our American Army—but no less do we now need congressman of the same type. Senator Wood measures up to these specifications.

We are for Senator Wood as a candidate for Congressman on his record as an honest, straight from the shoulder American.

PRESS COMMENTS

From the 11th District and State On Sen. Wood's Candidacy

Honest in his convictions and ever ready to fight for them. A lawyer of ability, one who since this country has entered the war has given his time and his means in furtherance of it's ends; giving his support to the administration in this hour of our country's danger—St Ignace Enterprise

In the choice of candidates for the 11th congressional district it would appear that Senator James C. Wood has entirely the best of it.—Marquette Mining Journal.

James, C. Wood, is a lawyer serving his first term in the Michigan legislature. He has won in the senate a position of trust and confidence second to none. Wood scans every bill closely to see if there are any flaws in the proposed measures. He sat up several nights until the wee hours of the morning studying and getting into shape proposed amendments to the election laws. He is usually in his seat when matters of legislation are up for consideration and his advice and knowledge have proven of worth to the session.—Detroit News.

Senator Wood does not try to get by on his appearance alone. He is an ablo legislator, a hard worker on committees and a close student of governmental affairs.—Detroit Free Press.

No man worked harder, more systematically or more concienciously than Mr. Wood. He studied every bill that came before him, found its weakness and knew its strength, found the joker if there really was one, and formed the shrewdest idea of its real value.—Grand Rapids Herald.

We are the government in a democracy, and if we make mistakes in the election of our representatives, we must suffer the consequences. Therefore we should exercise all the care possible in selecting our Representatives.

Knowing our needs and feeling the danger that might result from an error, the Republican is convinced that Senator James C. Wood is the man we should send to congress from this district. Harbor Springs Republican.

CHEBOYGAN'S CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

HERBERT F. BAKER

Herbert F. Baker of Cheboygan County has filed his petition as candidate for state senator from the 29th. district.

Mr. Baker was a member of the legislature for the sessions of 1907-1909, 1911. It is a noticeable fact that he is the only farmer to occupy that position since the session of 1879, a period of 40 yenrs.

Mr. Baker's friends challenge a a close inspection of his legislative record.

He appeals to the voters of this Senatorial district not only upon his record of performance in the legislature, but upon the following propositions ns his platform.

Place entire resources of stute at disposal of the U. S. Government to the end that peace with complete victory may come at earliest possible date.

Stars for those making sacrifices for their country and stripes for grafters, theives and profiteers.

Prompt attention to the great problems of re-construction to follow the war, recognizing the principle that man is more important than Money.

In the light of her war sacrifices and nccomplishments, justice to women should no longer be denied und our candidate's vote is pledged to extend the franchise to her.

Michigan has spoken in no uncertain tone on the subject of prohibition und if nominated and elected his vote will be cust for National Dry amendment.

In accordance with his past records, steadfast insistence upon efficiency and economy in every department of the state government is assured.

The Republicans of Cheboygnn County are united in presenting him to the party of the district as a candidate for senator and respectfully solicit for him the support at the primaries of the republicans of the district.

C. S. REILLY,
Chairman Republican County Committee.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

At the Primary Election to be held August 27th, 1918 the voters of Charlevoix County will nominate the men they wish to conduct the business of the County for the next two years; one of the most important offices to be filled is that of Sherriff.

It is essential, especially at this time, thnt this officer should be a man in whom the voters have confidence that he will administer the affairs of the office with fairness and impartiality and with a strict compliance with the law.

I am u candidate for this office. In asking your support nnd vote I do so because I am personally known to most of you and received such splendid support from you when elected County Treasurer four years ago. My record is known to you all. I have served you to the best of my abilily and I think with satisfnction to the voters.

If nominated and elected Sherriff, I shall endeavor to perform the duties of that office to your entire satisfaction.

Your vote and interest will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE W. WEAVER

Announcement

To the Electors of Charlevoix County:

I will be a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds for second term. If my work for the past two years has been satisfactory I would appreciate your support at the primary election held August 27, 1918.

Red Cross Notes

The following articles were shipped from the Red Cross room on August 16th:

18 canton flannel bed shirts, 32 twilled flannel bed shirts, 57 outing flannel pajamas, (our quota of county work), 9 gingham pajamas, 30 many tailed bandages, 10 oakum pads, 2350 8x10 compressers, 24 comfort pillows, 134 pin balls, 3 knitted afghans, 9 outing afghans, 27 property bags, 56 camp books, 3 Kipling books, and 50 pneumonia jackets.

A pedigreed shetland pony has been donated by Mrs. A. T. Stewart of the Chicago club and will be raffled for the benefit of the Red Cross. The tickets sell for 25c apiece. Two hundred have already been sold. The donors this week are Mr. Leon Taylor and the boys golf club.

Orchadists Should Fight Fire Blight

East Lansing.—Reports coming to plant pathologists of M. A. C. from orchardists in many of Michigan's fruit growing sections indicate a serious infection of orchards this season by fire blight. This is a bacterial disease which attacks fruit trees.

"This fire blight as it is known, lives over the winter in so-called holdover cankers," declares Dr. G. H. Coons of the department of botany of M. A. C. "These cankers are nbe found at the base of withered, blighted and blackened twigs.

"If these disease cankers are destroyed the problem of handling the blight next spring will be much simplified."

EVIDENCE FOR CHARLEVOIX PEOPLE

The Statements of Charlevoix Residents are Surely More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers

Home testimony is real proof. Public statements of Charlevoix people carry real weight.

What a friend or neighbor says compels respect.

The word of one whose home is far away invites your doubts.

Here's a Charlevoix womans' statement:

And it's for Charlevoix people's benefit.

Such evidence is convincing.

That's the kind of proof that backs Doan's Kidney iPills.

Mrs. Morris Ackert, 1101 Bridge St., says: "About two years ago I was troubled with my back and kidneys. My back became weak and lame, causing my housework to be a burden especially if I had to stoop over. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family with good results so I tried them. Doan's soon relieved me and before long they rid me of all the annoyances."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ackert had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs, Buffalo, N. Y.

My Home Town

(Written by a Charlevoix girl when away at school. Ed.)

In a happy mood, Nature has so generously set forth her exquisite appointments, as to forever distinguish a certain little town for a summer retreat. To a beautiful French name, enthusiasts have added a non-de-plume, "The Beautiful."

Like a sacred health god, a small lake lies in the midst and is the nucles about whose protecting supremacy, the tiny fishing shacks group themselves confidingly. Higher up and uway from the banks, where life is independent in a measure of lake manipulations dwell those who barter day by day across the country and hand in hund with nature these have wrought well both in architecture and gurdening. All this with ouly one other desire than to please themselves and that, to invite and beckon the summer resorter and to usk "Does the Stranger Respond?" I must add, he does, and magnificently.

As tho' one jewel were not enough for so rich a setting, a short channel leads out from the small lake on either hund to a body of water larger and more alluring. The one on the right is bounded by low hills and woody shores with here and there just a peep of a chimney to give sign of invading habitation. One, there was who could not resist that dancing blue expanse, radiating life and joy from every white sail and puffing launch, one to whom ita uction at the hand of a mighty wind wua u tremendous spectacle; one who drank in the peace of its transparent face when night and her solemn influences were about to take it from his sight.

He has built himself a wooden farm home on the heights ubove this lake where neither gold nor tinsel, not the voices in the market place can make their nppeul against his royal uppetite for this special vista. Since then he is about to share his usual feast with fellowmen from his own city but here let us leave Mr. L. und look at the last and fairest jewel in the chain.

Here are no bounderies. Here reign freedom; force, and yet a variety of moods. Now blue, gray, now slaty, sullen; now foaming, bolsterous; again so often like u gray moonstone and speuking of things teernul in its soft lapping on the shore. Only the pines above reply for they perhaps are the only ones who understand. To the beauty of this lake thousands pay tribute. By day the little children play on the sands and by night the twinkling lights from many a cottage speak silent homage. In the distance on either hand are two points of land where man has not yet intruded and here in his solitary kingdom lives the sea-gull with the waves furever rolling at his feet. Again the soft hush of the pines, the far off call of a wild bird with the dusky wings of the moth, night decends upon the picture.

PICKED BERRIES IN THE TRENCHES

a scrap with him in the next day or two. Have seen plenty of prisoners, and lots of Hun guns, and the woods where we are camped are full of ummunition they left when they moved, and believe me, they moved fast when they left here.

We are trying to get within reach ing distance uf the front lines, but the Annex forces were chasing them so fast I thought we never would catch them, but I am here within u night's travel of the lines and expect to be sent in any time.

"We ure ubout three days uhead of the kitchen, and have been eating hard tack and Bully Beef lately. Believe me, its the longest I have been without Mulligan since I worked for Uncle Sam.

"I sure saw some pretty country when I camo here, and this would be a pretty place if it was not torn up so. The Germans have not left much, only their dead and a few guns and some ammunition. They are sure fast on their feet, that is, when they aro backing up. I liked to run my legs off trying to get down here where we are in reaching distance of the line, but they are still driving them back, and I expect we will move again tonight. Think old Bill Kaiser has got something on his mind that beats him out of his sleep. His spring drive has been going the wrong way lately, and will continue that way for some time by the looks of this bunch of soldiers in this sector. Well, it is time I was making my coffee and eating my dinner, so goodbye. As ever, Bill."

THE CADDIE COLUMN

(A column edited by the Caddie master for the purpose of sharpening the caddies' interest in their work and keeping parents in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

These are busy days and no one has much time to write Caddie Columns, although there might be lots to say in them. The unnual excursion will take place next Sunday, the boat leaving Wilburs dack at 7:30 a. m. und returning before dark in the evening. Each boy will bring a tin cup and unything he wants to bring in the way of swimming suit, buse ball stuff etc.

—o—

It is possible to get enough sugar for the lemonade without which the excursion would not be a real one. Therefore each boy has been asked to bring four or five tablespoonfuls of sugar to the links this week where the caddie master will have a large sack to put it into. This is the only way we can have lemonade on this yeurs trip. The sugar will not be wasted. The boys are asked to be sure not to bring more than the amount asked for. Also every boy who is eligible to go on the trip, and who expects to go is asked not to forget to bring his allotment.

—o—

The girls had their supper as planned. All thirteen of them were there, and we hope they had a good time. But to be reul sure you must usk the girls. After the meul there was music until about 10:30, shortly after which time the whole thirteen were piled into a Woods' bus und taken to their various homes. Mr. Watson, the professional was a guest of the girls nt the affuir.

—o—

Leon Solomon (33) is professional cuddie for this week.

—o—

Last Saturday the 17th, was the record day of the year. There were 202 players and the caddies made $100.50.

—o—

The cuddie master had an interesting letter from Ernie Olney last Saturday. It was mailed in Frunce July 31st.

—o—

The following caddies had paid their Red Cross subscriptions in full last Saturday evening: Clayton Bubet (21), Glen Hewett (22), Jim Novotny (8), Emerald Loskot (59), Ward Richardson (32), Joe Humilton (88), Henry Hyek (2), and Clayton Trimble (45). This mukes twenty-nine who have paid their subscriptions in this way. The $7.00 turned over to the Red Cross las week makes a total of $50.20 contributed so far.

HOT WEATHER ADVANCES GRAIN HARVEST

Corn in Good Condition on Heavy Soils—Needs Moisture.

About the ouly good effect the recent hot spell has had upon crops generally hes been the advancement of the harvesting and threshing of rye, burley and winter wheat. Pasturage in u large part of the state has been burned brown.

The weekly weather and crup report issued by Director C. F. Schneider follows:

Dry, hot weuther has forwarded grain harvests and threshing. Rye, barley, and winter wheat harvests are now generally completed in the northern counties and outs harvest is well advanced, not much of the crop remaining uneut Correspondents quite generally report that pasture is nurly dead and that hot, dry winds have begun to affect beans by yellowing the pods. Beans and buckwheat generally are in fairly good condition but have been injured slightly by grasshoppers. Corn is in good condition on heavy soils but is showing its need of moistare on light soils. Lute potatoes are practically at a standstill and very much in need of moisture. Apples, garden truck and sugar beets are generally in good condition and quite promising.

William D. Kilpatrick, C. S., will lecture at Vun Pelt Hall, Friday, August 23. Du not fail to hear him talk on Christian Science 33t2.

An Endorsement of Truman H. Newberry for United States Senator from Men Prominently Identified with the Agricultural Interests of Michigan

BELIEVING as we do that Michigan should elect this fall a United States Senator who is, and has been, interested in and conversant with public affairs; a man of sound judgment, and continuity of purpose; a man whose one hundred per cent patriotism cannot be questioned; and a man who has given sufficient study and thought to the matter of national and international policies to enable him to determine for himself where he stands and what he stands for; and believing that Truman H. Newberry, of Detroit, conforms to this standard, we endorse his candidacy and agree to support him at the primaries and at the election.

APHIS DOES MUCH DAMAGE TO TUBERS

East Lansing—The Michigan potato crop, according to information coming to the Michigan Agricultural college from almost every county in the state, is suffering unusually severe dumage this season from un insect known in scientific circles as the uphis. Among growers of tubers less choice in their selection of names the aphis is called a "murphy louse." These insects live on the under side of the leaves and suck the juices of the potato plant.

"The aphis can be controlled by a spray of black leaf 40 or nicotine sulphate," declared Prof. R. H. Petit of M. A. C. "This should be used at the rate of about one pint to 100 gallons of water with about four pounds of common laundry soap.

THEATRICAL NOTES

Freckles Coming: The Dramatized Version of the Story of the Limberlost.

"Freckles" comes to the Charlevoix Theatre Wednesday August 28. Those who have read Gene Stratton-Porter's famous novel of the same title, and they number in the millions, will be even more delighted with with this charming song play which exhales all the fragrance and romance of the great Indiana Limberlost. It is not only the light of an inspiration, but it is one of the most realistic and picturesque productions of modern stage craft, for the beauty of nature and the breath of romance are found in the story.

You will listen to the simple story of his life as he tells it to his "Angel," you will see the light of joy, shadow of sadness, flash of mirth, and earnestness of desire, playing in his eyes and on his lips as he tells her of his great love. You will see him rise from a lowly life to one of affluence and power, through indomitable courage, supreme faith and immovable honesty. This is not a moving picture.

OLDEST PIONEER IN ANTRIM COUNTY

Death Take Well Known Resident of Milton Township.

Patrick Coleman, a well known resident of Antrim county, died at his home in Milton township, Friday, August 9, 1918.

Patrick Coleman was born in county of Monahan, Ireland, in the year of 1818. He lived there until the autumn of 1838, when he left for America. After three months upon the ocean the ship reached New York harbor early in the year of 1839. There he was employed as a foreman for ten years by a large lumber company.

In the fifties he moved to Canada, where he lived about four years. Then returning to the United States he took up a homestead in Milton township, Antrim county, at about the time the civil war closed. This was his home ever since until death called him.

Patrick Coleman was united in marriage in New York City to Miss Margaret McGinnis, who passed away September 21, 1900. To this union nine children were born. Three sons, eighteen grand-children and 12 great-great grand children survive him.

The funeral services were held from the Elk Rapids Catholic church Monday, August 12. He was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery at Kewadin.

BERRY PICKING IN THE TRENCHES

BOYS WEAR GAS MASKS WHILE GETTING FRUIT

Writer Tells of Witnessing Fight In Air Between German and French Planes

This week we are favored with another letter from Sargent Xelle Miles with the Headquarters Co., of he 125th Inf. overseas. Also one one from Leonard O. Herrington and Andrew Wynsma.

We enjoy reproducing these letters as all readers of the Courier are glad to hear from the hoys over there."

In France, July 10, 1918.

Dear Mother and all:-

Just a few lines to let you know I am well and enjoying some easy and very excitig work. I hope this letter finds you all well and having good wenther for farming. The weather over here is fine. It rains now just often enough to keep the air cool and with a nice fresh smell and you know how I enjoy living in the woods,. Well that is where we are camping now. Lt. Crimmins and I were out and picked two cups of herries for our supper tonight and they were fine, considering where we picked them. We picked them between the first and second line trenches and all we wore were our gas masks for protection.

I never fall out of hed without it, and I never sleep without it on my mind. We saw an air battle a few days ago between a French and German plane and the German machine caught on fire about 2500 feet up and it fell apart at ahout 2000 feet up and what was left of the whole affair landed in no-mans land.

The heavy artillery has been giving the Boche what they needed all day. I suppose we will get ours tonight. Well, even exchange is no rohhery, all is fair in war as I always said when I cut someone out of his girl, hut I cannot see things like that now.

Tell Father and Geno I couid stand n few letters from them. You understand these are for all and I write as often as I possibly can as I like to write home. Well mother will close with lots of love and look for a letter soon. I am your loving son, Xelle.

Somewhera in France,
July 14th, 1918.

Dear Sister:-

I received your letter so will answer back a few lines. The weather is just fine here and so am I since I have been in this wonderful land of lillies.

Everything is practically the same here, only we are out of the trenches again for a little rest as they call it, hut there is always something to do. I've heen in the trenchess two different times now and it is not as bad as some people seem to think. It has not heen so bad so far, hut that's no sign that it is going to continue this way in the future.

"This morning we had a regular showdown inspection of equipment and clothes. Everything must he perfectly clean then. It kept me busy all day yesterday washing clothes and cleaning all other equipment. We took everything outside on the grass, spread out a hlanket and put evrything on it in its place according to regulations. I wish you could take a glimpse of it when everything is on the grass and every one is standing at the head of his own things.

"According to your letter everything is ahout the same at home. I am always more or less afraid of sickness and keep thinking of father, as I know he is'nt very strong.

"So Tom is going to enlist this fall. He wrote to me and asked my opinion about the different branches of the service, and also about the army and navy. I answered him in the first place to stay at home for a while, but when I found that he was bound to go I advised him to enlist in the navy or in the Quarter Master corps or the Navy, and I believe the greater majority will agree with me on this.

"Well I must close as I haven't much space left. I will write the folks in about a week. With hest regards to all,

Your hrother,

Andrew Wynsma, M. G. Co., 126 Inf. A. D. O. 734 America E. F.

Somewhera in France,

Co. B. 125th Inf. A. P. O.

Dear Mother, Father, Eva and Brother:

"I have received two or three most welcoma letters from you lately, hut haven't had very much time to answer them hefore hecause I was at the front when I received them. I am now hack in a rest camp and will now try and catch up on my writing.

"I was glad to hear that you were all well as usual and that father is getting along well with his work. I am feeling quite a lot hetter than I did some time ago as the weather is pretty good here now. We haven't had much rain lately.

"Well mother I am sorry that you get so nervous when you don't get a letter from me very often, hut I can't help it. I would like to write oftener than I do, but at times I am so husy that I can't get a chance to write and when I get a chance for a rest I take advantage of it. But I will write whenever I get a chance.

"I am am awfully glad that Willard stayed home and helped father out with his work this spring. So Willard has a joh at Charlevoix for the summer. That is good, hut I know you will he lonesome with hoth of us gone.

"I wrote this letter on some paper that I carried with me so I could write as soon as I got a good chance to. You will find it to he a little dirty on account of my carrying it in my pocket. I wrote in a hurry and it is heginning to get dark hefore I have said as much as I would like to. I hope any of you won't feel slighted hecause I don't write a separate letter to each individual, I would like to hut we are busy.

"Mother I must tell you that I had some ripe tomatoes tonight and they tasted good. It made me think of the nice tomatoes and the rest of your garden that you raised last summer and how good it tasted to me. I am waiting patiently and longingly for the day to come when I can eat some more from your garden again. Believe me it will taste good.

"Now you must not worry and get nervous when you don't hear from me for a quite a while, as there are times when I can't find time and my mind is so mixed up so I can't settle down to write.

"I must close hopeing to hear from home soon and to hear that you are as well as ever.

From your absent son, Leonard O. Herrington.

Dear Friend:-

"I imagine you were nervous when your folks had that electric storm. I don't mind an electric storm, hut when a shower of artillery shells of high explosive and shrapnells and a storm of machine gun hullets come along it then is somewhat exciting on the nerves.

"I suppose you think of the glorious times we had last summer and hope for them to come again. I am sure I do. I often wonder if they ever will come again. If wishes of good luck and a safe return to the U. S. will do any good, I get them from everyone who writes to me and in every letter. I remember the night when Ralph Sitzema's house got slivered up witb lightning. I have seen several stone buildings over here that are shattered much worse than his was, they had been shelled by artillery or areoplane bombs. It is terrifying to see and think of the destruction of lives and property that have been imposed upon the innocent and peace loving nations of Europe.

"I have received four or five most welcome letters from you that I haven't answered yet, but will answer them now in one letter, as near as I can in the amount of time that I have to write in.

Will close unlil next time from your friend, Leonard."

E. H. Boss contributes the following short, but decidedly to the point letter from his brother, Will, with Headquarters Co., 125th, Infantry, A. E. F., in France:

France, July 30, 1918.

"Dear Ed—Well, I have got up to the Hun at last, and expect to have

Rheumatism Arrested

If you suffer with lame muscles or stiffened joints look out for impurities in the blood, because each attack gets more acute and stubborn.

To arrest rheumatism you must improve your general health and purify your blood; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is Nature's great blood-maker while it also strengthens the organs to expel the impurities. Scott's is helping thousands who could not find other relief.

Tournament Finals Played at Inn

Sharp close play marked the finals in the tennis tournament which ended last week on the Inn Courts. In the singles L. Morrow, Inter Collegiate Yale Champion 1918 won from C. D. Hipp Champion Southern Inter Collegiate 1916. Score 7—5 and 6—4. In the straight Doubles, the Morrow brothers B and L, winning from Hipp and Calisth, Score 8—6, 7—5 and 6—4.

In the mixed doubles, Miss Mary Lehman and Robert Morrow VS Miss Mildred Loeb and C. D. Hipp. The first set was won, Lehman and Morrow 7—5, The second set Loeb and Hipp 6—4, The third set Lehman and Morrow 6—4. Loeb and Hipp losing to Lehman and Morrow. The play was closely followed by an interested audience from the first set to the finals.

The tournament the most interesting ever held in Charlevoix, was arranged for in all its details, and refered by Mr. Douglas Hilton, the Tennis Expert.

Horseback Riding Popular

Mr. A. W. Sankey, Charlevoix's popular Riding Master, associated with Mr. Frank Welch who has a fine string of Kentucky and Virginia saddle horses, here for the season, is a Riding Master of the old English school. His position as Riding Master of the Park Riding School of Boston, speaks for itself.

Mr. Sankey Says, that a cool morning, a good country road, and a good horse is all the heart wishes. Those who have been riding at Charlevoix, of the old set, believe the bridle paths all through this section, many of them leading through the country and along the lake front, qualify quite superior to most riding grounds.

From the hotel and cottages of Charlevoix the visitors who have come from all sections of the country and who enjoy the riding and the advantages of a good instructor are:

The Misses Helen Freedman, Fanny Pritz, Helen Stix, K. Leman, Clara Strouse, Miss Loman's Stewart, Louise Gilbert, Miss Stevenson, Miss Macklerain, Louise Edelheimer, Innh Wile, Marguerite Silberman, Elizabeth Benuford, Clara Ilyman, Mary Jane Loeb, Francis Stix, Francis Mandlebum, Erma Rice, Babbot Block, Margery Block, Elinor Block, Jennet Godchaux, Addel Godchaux, Allmin Joseph, Elizabeth Strouse, Judith Stearns, Maxine Levinstine, Elizabeth Stix, Nina Newman, and Mr. and Mrs. Rauh, Mr. and Mrs. Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. Block, Mr. Ed. A. E. Cross Withdraws

Owing to unforseen business matters, I will not be able to continue as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer. I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the support given my candidacy, by the voters of Charlevoix County. As the Primary Ballots have already been printed I would suggest that my friends cast their vote for Chs. H. Emrey, whom I consider fully qualified to care for the duties of the office.

Daily Meat Supply

What to buy for the everyday meals is quite a perplexing problem at times for the housewife. In some homes it is difficult to supply the table suitable to all tastes. But whatever is served must be good. Good meat is a hobby with us. Nothing else is sold over our counters.

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

SOCIETY DRIVE FOR WAR FUNDS

NETS ABOUT $1350 FOR WAR BENEVOLENCE PURPOSES

Society Vaudaville at the Inn Brings Out a Crowd of Generous Summer Citizens

The standing room only condition was reached early and long before the hour announced for the vaudeville performance at the Inn casino Saturday evening. Many who bought tickets at $1.00 were content to view the performance through the doors or windows. Altogether it waa a patriotic good natured assemblage that met to cheer the volunteer war workers.

A cleaner, brighter, funnier program by amateurs it would be hard to imagine. Those who attended were treated to a really high calibered entertainment.

The opening number "Kitchen Simpfunny" an orchestral burlesque put the audience in a pleasant humor right at the start. The children taking n part in this number were as follows:

Hank Hart, Louise Ederheimer, Babette Block, Judy Stern, Minnabel Coleman, Fritz Strous, Bunny Friend, Jimmy Singer, Delia Workom, Catherine Rosenwnld, Mnry Jane Loeb, Dodo Schmatz, Lesser Goldman, Audrey Smith, Adele Godschaux, Ruth Hirsch, Frances Stix, Frances Mandelbaum, Dickie Mandel, Johnny Hirsch, Frances Schwab, Therese Dryer, Clara Hyman, Sylvia Hartman, Ellen Ehrenfest.

Loeb and Loeb, Miss Mildred and Hamilton, presented a clever sketch of their own; Hamilton appearing khaki clad and singing several roundly encored numbers. Miss Loeb neting as accompanist and interluctor. Catherine Arnold and Dorothy Puffles, were decidedly entertaining in "The New Craze" and received severol well merited encores.

Marion Cohn ond chorus in "Leave It To Us," presented a pleasing picture with an accompaniment of tuneful melody, the young Misses taking a ploce in the chorus were:

Nanon Newman, Maxine Liebenstein, Delia Workum, Mary Jane Loeb, Audrey Smith, Helen Friedmnn, Louise Lowenstein, Ruth Ehrich, Katherine Lehman, Claire Strauss, Emily Dryer, Mae Levy, Beatrice Silverman.

Fannie Helene Fritz was exceptlonally fine in her rendition of the Syrian Sword Dance. Mrs. Mnx J. Liebenstein interloping with a groupe of songs, requiring several repeat encores before the audience permitted her to retire.

Miss Fritz closing this number with a Nautch girl song, Helen Stix appearing as Zahirudin.

Nanon Newman achieved a whimsically pleasing song hit as Frenchie. Carrol Hipp and Charles Calisth gave a comedy sketch entitled "A Little Darktown Comedy," that was cleverly humorous.

Miss Harriet Blood appeared to a decided advantage as a French Chasseur in n military dance number.

The closing number heing a patriotic tableax in which Miss Helen Stix represented Liberty, Miss Louise Lowenstein as England, Nannn Newman as France, Emily Dryer Italy and Mrs. Max J. Lebenstein America and closing with a solo the opening verse of the Notional Anthem. Mrs. Liebenstein did not sing in as good form as on several other occasions on which the writer has heard her, this being probably due to over work of preparation for the entertainment.

The committee of arrangements consisting of Mrs. Max J. Liebenstein, Miss Mildred Loeb, Hamilton Loeb and Charles Caliath gave unstintingly of their time and talents to assure the success of the performance nnd to them much credit is due.

Not to be out-done in the spirit of patriotic helpfulness an in appreciation of the efforts to entertain them the audience took hold with a vengeance. M. H. Mandlebaum as an auctioneer scored a decided hit, Sig Silberman bid $53.00 for part of a baskst of miscellaneous articles worth $1.43, Mrs. Calisth acting as field scout, Loeb and Calisth acting as aides. The auction netted $255.00.

Joseph Oberfelder circulated a subscription list after the auction was over which will net approximately $500.00. The ticket sales added to the funds previously raised by the Childrens Bazaar amounts to $600. A considerable total of $1,350.00 being raised through the work of this committee. This sum will as at present planned be apportioned as follows. The fund raised by auction and subscription to be given to the local chapter of the Red Croas, the funds raised by the childrens bazaar and sale of tickets will go to Allied war orphana fund.

HYDROPLANE AGAIN VISITS CHARLEVOIX

Makes Beautiful Flight Over City During Day

Charlevoix snd lake shore territory received another visit Sundsy by the monster hydroplane, which eorlier in the season was driven here by its owner.

Sunday's trip was made from Muskegon and the owner and passengers of the car had dinner at Harbor Point and spent the day circling Harbor Springs and surrounding country, giving the people a chance to see and hear one of the largest planes now in use.

The monster bird flew over the city between ten and eleven o'clock in the forenoon, and near five in the afternoon.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Sergeant James Gaskins Tells of Americans Capturing 3,000 German Prisoners—Claud Volkert May Go To Italy With Ambulance.

From Sergeant J. W. Gaskin
Somewhere in France.
July 14, 1918.

Dear Con and John:-

"Received letters from you all today and laughed at what father said about making the "Jerrys" sing the Star Spangled Banner. They call the Germans "Jerry" over here.

"I suppose you had quite a celebration the Fourth. We had races and a ball game between the 39th Infantry and the 47th. The 47th won 4—0. It was a fine game. There was a big celebration in Paris, but we did not get to see it.

"After I have been in Foreign Service four months, I get seven days leave and will try to make a stay in that interesting city.

"It is getting very warm over here and soldiering is hard. The Americans are doing some fine work and have taken lots of German prisoners. All of them are sixteen and eighteen years of age and the rest old men. I was talking with some of them and they say they are afraid of the Americans, because they can't stop them, and they also have an idea we won't take them as prisoners.

"You know that "Jerry" will stay at his machine gun and fire it until you are right on top of him, then he will holler "Kamerade" and expect us to show him mercy, but he gets the point of the bayonet and there is another good German.

"I was under shell fire for the first time a few days ago, but am safe back in the billets now. I am in an old blacksmith shop with all kinds of old horse shoes ond other things on the walls. It is about twelve by fifteen and there is an old cupboard which I use for my toilet nrticles. I am lying on my blanket, on some straw on the floor. By the way the floor as I call it, is made of dear old mother earth. Some class.

"I had to lough when K told me that she hod Liberty measles. The little flag she sent I will carry into the Germon trenches.

"I am enclosing a little souvenir from the front. It is the insignia from the coat of a French soldier, also a couple yellow flowers picked a short distance from the firing line. Hope you are all well and happy. Must close now and eat. Write soon." As ever Yours, James.

July 18, 1918.

Dear Folks:-

"Well here it is Sunday and I have a few minutes so I will write you a little note. You might laugh if you knew under what conditions I am writing this. I am very close to the front lines and the big ones drop around us every once in a while. I am behind a little clump of bushes and using the butt of my rifle for a writing desk. Every little while the big guns boom out their defiance to the Huns and we have to keep under cover at all times.

"You ought to see me in the new hat I have been issued, it is a two cornered affair like a Scotch cap. When I put it on and tilt it over one ear, I am some dashing soldier. It folds up like a griddle cake and I carry it in my shirt front when I wear my helmet.

"I am well and happy and have been in action once. Was in the front line trenches for three days during the big drive the Americans made. I suppose you read about it. We captured 3,000 prisoners and a number of guns. I came out of it without a scratch and felt fine with the exception of the usual shell shock most everyone gets. We were in the German trenches a few days ago and we are now holding their front line trenches that we captured from them. I was under artillery fire and gas from three in the morning till six. A French captain said that it was the heaviest fire he had been in, in his four years of fighting. I was sure glad to be relieved.

"The clouds are very low today and it is very windy. However the wind is away from our lines so no need to worry about gas.

"I am on the top of a hill with the most beautiful valley between. The colors in the landscape are wonderful, every shade known to nature and the breezes blowing thru the grain fields look like the waves on old Lake Michigan, which I hope I shall soon see.

"What is the news of the war coming to an end? We hear over here that there is a German peace delegation at Washington now and that Edison has a great invention. Is there any truth in it? All the troops here think they will be in the U. S. A. by Xmas, but by the sound of the guns it don't seem that way.

"I am billited in an old French barn in the hay loft. Great class.

"The church I attend is seven-hundred years old.

"Must close now as I om with Co. Headquarters today as runner and may have to carry a message soon. Write soon and tell me all the news. As ever your loving son, James"

From Myron Corey

Great Lakes, Ill., Aug.10,1918

Tu Courier and My many Grand Rapids. Press Customers:

"You will remember me by the name of one of Corey Bros. (Myron Corey.) I think what I have to say will interest you people, for I never read of any such experience in the navy.

"I left Detroit with 33 other recruits in a special car and diner car and most of the boys would write cards and drop one at each stop for some nice looking girl to mail for him. We arrived in camp at 5:00 o'clock in the evening and all sailors would say, 'you'll like it.' Of course I did'nt know what they meant by it, but as you read on you will know the same as I did. We were lined up and all cigarettes, chewing tobacco, gum and any thing that had alcohol in, taken away. We were given a tick to fill with straw, a couple of bath towels and blankets, then were given our barracks to sleep in. We slept on the floor, hit the hay at 9 bells and up again at five in the morning. Our chow was brought to our barracks by four men, detailed from our company, in a tall can something like an ice cream can. They are made like a thermos bottle, as they are filled ohout two hours before we get it, so the food is kept warm. The coffee is served in big copper pots and these things have to he cleaned to the limit or they are shot back and done over. Every garbage can is washed and sterilized after every meal. The decks are swabbed after every meal. This is all done while in detention.

"I got a vaccination and three shots for typhoid in the right arm. One of them was to have made me have the symptoms of typhoid fever, but my blood was so exceptionally good and they only gave me a sore arm. Some of the boys would drop while drilling, in church and most every place. They were sent to ahospital till they recovered.

"In Decatur, which is a detention camp, they have a large open air theater which they have all shows from Chicago to keep the boys from getting lonesome.

"When we got our clothes we were lined up with all clothes off and a large bag on our arm. We went up, one at a time, and got a comb, clothes brush, scrub brush, soap and soap bag, pair of shoes, two suits of white suits thrown at you, (they usually hit you in the stomach and fell in the bag), underwear, two suits heavy and light, two suits of blues, blue flat hat, pea coat, watch caps and two white hats. The rest of our equipment we will get before we get to sea. They had bible classes and church every Sunday, and the Y. M. C. A. is doing a wonderful thing for the sailors. They would be lost without the Y. M. C. A., so don't be afraid to help them all you can.

"We were moved out of detention after 10 days to another detention camp called Dewey, and there we had a real dining room, nice white dishes and lots to eat. They don't feed us very much, when we are drilling, for it makes us lazy if we eat too much. They have plenty of labor work here to toughen us up. We were sent over to main camp to form many new flags like the human American flag. The flags of the Allies were formed so you will see them before long. They expect to build here to accommodate 1,000,000 men.

HELPED CELEBRATE HIS BIRTHDAY

Friends Surprise Wilbur Spidel at Farm Home

Friends to the number of some twenty-five met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Spiedel, on the East Jordan road, Saturday evening, the occasion being the fortieth birthday of Mr. Speidel.

The event was in the nature of a surprise, and the guest of the evening was taken completely off his feet by the arrival of the "bunch," who quietly informed him that they were there to see that he properly observed the occasion.

If Mr. Hoover could have lined up with the bunch at the serve-self luncheon, he would have been forcibly reminded that although the people were observing his orders to conserve, war privations along food lines had not as yet noticeably affected occasions of this nature.

Restaurant Changes Hands

Last Thursday Mrs. J. T. Oldham sold the restaurant purchased by her this spring to Mrs. Sandy Shearer, who will take possession Thursday, August 29th, and will conduct the business the same as it had been conducted in the past. Mrs. Oldham has not made and definite plans for the future, but expects to spend the winter in the south.

DROPPED DEAD WHILE AT SUPPER

DEATH CAME ALMOST WITHOUT WARNING

Autopsy Held Later in Day Fails to Reveal Cause of Death —Was in Draft.

Frank Zerro, formerly of Escaba, later working at White's lumber camp No. 15 in the eastern part of the county, dropped dead in Pfister's restaurant during the supper hour Monday evening.

Zerro was one of the 59 drafted men to leave Tuesday for Camp Custer, and during the afternoon had reported to the draft board, received his papers and would have left with the men the following morning if death had not taken him.

He atc his supper at the restaurant and was about to leave the table, when he suddenly collapsed in his chair, and was dead before medical assistance could be summoned.

The remains were taken to See's undertaking rooms, and at noon Tuesday autopsy was held by Dr. Armstrong and two assisting physicians, who upon examination, found nothing sufficient to have been the cause of his death.

Further examination and investigation has been undertaken by the coroner, and the stomach was sent to Ann Arbor for analysis.

SLEEPER REMOVES STATE OFFICIAL

Member of Health Board Accused of Illegal Sales to Board.

Governor Sleeper has asked William D. Farley, Battle Creek furniture dealer, to resign from the state board of health of which he had been a member since January, 1915. The Governor's action is said to have resulted from Farley's alledged admission to the atate board of auditors, that under the name of the "Battle Creek Furniture Co." he had sold to the state board of health furniture and supplies to the amount of $161.25 in violation of the state law.

The claim has been formally disallowed upon the advice of the attorney General Grosbeck.

The illegal proceeding upon the part of this member of the board was discovered through a failure of the post office authorities to learn anything about the "Battle Creek Furniture Co." or to locate it.

FRENCH PEOPLE LOVE AMERICANS

FRENCH WOMEN MOTHER AMERICAN BOYS

Resent Report That Doughboys are Whiskey Drinkers and Says There is no Drunkenness

If one desires to know the real feeling of the French people toward America and her soldier boys and in a manner realize what our country's entrance into the world war meant to them, they should interview Melle Francaise Carmins, French governess of the children of Mayor W. H. Wilder of Chicago, who is spending the aummer at tha Belvedere, and who has a son, two nephews and niece in the service of Uncle Sam.

Melle Carmins relates in a most interesting manner the life of her people at homo and the effect of the many indignities and brutalities they have undergone since the invasion of the Kaiser and his horde of butchers.

She received a letter from her home in France under date of August 7, in which her mother stated that American hospitals in that section would soon be completed. The workmen are composed of Americans, French and Greeks, all working in perfect harmony. The letter refers to the interest taken by the Yankee doughboys in the inhabitants, especially in the children. She states that instead of speaking of them as Americans, the term "compatriots" is used. In every way the French people show their appreciation and gratitude to the allies, knowing that with their help the end of the war is not very distant.

Her mother tells of the fondness of the American boys for flowers, and they are usually presented with all they want. Yellow dahlias seem to be their favorite, and as they pass Melle Carmiens home, they are given a flower. In one instance, when a regiment was passing, each trooper was given a flower, which he placed in the band of his hat.

Melle Carmiens can see a happy ending of the war with the help of the Americans. All her relatives are serving under the French flag. One brother left home the day the war began and is still at the front.

Speaking of German propaganda, the distorted reports sent broadcast, and the reports of drunkenness among American troops, Melle Carmiens says: "There is absolutely no truth or foundation for the many reports sent out. They are lies and are resented by the French people. American soldier boys are not whiskey drinkers and but a small percentage of them even indulge in the lighter wines. Tell your readers that the French mothers are-giving American boys the same loving care and attention they would their own sons. Tell them not to believe nor pay attention to the stories circulated by the German propagandist, which is only a part of their war progran. The French people love the American boys and will ace that no harm comes to them that is within their power to prevent."

FRIENDS HONOR DEPARTING SOLDIER

Given Farewell Dinner at Home of Parents Near Phelps

Isaac Feltenbarger of near Phelps, gave a farewell dinner last Sunday, in honor of his son, Alvie, who left with the drafted men for Camp Custer on the morning train Tuesday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Feltenbarger and two sons of Wright District, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hinton and daugbter and Mrs. Sarah Hinton of Petoskey, and Walter McElroy.

The young man received the best wishes of his friends for a safe return, with the admonition to do his duty and help rid the world of the cruel Hun, the primary cause of the thousands of American boys now aerving overseas.

THE CADDIE COLUMN

(A column edited by the Caddie master for the purpose of sharpening the caddies' interest in their work and keeping parents in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

The fifth Annual Excursion has gone. Everything went off just about as planned though there was very little to do ashore as the beach was not fitted for races and contests. The swimming contests were held, however, there being five of these: A swimming race for speed with Marshall Ackert first and Tom Gartside second; an endurance swim with Gatside first and Ackert second; an underwater swim with Ackert first and Earl Herrington second; and two log races, one for smaller boys and another for larger to which the contestants lny on logs and planks and paddled themselves ulong. Harold Dutcher and Bud Gill were first and second in the first race, and Melvin Bacon and Pat Withey in the second. First prize in each of the races was $1., and second fifty cents, and all the prizes will be given early in September when the other awards are made.

—o—

There was some sugnr left over on the excursion, and the problem of what to do with it was a conaiderable one. It wns finally decided to auction the sugar off and give the proceeds to the Red Cross. The bidding started at fifty cents. Henry Hyek bought the goods for $1.10. Accordingly the Red Cross contribution for last week (payment of which was mnde Monday) was $8.10, the usual seven dollar contribution plus the money derived from the sale of the sugar.

A LECTURE on CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
BY

William D. Kilpatrick, C. S.
Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston Mass.

The following is a brief synopoala of Mr. Kilpatrick's remarks:

I have chosen for the subject of my discnurse "Christian Science; The Law of God."

Present day interest in Christian Science is findiag expressiop in a demand fnr a wider dissemiaation of its message nf hope and good cheer—in a hungering and thirsting for a fuller understanding of this pure gospel of the Christ. It is heing universally asked: What is Christian Science? What does it teach? What are its accomplishments? On what authority dnes this religious movement within the short span of a generation command the respectful consideration of a world?

It is the purpose of the Christian Science literature, of Christian Science church services snd of Christian Science lectures to answer these questions, and, if, perchsnce, we shall have heen ahle this evening to throw some little gleam of light on that hook of all books, the Holy Bihle; if, perchance, we shall have been ahle to awaken the smouldering spark of hope and encouragement in the hreast of some sinhurdened, sick, hopeless or suffering man or woman we shall consider the hour well and profitably spent.

The world's interesta today in Christian Science lies in the world's neceasity for Christiaa Scienco. Long-sufferlag humanity is in sore need of a live, vital, dynamic, constructive, spiritual, religious awakening.—an awakening predicted, not on hectic outhurata of fanciful, fanatical fervor aad temperamental, mesmeric eathusiasm, hut an awakening resulting froiu soher, prayerful, thoughtful and sanctified cnnvictioaa. The world is demandlag something hesides mere formalism, something besides the hollow mockery of creed and ritual, something hesides a religion that offers mero speculative, future possihilities in place of a truly Christ-like religioa thnt can point to its present works as evidence of its divine authority.

Humanity has arrived at the point where it demanda n religion which it believes to he wholly true, untainted by human opinions and conjecture, without one elemeat of error, founded on the Bihle and restoring the toachings and works of the Master. That is whst the world demands today, and thst, my friends, is why it is turning to Christlaa Science. The proof of its divine origin rather than its professiou has set the face of the world towards this religion.

Definition nf Christian Science.

Prohahly the hriefest and one nf the most comprehensive definitions of Christian Science is to he found in the hook "Rudimental Divine Science" hy the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, where she describes it "as the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony." It will be noted that "universal harmony" in this definition is the ultimate and its accomplishment the result of the interpretation and application of "tbe law of God."

The religion that is to bring ahout "universal harmony" muat necessarily be hased on a clearly defined, unchanging, ever-present, demonstrahle law or Principle. Its teachings must he capahle of proof and if they are capable of proof then it necessarily follows that they are wholly true and without one least element of the false or untrue. Humanity has had its full quota of religions hased partly on truth and partly on error, and is today grnaning under a surfeit of religious creeds, each differing from the other.

Law.

Law is unchanging and inexorahle Law knows no opposing power of principle. The laws of mathematics cannot be hindered, thwarted, usurped or set aside. No matter how erroneous our opinion of the laws of mathematics may he, its laws remain ever the same, onchsnged throughout all time. If not one person on the face of the esrth ever knew one single, simple law of mathematics, that would in no wise alter its laws or the fact that its laws exist and always have existed unchanged in their perfection. And so we find that the law of God always has existed, unsiltered, eternal and perfect, but that, except in a few instances, this law has been hidden from mankind throughout the ages.

To emphasize the fact that his works were inoxemplification of the Truth he taught—were evidences of an understanding based on a demonstrahle law of God, Jesus did not resort to argument—to finely chosen speeeh delivered to his followers with ostentatious formnlism, hut rather, in nnswer to the question put to him by the emissaries sent from John the Baptist, —"Art thou he that should come? Or look we for annther?" Jesus replied simply, "Go your way and tell John what things ye hnve seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached." The recital of his works was, to his sense, sufficient proof that his teschings were divinely ordained and in strict explanation of God's law. The works of Jesus proved that they were predicated on a premise wholly right and that no element of error was present. He must have been working from a perfect understanding of God's immutahle law.

Universality of God's Law.

The object of all Christian endeavor should be to prove the Master's teachings to he true by doing the works that he did. The healing works of Jesus were not given us merely to show what he could do. Christian Science proves that these works were given to the world by Jesus in demonstration of a divine, ever-present, demonstrable law, that humanity, through ble example, might know and understand this law and be able to intelligently apply this knowledge. This law of God must, from the very nature of God and his relation to man and the universe, be universally and eternally applicable. It must be at the command and for the benefit of all of God's children throughout all of God's creation. Thus we find that the law employed by Jesus in his mighty works is the same law that enabled the Israelites to pass on dry land through the Red Sea, that restored her son whole to the Schunamite mother, that delivered the three Hebrew young men from the fiery furnace, that enabled Daniel to dwell unharmed in the den of lions, and the same law whereby the apostles and the early Christians for some centuries after the time of Jesus obeyed the Master's commands by doing his works. And this is the same law through which Christian Science is today bringing to humanity the world over relief from its sufferings and misery.

Jesus, Demonstrator of God's Law

That the teachings and practice of Jesus were predicated on a hypothesis wholly spiritual to the complete exclusion of matter and its so-called laws, Jesus' own words and works leave no doubt. The entire purpose and import of his career were to educate mankind away from the belief in a material universe as real and into the understanding of men and the universe created by God, spiritually—a universe governed by the law of God, Spirit, and not subject to chance, change and the mutations of time.

There is no known physical law or so-called law of matter that Jesus did not completely annul and overthrow through his intelligent application of God's law. At the wedding feast Jesus turned the water into wine, proving once and for all that material qualities and phenomena are mental and have no authority of their own in the presence of an intelligent understanding and application of God's law. In the healing of the son of the nobleman at Capernaum when a long distance from the sick man, and in the instantaneous transportation of the ship across the sea of Galilee, Jesus demonstrated that time, place and space are mental qualities and that they may all be eliminated through the correct application of the law of God. Jesus stilled the tempest, quieting the winds and the waves, proving that even the elements of the material world are subservient and subject to God's law. He walked the waters of the Sea of Galilee, proving of no effect the law of gravitation in the presence of an intelligent understanding and application of divine law. Jesus fed a great multitude of people with seven loaves and a few small fish, thus proving that man's supply is purely mental, that it is abundant, ever-present and available, not dependent upon matter or material conditions and discrediting forever the belief in the necessity for poverty, lack and limitation of every name and nature. Jesus proved by healing the multitudes of sick that disease is not of God and hence has no authority to fetter man; that matter does not make a man sick and that matter and its so-called laws have no part in the healing and the health of mankind. He proved by raising Lazarus from the dead and by his own victory over the tomb that there is no divine decree, authority or law back of the condition called death, and at the utter nothingness of matter and the supreme allness of Spirit.

Yet Jesus said "Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets: I am not come to destroy but to fulfill." Taking, then, his works in support of his words, is it not obvious that his efforts were for the purpose of establishing an understanding in the consciousness of humanity of a law of Spirit, or God, which would supersede all so-called physical law, thereby proving matter and its laws to be unreal and not of God, hence powerless?

It cannot be readily imagined that Jesus was sent to annul or destroy God's law. This would have been an impossibility, for God's law, we are repeatedly told in the Bible, is omnipotent. Furthermore, of what benefit would it have been to humanity, to Jesus or to God, for Jesus to set aside God's law for the mere space of a moment, even were he capable of so doing, in order to perform his miracles? Could there be any other explanation of Jesus' mission than that it was for the express purpose of relieving mankind of the burden of self-imposed, so-called laws of matter, in submitting to which they have subjected themselves throughout the centuries to conditions of sin, sickness and death?

Christian Science and Matter.

Christian Science has received its inspiration from a pure, spiritual interpretation of the Scriptures from Genesis to Revelation. Bible teachings constitute the warp and woof of Christian Science and in its somewhat startling assertion that the spiritual is the real and eternal and matter the unreal and temporal, it points to the Bible, to the words and works of Jesus and to its own accomplishments in substantiation of the truth thereof. Christian Science is proving itself to be the truth by proving the Bible true.

Christian Science shows us that matter is the veil of misunderstanding through which mankind have been laboriously peering throughout the centuries, and that underneath this covering of mortal unreality lies all the sin, sickness, misery and unhappiness to which humanity has been ever subject.

What then, shall we do with matter? By what process of reasoning shall we begin its elimination? Jesus said "It is the Spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing," and Jesus never uttered an idle word. We are further admonished many times and in many ways in the Bible to have that mind in us "which was also in Christ Jesus." The book of Proverbs tells us that as a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he," and on one occasion Jesus said, in reply to the question as to the whereabouts of heaven, "The kingdom of God cometh not with observation; neither shall they say, lo here! or, lo there; for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you." These Bible passages show clearly that the whole problem of salvation from materiality is a mental one.

Christian Science teaches that matter is nothing but mortal mind or human thought objectified—that behind every material expression there lies a perfect, spiritual idea of God governed by God's law and subject alone to God. The whole operation, then, of salvation from matter and its so-called laws of sin, disease and death, involves establishing in consciousness the God-idea, or spiritual reality, in place of this counterfeit concept. "For to be carnally (mortally) minded is death" says Paul, "but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." And he goes on to say, "Because the carnal (or mortal) mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God neither indeed can be. So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God. But" he concludes, "ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you." That is, if so be that the spiritual fact of being dwell in consciousness to the complete exclusion of all else."

Footsteps

This journey out of a sense of materiality, is, to be sure, not an easy one to travel. To thwart the spiritual ultimate at a bound is an impossibility. Christian Science is a stern, though loving, taskmaster and its demands are as distinct and as clearly defined as are the rules and laws of mathematics. There must be a beginning along most elemental lines. Each step in progress must be in proof of an advanced understanding of God and his law. Before the higher demonstrations of spiritual law can come there must be the putting into practice of what we understand in a small way. Before we walk we must creep. Before we raise the dead we must heal the sick. One step follows another.

If, then, the material universe is merely a concept of the mortal mind, an externalization, to human consciousness, of mortal thought, and the true or spiritual creation is the embodiment of ideas of the divine Mind, of which mortal thoughts are the counterfeit, must not our task of putting off the false and putting on the true, consist in plucking out and removing, one by one, those erroneous concepts that go to make up a so-called material universe, and in place thereof plant the true spiritual ideas? And is it not clear that in undertaking this work we must begin with the more simple problems? That was the way Jesus started, and when he had cast out the last element of mortal belief he found himself at the Mount of Ascension, where all materiality fades into its native nothingness and the true, the spiritual and eternal, were his forever. To replace hate and malice with love, to replace dishonesty with honesty, impurity with purity, jealousy and revenge with forgiveness, greed and selfishness with charity, impatience with patience, self-righteousness, self-love and self-pity with self-forgetfulness and self-abnegation may not seem of vast importance, but to follow the footsteps of the Master and to demonstrate the law of God by healing the sick and casting out the myriad of mortal inharmonies, these changes in our thought process are an absolute necessity.

The Physical Senses

But, it may be objected, how can one help believing in the reality of matter when matter may be seen with the eye, when it may be touched and handled, when we taste and smell it, when we hear its myriad of sounds and noises? Let us here refer to a very pertinent and explicit statement made by St. Paul bearing on this very point. In his epistle to the Romans, St. Paul says, "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live." "Mortify"—what does that mean? It means "to silence," "to deaden." "Through the spirit"—what does that mean? That means, through the understanding that all things are spiritual and that nothing is material. Now, what are the "deeds of the body" that Paul here admonishes us to "silence" or "deaden" through an understanding of all things as spiritual? Why, seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling, hearing,—the testimony of the five physical senses. These are the deeds of the body. These, in fact, constitute all the known faculties of the fleshly or mortal man, and all that we know of the material universe or ever will know is cognized through these senses. And we are told plainly enough by St. Paul that we are to "mortify" or "silence" their testimony.

We have been living all these years reading and hearing read this passage of Scripture just quoted, the while we have been nursing the delusion that the five physical senses furnish us the only evidence of existence and consequently must be God-endowed. Yet this passage of Scripture is plain and is in strict accord with all of the teachings of the Master, "If ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live." That is, that not until, through the perception and understanding of God, men and the universe as spiritual, we recognize the five physical senses as creations of erring, mortal thought, shall we begin to experience that life vouchsafed us by St. Paul in this passage of Scripture.

Mortal Mind

Now what is our authority for believing, or through what medium do we believe, that the material senses of seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling and hearing are real and God-given qualities? What is it that makes these faculties seem real and essential to us? What is it that bears to us evidence of their reality? Why, nothing but this mortal or carnal mind which is back of all material phenomena and which St. Paul tells us must be put off. It is the human or mortal mind, instead of matter, that sees, feels, tastes, smells and hears. Take away the mind of a mortal and what testimony can the five physical senses utter? Completely silence his mentality and all the argument in the world cannot make a man believe that he sees, feels, tastes, smells or hears. Nothing of a material nature impresses him. He is not even cognizant of the mortal body in which he is supposed to reside. So it should be perfectly apparent that the evidence of the senses cannot correctly inform us of the true qualities of man governed by an immutable law, for the five physical senses may be silenced while law and its manifestations can never be.

Physical Inharmonies

Following this understanding, that the physical senses, which furnish the only evidence of the physical man, are nothing but manifestations of the mortal mind, operating without the realm of fixed law, it necessarily follows that the underlying cause of all phenomena evidenced by these senses must be the product of that same mind. Any of the so-called inharmonies of man manifested by a disturbed physicality must necessarily be the result of the same mind or cause underlying physicality. Consequently, the remedy for all so-called physical inharmonies lies in the correction of the false sense of law or cause, the result of the mind responsible for these inharmonies. This, obviously, cannot be accomplished through mortal mind, the mind that creates these inharmonies, for mortal mind operates by virtue of no fixed law of God to give its permanency or authority in any new condition which its whims might create. Certainly then, we have but one source of correction and that is the divine Mind, or God, which is perfect, which knows no inharmony, neither variableness nor shadow of turning, but which is "the same yesterday, today and forever."

This corrective process lies in displacing these false concepts of creation, of man and the universe, and the multitude of conflicting mortal laws supposed to govern their relations to each other, with the correct understanding of God and his creation and the laws governing it. In his work of demonstrating powerlessness of the so-called laws of matter the Christian Scientist has only to deal with so-called mortal mind and the divine Mind. Matter and its accompaniments do not constitute a least part of his considerations as he recognizes matter as merely a phase of mortal thought. The Christian Scientist recognizes the divine Mind, or God, as true and mortal mind as the lie about the Truth. There must be truth underlying every lie. A lie cannot be told about anything but the truth. Therefore, the only problem before the Christian Scientist is that of replacing the lie with the truth. In his remark "Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar and the father of it." Jesus clearly shows that mortal man with his sin, sickness and death constitutes the lie about the true man or the man of God's creating, and, incidentally, that the only devil there is is the mortal mind which Jesus here states to be a lie. When we truly perceive that this entire operation is a mental one and that the mortal evidences of sin, disease, are illusions of this mortal mind then the enormity of any situation, no matter how apparently grave, assumes less formidable proportions and the possibility of deliverance and ultimate complete salvation spurs on our efforts to more certain achievements.

Prayer

Have you ever heard it said that Christian Scientists are a prayerless people—that they do not believe in prayer? You probably have; I have. Do you know what a real Christian Scientist does from the time he awakens each day to the time he goes to sleep at night? He prays! If there is any one thing that the Christian Scientist finds will bring him peace, health, prosperity and happiness, it is prayer, and he finds that the more he prays the more of peace and health and prosperity and happiness are his. Therefore, the more of these desirable qualities or conditions he manifests the more you may be sure he prays.

I have gone to some length in an endeavor to explain to you the cause of humanity's slavery, its sickness, its want and woe, and I have endeavored, in a way, to make plain to you humanity's remedy for these ills as taught in Christian Science. Now, it may be asked, by what means is this remedy to be intelligently and effectively applied? How is one to start out to prove that man in God's image and likeness is not subject to the laws of matter, the laws of sin, sickness and death, when seemingly all one knows of existence embraces a knowledge of these evils? My friends, you start out by praying, you continue praying and you never cease praying.

True prayer is one of understanding. It comprises a knowledge of the facts of existence, even though faintly discerned at first, and it finds expression in that mental attitude which claims for oneself that God-bestowed freedom vouchsafed to all of God's children—man's birthright of dominion over all the earth—over all evil and materiality. At the tomb of Lazarus Jesus exemplified true prayer in the statement "Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me. And I know that thou hearest me always," whereupon Lazarus, who had been four days in the tomb

PLANNING FOR CHARLEVOIX

Right in line with our advocacy of the adoption of a systematis plan for the future developement and growth of Charlevoix, in The Nations Business by Carl Hunt, who tells how some American cities have become famous through their predetermined specializations In a certain line. The artlcle by Mr. Hunt is so pertinent to the subject that we quoto him at length. He says:

"A city, like an individual, can develop specialization. While this in the past was usually brought about without any definite effort on the part of the community as an organization, it is becoming the practice now to develop communities along scientific lines and the idea of industrial specialization is growing.

"That any amount of effort put into such a movement is well invested is demonstrated by the wonderful prestige which a city gains through specinlization. Consider for a moment the advertising which the rubber plants have brought to Akron, the automobile in Detroit, the milling industry to Minneapolis and St. Paul, steel to Chattanooga, shoes to Brockton.

"Furniture mado in Grand Rapids, shoes made in Brockton and tires made in Akron have a natural prestige. People prefer them, for they know that there have gathered in these centers great armies of expert workman, that the development of labor-saving machinery must have been rapid, and thut the manufacturers hns many other advantages which ought to enable him to give more for the money.

"Capital, either for the expansion of the business or for its current operation, is easily obtained. People in Detroit know the automobile business is profitable and will more readily invest in a company to make automobiles. The Akron banker, knowing something of the rubber business, or the Grand Rapids banker, with a knowledge of the furniture business, will more readily ndvance money for eurrent use in those lines. He knows whnt he is about because he has specialized, just as have the manufacturers.

"Cities which now see the opportunity and which enter the field, after a careful survey, to win industries which they are especially capable of caring for, will profit uncommonly because most cities are not fully awake to the opportunity."

What Mr. Hunt snys is literally true, and applies with unusunl force to the local situation. To direct the future growth of our city along a line consistent with nn alrendy acquired prestige as n summer resort town, the ndoption of a enrefully drawn building code, would serve to eliminate the erection in either the business or residence section which would increase the fire hnzard or render either of these sections unsightly and would serve as a means to remove those already erected.

To building code might very properly be ndded a harbor code which would in a measure control the lake front improvements of the future and in a sense correct any existing conditions that are not ns they should be.

In line with the foregoing the industrial developement of Charlevoix should proceed nlong a line of natural and satisfactory growth.

CHARLEVOIX'S ASSETS HER HANDICAP

Our greatest assets have in the past been our greatest handicaps, for instance: The deep rich soil of this region, wonderfully watered with unending rivers, brooks and lakes together with the comparitively low price of land have made it possible for the farmer to produce profitable crops without the close attention to the quality of the seed used and the careful attention to rebuilding the soil through the use of fertilizers, so necessary in less favored sections.

Possessing the finest summer climate in the world; like Topsy we "just naturally grew" into a somewhat noted place as a summer resnrt city. During this growth there was lacking the obstacles that other places have been forced to contend with, and as a result of these favoring conditions, there has possibly been a lack of co-ordination, or of a consistent, intelligently directed effort to control the future growth of this section so necessary if we are to realize the full benefits of our naturally favored location.

This is hardly the proper time to undertake any large improvement work of a civic nature, but it is a very proper time to take stock of our available remaining assests as a community, with a view to future improvements, and a comprehensive survey should be made and the plan as a whole submitted to the people for approval. This would tend to focus the efforts of the entire citizenship on a definite objective which should comprehend not anly the civic improvement of Charlevoix, but it's industrial and commercial development as well.

"When our detention was up at end of 21 days we were given shore leave for 12 hours Saturday and Sunday both and from now on we have Saturdsy and Sunday off for shore leave. We wear white suits on 12 hour shore leave and blue one on anything longer. My company has a swell bunch of officers. They give us rest periods while drilling and if you are sick you nre sent to sick bay. Well I have'nt much more time so if this proves interesting I will write some more later on. As ever a friend and I want to be sailor. Myron Corey"

Co. E. 1st Reg., Camp Dewey, Great Lakes, Ill.

L. J. Harwood, grandson of Mrs. Phoebe B. Shaffer of Eveline township, writes from Franse as followa:

June 6, 1918.

Dear Grandma:

"Received your letter this morning nnd am having this afternoon off so I will answer it right away.

"We are having fine weather here. Well I hope we will soon get the Kaiser, and if we keep on the way we have been we will soon get him. I will be glad when it is all over and we are ordered back.

"I see by the paper that there has been some subs over on our coast.

"Well, grandma, I think you are doing all you can to help win this war by raising a garden and helping the Red Cross. I hear that that there is to be a fourth Liberty loan for six billion. It is costing the government a pile of money.

"I am contented with the army. It is a nice cnmp where I am now. I have not learned much French yet exeept a few of the most common words, and most of the French know s few English words so we can make ourselves understood.

"Well I think I will close for this time. From your loving grandson, Laverne." Pvt. L. J. Harwood, Troop F, 15th Cavalry. A. E. F.

From Claud Volkert

July 1, 1918.

Dear Uncle Dick:-

Today I nm in a little country villnge nbout six kilometers behind the lines. Things nre very quiet here at present with the exception of nerial activity nnd very little artillery netion nt night.

"Yesterdny I received your letter of June 10th, also the interesting little sheet of May 20th. Noticed there was a note in it thnt was written on my first trip near the front. It was quite amusing and yet to be regretted that I made the assertion about hunking on the Cnthedral steps at the front, as we hear you can't fool the folks back home on the war now dnys, and you must have known that we were not so close or we would have been in the cellar. I have learned that since myself, however there is a church here, that is where one once stood, but not even the steps remain intact.

"We have four cars on detached service at a village about ten kilometers from our base. The little villages are very close together, on an average of four kilometers apart. They are just little farming communities where the farmers live and go to and from work on the near by farms. The buildings consist of houses with barns usually in front, some shops, cafes and a church. The population is usunlly from three to four hundred in peace times.

"We are having the finest kind of weather, regular resort weather. This afternoon the boys have been taking a sun bath in the garden back of the house. Of course we have to stick pretty close to our helmets, and they are not quite as comfortable as a panama.

"The food is good out here, even better than back at the camps so I have been told. At any rate it agrees with me There's nothing like it for the present and good old U. S A in the future

"Three boys cama through here the other night on their way to the trenehes. They were just twenty-ane days arriving at the front from the states. While they were here a little battle was stged overhead In which one Frenchman brought down three Bocha machines in flames. The boys were all excited of course as even we old veterans were. It was quite a transition for them from the pictorial sheets to the real thing in twenty ane days.

"There is a rumor aflost that sec. 649 is going to Italy. If it pans out we will have a bully trip as we will probably drive there.

"Saw a good bit of humor in the papers the other day, perhaps you haven't heard it. 'the Italians are fighting to whip Austrls; the French are fighting to save their country; the English are fighting for supremacy of the seas, and the Americans are fighting for souvenirs." Guess they are getting them allright as every Boche prisoner that comes back of tha lines is stripped.

"I have forgotten whether ar not I wrote you that our section had been sighted, as a unit by the commanding general. It won't do any harm to put it in again anyway. We are the only S. S. U. Sec. so far to receive the citation.

"Well there's not an awful lot of naws to write now. Don't like to try and write a lot and then have it carved out because you always think you have said a lot and don't get anywhere.

"Will close for this time, hoping this finds you as well as it leaves me. I am sincerely, Claud Volkert, S. S. U. Sec. 649 Convois Autos, Par B. C. M. A. E. F.

From Vernon C. Shepard

In active service with the American Ex. Forces in France.

July 5th, 1918.

Dear Cousin:-

"Your ever welcome letter received today, I was indeed very glad to her from you. I am not very busy this afternoon, so am trying to answer your letter, also one I got from Chas. Hayner. It is a good thing I can write a little for I have not been able to speak out loud for three days, more hard luck. Had a cold and it left me whispering.

"Things are very quiet on this front, but they are active enough on the Western front.

"There seems to be a lot of sickness, but it is not serious. Don't be disappointed if this letter is not as long as you expected as there is not very much to write about except rats, and they are more bother than the Boche just at present.

"I suppose you people had a big celebration yesterday, did you not. I worked all day, sounds odd to hear of a soldier working, but nevertheless it is true."

Give my best wishes to nll. Your cousin, Vernon C. Shepard.

An Appreciation

We are pleased to publish the poem America written by one of our summer citizens, Mr. Ernest Troy.

Mr. Troy is of German parentage coming to America when 17 years of age and is now n resident of Cincinatti. This year Mr. and Mrs. Troy spent the summer season at 403 Michigan avenue, leaving for home Thursday morning.

America, Our Country!

America! America!
Thy name we dearly cherish.
It matters not what birth we trace,
Thou art our chosen dwelling place;
America! America!
For thee, in need, we'd perish!

America! America!
While sorrows nre abounding,
To aid thee in thy Freedom's fight
We follow in the cause of Right!
America! Americn!
We hear the call resounding!

America! America!
Thy Triumph bring salvation!
Oh, stem the tide of cruel hate
With power and with valor great!
America! America!
Bring Peace to every nation!

Clyde Griffin Writes of Doings of French People and Their Many Quaint Customs

The following letter was received recently from Clyde Griffin with the American E. F. in France and is submitted by his parents for publication.

July 14, 1918

Dear Mother and Father:-

"I will write you a few lines so you will know that I am still kicking around and as well as usual.

"I received a letter from you the other day. It was mailed June 14th to Camp Stuart. It had the stamps and money in it. You need not send me any more stamps as I do not need them now. We got paid on the boat so I have plenty money.

"I have not received the registered letter yet or the packages. I think the letter will come along all right, but the package should be returned to you. I wish I could have them at present, as I would like the smokes. We have tobacco issued to us here, but it is Bull Durham and I do not like it very well. I suppose I can learn to like it after I have used it for a while. If I don't I will quit smoking.

"We sure have a lot of fun here trying to talk to the French people, but most of us have gotten so we can make them understand when we want to buy anything. Since I have gotten more familiar with the French money I can make it last longer, so that helps some.

"We left St. Nazaire and we are in a small town now. We are quartered around the village in the different houses and other buildings, but have our own mess hall.

"There certainly are some funny looking people around here. I suppose the costumes make them look funny to us.

"The houses are all made of stone or brick and the roofs are either tile or flat stones. They are queer looking places. Some of them look as if they had been built before America was discovered. In a good many cases the people live in one part and keep their stock in another part. It may be all right, but I don't believe I would like to live that way.

"They certainly have fine cattle and horses here. The cattle look something like a Jersey, but are larger and look like a good beef stock. Something similar to the Bates strain of Durham.

"I should think it would be hard for these people to do much farming, as they have no farm implements like we have in the states. What they have are a kind of crude sort of an outfit and I would like to see an American farmer trying to use them.

"There is not very much to write about so I might as well close for this time. Hoping this finds you all well, I remain, Your Loving Son."

IT'S FOOLISH TO SUFFER

When So Many Charlevoix People Are Pointing the Way Out

You may be brave enough to stand backache or headache, or dizziness. But, if, in addition urination is disordered, look out! If you don't try to fix you sick kidneys, you may fall into the clutches of dangerous diseases before you know it. But, if you live more carefully, and help your kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, you can stop the pains you have had and avoid future danger as well. Don't experiment—use the remedy Charlevoix people are publicly endorsing. Read this case:

Mrs. R. M. McKeel, 214 Mason St., Charlevoix, says: "I suffered for several months with kidney trouble. I was bloated quite badly and had a weak and lame back. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Metcalf's Drug store, brought me relief."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. McKeel said: "All I have said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills holds good today. Doan's completely cured me of kidney trouble and the cure has lasted.

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. McKeel had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The mens injuries were not serious due to their good luck, but the buggy was a total wreck.

PLANS READY FOR R. F. D. CARRIERS

Ninety Per Cent of Members Expected to Attend

Ninety per cent of the rural carriers of Antrim, Charlevoix and Kaikaska counties are expected to be on hand at their semi-annual meeting which will be held at the Blue store hall at Ellsworth Monday, September 2.

This association holds two meetings each year, one on Decoration Day, which for the year 1918 was held at East Jordan, and the other held annually on Labor Day.

At the meeting at East Jordan it was decided to meet at Ellsworth on September 2, and A. D. Patterson, Ellsworth carrier on R. F. D. No.1, has been busy arranging a program and a good time is assured all who are present.

Dinner will be served at the hall at 12:30 in charge of the L. A. S. of the M. E. Church.

The following is the program:

Meeting called to order at 11:00 A. M.
Song "America"
Invocation—E. S. Carrol, Central Lake.
Address of Welcome—D. E. Clow, Ellsworth.
Response—A. R. Ellis, South Boardman.
Roll Call.
Dinner, 12:30.
Piano Solo—Mrs. D. E. Clow
State Delegates Report by R. A. Brintnall of East Jordan.
Recitation—Andrew Kooyer.
Business meeting.
Adjourn.

A sure receipt for going broke: Buy an automobile that you cannot afford, and use the money that ought to go to pay the grocer's bill to buy gasoline for "joy riding." There are a million others that may be depended upon to accomplish the same result, but this one is unfailing.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

welked forth.

True prayer engendered from an earnest, honest longing to be God-like rejects as eny part of God's kingdom that which has to do with the ills of the flesh and proclaims the omnipotence and omnipresence of the law of good—the law of God. Prayer consists of knowing the truth about God and man. When this truth is mentally understood and consistently clung to regerdless of the evidence of the senses, then will begin to breek through the clouds of darkness the glenms of light which presage a fuller radiance as the sensa dreams are vanquished, and then will begin a more comprehensive apprehension of the meaning of that passage in the prayer of all prayers. "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven."

Fruits

Since the coming of Christian Science to the world religion and materiel methods of healing have undergone some radical and startling changes. Most of us here can well remember how Christian Science was ridiculed, laughed and scoffed at, persecuted and prosecuted for its revolutionary teaching that matter cannot create or cure disease and that all true therapeutics lies in an understanding of God, or divine Mind, tha only Cause or Creator. Tha indignities which were heaped upon Christian Science for declaring that materiel remedies cannot cure disease are too numerous and too distressing to repeat. What is the attitude of the world today in this regard, solely as a result of the teaching of Christian Science? Why, almost the completa abandonment of the theory that matter can heal, and this by members of a profession who but a few short years ago proclaimed omnipotent powers for their nostrums. Many physicians today tell us they seldom or never administer drugs for curative purposes. They have found out that there is intelligence, power, Principle or law in a drug. They are learning the truth of what Mrs. Eddy discovered fifty years ago; namely, that it is not the drug that heals.

In the January, 1917, issue of "Public Health," a monthly publication of the Michigan State Board of Health, publicity is given to a statement by Dr. George Goler as follows: "Realmedicine is advancing, so that we have almost arrived at that stage where our patients do not pay us for medicine but for advice, and we—some of us at any rate—have almost come to the point where we are willing to neglect the medicine altogether, and our patients have learned that we are able to do them more good without medicine than with it."

Christian Science has distinctly proven that there is but one "preventive medicine," and that is the understanding of man's God-given freedom from disease as taught in Christian Science. The New York Telegram, editorially prints the following: "The decrease in the death rate in the United States began when the Christian Scientists started their uplifting work. Christian Scientists have made this a nation of optimists. Men and women have got into the habit of being well," as Oliver Wendell Holmes said. Christian Scientists have worked without ceasing to show their fellowmen that sin, sickness and death are abnormal conditions of mortal mind and they have succeeded. No group of religionists in America has ever had such an effect on the people, an effect for good, spiritually and bodily—as have the Christian Scientists. * * * Tha good health of the country shows the result of that work. Figures prove it."

And permit me to read briefly from a sermon delivered by Dr. William K. Sadler, a physician of Chicago, Illinois, at a large Chautauqua gathering at Bay View, Michigan, in the summer of 1916. The Doctor's words are reported in part as follows: "The examples set by Christian Scientists should put to shame every complaining, growling Christian on the face of the earth. I am a physician, so you can't try me for heresy. The time is coming when love will guide us away from the tortures of feeling. The Christian religion, if universally lived, would banish all illness and disaster. It is the only religion that is psychologically sound. When the love of God and of each other is perfected in us it will cast out all fear."

What, my friends, do you imagine would have happened to the good Doctor if he had uttered these sentiments from a similar setting before the influence of Christian Science was felt in the world?

Germ Theory.

At this point let us pause just long enough to pay our brief respects to our little friend, the germ, and to the germ theory. I refer now to the bad—tha wicked germ. We are told that there are good germs, but they do not seem to be popular. Tha bad germ is the only one we ever hear much about. Do you know that if there were one iota of truth in the present day teaching and theory about the germ there would not be a man, woman or child here this evening? If the germ theory were scientific and had tha sanction of God this old world would have been depopulated almost before it was populated.

Consider for a moment the preposterous idea of a loving God, a loving, compassionate, omnipotent Father saying to His children: —"Children, I am sorry to have to disillusion you, but what Moses wrote in the book of Genesis about man being made 'in the image and likeness of God' and having dominion over all the earth,' and what the Bible teaches from cover to cover about the loving kindness and protecting care of the Father and His love and compassion for His children is all a myth. You must hereafter place no confidence in God. Instead of being your protector and ever present help in trouble I am just the opposite. My purpose is to accomplish the complete undoing of my children, and to assist me in my task I have created the wicked germ. I have made him the deadly enemy of all my loved ones. I have given him infinitely more power and intelligence than I have given my children and I have pleced him in everything you eat, drink, handle or see. The germ is indeed 'the chosen of the Father,' and you, my children, are his prey. He has explicit instructions from me to accomplish your destruction and I have endowed him with the power and intelligence to carry out this purpose. He shares omnipotence with me while you, children, are abjectly helpless in his presence. It is my purpose that sooner or later each of you shall fall victim to his prowess."

That picture, my friends, is not what might be called a beautiful one, is it? Yet it is not overdrawn in the least particular. I submit that the teachings of the germ theorist completely eliminate God or any idea of God as necessary to the creation or salvation of men. Infinitely more to be avoided than the germ is the fear and dread of it as well as the mental picture of disease and the fear of it engendered by reading these false theories, and by reading so called health talks and descriptions of diseases appearing so profusely in the press of the country at the present time.

Spiritual Healing

It was not many years ago that Christian Science was severely criticized for its teaching that spiritual healing is as essential a part of the Christian religion as preaching, notwithstanding the fact that almost invariably the injunction of Jesus to preach the gospel was coupled with the command to heal the sick. The claim of Christian Science that the works of Jesus were examples to all humanity throughout all time of what may be accomplished through an understanding of God and His law was met with most emphatic opposition. To claim the ability to heal the sick as did Jesus was called heresy. And now today, what do we find? Almost every religious denomination calling itself Christian teaches, in a measure, its belief in healing as a necessary part of Christianity. Some religious denominations are even now endeavoring to establish within their church a system of healing as a part of their denominational teachings. And in all their advancement along this line of light you may be sure that Christian Science wishes its sister religions God-speed.

But, as pioneers in this age in the healing work as taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus, Christian Science, speaking from a half century of experience, warns all who would undertake to emulate the Master in his work of healing the sick, to ponder well his words. To those who would depart from the path marked out by Jesus and reiterated in the teachings of Christian Science, it urges caution. To attempt to build on a dual foundation of matter and Spirit, to bow allegiance in the slightest degree to material methods, to recognize aught but the one Mind, to depend on any but God and His law, means shipwreck and disaster. There is but one way and that is the way taught in Christian Science, the way by which every disease known to mankind has been healed, the way by which the healing work is being accomplished today in nearly every city, town and hamlet in the civilized world, as it was twenty centuries ago in the hills of Galilee. It is the way by which Christian Science has healed and is healing organic as well as functional diseases; such diseases as tuberculosis, intemperance, cancer, tumor, curvature of the spine, organic heart disease, locomotor ataxia, malformation of children, diabetes, gall stones, brights disease, blindness, deafness, apoplexy, appendicitis and all the ills to which flesh has been considered heir

Tha Discoverer and Foundar of Christian Science

The mental process of complete evangelization involves unwinding oneself from the snarls of mortal ignorance; it involves individual purification of thought. The perception of the truths of Christian Science does not come readily to the mind so filled with animality that there is little abiding place therein for aught else. The mind must be gradually emptied of that which does not lead to spiritual discernment. The less of materiality we believe and the more of spirituality we know, the more of the kingdom of heaven is ours. Therefore, the perception and discovery of Christian Science must have been the result, on the part of its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy, of a most thorough purification of thought. To so purify mentality that what Mrs. Eddy has taught us becomes apparent is no small task for most of us. What degree of guiding hand of Divinity, through the help of the Holy Bible, must have been Mrs. Eddy's. What hours of earnest, prayerful, selfless endeavor must have been given by her that humanity might know of this Truth that makes men free! The entire history of Christian Science from the moment its truths began to dawn faintly upon its Discoverer to the present time, marks it as a revelation come from God; as, indeed, the fulfillment of prophecy. But what of the trials and the triumphs of her to whom the world owes a debt of gratitude which it is now only beginning to pay? What of the moments of tearful expectancy that were hers awaiting the world's approval when first she faintly and almost fearfully lisped her convictions born of years of study, privation and prayer? What of the time of testing that was hers when, without malice or resentment at the world's bitter heartlessness, she patiently waited with outstretched hands, her face toward heaven and a prayer on her lips, asking begging us, to stop for one little moment just long enough to hear her simple story, the story of Jesus and his Christ. What of those times, my friends, and those trials? Think you that aught but the power that comes from on high could have sustained one lone woman to stand and face the world's hatred as did Mrs. Eddy? And what must have been her joy when the first weary traveller along life's main highway gave ear, then, pondering, finally become her lona disciple! What joy must have been hers at the coming of the second, and the third, and others, and still others to partake of that fountain of living water! And what should be the measure of joy and gratitude of every Christian Scientist today as, looking about, he contemplates the multitude of happy, healthy, hopeful folk in all quarters of the globe, willing worshipers at the shrine of Christ, because of the teachings of this one, noble, New England gentlewoman!

Mrs. Eddy discovered the divine laws of Life in the year 1866 and gave to her discovery tha name of Christian Science.—Christian, because it is preeminently a repetition of the teachings of the great master Christian; because it is loving, compassionate, Christ-like and universal in its adaptations and bestowals; because, through a correct application of its teachings, the works of Jesus of Nazareth may be emulated, and his command to go into all the world and preach the gospel and heal the sick, complied with; Science, because through the correct application of law, as laid down in its teachings, positive and predetermined results will follow as necessarily and as certainly as daylight follows the night. A religion to accomplish the works of the Master must be scientific. A religion to be scientific must be Christian.

Advancement along the line of spiritual endeavor is purely individual and one's journey heavenward depends entirely on individual effort and accomplishment. And so I ask you this evening, in taking thought on this subject, to consider it solely and alone in connection with your Bible and the light that may be thrown on this Holy Book through the teachings of Christian Science. What advancement in the line of spiritualization of thought may be yours; what victories over sin and disease you may be able to accomplish for yourself and for others will depend on your own efforts. Christian Scientists will be able to point the way a bit clearer at times, but no one can open for you the gates of the kingdom of heavan. This you must do for yourself. And, if you are earnest, my friends, in your efforts to seek the kingdom nothing will hinder you in your progress, for you will have your aim set on the goal of purity and holiness and naught but the eternal perfection of God and his universe will have abiding place in your consciousness.

PLEASANT HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Fielstra visited at the Rodger Spyer home Sunday evening.

The Fielstra's family motored to Petoskey and Harbor Springs last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Couper of Essex visited at the Fieletra home Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Crindle and two children, Glen and Eva, were visitors at the Powels home Sunday.

James DeYoung and family motored to the southern part of the state last Friday, and expect to stay about two weeks.

Peter Fielstra from Hudsonville, who was visiting at the John Fieletra home for about a week, left for his home Tuesday last.

The roads are improved quite a bit in this neighborhood. Frank Foster and Peter Baar have put in a new culvert in the road near the Fielstra place.

MILES DISTRICT

The Sunday school was well attended.

Kenneth Vanderark from Rudyard is visiting at the farm home of Albert Miles.

Mr. and Mrs. James Richards and daughter, Vivian, of Bellaire spent the week end with Mrs. Richard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carr.

John and Malvina Benson and Mrs. B. Peterson and son Rex of Boyne Falls, motored over to spend Sunday at the Miles home. Mrs. Eugene Miles accompanied them home.

Frank LaLonde and son Clarence and daughters Kate and Bess went to Cheboygan by auto by way of Petoskey and resort towns calling on old friends. They all report an enjoyable time.

ROCK ELM

Several parties from this neighborhood went in search of blackberries last week.

Mrs. Charles Donaldson's sister, Mrs. Conway and her little daughter, also her aunt, Mrs. John Whiteford, visited her last week.

James Whaling, age one year and one week, died at 9:40 P. M. Tuesday, August 21. Although his life was short, he had won the love of those who knew him by his sweetness of disposition and his patience through suffering. He was a more or less constant sufferer for about three and one half months. A short but appropriate burial service was held at Lake View cemetery, where the little one was laid to rest. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sorrow.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us in our recent bereavement.

WRIGHT DISTRICT

Mrs. Joseph McElroy and her youngest son, Bruce, were in Charlevoix on business Monday of last week.

Miss Helen McElroy spent Monday afternoon and the same night with her old schoolmate, Ethel Alward, and returned to her home Tuesday forenoon of last week.

Walter McElroy was out hunting men to help thresh one day last week.

Miss Lottie Wright was surprised by her sister who spent Wednesday and Wednesday night with her last week.

Miss Bertha Alward is visiting friends and relatives at Norwood at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Herrington and Miss Eva Wrisley were in Central Lake on Friday afternoon on business.

John McElroy and family motored to Norwood Sunday of this week.

Miss Ethel Alward called at the Herrington home Sunday evening and Mrs. Harry Potter called Sunday afternoon also, on her way over to her sister, Mrs. Harm Potter.

Alvy Feltenbarger expects to go to Camp Custer Tuesday of this week.

School begins next week and Miss Ethel Smith will again take her chair as teacher on account of being so well liked by all in this district.

ESSEX

Most of the grain is cut around here.

The rain last week helped the corn and beans.

Anna Prince of Pleasant Hill spent last Monday at the Dekkenga home.

The Misses Esther Curtis and Helen Hunt of Mitchell, spent Sunday with Miss Emily Wieland at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Eastcott and Mrs. Bentley of Ellsworth and Mrs. Eastcotte aunt from Owosso, called at the Tillotson home Sunday evening.

School meeting was held Friday evening but nothing was decided as to where the children will go to school. Another meeting will be held Wednesday evening and maybe they will do better then.

BENTLEY HILL

Frank Gaunt and Orris Carpenter went to Camp Custer Tuesday of this week.

Miss Ethel Smith is home from Charlevoix, where she has been working this summer.

On the account of reviviale, the people from here visit Phelps real often now-a-days.

Miss Lizzie Dennis, who has been very ill the past week, is recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Empey and Mrs. Frank Peeblee and family were Sunday visitors at the A. C. Johnstone home.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brat and family are entertaining Mr. Brat's mother from the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Dick Dennis and Gordon and Lester Dennis are home from blackberrying between East Jordan and Boyne City.

Miss Esther Carpenter is home for a week's stay before leaving for near Elmira where she will teach the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Carpenter and family are entertaining visitors from Ohio. With them Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Carpenter visited their daughter, Mrs. Fred Bartley at Alden.

H. S. Peebles and family and Mrs. Martin Groenink and C. Mack went to Central Lake Wednesday night of last week to attend the band concert.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Peebles and family and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Smith called on the Wright family in the Wright district, and at Miles in the Miles district.

The Misses Mamie Peebles and Znla Johnstone gave a "marsh mallow roast" last week on Friday night. Everyone spent a delightful evening in eating marsh mallows and playing games.

WILDWOOD

The family of John Crawford, with Bert Sinclair and two daughters, spent Sunday at the home of Duncan Crawford and family near East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson were in East Jordan on Sunday for a picture of the little daughter, whose second birthday anniversary occured on that date.

Miss Kate Wilson has returned to her home in Central Lake after a week's visit with her brother and family.

Mrs. H. D. Page of FonduLac, Wis., is making an extended visit with her friends, the Jim Wilson family.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson and family of Lakeview, spent Sunday at the Clarance Fales home, leaving the little Misses Evelyn and Ruth until Monday when they returned home.

Everyone is sure of a threshing this year as Frank Davy has already started his new thresher and Jim Wilson is planning to start his by the last of this week at least.

Those of this community who are among the older settlers will remember Crowell Ellis, who with his wife and family homesteaded that part of the Bert Sinclair farm which is in Charlevoix county, and will regret to hear of his death which occured at his home in Milton township, near Elk Rapids, on August 7th, followed by funeral service at the Baptist church in Eastport, conducted by Rev. Brooks the Methodist minister from Kewadin on Friday, August 9th, and burial the next day in Lakeview cemetery after the arrival of the only living sister Mrs. Jennie Brooks from Herrin, Ill. This was the passing of a very eccentric, good hearted generous man, a devoted husband and indulgent father.

58 MORE BOYS LEAVE FOR WAR

Charlevoix County Contributes Another Quota.

If 10,000 American soldiers were able to break up the Kaisers grand purade to Paris, what will the tens of thousands of American boys who are daily ontraining for some cantonment for American soldiers in some part of the United States do to him? Breaking home ties to remain away from the loved ones for an indefinite period is a depressing ordeal. It must have required moral courage of a high calibre to send the young man who left the city of Charlevoix away in the exalted patriotic mood that these chaps departed in Tuesday morning.

The crowd was not perhaps as large as on previous occasions, but the notice was short and little time was left for leave taking arrangements.

The train on which the boys will journey to Camp Custer was in charge of District Passenger Agent, Neil DeYoung who will see that the boys are provided with every possible convenience, and a Y. M. C. A. worker will also accompany them on their trip to camp. The boys leaving for Camp Custer are as follows:

40 Thomas Boyle, St. James
43 Samuel R. McCalmon, East Jordan.
65 Asa Stewart, Charlevoix

HAYES

Thirteen from Maple Grove grange attended Pomona Grange last Thursday.

Maple Grove Grange is banner grange for the county for this qunrter.

Archie Chew and family visited nt the home of his brother, J. E. Chew of East Jordan, last Sunday, returning by the way of Boyne City.

Parties from a distnnce better take the warning where they see signs "Private Property" may hear more than they see next time.

We farmers are the ones who pay the taxes on the land near Maple Grove where the blackberries grow, and believe we are entitled, at least, to pick the berries that grow on our own land. Warning signs have been placed at conspicuous places, and if those few who do not know the full meaning of these signs still persist in driving on the forbidden lund, prosecution will follow. Those who come from the east can go to the berry patch enst of Boyne City, Which is on railroad line, not private property. It won't take any more gasoline to drive there than to climb over the hills in this neighborhood. This warning is written at the request of the property owners.

Lela and Leo Allard spent a few days last week at the home of George Howe.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

As school activities come to the foreground, Greetings; The commissioner has had a very active and pleasant summer, with ten days of much appreciated vacation, taken in two installments, and is ready for the change of work which September will bring.

Back of the great movements of the day, the school formalities are quietly caring for themselves. Triplicate reports are in early, almost without exception, and so far have been just a little freer from mistakes than in any former years. At the time this goes to the editor—August 15th, reports have been received from the cities of East Jordan, Boyne City, and Charlevoix, from the townships of Chandler, Hudson, Bay, Evangeline, Wilson, South Arm, Marion, Norwood and Pealne.

Thirteen candidates wrote on the August examination in Charlevoix, and ten of our girls wrote with permission in other counties having their papers forwarded here for corrections. Board of examiners meets in Charlevoix at 7 A. M., Saturday August 17, to award the certificates and consider renewals and transfers.

Arrangements are under way for a big three day institute in October, to take the place of the usual midwinter institute. All with whom the commissioner has talked seem to rejoice over the fact that the state is now working with us in our desire to avoid the winter drifts. Also if present plans hold, we shall combine with the school officers meeting one day, and shall have the very best talent available. Five or six splendid men have been promised us, but altho we are pretty sure we must wait for formal appointments before printing the line-up. A big picnic has been suggested to take the place of the usual banquet.

Eleven schools have not secured tenchers for the coming year. There are however more than eleven applicants still without schools. The trouble is to bring the two together for trained teachers who up to the present time offer their services out of patriotic reasons, still hesitate to teach for less than $60, unless all other circumstances are very nttractive. Our smaller schools feel scarcely nble to pay this but compromises may be reached someway. The Mackie school will transport their children to Springvale, nnd the Thumb Lake school will close.

A patriotic song book with the new popular songs included is being prepared by the state department for free distribution among our teachers. A new course of study is now in the hands of the state printer, not so different as to necessitate weeks of labor in the mastery but such as will demand a little readjustment.

The commissioner has already placed an order with the department for quantites of both of the above and for supplies as listed in last year's directory.

Our list of drafted boys showed us plainer than ever before what the schools could and did not do for its boys. England and France saw the same situation and immediately began the remedy. We have children's year before us, and our country will spend millions of dollars this year to decrease the death rate, to upbuild the health of our growing young. Along this same line a few of our school districts are continuing the work which we had begun before the war.

Marion No. three is remodeling the fine cement block building to make it a standard school. It already has a new roof, left side bank of windows, is newly plastered, being tinted, and is having new furnace with ventilating system installed. Visitors at Barnard will be interested in seeing the new building.

Cedar Valley is lengthening the school building, and providing a protected entry, toilets, and etc. building anew according to a state approved plans which they submitted in 1917.

The Ironton school is having a cement floor in the basement and caring for little necessary things about the building.

There are no doubt many other improvements in process which will soon be discovered.

He outgrows the wife of his youth intellectually, and falls in love with his charming and brilliant secretary. A study of the developement of a man's self control, with some interesting character studies.

Benson, Edward Frederic.—The Tortois—published in England under the title of Mr. Teddy.

Porter, Mrs. Gene Stratton— A Daughter of the Land.

Furnish Music

The boys who are going out of and passing through our city should be provided with some sort of marching music if it is only a drummer boy. Nobody but those going can realize what a drab leavetaking it is to march two by twos without even a thing to break the monotony of the prospect except the sound of the marching feet. Further along the line they find that the boys who entrain with them from other stations are accompanied to the station with music. This furnishes a means for a comparison with their departure from Charlevoix that can hardly be said to be to our own credit as a city.

Seeing Michigan From Highways

Two Ohio girls, Miss Ella Brown and Edith Lovelace of Warren, Ohio, passed through Charlevoix bound for Benton Harbor Sunday. They stopped at the Bartlett hotel for dinner and a short rest and left for the south in the late afternoon. The girls were wearing high topped walking shoes, they were tanned and sturdy looking and appeared to be gaining in health as well as sight seeing experiences through the novel method they had adopted for spending a part of their vacation.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

August 26, 1918.

The common council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date, Mayor Rose, presiding. Aldermen present: Benton, Geneit, Glassford, and Hiller.

Minutes of the meeting of August 19th, 1918, were read and approved.

The mayor asked that the communication received from Mr. H. L. Oldham, relative to working funds for the committee of Fourth Liberty Loan Drive, be tabled for one week.

Enter Alds. Washburn and Geiken.

The mayor referred the communication with statement attached, from Charles S. Abbott, to the Electric Light and Water committee, to report as soon as possible.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

MORE CO-OPERATION NEEDED

TO ASSURE SUCCESS OF RESORT AND TOURIST BUREAU

Work of Present Year Analyzed at Meeting Held at Charlevoix Inn Friday

The most regrettable feature of the meeting of officials and members of the Michigan Resort and Tourists bureau, held at the Inn on Friday last, was the absence of the pessimist—the man who cannot (or will not) see a wonderful future for the beautiful little city we live in—and the man who tightens the strings of his purse when asked to help, according to his means, in telling to the world what a wonderful climate we have, about the scenery, lake drives, boating, fishing, a place to spend the summer months, the short vacation, where hundreds come annually and where there is ample room for hundreds more. Had he been present, there is no doubt his ideas would change, and even if he did not contribute liberally, at least he would speak of his home town in a manner it deserved.

The meeting, held in the auditorium, was called to order at 10:00 a. m. by Fred Rowe of Grand Rapids, president of the bureau, who stated the reason it was called and what was expected to be accomplished during the session. A. C. Johnston of Grand Rapids, spoke at length on the work of the bureau, and the co-operation needed to make it a success. Other speakers, among whom were John I. Gibson, of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, Carrol Sweet of Grand Rapids, W. E. Wolfenden, general passenger agent of the Pere Marquette railroad, W. P. Hartman representing the G. R. & I. R. R., William B. Moss of Chicago, and others interested in the work.

Secretary Gray's report of the work of the bureau illustrated the comprehensive manner in which it had been conducted. It told of the advertising campaign carried out during the present season and the amount of money expended, also of the results obtained.

When the bureau was organized, a campaign for membership was conducted with the result that practically every western Michigan town or city from Grand Rapids to Mackinac City were included. Each town or city was asked to contribute, according to population and location, certain funds. Charlevoix pledged $1,100, of which $900 has been paid. Other cities were assessed accordingly. Funds to the amount of $13,000 were in this manner raised and during the early part of the season expended for advertising. According to secretary Gray's report over thirteen hundred inquiries were received, practically all asking for direct information as to a place to spend the summer.

Inquiries numbering at least forty were received by the Charlevoix Commercial Club, and proportionate inquiries along the entire line, with the result that many people who have heretofore spent their summers in other states have came to the resorts of western Michigan. As yet, the work is in its infancy and in the year to come it will be hard to estimate or place a value on the work already accomplished.

One of the objects of the meeting was to decide on the amount of money to be expended during 1919 by the bureau, and to equalize this amount among the cities among its membership. The matter was thoroughly discussed and it was finally decided to raise $30,000, Charlevoix's share to be $2,000. J. L. Crane, in behalf of the business men of Charlevoix and the Commercial Club, pledged this amount.

Another matter of vital interest to Charlevoix as well as all northern Michigan towns, concerning the new railroad rates established by the government, was discussed at length.

The report called attention to the discrimination against Michigan resorts in the new round trip tourist rates authorized by the government. The round trip rate from Chicago to Denver under these rates in $39, and to Charlevoix it is $20.12. On a mileage basis the rates to Denver would be $31, as against $39, or the Charlevoix rate would be $14, or $15 as against $20.12. The round trip rate from St. Louis to Charlevoix is about $4 more than the rate from St. Louis to Denver, although the round trip distance to Charlevoix is about 700 miles less. With a strong association it will be possible to exert pressure to secure more equitable rates.

At noon a recess was taken and the visiting members of the association as well as Charlevoix representatives were guests of the Inn management for luncheon. Manager Creamer welcomed the visitors and placed the hotel at their services.

The afternoon session was fully as interesting as the one held during the forenoon, and many and varied were the subjects discussed, although all tended toward the betterment of both the resort association and Northern Michigan.

TRADITIONS OF THE CHIPPPPEWA INDIANS

Maintained Under Helpful Christian Influences.

Dim and shadowy are the traditions of their forebears in the minds of the remnants of the once powerful Chippewa Indian nation, but the tribal instinct once their only means of self preservation from their ancient enemy still persists, but for the tribal feasts of other days, now is substituted the Christian Chautauqua, as it is called in Charlevoix, "The Indian Camp Meeting."

Greensky Hill this summer was the camping place of some four-hundred members of the Chippewa tribe. Here were pitched some one hundred tents, the modern substitute for the picturesque teepee of the wild, free days. The oil stove and the gasoline range were used for cooking purposes by most of the families, but many skilled in primitive methods of former days prefer the open fire, simple process of preparing their food.

The Indian officers in charge of the camp meeting this season were: I. Wasaquam, Chairman; Mrs Susan Greensky, Secretary; Peter Taylor, Treasurer; Mrs. Ella Adams acting as organist.

The native Chippewa is a character of fine spirit and given the benefit of continuous Christian influences invariably becomes a valuable American citizen. It was with this end in view that the annual summer camp meeting was instituted.

Supplementing and directing the efforts of the native Chippewa workers, Rev. Quinton Walker, pastor of the Methodist church of Charlevoix was a daily attendent, alternating with the Chippewa religious workers in leading the meetings.

Some forty-five Indians made an open profession of the Christian faith at the services this year, but like their pale face brothers they sometimes stray from the fold and require patient and continued attention to keep them in the paths of industry and christian endeavor.

Last dance of the season at the D'Ooge barn, Wednesday evening, September 11. Come and enjoy the evening. 36t1

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLOIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

No Need For Parents to Be Down Hearted About Their Boys In The Army. They Will Come Back Fine, Healthy, Decent Fellows.

From Wm. A. Houck

Mr. Houck, a former linotype operatnr in the employ of the Courier, left Charlevoix to enter training at Valpariso, August 15. Last week he was transferred to Iowa City, and in the following letter writes interestingly of his trip and life in camp.

Sept. 1, 1918.

Dear Friend A. J.—Have been so busy that I have not had the time to keep up with my correspondence. Had intended to let you know in time to hold the paper so that it would not go to Valpariso, but like all things in the army, the orders came so sudden that I did not even have time to write Mrs. Houck. I dropped her a card from Chicago, furnished by the Red Cross and a letter telling her to notify you of my change in address, of which, I hope she has told you so that I will receive this weeks' Courier.

"We received orders at 4:30 to leave Valpariso for Iowa City. At 5:00 we were given our supper and marched to the Nickle Plate depot, where two special cars were waiting for us. On arriving at Chicago about 8 p. m. we were served sandwiches, chocolate bars and magazines and newspapers by the Chicago Red Cross.

"We left Chicago at 10:00 p. m. over the Rock Island, and it was some fast train. There was also a car load of wounded American soldiers on our train, bound for the hospital at Des Moines. Some of the boys were in a pretty bad shape, such as a leg off, or an arm shattered, some suffered from shell shock and so on. Most of them had only been in the trenches for an hour or so, and claimed that they were cheated out of a good time.

"Iowa City is the big college town of the state, just the same as Ann Arbor is to Michigan. On the whole the city is like Charlevoix, clean and beautiful with wonderful drives and boulevards. The state school boildings are wonders, and the architecture is beautiful.

"Our barracks is right in the heart of the city and practically in the center of the college area.

"I have to pinch myself to see if I am awake every time I set down to meals. It is not "mess" here. It is breakfast, luncheon and dinner. Here is what we had today (Sunday) for breakfast: Corn flakes or rolled oats, coffee, real bread and butter, egg on toast, jam For luncheon: Roast pork with apple jelly, mashed potatoes and gravy, sweet pickles, creamed asparagus, iced tea, chocolate ice cream. For dinner: Fried potatoes with egg, iced tea and coffee, minced ham, olives. It will be h— to get into a cantonment again. Perhaps the reason we are fed so well is due to the fact that there are only 298 men here. The officers have practically the same as we do. Anyway, they couldn't wish for any better. You do not have to do any kitchen duty here either, outside of every week five men are appointed out of the company to wait on table, but you do not have to wash dishes as you did in other places. In fact it is a little bit of heaven.

"Well we are not going to be auto mechanics either. There were a hundred of us that were sent here and we are to form a telephone installation and repair unit. The course, as I understand it, covers a period of three months. It is a pretty stiff proposition, but if hard work and study will get me through I will do my very best.

"Our study hours are from eight in the morning until three in the afternoon, then we have military drill from three until six. At seven we attend lectures until eight. So you see we only have two hours a day to ourselves which is not much We do not have to work Saturday afternoons or Sunday.

"The people here think the sun sets on a soldier, and cannot do enough for him. Tomorrow we are all invited out to the country for a picnic, the people furnishing the cars to take us out. In the evening we are to attend a minstrel show at the opera house, so I guess it will break the monotony a little.

"I forgot to tell you that I saw the "Father of Waters" for the first time where we crossed the Mississippi at Rock Island, Ill., and then pulled into Davenport, Iowa, it was just day-break and the river was very impressive, so much so that I do not know how to express it.

"Was on gaurd last night from

FEW SLACKERS IN CHARLEVOIX

CITY PEOPLE OBEY REQUEST MADE BY GOVERNMENT

Garages Refuse To Sell Gasoline or Supplies—Gasolineless Sunday Well Observed

Automobile traffic in Charlevoix was cut down approximately ninety per cent Sunday in compliance with the government's request that cers he not driven for other than strictly necessary purposes in order tn cnnserve gosoline, imperatively needed for troop and supply transportation on the western front.

Among those who used their machines were a few farmers who presumably had no knowledge of the order or persons bent on urgent business, and the balance were merely joy-riding, unaware that every drop of gasoline wasted here may mean a drop of American blood unnecessarily shed overseas or else unconcerned over the fact.

The various garages about the city were closed all day Sunday as far as gasoline or supplies go and with but extreme instances sold gasoline or suppics from Saturday night to Monday morning.

Old Dobbin and the seldom used busses were utilized for transporting passengers to and from trains and boat landings. The 'rat-tat-tat" of the gasoline driven boat was hardly heard during the day, with the exception of the motor car on the P. M. railroad, running between Charlevoix and Petoskcy. Bridge street presented an almost deserted appearance during the entire day. Once in a while a 'Lizzie' was driven down the street, but seldom returned to be met with the term "slacker" yelled at them by those few who were loitering on the street.

Blackberrying parties, a number of which had been planned, were postponed in Charlevoix, although in neigboring cities were urged by members of various war boards as being a true form of conservation. "Get the berries," they were told, "they should not be allowed to spoil on the bushes."

One party who did go stated that on a previous Sunday his party got eight dollars worth of berries by the use of fifty cents' worth of gasoline, and that it looked like a good stroke of business for Uncle Sam.

"Stop automobile driving five nights a week instead of all day Sunday; save three times as much gasoline, and keep up the morale of the man who works hard six days a week."

REGISTRATION DAY SEPTEMBER 12

COVERS EVERY MAN BETWEEN AGES OF 18 AND 45

Quick Registration is Best Evidence of Patriotism American Man Can Show.

The War Department has cut out a Herculean job for itself—the registration of 13,000,000 men in a single day. It has planned to list every man in the country 18 to 45 years (both inclusive), except those previously registered, on Selective Service Registration Day.

That might well be a job for the whole month of September, but the War Department says it must be done in a day, September 12, and can be.

It can be done if every man, woman and child on or before registration Day makes it a point to speed the work of registration. It can be made an easier job if every one plans for the day, builds for the day, and does everything in his power to make the preparations complete.

Of course, the big undertaking is to educate the men to register without delay. In this education the War Department is counting upon the cooperation of leading men and women in every section of the land.

Team Work Everywhere

No effort which can teach every man of the ages specified to realize that he must register should be omitted. He must be made to appreciate it as a patriotic obligation, the neglect of which brings a penalty of a year in prison.

This can be accomplished in a thousand ways by the men who have these ways at their fingers' tips. Merchants, public speakers, instructors, advertising men, preachers, all the great spreaders of information, should direct their abilities and capabilities towards scattering broadcast the meaning of Selective Service Registration Day.

They must fix a clear understanding in the minds of those near them and employed under them. They must awaken a great public conscience towards the obligation of Selective Service. That is today the great work of every American Citizen, whatever his age.

Preparation by the Government

Thousands of Registration Boards will be ready on Registration Day to take care of the millions who must register. The great organization, brought to perfection when the men between 21 and 31 years of age registered, is expected to surpass the wonderful record they made at the first registration.

No preparation has been overlooked by the Provost Marshall General that would speed the work. The Government is determined that the vast registration shall be hastened through in the day alloted to it. All the schedule of placing a huge army in Europe next year is based upon a one-day registration.

Why Speed is Needed

The enlarged military program requires that the Selective Service system, which must supply the additional men needed, shall have a Class 1 of over two million available to be drawn upon on and after October.

In order to obtain two million Class 1 men, the nation must register about thirteen million more men for classification. These thirteen million represent the total males in ages 32 to 45 and 18 to 21.

Why does the army need over two million men? Because the allied program to speed up the final overthrow of the German Armies, calls for an early mustering of America's

U. S. MANPOWER NOW 25,175,000

Americans Could Wipe Germany Off World's Map.

What is the manpowsr of America?

Five million is the goal the war department has set for itself. This means that 4,000,000 men are to be placed in France, with 1,000,000 more in training here.

If more are needed millions will be forthcoming. Here are some figures on America's manpower:

Males between 21 and 31 registered last year	9,500,000
Young men who have since become 21, registered last June	750,000
Young men 21 since then, Registered Aug 24	150,000
Estimated number who will register when the draft is extended to men between 18 and 45	13,500,000
Marine corps	75,000
United State Navy	400,000
The old regular army and national guard	800,000
Grand total	25,175,000

Of course, from this number finally must be deducted cripples, unfit and alien enemies, but a staggering total would still be left.

The army of 5,500,000 will be selective in every sense of the word. Uncle Sam will choose the most physically and mentally fit to be his soldiers.

Patriots Will Register. Others MUST.

one to three, some job. Well I guess I have bored you enough with this letter so will cut it short. Give my regards to the boys and my Charlevoix friends. Awaiting the Courier and also another letter I am, as always—Wm. A. Houck, Co. B. Training Detachment, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

From Alex Sayers

Camp Grant, Ill. Aug 31, 1918

Charlevoix Courier, Mr. Usher Editor. Dear Sir—Just to let you know I am at Camp Grant and that I like it. It is a great life this serving for Uncle Sam. I came here the 22nd of this month. It is a big place full of life and joy, but sorry to say only a replacement camp.

"They are not forming any more divisions here at all. Give them a month or two of training then send them to some other camp to fill in on divisions there. The officers are all gentlemen and strive real hard to show a man and make it pleasant for him while he is here.

"There are a few companies of boys leaving for "over there" this week. Also some thousands of Negroes for the other side. I wish I was going over myself, I'd be glad and happy for a chance like that. Some of the fellows think it is foolish to think that way, but personally, I don't think a man could do more than to go to fight and give his life if necessary, to rid the world of the curse the devil has put on it.

"I have German blood in my body. Both my parents came from Germany, and God only knows no man resents it more than I do even though it is not my fault.

"That is a good hint to all those who have the same conditions that I have. No matter what nation you come from, if you come to live in this wonderful country, be a man and fight and die for it. She gives us all protection. It is only right that we help protect her in her greatest hour of need. And the way to do it is to join the army, learn it from top to bottom, and make men of themselves. They will never regret it in after years.

"I believe all should be an honest American or a second cousin to the Kaiser, if they can't be the first. Don't you think that is right?

"You ought to see the way Uncle Sam takes care of us. Gives us good things to eat and plenty good clothes to wear and plenty of fun thrown in, besides the dozen and one other things he does for us. A man or boy I believe never really thinks what his country, this land of ours, is until he is in the army and then his true colors show up.

"I'd like to have you publish this letter Mr. Usher to all those who are afraid to join the colors, or who are doubtful. It may do them a world of good. In ending I wish to ask you to still send my paper to the same address as at present until further notice. I will close for this time wishing you all up in Charlevoix the best of luck. I remain, Respectfully yours—Alex L. Sauers.

CONVINCING TESTIMONY

Given By Many Charlevoix People.

Experiences told by Charlevoix people—

Those who have had weak kidneys—

Who used Doan's Kidney Pills—

Who found the remedy effective—

Such statements prove merit.

You might doubt an utter stranger,

You must believe Charlevoix people.

Here's Charlevoix proof. Verify it.

Read. Investigate. Be convinced. You'll find why Charlevoix folks believe in Doan's.

H. R. Fox, carpenter, 205 Park Ave., says: "Sometimes when I catch cold or do too much stooping my kidneys get out of order and my back becomes lame. Whenever I get these attacks, I feel all tired out. All I have to do is to take Doan's Kidney Pills and they straighten me up in A No. 1 shape All kidney sufferers should use Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Fox had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

The only districts in the county that have not established school libraries at the present time are: Boyne Valley No. 1, Hudson No. 2, St. James No. 2, and 3, and Peaine No. 2. Thus the triplicate reports indicate that on the mainland we have only two schools out of 64 that have no libraries and in the Benvers we have three schools that have no libraries. Let us hope that 1918 will esre for this margin that keeps us from being a 100 per cent library county.

The following letter has been saved since last June for just this time. Let us hope that it gives its own message of school ideals to parent and student renders:

Dear Miss Stewart:—I am writing you a line this morning in regard to Edith's attendance at school the past nine months. I enclose her report card so you will see that she was neither absent nor tardy for the year (in fact for FIVE years) and I believe she has earned a diploma. I wrote the teacher nearly two weeks ago and she has not answered me. Will you kindly give this your attention? Yours very truly, —Mrs. A. C. Struthers.

You may be sure that the above received prompt attention. If there is anything in the school life of every pupil that will spell interest and success, it is regular attendance encouraged by the unselfish parent and continued by the diligent student. We have many who are neither absent nor tardy for one year at a time and we say praises to the busy farmer who can still see the need for regular attendance if his child is to maintain interest and places this interest above his own immediate needs on the farm.

We have however, only a few pupils who are neither absent nor tardy year after year. The Davis girls have carried this record in the Slaughter school for several years. The commissioner was talking with them this summer, and upon asking them if upon entering the Boyne City High School this fall they intended to continue this good record in regular and punctual attendance, their eyes shone brightly and they answered "Certainly!" Elmer Padgett of the Gill school told us last year that he wanted a diploma for being neither absent nor tardy for four years, and then wanted to know if there was such a thing as a big diploma or something if you didn't miss a day for eight years. (You may be sure we would find something.) His father is a busy farmer, with work of course enough for ten men but his boy's life is given to him during school time, the biggest gift his father can give him in these days or in any days to come. There may be several others whose names have been hidden like the violet but if kind friends will help us to learn their names, we shall surely be glad to hear from them.

Please note the following Educational program adopted by the Junior Red Cross, as originally gotten up by Dr. Miller of North Carolina, and detect if you can difference between this and our general standard school requirements and home work hygiene credits:

1 Each child is responsible for the appearance of and about his or her desk, and is required to keep it in a clean and tidy condition. It shall be unlawful for anyone to cause trush or filth of any kind to collect in or about any of the school buildings or on the school premises.

3 With regard to the water supply, every means in the power of the pupils for preventing any kind of filth from getting into it must be practiced.

4 Special attention must be given to the care of closets. The walls must be free from any writing or carving. It is unlawful to stand upon the seats. The seats and floor must be free from bodily filth.

5 It shall be unlawful to carry any excessive amount of dirt or filth in the school rooms upon the feet.

And there are a few recommendations. Every effort must be made to bring about the following condition for the school: a Sanitary closets which will prevent the spread of disease. b Safe and healthy drinking water supply. c Ventilation so as to give a constant temperature of sixty-eight degrees, Fahrenheit, and to give a constant supply of fresh air thru windows opened at the top. d Damp sweeping and dusting with un oiled cloth. e Sanitary drinking fountain. f Basin for washing hands. g proper arrangement and amount of light in school rooms. h Size and arrangement of seats so as to make each pupil comfortable. i Immediate correction of all physical defects as recommended by county health officer. j Sleeping with windows wide open and sufficient cover every night, winter and summer. k Sale of greatest possible number of Red Cross stamps and other reasonable assistance to health progress. l Each pupil from a home 100 per cent sanitary, as scored by county health officer.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

final contribution. The War Department has stated that America's Army must not fall below five million men. Of this amount nearly three million men are now under arms. This leaves more than two million men to be made ready (including replacements), and the time has now come to obtain them.

October Training

Why must these two million and a quarter class 1 men begin to be available by October 1? Because by October 1, at the present rate of dispatching troops to Europe, our cantonments will be depleted, and by the process of refilling their places, the Class 1 men obtained by the 1918 classification will have been entirely used up. It will, therefore, be necessary to call more Class 1 men to camp. In order to obtain more Class 1 men, we must proceed to this new registration. As soon as the whole number has been registered, the classification will begin and a quota will be called each month, beginning in October, to fill the places in the camps of those who are departing to join the boys over there.

Therefore, the registration had to take place not later than the middle of September, in order that the first installment of the new Class 1 men may be ready by October.

POOR TOWN STREETS.

Often In Worse Condition Than the Adjoining Country Highway.

Comment on the poor streets maintained by small cities and towns on main highways, often far inferior to the country road, licenses and points more commandingly to the need of some comprehensive plan that will insure uniformity on main roads, inclusive of routes through villages and towns. The following is from an editorial in Good Roads:

"It would seem superfluous to call attention to the fact that continuous maintenance is as necessary for the streets of the smaller cities and the larger towns as it is for country roads, yet it is true that in some sections the main country roads are in much better condition than are the city and village streets. Automobilists are well aware of this, for it is forced upon their notice every time they enter or leave any settlement of sufficient size to be intrusted with the care of its own highways.

"A New England town which serves admirably as an example of this condition was recently visited by the writer. It is an ordinarily prosperous community of some 8,000 or 9,000 inhabitants; it is ideally situated in a region of great natural beauty; it has fine water power, an unexcelled water supply and many other natural advantages. It is served by two railroads and is the home of several large manufacturing concerns. It has an active and growing organization of business men and within the last fifteen years has become an important summer resort. It has several unusually fine churches, good schools and a well equipped library. Its fire department is efficient, its streets are well lighted and there are sidewalks on most of the principal thoroughfares.

"But the condition of its streets is indescribably bad. With the exception of a short stretch of bituminous macadam resurfacing on the main street, there is hardly a mile of even passably good roadway in the town proper. Almost every roadway is a succession of ruts and waves that make it very uncomfortable to ride in any kind of vehicle, even at a very low speed. The main street through which runs a single track, T rail, street car line, is about as bad as it could be and remain passable. It is even rougher than the other streets, and as it has been oiled—apparently without preliminary cleaning—it is a sea of oily slime in wet weather. Unflattering as this description may seem, it is conservative rather than overdrawn. And the town would suffer little in comparison with some of its neighbors. • • •

"Whatever the reason for the apparent apathy of small town and city officials, the results are deplorable. Traffic should be as well accommodated within communities, and it is difficult to understand why there should not be enough civic pride among the citizens of our smaller municipalities to refuse to tolerate such street conditions as exist in many small cities and large towns."

Use of Cement.

Cement was first put on the market in England. It was still being imported into this country in 1875. It was at this time that the use of Portland cement in the United States came into commercial prominence. When the product was first placed on the market in competition with that which was being imported from England and Germany a good price was demanded. However, production in excess of demand soon resulted and it proved a big factor in the price cutting that followed.

How Best to Save

The question of the day is not whether or not to save, but HOW BEST TO SAVE.

The best way to make the start is to open a Savings Account.

The proper time to begin is right now when work is plentiful and wages high.

The sure method to make progress is through systematic, regular deposits.

The right place is in this Institution where new accounts are welcome and depositors are given every possible banking assistance.

Great Power in Flesh

Like produces like.

Flesh makes flesh.

The strongest and hardiest peoples are those who consume good meat.

The American Indian lived largely on buffalo and bear steak.

"John Bull," that model of hardihood, would starve without his roast.

An American is but half a man without his "ham and."

Our meats are always the best to be had. See us for strength-giving meats of all kinds.

ATTENTION PATRIOTS

Men 18 to 45 (both inclusive), except those previously registered, attention! Your country calls you! Do not let her call in vain.

Whether you were born in America or in some foreign country; whether you have a large family or are un-married; whether you work on the farm or in the shops—no matter who or what you are, unless you are in the service, if you are between these ages you must register on September 12.

If you shirk your duty not only will you be in personal danger of arrest and severe punishment, but your country will be in danger. For as Chief of Staff Peyton C. March says, "The only way that Germany can be whipped is by America going into this war with her whole strength!"

The first draft obtained almost three million men. Two million more are needed. "With an American Army of 4,000,000 men," says General March, "we can go through the German line wherever we please."

To get the rest of this five million all men between the ages noted above must register. There are about thirteen millions of these. But the draft boards will discard the unfit, those with large families and those in war industries—and leave a gigantic army of determined men who are ready to rid the world of the menace of the Huns.

The Government is very busy—it may be days before the registration can be checked up and it be determined whether or not YOU have registered. Don't wait for this "checking up"—act as a man should, and register on September 12 without further notice.

Will Soon Marry

Word comes from Solano, New Mexico, that J. G. Reed, a former resident of Charlevoix is about to be married to a sweetheart of the civil war days. —The then young couple became estranged in the early sixties, each marrying and raising families. During the last year they again met, with the result that past differences were patched up and it is expected that the wedding will take place September 9 at Frankfort, Indiana.

In nnother column will be found the advertisement of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties, offering for sale judgments to the amount of $2,500.

In connection with placing the advertising order, Mr. Tubbs requests that the following explanation he published, that all may understand the intent of his recent action: "You might state as news for your readers that the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. has voluntarily applied for receivers appointment, which will proceed to settle up the affairs of the company immediately. As secretary-trensurer of this company, I recommend that this step be taken to safeguard the members of the company at present against further conflagrations. A letter of explanation is accompaaying each statement to the members when the assessment is made."

DELIGHTFUL RED CROSS ENTERTAINMENT

Given Tuesday Evening of Last Week at Sequenota.

Tuesday, August 27, a delightful entertainment was given at the Sequenota Club for the benefit of the Red Cross at Ironton. Miss Loveday of East Jordan volunteered her services if the Ironton people would furnish the music. This was done by the guests of the club.

Miss Loveday gave a few of her delightful interpretative readings, and Miss Thompson and Miss Frye interspersed with some very pleasing songs.

The tickets sold amounted to $28.86 and the little people donated $14.25 which was raised by home entertainments during the season. The total amounted to $43.11.

Lightning Destroys Barn

During the heavy electric storm of Wednesday evening of last week, lightning struck the barn of Alfred Rice, south of Charlevoix, on the Norwood road, setting fire to it and destroying the building. Some farm implements and about 60 tons of hay were destroyed, causing a heavy loss to the owners.

HAVE A HEART— HELP THE ORPHANS

Michigan Hospital School To Hold ——Heart Day Saturday——

Saturday, September 7, is the annual tag day in the city to help the Michigan Hospital School of Detroit, care for the unfortunate crippled children of the state.

The public has always contributed generously to the institution, which is a corrective school maintained by popular subscriptions to benefit crippled and physically defective children.

The work is non-sectarian and supported entirely by free will gifts of the people. The larger and more numerous the gifts, the greater the number of children benefitted. Your gift will be most heartily appreciated.

Let Saturday's slogan be a smile and have a heart.

TELLS OF ESCAPE FROM GERMANS

KNOCKS DOWN PRISON GUARD WITH BARE FISTS

Strips Hun of Uniform and Makes His Way to American Lines —Some Adventure

This item is handed in by a Courier subscriber. It was taken from the Jewish Daily News published in New York and will no doubt prove interesting as showing the type of fighters America has overseas:

"Bunt" Cohen of the Engineers Corps, A. E. F., who arrived last Tuesday in New York from overseas, brought with him a thrilling tale of an escape from a German prison.

Such trifling things as a couple of husky German guards with fixed bayonets, a barbed wire stockade, the whole German army and a wide, rapid river in the direct line of fire didn't feaze "Bunt" Cohen, when he made up his mind to escape. "Bunt" is now speeding to his home in San Francisco by rail.

With two sturdy fists, one active brain and one very stout heart, "Bunt" managed to effect a most amazing get-away under very unfavorable conditions.

When the unit with which he went overseas last winter found itself in the midst of the fighting at Cambrai in March, "Bunt" was among those who dropped picks and shovels grabbed up rifles and drove back the Germans from a large gap in the line.

"Bunt" Taken Captive

The feel of a rifle so enthused "Bunt" that he rushed forward to carry on the war by himself and found that he was marooned in a shell crater, cut off from his own lines by a terriffic barrage. When the field-gray waves of Germans advanced "Bunt" put up a tough struggle, but was taken captive and hurried to the Fortress of Metz.

There the German intelligence put Cohen through the third degree, but the information he generously vouchsafed was so amuzing and wierd that he was given up and sent to an internment camp in the interior. There he "groused" about the food, as he had done in the American army, but his guards did not take his grumbling in the same spirit and threw him into a cell.

"Bunt," who speaks German, struck up an acquaintance with his guard. When the German grew careless and left the cell door ajar on the evening of June 26, a hard American upper-cut, with Cohen's 160 pounds back of it, opened the way for "Bunt's" escape.

"I hustled some then," said Cohen. "I pulled the guard into the cell and took off his uniform. When he got his senses I had to give him a taste of his own bayonet to quiet him. I put on the German uniform and slammed the door and walked out. I fixed another guard in the yard with my bayonet also.

Barbed Wire Stockade Easy

"It was a cinch to hack through the barbed wire stockade, and in ten minutes I was through. I walked all night toward our lines, and when daylight broke I found myself in the middle of a railroad yard, with a lot of German soldiers and officers around. One of the officers asked me where I belonged, and I bluffed and told him I had lost my detachment.

"He put me to work on a munitions train, and when it started for the front I stayed on. When the train stopped I slipped off and took cover, finding myself on the bank of the River Oise, which was just between the two fighting armies.

"I took off my German boots, threw away my German rifle and took a dive in. As I swam toward the American shore of the river German sharpshooters started firing at me, and the bullets spattered too darn close for comfort. When I got nearer the Americans began shooting, thinking I was a German because of my uniform.

"I was in danger of winding up right there, but I thought the King's English might help me. So I held up my hands and yelled, "For the love o' Mike, have a heart. I'm no sausage!" That cut them short. I was dragged up the bank, and it took only a short time before I was identified."

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

WORLD SHORTAGE IN BEET SUGAR

Crops Are 40 Per Cent. Less Than Pre-War Average—Central Powers Hit Hardest.

CANE SUGAR IS ISOLATED.

Allied Beet Production Falls One-third In Rigid War Economy Practiced.

The world today is producing forty per cent. less beet sugar than the pre-war average.

Counting the American, Allied and German-Austrian crops, as well as the neutrals, the U. S. Food Administration has estimated that the world shortage created by the light crop of 1917-1918 is at least three and a half million tons.

That the 1917-1918 crop of cane sugar was two million tons in excess of the previous year does not relieve the general shortage.

Cuba and Java produce one-half of the world cane crop, and the Java sugar is too far removed from America to transport when shipping is badly needed to transport and maintain the military forces in France.

In Java a large part of the old sugar crop is still awaiting shipment. Since it requires 150 to 160 days for each boat that is sent to Java, the possibilities of obtaining adequate shipments of Jave sugar this season are remote.

Allies' Production Falls.

Taking the Allied nations as a group, official reports show that beet sugar production is less by one-third than the pre-war average.

French beet sugar industry has suffered most by the war. The French yield of beet sugar is now only 29.1 per cent. of the pre-war average.

For the five years preceding the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, France produced an average of 752,542 tons of sugar each year. For 1917-18 the French production was 219,416 tons.

With 61 factories operating, as compared with more than 200 that were in existence before the war end before the general campaign of destructiveness launched by the German armies, France nevertheless managed to manufacture more beet sugar in 1917-18 than in 1916-17, when the total output was 202,415 tons.

Italy in 1917-18 produced 100,800 tons of beet sugar, which was 56,000 tons less than the previous year and 110,250 less than the annual output of sugar for the five year pre-war period.

One of the great difficulties experienced in Italy's beet sugar industry was finding sufficient labor to handle the crop. Thousands of men usually employed in beet sugar production were called for military service. The yield per acre amounted to approximately half of the usual quantity of beets harvested.

Edward Tillotson spent Monday at the Wieland home.

Mrs. Tillotson expects to have her house painted this week.

The carpenters have finished work on Nick. Dekkenga's house.

Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Albrecht called at Tillotson's Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Bowman was appointed director of school district No. 10 by the town board last week.

M. Routley of Ellsworth is building a wall for Mr. Wieland's new barn, which he intends to build this fall.

We haven't decided where to send the children to school yet, but they will very likely have the privilege of walking wherever they want to go.

Mrs. Wieland had her share of the company last week, when Mrs. Joseph Wieland and children were there visiting a few days before going to Detroit to live, and on Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes and daughter, Edith of Hudsonville, and Mr. and Mrs. August Albrecth of Coopersville, Mich., came to spend the day, also Miss Ruth Carpenter of Bentley Hill spent the day there.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

MANY ATTEND R. F. D. CONVENTION

Out of Town Visitors Given Keys to Village

Thirty-four out of town guests were in attendance at the semi-annual convention of the rural carriers held at the Blue Hall, Monday Sept. 2, and a jollier looking and acting bunch it would be hard to find.

The meeting opened at eleven o'clock a. m. as per schedule and the program went through without a hitch.

Dinner was served by the L. A. S. at 12:30 and nearly twenty dollars was realized by the ladies.

Following dinner the afternoon was taken up with visiting and the convention closed with a business meeting at which A. R. Ellis of South Boardman was elected president, D. Patterson of Ellsworth vice president, and E. S. Carrol of Central Lake secretary-treasurer. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Clarion.

STOCK YARD IS BADLY NEEDED

Citizens Urged to Take Steps Toward Obtaining One

Robert Pearson shipped two cars of stock from Ellsworth last Saturday and expects to make another shipment the last of this week. This will make nine or ten cars shipped within the past month by this one man, and still Ellsworth has no stock yard or chute. Isn't it about time that the citizens of the village got busy on this proposition.

Several times in the past few months stock has been sent either to Central Lake or East Jordan and as the cattle business in this vicinity is steadily increasing, more and more buyers and shippers will be on the job and the demand for stock cars and shipping facilities will continue to increase. Farmers and business men, think it over.

YOUR SON'S LIFE OR A NEW SUIT

What It Means If 105,000,000 People Refuse to Economize on Clothing.

NATION HURT IN MANY WAYS

One of Numerous Cases in Point Vividly Illustrates the Vital Necessity of "Saving to Save" the Country" in War Time.

By PAUL M. WARBURG, Former Vice Governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

I am one of one hundred and five million of inhabitants of the United States; my duties are the same as those of every other true American, and those of every other true American are the same as mine. Whatever I contribute to the cause of the country, I may expect to see done—each in his own way—by 105,000,000 people.

Let us suppose for the purpose of illustration that I decide that I shall effect a saving on clothes. I might select boots, automobiles, umbrellas, or any other article for which I regularly spend my money, as I have no desire to single out any one commodity, but clothes lend themselves to my thought, so I name them. If I make up my mind, then, at this juncture that to wear old clothes is more respectable than to be seen in new ones; if I decide to buy one new suit of clothes less than I usually purchase each year, and if I figure that suit to cost no more than $10—the country as a whole, should we all pull together and act on the same lines, would save thereby over one billion dollars. It is true that in dealing with our 105,000,000 population we include children and many poor people that could not save ten dollars each because they never spend more for clothes than they absolutely must. But on the other hand $10 is a much smaller amount than the average man or woman spends for a new suit of clothes. The assumption that a billion dollars could easily be saved on clothes may, therefore, be accepted as conservative.

The first thought that occurs to us in this connection is, that by this saving in clothes over one billion dollars would be freed to be invested in Liberty loan bonds. That is the first important and most obvious result. But there are other economic results involved in this saving that are of far greater importance than the mere saving of money.

Economic Results Are Vast.

Let us consider first what one billion dollars' worth of clothes means. Suppose they were half-wool and half-cotton and that the value of the raw material constituted only 50 per cent of the price paid by the ultimate consumer, that would, at the present price of 60 cents per pound for wool and 30 cents per pound for cotton respectively, represent 208,334 tons of wool and 416,667 tons of cotton. Can you imagine how much freight space would be required on water and on land, in moving this mass of raw material? Do you realize that if these bales were put into freight cars, assuming a loading capacity of 16 tons per car for wool and 13 tons per car for cotton, this would represent 13,021 box cars loaded with wool and 32,056 box cars loaded with cotton? Assuming 75 cars per train, there would be about 600 trains; the total length of these trains would be approximately 314 miles, and these trains, hauled by 600 engines, when standing in line would approximately cover the distance from Baltimore to Pittsburgh? Can you imagine the amount of coal consumed in first transporting and then weaving this raw material into cloth? Can you imagine the number of hands employed in these processes? And then consider that more coal, more labor and more transportation are required in distributing the cloth and again more labor and more material in converting it into clothes, and again more labor and transportation in retailing the finished product to the final consumer.

Let us be mindful that all the time these processes are being carried on, Uncle Sam is short of the men necessary to dispatch his war work, and furthermore that shortage of coal and the clogging of the wheels of transportation have stopped his progress at most critical moments and in the present emergency continue to remain a constant menace to the country.

May Cost Your Son's Life.

My new suit of clothes means, therefore, delay for our military operations; delay in transporting and equipping men, and in sending to them, and to our allies, the supplies they need; means increased losses and a longer duration of the war. My new suit of clothes may cost, therefore, the life of my son.

The supply of goods, of labor and of transportation is limited. It is a matter of common agreement that this limited supply is not sufficient freely to satisfy all wants and that unrestricted attempts on the part of each individual to satisfy his own requirements may lead to a wild scramble and destructive competition with the government, resulting in fatal delay and endless increase in prices.

The load of bread available for ourselves and for our allies is not large enough to "go around" if we all want to eat more than is absolutely necessary for our maintenance. It is everybody's duty, therefore, at this time to "tighten his belt" and to make a genuine effort to live on as thin a slice of the loaf as he can. Unless this be done we must buy additional food in neutral countries, thereby using tonnage that should be kept available for our military operations and increasing our difficulties in adjusting our trade balances with neutral countries.

Hurts Uncle Sam in Many Ways.

To return to our story of the suit of clothes: During last year the United States had to import 421,000,000 pounds of wool, representing a value of about $172,000,000. About half of this came from Argentina. Our suits of clothes called for a substantial portion of this wool and therefore to that extent robbed Uncle Sam of the use of his ships. Moreover, our factories being busy in producing the things required for the prosecution of the war and our home consumption still proceeding at almost top speed, the quantity of goods available for shipment to Argentina in payment for the wool (or for that matter to Chile for nitrates, to Peru for copper, and so on), is insufficient. As a consequence the United States had to pay for more goods in South America than South America has had to pay for goods bought in the United States, thereby causing a decline of dollar exchange in these neutral countries. This shrinkage in the price of the dollar means that it has lost a corresponding part of its purchasing power in neutral countries. The scarcity of goods available for our export trade has thus become a serious obstacle in our way in trying to secure at reasonable prices or in adequate quantities some of the things that we absolutely require from foreign countries.

My suit of clothes has hurt Uncle Sam, therefore, in several ways: I have consumed more wool than necessary and thereby forced the United States to import a correspondingly large quantity of this article; I have consumed more cotton goods than necessary and to that extent have deprived Uncle Sam of the means with which to pay for the minimum of wool which we may have to import.

Clothing but One of Many.

I have used the illustration of a new suit of clothes; it would be easy, though somewhat tedious, to show that we have been dealing only with one case in point. The country is short at this time of hides and skins and has to import large quantities from neutral countries because we are extravagant in our individual purchases of shoes. Similarly, though we are the largest producers of copper, we are forced to import copper from Peru because our civilian population has not begun sufficiently to curtail its use. In like manner we might ask ourselves is it at all excusable that at this time we still manufacture such articles as silk stockings, when every thread of silk must be imported, while we could use our own cotton?

It is impossible and unnecessary to enumerate the many articles that are in a similar position. Many billions of dollars can easily be saved when once we are capable of realizing the cumulative effect of individual "saving;" take the word "saving" in its larger meaning, as involving not only money, but also goods and services. If every individual could be made to see with his own eyes that neglect of saving of this sort means decreased war efficiency, a prolongation of the war, and a larger number of casualties; if every one who has a son or dear relative on the fighting lines across the water could be made to feel that millions of small savings directly affect his boy—there would be no doubt that we could secure the most conscientious and enthusiastic co-operation of all the people. Thus far—we must say with regret—of 105,000,000 people, 100,000,000 do not see the connection between the suit of clothes and the life of the boy.

Germany's Enforced Economy.

Germany's military success is largely predicated upon her ability to center the entire national effort upon the business of war. It is safe to say that she never would have been able to bear the burdens of the fight as well as she has during these four long years had it not been for the enforced savings in material, money and men brought about through the British blockade. If it had not been for the stern necessities created by that blockade the German people would not have been willing to submit to famine rations as to food, clothes, shoes and other similar articles. Industries catering to the appetites and extravagances of the masses would have kept men and material from the government instead of making everything available for the war work of the government, and financially she would have exhausted herself by buying things abroad that she could go without or for which she had to strain her ingenuity in finding or creating substitutes.

It is difficult to bring about drastic economy without the compulsion exercised by hard necessity. For us the problem is whether or not, of our own free will, we shall be able to establish our own voluntary blockade against waste and extravagance. It is a problem whose solution requires the greatest intelligence and the greatest degree of unselfish patriotism. It is a problem that will put the spirit of our people to the severest test.

The government is not devoid of means of promoting economy. The war industries board, the food and fuel administrations, the capital issues committee, the department of labor and department of agriculture all move in the same direction of increasing necessary production and decreasing unnecessary consumption.

Full success, however, may be counted upon only if the whole-hearted co-operation of every citizen of the United States can be enlisted.

Most of Efficient Teaching Staff Will Return for the Present Year.

These ara days of unrest and uncertainty. All eyes are turned to tha great struggla across the ocean. To make the world safe for damocracy the peopls are giving the best of life and treasure. To meet thase new conditions old plans are shattered, and all future actions aro in the balanee. The American peopla are a unit in desiring to do their duty as they see it. The great problem is to draw the correct solution from the facts presented.

Hlgh school students are asked to becoms a part of Uncle Sam's great army. The boys for actual enlistment and the girls in various forms of active war work. Many students are thus faeing an entirely new condition and aro at a loss to make an adequate answer.

P. P. Claxton, the U. S. Commissionsr of Educeation, has helped every student to answer tha problem. Read the artiele entitled, "Enlist and Go to College," and then you will realize that students can be of greatest service to their country by making the most of every educational opportunity.

In America the most common route to college is through the high school. If it is the desire of the government that the youth of Americe go to college and make the most of his life, both for himself and for his country, then it follows that every student should finish his high school work, in order that college may be possible. Young men and women who are desirous of helping the great cause of liberty, will be found busy in the high schools and colleges. These young people will be making a preparation that will fit them to assume places of responsibility and trust.

So sure are the statesmen of this nation that education is an important issue, even in this crisis, that all public utterances of great men have urged young people to finish their education. Have urged them not to be misled by large wages, shortage of labor conditions, or the desire to enter active military service. The youth of America can be of greatest serviee by making adsquate preparation for servicе in the Americen high schools and colleges.

The Charlevoix high school will endeavor as never before, to make all work serve the actual world conditions. Charlevoix has shown her spirit in every war activity, and the young people will continue their service for the land they love by filling their places in the high school. The huildings have been placed in fine condition and everything is ready for a successful school year.

Most of the efficient teaching staff will return for the present year. Those who will fill vacancies come well recommended and will be an asset to the teaching staff. The unexpected resignation of the high school principal, and Mrs. Clapper, has placed Supt. H. A. Craig in a difficult position, but he expects to have these positidns filled before the opening of school.

Students should enroll before the opening day, Monday, September 9, The high school office will be open for enrollment Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this wesk. Students are advised to coma early so that careful consultation may ba held. All students are expected to begin school on September 9. Students will not be allowed to make up thair work if they entar late, unless they are engaged in necessary war work.

TIME TO GET YOUR HUNTING LICENSES

County Clarks Ready for Those Who Seek Them

"Tims to get hunting licenses," county clerks are telling sportsmen of their counties now, for on Monday the season on rails, blackbreasted and golden plóver and yellów legs openad.

Ths season on ducks and other waterfowl will open Sept. 16. It will be unlawful to hunt partridge until July 15, 1919. Many hunters do not believe, however, the long closed season will tend to increase partridge, growing scarcity of which they believe due to weather conditions and settling of the country. Most county clerks already have their supplies for hunting licences or gun permits on hand.

FEW SLACKERS IN CHARLEVOIX

That is the latest suggestion annent the fuel administration's request that all but essential automobiling be stopped every Sunday. It was contained in a telegram sent Saturday to W. Sampson Robinson, head of the gasoline division of the fuel administration, hy Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago motor club.

"Sunlay driving," said Mr. Hayes, "averages about eighty-five miles to the individual. The man who works hard all week piles his family into the car on Sunday, and evcrybody drives out into a place of solitude for a picnic day. The car is idle most of the time.

"The average driver who goes out at night, after dinner, will go from forty to seventy miles without a stop around the houlevards. There is a small percentage of cars that stop at the various gardens or amusement parks. Most of them keep on going and use more gasoline in one night than the average Sunday driver does all day on his day of rest."

PRIZE WINNING OMELET RECIPE

CHOICE OF OVER 300,000 IN CHICAGO TRIBUNE CONTEST

Franch Governess Can Cook as Well as Taach Native Language —Proud of Prize Won

Mlle. Francoise Carmins, governess of the children of Mayor W. H. Wilder of Chicago, of whom mention was made in these columns last week was the prize winner in the contest conducted by the Chicago Tribuna for the best war-time racelpe.

Over 300,000 recipes were received during tha contest, some individuals submitting as high as 173. Following is the prize winner sent in hy Mlle. Carmins:

Normand Omalet

1 pound old potatoes. 3 eggs.
1 tablespoonfull parsley. 1 teaspoonful salt.
Tomatoes for garnishing. parsley. Few grains white pepper. Butter for pan.

Boil the potatoes and mash them well. Add teaspoon salt, a few grains of white pepper, and a tablespoon of mixed parsley. Beat the three eggs light and pour them over the mashed potatoes and mix everything well. Melt butter in a hot iron frying pan. Pour the potatoes and egg mixture into hot butter and when one side is cooked turn and cook the upper side. Serve at once on a hot platter; garnish with fried tomatoes and parsley. Enough for five or six persons.

Mlle. Carmins returned to Chicago, Friday with the Wilder family. If one in the least doubt as to the outcome of the war could visit with her a few moments, they would soon be convinced there could be but one result—the winning by the allies. Franee hails America as her dellverer from the hands of the Huns. The French people, according to Mlle. Carmins, would gladly make any sacrifice in America's behalf. In their kind treatment of our boys "over there," they are in a small way trying to show their appreciation.

Could there be any result other than victory for the Allies, aided by the prayers of these stricken people?

INN CLOSES AFTER SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Manager Creamer Reports A Larger Volume of Business Than Last Yaar.

The Inn, closed its doors Wednesday, writing finis to a more than average seasons business under the management on A. I. Creamer.

The Inn opened this year with a pre-season convention of the Michigan Bankers association, followed by another notable assembly Viz the National convention of the Pi-Beta-Phi a college girls fraternity, whose membership was represented by delegates brought to Charlevoix from practically every state in the union.

Just at this time the governments notice of advance in passenger rates was announced, which threatned to put a damper on the entire resort business of Northern Michigan, and no doubt the seasons business was some what restrained for this reason. But so earnest was the desire of those who have visited Charlevoix and the Inn on other season, that a manifest growth in arrivals was noted week by week until the total arrival figures now available show an inerease over last season's business.

The old guests of former seasons and their friends cheerfully paid the increased fares the government required and the inerease rates it was necessary for the hotel to charge. This is n no small degree due to the tact and efficient handling of a most trying situation hy Manager Creamer and his assistants.

Present booking give evidence of a very sueeessful season during 1919, depending of course on the influenee of war upon the future of our domestic relations.

FALL THE DIRECT CAUSE OF DEATH

Blood Clot on Brain Causes Death In Two Hours.

Death eame to Sam Tooley in a peculiar manner Monday forenoon, while at work gathering garbage at the Inn.

Tooley was employed by John Martin, and among his daily duties was that of carting away accumulated garbage from the Inn. He was at work and complained of a severe pain in his head. Shortly afterward he was seen to topple over, striking his head on the cement flooring.

He was at once taken ears of, but the force of the fall had caused a severe blood clot on the brain, which resulted in his death about two hours after.

Tooley was an old resident of Charlevoix, having lived here for some 47 years. His home was near East Jordan, where a son resides. The remains were taken to See's undertaking rooms and prepared for burial, the funeral taking place Wednesday forenoon at 10:30, interment in Rock Elm cemetery.

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we haye it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 26. NUMBER37. EIGHT PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 11, 1918 PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

COUNTY QUOTA WILL BE DOUBLED

ASK FOR SIX BILLION IN FOURTH LOAN DRIVE

September 28 Data Set by Government for Work of Raising Vast Sum of Money

Well, it has come around again. The Fourth Liberty Loan Drive begins on Saturday, September 28 end ends Saturday, October 19. You will be asked to invest your money in American patriotism again at four and one quarter per cent interest, place your money in the bost savings bank in the world, and at the same time provide food, clothing, ammunition, transportation and supplies that will enable our boys to wipe out the last semblance of Hun culture and German atrocities from civilization for all time to come.

What are you doing about it?

Do you want the war, now half won and the Hun on the run, with the dawn of freedom from autocratic rule breaking on the horizon of Europe, with the 23,000 odd human sacrifices America has already made and the hundreds of thousands of human sacrifices our allies have made, to be for nothing.

Our boys "over there" are willing to give their lives that the world may be freed from the inhuman German menace; some of our home boys have done so.

How much money would you give to save the world from the Hun, providing you could remain safe at home?

You would give your last cent. But you are safe at home now, at least as long as our boys "over there" are standing between you and the Hun.

Now, how much will you give to help them keep yourself and family safe at home?

The government does not ask you to give your last cent. The government only asks you to contribute a portion of what you have to help our boys who are giving everything to win the war.

We have had three Liberty Loans, and those who purchased bonds have not suffered one pang of hunger, not one pinch of destitution, no deprivation that has affected their health or genuine happiness. On the other hand, every bond holder is healthier, happier and more contented today than at any period in their lives, because they know in their hearts that they have been giving necessary sustenance to our heroes fighting "over there," and at the same time they can't get away from the feeling that they huve put aside a little money for a rainy day that would otherwise have been spent for things not necessary. No one has been robbed of necessities because the fact atands out that we got along while taking a portion of each of the three previous loans and are none the worse for it.

Charlevoix county's apportionment will be at least double the amount of the third Liberty Loan, estimated at present at near $350,000. Of course this is more than previous apportionments, but we doubled our last quota with an alarcity that has astonished other sections of the country. So let's dig deep in our pockets and put up every cent our quota calls for. Let's do even better. Let's break all previous records by having our subscriptions ready when the solicitors make their first call. Start figuring on it now. The solicitors will be along the latter part of September.

What are you going to give to help win the war while you have the great privilege of remaining at home?

DEATH OF MRS. LONG

Remains Taken to Former Home for Burial Sunday

LAY IN YOUR WINTER'S COAL NOW

Mayor Rose Warns Citizens to Protect Themselves.

Mayor S. M. Rose hes asked the Courier through its columns to sound a warning to the people of Charlevoix in regards to the coal situation. According to his views there will be a serious shortage in the city this winter.

While it is true that most of the business houses and many dwellings that have steam plants have already taken this precaution, but a small percentage of those using coal, in from eight to ten ton lots, have taken steps to protect themselves.

Under the present ruling of the fuel administration it will he impossible for the city authorities to buy and sell coal this winter. Nor can any individual, other than regular equipped dealers sell coal, other than buying an entire car for their personal use.

It will be remembered that during the coal shortage last winter, the city furnished many who were entirely out, thus saving considerable suffering and inconvenience. This cannot be done this year, so it is up to the consumer to luy in his winters' supply now, while coal is available, or take the chance of being without it during the cold winter months. Buy your winters' supply NOW.

REPORTED MISSING IN ACTION

GOVERNMENT REPORTS LOSS OF LESLIE SHAPTON

Fails to Report After Action on July 21—Member of Marines Who Stopped Huns

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Shapton of Marion township, received a telegran Monday evening from Major General Commander George Barnett, stationed at Washington, D. C., informing them that their son, Leslie J. Shapton, hnd been missing since Sunday, July 21. Whether he was taken a prisoner by the Germnn or killed and his body missing, was not stated.

Leslie wns the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Shapton, a graduate of the C. H. S., class of 1916. The following year he went to the University at Ann Arhor and left there for Detroit, January 15, 1918, where he enlisted with the marines.

Shortly after his enlistment he visited his parents and friends here, rejoining the 18th Co., 2nd Battallion, 5th Regiment, to which he had been assigned and went over seas the latter part of April. He was 21 years of age, a young man who gave great promise of fitting himself for any place or position which he might decide to accept.

He was one of the many fine, brave young men of this city who were willing to make the supreme sacrifice, and give up their lives for us, that we, our children, and our children's children, and the world might be freed from the viciousness of Hun government which knows no law of humanity, no moral code, no tenets from God.

If this young man in the prime of manhood has fallen on the field of battle, he fought bravely, nobly, that German kultur and the Kaiser's creed might be forever wiped from the face of the earth.

The city was momentarily stunned from the shock when the message was received, and the bereaved parents have the heartfelt sympathy of every true American in Charlevoix.

WORK OR FIGHT— WHAT IT MEANS

Mass Meeting at Court House September 13

The U. S. Government is now calling upon every one to either work or fight. A great deal of work is to be done in both Government and private manufacturing plants during the coming winter.

A meeting is now called for a general discussion of this subject to he held at the Court House in the City of Charlevoix at 7:30 p. m Septemher 13th and all men of the community are requested to be present. Speakers will be present to address this meeting. —Chas. E. See, County Director U S. Public Service Reserve.

CHARLEVOIX HYDRO ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER PLANT REORGANIZED

RESULT OF FIVE MONTHS OPERATION OF MUNICIPALLY OWNED PLANT ENCOURAGING.

Transmission Lines Have Been Rebuilt and New Generator Installed—Further Much Needed Operating Improvements Planned as Need Develops

Pioncering in any line involves a certain amount of risk, and municipal control of public utilities have not yet reached a stage when their successful operation have been anything like an exact science. Each locality offering its individual problems to be worked out, the success of which in a very large measure is dependent upon public interest in the enterprise and the cooperation of the tax paying citizens.

Tha entry of the City of Charlevoix into the electric lighting business was considered an experiment by some, but the sentiment of the community is of a practical unanimity in favor of the best service it is possible to secure through this municipal venture. The friends of the City of Charlevoix are greatly interested in the efforts now being made to provide an adequnte and satisfactory electric lighting service. It is one of vitnl interest to every tax payer and resident of the city; and it was for the purpose of presenting as fair a survey as possible of the situation as it exists today, five months after the city became the purveyor of electric light and power to its residents, that this article was written.

Every courtesy was extended by Mayor S. M. Rose and every facility for securing necessary information was freely given, the mayor and members of the council believing that the citizens of Charlevoix as shareholders in the enterprise are entitled to as complete a report of the past record or results as it is possible to furnish.

The hydro electric plant acquired by the city of Charlevoix from the Bellaire Light and Power Co. by purchase in May of this year, is located about twenty eight miles from Charlevoix on the Intermediate river, just below a point where the Cedar river joins the Intermediate.

To the purchase price of $85,000, this year have been added un expenditure of approximately $14,000 for the installation of a modern high speed turbine and generator. With the plant was acquired some three acres of valueble land located in the center of the town of Bellaire, which was secured with the intent to forestall anything savoring of encroachment and providing for water compound and sites for such buildings as future growth may justify.

1,000 H. P. Equipment Acquired

The power equipment acquired consists of two turbines, one of 300 and the other of 200 h. p., one being a modern float wheel and the other a crown wheel. The latter, while not strictly modern, is in perfect repair and as good as new, hut it is not economical in the use of water. Tho other power units consist of one 225 h. p. Corliss engine and one direct drive Skinner engine of 350 h. p. The engine power is supplied by a battory of six boilors arrenged in units of three each. The boiler units are so placed thet they may be used to drive either engine, which may also under stress be coupled up to the generators in tandem, but either will handle the ordinary demands of the service.

The building in which the power plent is housed is of reinforced concrete foundation, floor and side walls, the latter being brick veneered, and may fairly bo considered fire proof The raceway through which the water is led to the turbines is enclosed with substantial concrete walls. The dam, however, which controls the hced of water available for power purposes, while answering present needs is by no means of modern engineering construction and will require rebuilding or replacement or extensive repairs in the near future. No estimate for the cost of this work has as yet been secured, but it need not be either an expensive or extended operation.

The rheostat or current stabilizer at present in use apparently is lacking in power to control the current flow, it proving expedient to connect in tandem a small and a large unit which is now giving fairly good results.

Alternating Current for Transmission

The electric current supplied the city of Charlevoix is what is technically known ns alternating, the most economical in the transmission of electric power. The current as it comes from the generator is pnssed through a battery of three step-up transformers, which raise the current to a voltage of 22,000 volts. At this increased voltage it is transmitted to the city of Charlevoix attaining a velocity of 2700 pulsations per minute. At the city of Charlevoix this current passes through what is called a step-down transformer which reduces the voltage to 220 volts for power used and through still other reducing transformers for lighting and domestic uses.

The funds for the purchase of what is now known as the Charlevoix Hydro Electric Light and Power Co. were raised hy a ten year bond issue payable in installments of $10,000 each yeer, with interest at five per cent per annum. These funds it is proposed to pay off out of surplus earnings of the plant. This year being the first one of its operation, it has been a vexatious one for ways and means, the line requiring practically a robuilding and this has been accomplished with the exception of about seven miles. New insulators replacing those of less potency and new poles and wire being substituted whore required, labor employed coming in for a deserved advance in wages. The earnings of this plant will be able to take care of interest and principle of the bond issue, but no attempt will be made to make a showing at the expense of service or plant.

The New Unit a Modern One.

The new turbine installed since the city purchased this plant is of nn ultra modern type. It is economical in the use of water and almost noisless in operation when running at peak speed. The flowage being automatically controlled, it only passes out of the spillway the actual amount of water required for its operation and will, it is estimated, make possible the production of sufficient current for both light and water purposes through the summer months without resort to the use of the steam auxilliary units.

TO COURIER READERS

War time condition have forced many abrupt changes in almost every line of business, and in no line has the pressure of changing economic conditions been more keenly felt than in the newspaper publishing business.

The good will of the Courier subscribers we have always figured as one of our most valued assets, and naturally we have hesitated to announce an advance in circulation rates until the pressure became insistent.

Beginning October 1st, 1918, the price of the Courier will be three and forty-four-fifty seconds per paper on yearly subscription rates, or $2.00 per year instead of $1.50 as heretofore. This action was postponed as long as it was economically possible to do so.

It is no more possible to publish a paper at the $1.50 rate than it would be to sell a loaf of bread at 6 cents that cost 10 cents for flour and baking.

Subscriptions must be paid promptly. The war industries board, controlling the distribution of news print paper, says:

No publisher may continue subscriptions * * after date of expiration unless subscriptions are renewed and paid for.

Every newspaper will comply strictly with this order, first as a patriotic duty; second, because it MUST.

We are confident that we can depend upon the patriotic co-operation of our subscribers to pay up subscriptions and help us carry on while the war lasts. On a return to normal conditions we will be as glad to publis a reduced rate as we were reluctant to announce the advance necessary to continue business.

COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 17, 18, 19, 20

GIVES PROMISE OF AN ALL ROUND RECORD BREAKER

Present Indications Are That Exhibits Will Be Larger Than in Former Years.

The Charlevoix County Fair which has been an annual event for the past thirty-four years and is one of the oldest and perhaps the best known in Northern Michigan will be held in East Jordan Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20.

The old residents of Charlevoix County appreciate how this fair has grown and developed in the past thirty-four years. They will remember that it was originally held in one building and has gradually developed from a very small fair to one which now requires ten buildings and forty acres of land and that the present grounds have developed from forty acres of underbrush into the most improved County Fair plant in this part of the country.

This year the management has endeavored to have a fair which is complete in every department and have especially endeavored to develop the patriot and educational features and it points with pride to a program which will be worth coming miles to see.

On Friday the Jackie Band of thirty members together with a drill squad of nine men and three liberty loan speakers will be a big attraction of the fair.

Every person in Charlevoix County should plan to attend this fair at least one day and one evening as it will he worth attending and it is the duty of all residents of this county to support their county fair and all persons with articles of good quality should see that these artcles are exhibited at the fair. There is nothing that will more impress the people of the United States of their ability to win the war than an agricultural fair with its buildings filled to the roof with exhibits of good quality.

DIED AT AGE OF SEVENTY-ONE YEARS

Deceased Had Been a Resident of City Since 1900.

Death called Clara Seagreaves, a resident of Charlevoix since 1900, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Maria Lyman, Friday, September 6, the direct cause of her demise being from paralysis.

Deceased was born in Lehi county, Pennsylvania, January 17, 1874, and came to Charlevoix in 1900, making her home with her sister. She has been a sufferer for many years, having had two strokes of paralysis previous to the one that was the cause of her death.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 10:00 o'clock, from the home of Mrs. Lyman on Mason street, conducted by Rev. A. G. Pontius. Interment at Brookside cemetery.

FEW AMERICAN BOYS KILLED

LIVES SAFEGUARDED BY GENERAL STAFF

Foch and Pershing Careful of Health and Lives of American Boys.

Now that the United States is taking an inventory of our man power, it is well to take an accounting of our losses to date resulting from the counter drive that stopped the Hun.

August 1, 1914, Germany declared war on Russia and the great struggle was on. We entered the fight April 6, 1917. We have been at war sixteen months. Nearly fourteen months ago Gen. Pershing arrived in Paris. More than thirteen months ago our first troops landed in France. Our troops have been doing a considerablo part of the fighting for about six months. We now have an army of one and one hslf million on the other sido. The entire army, navy and marine corps on both sides of the wnter is almost 3,000,000.

Now let us see how hazardous for men war is proving to he. The latest report is that the army has had 1971 killed in battle. This includes 291 lost at sea. To show how slight this hazard is, the number of people dying in Chicago during three weeks in July was 1524. The numbor killed in action since our troops entered the fight is about equal to the number of people dying in Greater New York in a week.

The papers reported that on July 13 we had 300,000 troops engaged in the battle of the Marne. This is more than fought on both sides at Gettysburg. Our men fought at the Marne with a recklessness that they will not duplicate after they have become more experienced.

The indications are that the death rate from killed in battle among our gallant boys will not be materially higher than the rates reported by Great Britain and Germany. Such rates will not greatly raise our total death rate.

We have reason to feel happy over the very low death rate from disease among the men on the other side. The report shows 1442 died of disease, as against 1971 killed in battle, plus 739 died of wounds and 562 died from accident and other causes.

Had the disease death rate among our troops over there been in the same ratio to "killed in battle" as prevailed in the Cuban war we would have lost about 30,000 from disease. Had the same ratio prevailed as in the civil war we would have lost about 10,000 from that cause. Our army is being well taken care of.

The army in training in this country is likewise being well taken care of. The death rate is lower than that of men of the same age in civil life. Some weeks ago a rate of less than 3 per 1,000 has been reported. The rate for civilian males of the same age is around six. The rate for civilians of all ages is around fourteen.

The camps are all practically free from contagion. Neither the army abroad nor that in this country has had any smallpox or typhoid fever worty of note. They will not have. The venerel disease rate in the army is lower than that in civil life. Soldiers are now the cleanest, least drunken and most moral men in the community.

The marine service reports 709 men dead, but does not divide the list into killed in action and deaths from disease. We have no figures for the navy. But we are sure that the men in the marine service and those in the navy are being given the same kind of care as is given those in the army. Since but a few of the sailors are fighting, their killed-in-action rates is negligible.

The figures show that there is no reason for parents to feel downhearted about their boys in the army. The great majority of them are coming back and they are coming back fine, healthy, non-infected, upstanding fellows.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

School work agsin going full swing.

Ten teachers short last week. Now only six teachers short. Possibility of getting these Monday, September 9.

Premium lists for County Fair, circular on spelling eontest for township victors at county fair, letters inviting Junior Four Minute men to county contest, and trusney blanks mailed during the past week.

Vivinni, the French Commissioner of eduestion, stated that he would keep the schools open during the war in France whenever possible within two kilometers of the firing line, and that he would never allow them to close a greater distance thnn ten kilometers from the front. The good enrollments during the opening days of our country schools have indicated that we too realize that the schools is our safeguard for the future of the world. Only one case for the truant officer so far out of five-hundred enrolled is a pretty good record and we appreciate the co-operation of our farmer parents.

Parents needing help on the farm from boys over fourteen years of age and above the sixth grade, please apply for blanks at least a week in advance.

Miss Golda Jensen, Norwood, and Miss Vivia Keller of Afton, are both rejoicing over the co-operation of their boards of eduention in the privilege of using modern approved text books. Other teachers have not been heard from regarding the new texts but no doubt those not having them last year have good news for 1918.

Walter Black director of Marion Center school, tells us that a new roof for the school house is the war measure improvement. Wade in No. 9. They also have a new flag for the school.

Miss Eileen Gunsolus of the Star school, was in the office Saturday inquiring about the drinking fountains, where they could be bought, the cost and the best kind. The school board said they had eleven dollars that were to be invested in this way. The district has been using liquid soap and sanitary towels for some time. The district also has nearly three dollars in library fund which will he expended in books needed for language work according to the state course of study.

Miss Georgia Scroggie of North Bay wishes to know what maps to buy during war time. A new set of maps must be purchased and her school board have allowed her to go ahead to get what is best in her work.

Through the courtesy of the Eau Claire School Supply Company a cut of a cartoon appearing lately in their leaflets has been loaned to this office and will be shown in the papers of the county.

Patriots Will Register. Others MUST.

MAKING MEN OF WAYWARD BOYS

IONIA REFORMATORY AS CONDUCTED BY OTIS FULLER

Humanitarian Common Sense Methods Used to Start Boys Aoaw on the Straight Road.

(By Louis L. Ronan)

The warden's office on first impression resembles a study or the work room of a student, book cases line the wall, tables and desks are piled in a sort of orderly disorder with books, magazines and catalogues of all sorts. In a corner stood a business-like looking bag of golf clubs and absolutely nothing in sight suggestive of a place of confinement.

Most of us regard the devices of our criminal laws from the standpoint of various theories and conclusions, and are apt to be academic, resulting in a tangled maze of conflicting abstract ideas as to the methods that will accomplish the most good. But Warden Otis Fullers' feet are on solid ground work of a half century's experience, and I quote him literally in substance, if not in his exact words.

No other line of work has had more patent nostrums prescribed for it than prison reform. Our methods here are the sensible, in fact, common sense methods. The greatest pains are taken to differentiate offenders against society, into groups; the insane, the feeble minded and the ill and to remove them from consideration as criminals and after that to consider offenders from deliberation. The insane are placed under the care of the highly trained specialists of a wonderfully specialized profession. They are kept under treatment and observation until a cure is effected, if possible.

The feeble minded are educated and developed mentally to secure a reasonable self control. The ill are given proper medical treatment, the right sort of food and exercise.

Those guilty of degressions of an impulsive character must be sorted out by observation, and the class who are determined on a predatory life must be required to fill out the time limit of sentence and impressed with the fact that a continuance of their practices will lead to disaster.

This latter class, the despair of the criminologist, is one of the unsolved problems of society as it is at present organized.

Warden Fuller is first a friend to the prisoners. He makes a wholehearted effort to get the other fellow's side of the question.

Sanitation, ventilation, wholesome diet and out of doors exercise plus steady employment are his pet hobbies.

The boy who cannot be taught to work cannot be reformed, but the boy who will work craves wholesome recreation, and he sees that he has it so far as is consistent with reasonable discipline.

This reformatory was the pioneer institution in adopting outdoor exercise. In 1894 Warden Fuller first inaugerated n system of three-fourths of an hour recreation at the end of each working day in which they were allowed to play ball, etc., which brought a general improvement in the health of the prisoners and a great reduction of irritability cases. This measure was followed with a practical change in the prison fare, from heavy meat diet and heat-producing foods was substituted a diet of which vegetables formed a larger share.

The prison library contains some 2,500 volumes on all kinds of subjects, and the prisoners have access to these books as well as the newspapers, only those dealing in sensationalism and crimes being omitted. A night school in which all grades up to the eight are a part of the regular course and in which the ambitious student is also provided with a chance to secure a high school education.

The prison work shops compare favorably with the very best type of American Factories, having 360 nine light windows, a perfect system of heating and ventilation and a nine hour work day.

We have rewards for the good and punishment for the bad. Each prisoner is placed on an individual record. Interest or lack of interest in his work is an important item, for a loafer in prison is a natural loafer outside. Whatever may be figured as an asset in the prisoner's favor is set down, on one side as against his shortcomings or liabilities on the other.

PLAIN QUESTIONS TO CHARLEVOIX PEOPLE

Every Charlevoix Reader Will Admit the Soundness of the Logic

Would Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as they do if the medicine were not reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years have elapsed if their experiences did not show the remedy to be deserving of it? Statements like the following must carry conviction to the mind of every reader:

Mrs. John Hull, 102 W. Lincoln Ave., Charlevoix, says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they have done me worlds of good. I suffered from an attack of lumbago. I tried various remedies but got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time they entirely removed the trouble. Not long ago my back and kidneys troubled me again but Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief promptly."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Hull said: I can speak just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did when I recommended them before. I use this medicine occasionally and it keeps my back and kidneys in good condition."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hull had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, which mortgage was given by Peter Rush and Ida R. Rush, his wife, to Helen J. Pulcipher which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, April 21st, 1916 in Liber fifty-six of mortgages on page forty; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Five Hundred fifty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and a further sum of fifty-three dollars and nine cents taxes paid on the property described in said mortgage by Helen J. Pulcipher, together with an attorney fee as provided by statute, and no suit or proceedings at law have been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; and whereas the tax required by the statutes to be paid on said mortgage was duly paid prior to the recording thereof;

Now therefore, notice is given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statutes made and provided, said mortgage will be forclosed by sale of the premises therein described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount then due thereon of principal and interest together with the amounts paid for taxes, costs and expenses of the foreclosure, including the attorney fee provided by statute, at public auction to the higher bidder therefore at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix (that being the place where the Circuit court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 14th day of December, 1918 at ten o'clock in the forenoon on that day. WHAT YOUR SUBSCRIPTION MEANS

When you subscribe to a Liberty Loan you subscribe to the sentiment that the world must be made safe for democrncy and subscribe to the fund that is to make the world safe for democracy.

You subscribe to the belief that innocent women and children on unarmed ships shall not be sent to the bottom of the sea; that women and children and old men shall not be ravished and tortured and murdered under the plea of military necessity; that nurses shall not be shot for deeds of mercy, nor hospital ships be sunk without warning, or hospitals and unfortified cities be bombed or cannonaded with long-range guns.

You subscribe to the doctrine that small nations have the same rights as great and powerful ones; that might is not right, and that Germany shall not force upon the world the dominion of her military masters.

You subscribe, when you subscribe to a Liberty Loan, to the belief that America entered this war for a just and noble cause; that our soldiers in France and our sailors on the sea are fighting for right and justice.

And you subscribe to the American sentiment that they must and shall be powerful, efficient and victorious.

BE CAREFUL OF SUGAR

The food administration has issued a warning that unless we are careful we may have a sugar shortage.

This can be prevented only if each individual uses no more than his share of sugar.

If we think our allotment of sugar small, let us compare it with the allotment of other countries.

The English may have two pounds of sugar a person each month.

The French may have one pound of sugar a piece each months (when they can get it.)

The Italians may have one pound of sugar each month

There are many ways in which sugar may be saved. By using sweet dried fruits and dates, raisins and figs to sweeten deserts and cereals and in place of candy.

By canning fruits without sugar and by making fruit pastes where the natural sugar will give most of the sweetness.

By omitting sugar from tea, coffee and cereals or if it is used, by mixing it completely with the food and eating all of it.

"ENLIST AND GO TO COLLEGE"

Is Advice Given to Nation's Boys of School Age

Many a high school graduate is debating with himself this yenr: Shall I go to college? or shall I enlist at once for military service?

The war department has just made it possible to do both. Is says, in effect, to the ambitious young American: "You serve your country by going to college. To make sure that you do not lose thereby the opportunity of serving your country in n direct military capncity, you will be asked to join the special United States Army college trning units that are to be formed. You will be liable for service at a moments notice, but beenuse you are worth more to the nation with your college training than without it, you will be expected to stny in college until called by the government.

The war departments' announcement provides that beginning September 1918, military instruction, under officers and non-commissioned officers of the nrmy, will be provided in every institution of college grade enrolling for the instruction one hundred or more able-bodied students over the nge of eighteen. The necessary military equipment will be provided by the government. There will be created a military training unit in each institution. Enlistment will be purely voluntary, but all students under the age of eighteen will be encouraged to enlist. The enlistment will constitute the student a member of the army of the United States, liable to active duty at the call of the president. It will, however, be the policy of the government not to call the members of the training units to active duty until they have reached the age of twenty-one, unless urgent military necessity compels an earlier call. Students under eighteen, and therefore not legally eligible for enlistment, will be encouraged to enroll in the training units. Provision will be made coordinating the reserve officers' training corps system, which exists in abont one-third of the collegiate institutions, with this broader plan.

"This new policy aims to accomplish a two-fold object," the war department announces, "first to stop the large body of young men in the colleges, and second, to prevent unnecessary and wasteful depletion of the colleges through the indiscriminate volunteering, by offering to the student a definite and immediate military status."

No nation has made such generous provision for combining military and college education as has the United States in this new plan. The youth who avail themselves of tbe privilege will be serving their country's immediate as well as future needs.—By P. R. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of education.

MAKE CHANGES ON WHEAT FLOUR

FOUR POUNDS FOR ONE OF SUBSTITUTE

Rye Only Exception, its Rates Being Three to Two; Restrictions on Quantity Removed.

Joy will pervade many Charlevoix county households beginning with Monday of last week.

Purchasers may get four pounds of wheat flour for every pound of substitute bought, and the variety of substitutes has been increased. Wholesale and retail distributors of flour may carry in stock a sixty day supply of wheat flour instead of for only thirty days as heretofore, and the limitation providing that retailers may not sell flour in quantites exceeding one quarter and one eighth barrel is rescinded.

Text of the Order

The order is from the United States food administration and reads in part as follows:

"To Secretaries of Wholesale Grocers Associations:

"Gentlemen—Beginning Sept. 1, there will be an important change in the wheat conservation rules.

"Jobbers will be permitted to sell wheat flour to dealers, bakers, etc., without combination with other cereals or certificates that same have been purchased.

"The retailer must sell wheat flour in combination with other cereals, on the basis of four pounds of wheat flour to one of substitutes. Substitutes for this purpose are limited to barley flour, cornmeal (only if consumer agrees to use same in Victory bread mixture), corn flour, feterita flour and meals, kaffir flour, milo flour, rice flour, oat flour, peanut flour, bean flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour and buckwheat flour.

3 Wheat to Two Rye

"If rye flour is sold as a substitute it must be on the basis of two pounds of rye flour to three of wheat flour.

"The consumer is expected to use such substitutes in Victory bread mixture, and it will be considered unpatriotic for any baker, or housewife in the country to bake any bread that does not contain at least 20 per cent of wheat substitutes.

"Mixed flours containing 20 per cent of substitute flours and which conform to the formuln for Victory flour may be sold without substitutes as may also whole wheat and graham flour.

"Faithfully yours,

"United States Food Administration. Per A. N. Merritt."

Sugar for September will be as in August. Two pounds per person will be allowed. This is more than is allowed to our allies. England gets only one and one fourth pounds and Canada one and one half.

Drawing Lots for a Wife.

I love the way they once faced the grim realities of life and fought fire with fire. Marriage was a lottery, so they settled it by lot. The way of a man with a maid might upset the calculations of the wise man in Proverbs, but it didn't fenze the early Moravtnns. They got out the lot bowl, put the names in; prayed that the drawing would be providentially guided, and went ahead in faith. And those marriages so arranged were such successes that one is almost tempted to wish for a return of the custom, in disuse now for many a yenr.—Exchange.

Human Machinery.

We have headaches and colds not at all realizing our body is in need of some good, pure oxygen.

Mechanics take much better care of their machinery than they do of their own bodies. They know that unless the machine is cleaned, oiled and rested occasionally it will not run properly. How often do they think of the importance of caring for their human machinery? They run it at the highest tension, feed it on stale air and improper food and then become surprised if it runs down.

WORK OF BOLD AUTO THIEVES

ATTEMPT TO STEAL CAR OF GEORGE D. SWINTON

Car Slides Over Embankment in a Position That Was Impossible to Make Getaway.

One of the nerviest attempts at auto theft was pulled off Monday night, when the car of George D. Swinton, was taken from the garage, and it was only by a peculiar coincident that the "yeggs" were unable to make their getaway with the car.

The car, a six-cylinder, 7 passenger Jeffery, is kept in a garage at the rear of Mr. Swinton's home on Dixon avenue. The garage is below the terrace, on the road leading through the Charlevoix Lumber Co.'s mill yard to the Booth Fisheries.

After midnight residents of the neighborhood heard a car on the road, also saw the lights, which were apparently turned off and on. This disturbance continued for at least two hours. Nothing was thought of it, however, as cars are passing up or down the road at all times of the night.

In the morning a car was seen deeply embedded in the mud, within 20 feet of Round Lake, just west of the O'Neil Fish house. Upon investigation, and inquiry, it proved to be Mr. Swinton's car. He was immediately notified, but up to this time had not missed his car nor been near the garage.

The attempted theft was well planned and must have been accomplished by some party or parties who were well acquainted with the lay of the land. Screws holding the door fastening and lock were removed upon entering the garage. An old blanket, used to cover the radiator in cold weather was hung over the window to shut out the light used while working. As the key to the car was kept at the house, some trouble was had before the car was started.

The car was finally backed out, and run east down the hill, apparently without lights, as when near the brow of the slight raise they ran into a small tree near the road side, which could hardly have happened if lights had been used. In backing up, the car slid down the embankment, toward the lake. Several attempts were made to gain the road, but each time the car slid until it finally landed at the bottom near the lake. Even here they tried to make a get-away by backing up the car, which finally settled so deep in the mud that further attempts to get it out were impossible. They even attempted to put on the chains and used rocks and planks to raise the car out of the mud. Fish reels of John Nordrum were moved and every attempt to reach terra firma.

Outside of a jammed radiator, a bent rear light, and a scratch on the body of the car when it slid through the brush, no damage was done. The thief, or thieves, made a clean get-away, leaving no trail behind them as to their identity.

Radish Seed Yield Large

Henry Richardi of Bellaire is harvesting some eighty acres of radish seed on his farm on the intermediate river flat. The yield will average 400 pounds, which with a contract price of 25 cents per pound will net about $80.00 per acre for the seasons crop.

The seeds are well filled out, they are of an unusually high grade quality and are beyond risk of damage by frost.

The Chow Dog.

The chow dog is a diminutive breed of the Siberian sledge dog improved and developed in China, from where they began to be imported into Europe and America about the beginning of this century. These dogs have the coat and form of the sledge dogs and are very compact and sturdy of frame and lively in disposition. In color they are either all black, even to the tongue and inside of the mouth, or all white, blue, red or yellow. The chow made its first appearance in America at the Westminster kennel show, New York, in 1901.

PRAISED FOR EXCELLENT WORK

DURING THRIFT STAMP DRIVE RECENTLY CLOSED

Publicity Director Burr of Detroit Extends Congratulations to Citizens of Township

The following letter was recently received by S. P. Baar of the Citizens' Bank of this place.

Some time prior to this time Mr. Baar received a circular letter from the National War Savings Committee at Detroit, asking that each and every township in the state get busy and raise its quota of Thrift stamps in order that Michigan should not fall down on its allotment, and it was Mr. Baars' reply setting forth the splendid work done in Banks township by Banks township citizens which drew the enclosed letter:

Detroit, Michigan,
August 26, 1918.

Mr. Stewart Baar, Asst. Cashier, Citizens' Bank, Ellsworth, Mich.

Dear Mr. Baar:—I wish to thank you for your letter of the 16th inst. advising me as to the excellent work which has been done in your township. I do not understand why more action was not taken in the other townships and am today writing to Mr. Buell for a report.

I can fully appreciate the general feeling in the matter and it is our intention that everybody should do their share and if it is within the human power to see that this is done we are going to try and do it. One thing is certain that is from your report is is quite apparent that almost everyone in your township must have done his share and while it causes us a great deal of unrest and fills our heart with hatred for the ones who are falling down, there is considerable pleasure to be realized from the fact that we are living in a community and have as neighbors, people who are at all times real American citizens.

Wish to extend to you at this time, the sincere appreciation of the State Director and his entire Executive Committee upon the splendid showing made by your township.

Would greatly appreciate your extending this appreciation to the rest of your excellent committee as well as the people who have so loyally supported this movement, at this time. Very truly yours,—F. H. Burr, Jr. Publicity Director.

ELLSWORTH LOCALS

J. H. Elzinga was in Charlevoix one day last week superintending the loading of stock for shipment to Chicago.

Emily Wieland was absent from her position at the post office the first of this week on account of illness.

L. B. Fletcher and Harry Knight, both of Detroit, who have been spending a two weeks' vacation at the hotel here, left Sunday for their homes.

Miss Gladys Larson is spending a few days at the Soo visiting her brother, Ralph, who is on one of the boats of the U. S. Navy doing patrol duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frink have returned from East Jordan and are at the Madill home for a few days before returning to their home at Cleveland, Ohio.

Glen C. Townsend, with the marine corps at Santo Domingo City, writes friends here that he has been confined in the hospital for some time suffering with rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Skow, Mrs. J. H. Elzinga and D. E. Clow and wife were at Traverse City Sunday attending the funeral if Augustus Boles, a former resident of Ellsworth.

M. R. Nelson is in Mt. Pleasant on business this week. On his return he and his wife expect to go to Spooner, Wisconsin, to visit a few days with their sons, George and Ray.

Merion Best, Orris Carpenter and one man from Mancelona were called late last week by the draft board and left Monday noon for Camp Custer. Merion received his first promotion at Bellaire when he was placed in command of the party.

W. A. Boss received a letter last week from his son, Will, who has been in a base hospital in France recovering from a touch of mustard gas. Bill is getting along fine and expected to report for duty the day following the writing of the letter.

School in district No. 9 started Monday morning with 103 scholars enrolled, divided as follows: primary room 41, intermediate room 32, and high room 30. It is expected that the total will be added to in a few days so there will probably be in the neighborhood of one hundred and fifteen pupils when the work is well under way.

MILES DISTRICT

Roy Fowler and family received a card of Walters' safe arrival "Over There."

Mrs. Walter Fowler one of the teachers at East Jordan spent the week end with her parents.

At the special school meeting Saturday night, Robert Cook was appointed director and A. M. Carr, moderator.

Mrs. Eugene Miles came from Bay Shore Saturday, where she is teaching to spend the week end at her home.

Miss Catherine LaLond went to commence her school Monday at the Mountain school. This is her third year at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willis from Horton Bay visited at the home of their daughter, Mrs. G. LaClair Saturday. Henry LaClair went home with them for a few days visit.

Little Florence Long, who has been staying with Mrs. F. Boyd during the school vacation, went back to her nunt, Mrs. H. Willis at Horton Bay to go to school.

ESSEX

Mrs. Tillotson had her house painted last week.

John Wieland visited Martin Wierenga of Mitchell Sunday.

We expect to hear the threshing machine the last of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Dekkenga spent Sunday at the Fielstra home at Pleasant Hill.

Part of the children of this district started to Ellsworth school Monday morning.

George Drenth helped his brother, Will, with his work a few days last week.

Mrs. R. Dennis of Bentley Hill spent last Monday afternoon with Mrs. Wieland, helping her with some Red Cross work.

We wish to correct a mistake of last week, as we had been informed that Mr. Bowman was school director; but he says he isn't, so we will take his word for it and at present we have no director.

ANTRIM CITY

WILDWOOD

Neal Crawford spent the week-end in East Jordan with friends.

Mrs. Emily Pickard is visiting friends in the neighborhood for a few days.

Mrs. Jennie Brooks is spending some time with her neice, Mrs. Jas. Wilson and family.

Neil Crawford suffered a good bruising up on Tuesday evening at the mercy of a fractious cow.

Roy Anderson of Alba was buying cattle in this vicinity the first of the week. Loaded at Central Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilson of Bunker Hill were Sunday visitors at the home of their cousin, Jim Wilson and family.

Little Miss Emma Sinclair is again with her aunt, Mrs. John Crawford, for the school year which began in this district last Tuesday, with Miss Bernice Miller as teacher.

Jim Sinclair, who has been working in Potter's camp near Alba, cut his foot quite badly and returned to the home of his brother, A. E. Sinclair where he is under the doctors' care.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wilson surprised their relatives here by driving in with their auto and Mrs. Cross of Central Lake. After driving through from Detroit they report the roads generally good.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fales of Detroit and their daughter, Mrs. Gaskin and two children of New York City, were at Wildwood cottage a couple of days the first part of the week, after which they returned to their summer home at Bay View.

Word from Detroit brings the information the Emrey Wilson has enlisted and joined the navy and is stationed at Great Lakes, Ill., training station. The many friends of that family extend congratulations and wish for Emrey's safe return after the Hun is a thing of the past.

Jim Wilson spent Sunday with his family here, after threshing last week on one of the very same places he was at work with an old horse power sweep thresher thirty three years ago this fall. He says there's some difference in the roads between then and now as well as in the machines, and the farmers are very much thicker than in days gone by. And Jim don't think he is an old man either.

Farm prosperity must be a myth. Only 14,000 farmers in the whole country furnished income tax returns last year.

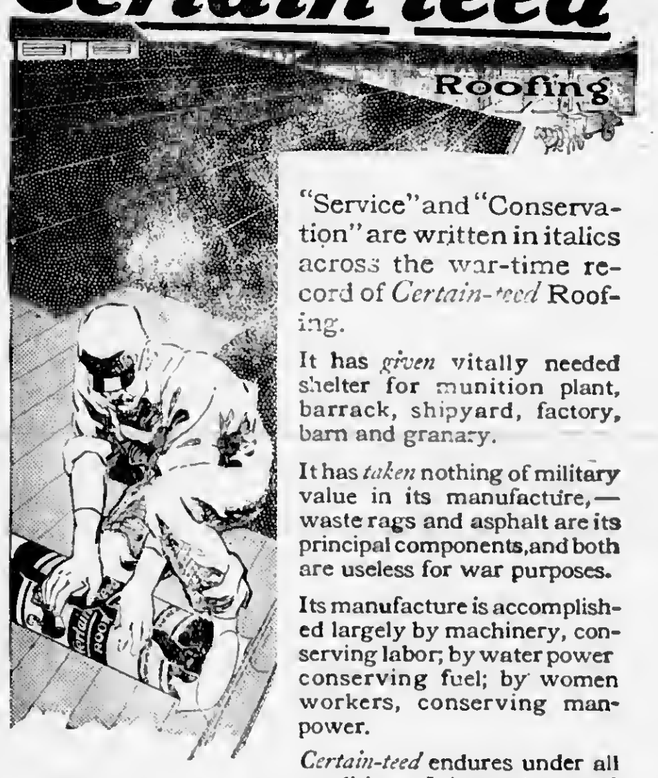
Certain-teed



"Service" and "Conservation" are written in italics across the war-time record of Certain-teed Roofing.

It has given vitally needed shelter for munition plant, barrack, shipyard, factory, barn and granary.

It has taken nothing of military value in its manufacture,—waste rags and asphalt are its principal components, and both are useless for war purposes.

Its manufacture is accomplished largely by machinery, conserving labor; by water power conserving fuel; by women workers, conserving manpower.

Certain-teed endures under all conditions. It is weatherproof, waterproof, spark proof and fire retarding. Rust cannot affect it. The heat of the sun cannot melt it or cause it to run. It is not affected by gases, acids, fumes, smoke, etc. These qualities have made Certain-teed the choice everywhere for factories, warehouses, stores, hotels, garages, office buildings, farm buildings and out-buildings.

In shingles, red or green, it makes an artistic roof for residences.

Certain-teed* Roofing is guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

July 26, 1918.

Dear Mother, Father, Eva and Brother:—I will write you a few lines once more to let you know that I am still alive and as well as usual, and hope this finds you all the same. I haven't much time to write at present, but can say now that I have saw some real nice farming land here in France lately and some nice crops such as wheat, barley, rye, and potatoes. These seem to be the main crops. There is no corn, but quite a bit of hay, some sugar beets, beans, cabbage and general garden truck. Haven't seen but very little dairy stock so far.

August 10, 1918.

Well dear ones all, you will see by the heading above that I started to write to you some time ago, but spare time has been scarce until the present date. I am very sorry that I cannot write to you all as often as I used to. I have received four or five letters from you lately and a couple from other parties, which I haven't been able to answer yet. I can't get enough leisure time to answer them as fully as I would like to, although I will do the best I can, even at that there are some I can't answer at all.

I am feeling too tired to write very much today, but will write what I can and will try and finish tomorrow. Of course I am feeling as well as could be expected under the present conditions which are not very comfortable. I was glad to hear that you were all well.

We haven't been in the big fight lately, but are back away from the fighting lines for a rest at present and the other fellows are all as tired as I am. I will try and send you some kind of a German souvenir soon if it is permitted. I will also send you some French coins, if I can get a chance to. Oh say, the German soldiers wear a buckle on their belts which bears the words, "Got-Mit-Uns."

I got a letter from Frank Wright a while ago explaining all about my team. I expect you will have a hard time getting the haying all done on both places this year. Maybe father can get Ralph Stizemn to help him some of the time. I think Willard is pretty lucky in getting the job he has.

So you say Wilber Himebaugh, my old pal, has been pretty sick and his wife has a baby. Is that what made him sick.

It is getting dark so will close with love and best regards to all with a longing heart to see you.

From your loving son and true friend Pvt. Leonard O. Herrington, Co. B. 125th Inf. A. P. O. 734 A. E. F. France.

There will be an ice cream social in the town hall, Friday evening, September 13 for the benefit of the Red Cross. Everyone invited.

Report Not True

Through a mistake, which I am sure was not intentional, a report has been circulated that Albert Harwood, of Antrim county, is a sugar violator. I have no record in my office of any such violation, and do not believe that any exisits.

I take this method of expressing my deep regret that a report of this nature has gone out, either from this office or any other source.

Antrim County Food Administrator.

BELLAIRE MARKETING ASSOCIATION ACTIVE

Large Frost-proof Storage Station Now Being Erected.

The Farmers' Co-operative Marketing association of Bellaire are building a fire-proof and practically frost-proof receiving and storage station just north of the P. M. station, connecting with the main line switch and siding.

The plant is 40x100 feet on its foundations, one story and basement. It is built of cement block, with double walls, which provide insulation against frost and heat. Eleven thousand eight hundred 8x16x4 inch blocks will be required in its erection, and these are being made on the job.

Two weighing scales will be provided, one at the drive-in end and the other at the drive-out end of the building, all being covered which will permit of unloading in stormy weather without exposing team or driver.

The station will have many other features that will be a decided improvement upon the old-time weighing station.

Remove Smell of Paint.

Place a pan full of lighted charcoal in middle of room and throw over it two handfuls of juniper berries, shut the windows and doors for a day and the smell will disappear.

The advantage of this is that you will not have to remove tapestry or furniture, as the smoke of the juniper berries is not injurious to them

MAKING MEN OF WAYWARD BOY

These facts are laid before the pardon board, with the warden's recommendation, and the balance is struck either in favor of the prisoner or the reverse.

If the reformation is considered to have reached a point where the convict will become an economic and moral asset to the community he is paroled under the indeterminate sentence law.

The prisoner is allowed his liberty subject to the moral responsibility of a first friend, who obligates himself to encourage the paroled man in every way reasonable and to testify to the accuracy of monthly reports showing that the paroled person has been honest, industrious and temperate. Paroled persons are subjected to no unnecessary annoyances and are encouraged to make good.

Twenty-five per cent of those paroled violate this parole. Most of them are returned to this prison. Some turn up in the hands of the authorities in other states, but returned or not they are always amenable to the law and subject to arrest until they have fully satisfied the legal limitations of their parole.

A typical leader of men, Warden Fuller is giving every possible ounce of his man power to reducing this average.

Boys and men who were never taught to work, or habits of orderliness or discipline are here given their first lesson under constraint, it is true, but no more than is absolutely necessary for their own and their instructor's protection.

Year by year this prison community becomes nearly self-supporting. A farm of 900 acres surrounds the buildings, and this land in a very large measure through the employment of trusties has been brought to a high state of cultivation and supplies a large part of the prison fare.

Warden Fuller is a firm believer in out of doors work for prisoners as a reformatory measure and is convincing advocate of the wisdom of using prison labor in road building.

"Fully 20 per cent of the men in this prison can be safely employed in road work. My experience has been that the men like this work, and a lot of money could be saved to the state and counties by the use of this labor at a reasonable price. Figuring weather conditions as normal 12 miles of concrete roadway could be built each year."

Quoting from the warden's report of June 30th, 1916, "We have recently completed between the reformatory and the city nine-tenths of a mile of 18-foot concrete paved-way at a total cost of $11,533.97 or at a rate of $12,566 per mile, figuring prison labor on a basis of $2.00 per day.

The reformatory contributed 1,444 days of prison labor, 226 days of state team work and 117 days of officer's supervision. The cash expenses, such as hire of teams, the purchase of cement, etc., was paid by the citizens of Ionia, the township of Easton and state rewards.

This paved way connecting the reformatory with the city of Ionin is a splendid sample of good roads building, and the matured shade trees that line this road were planted by Warden Fuller twenty years ago.

There have been but few changes in the personnel of the reformatory staff since Warden Fuller assumed charge 24 years ago. Chaplain Mendenhall has seen 23 years of active Reformatory work. Chief Engineer L. P. Essick has seen 38 years' service at the head of the engineering department. The service of Hall Warden Jenkins, I understand, antedates that of Warden Fuller, but there is hearty co-operation of effort to supplant habits of viciousness with habits of self respect and good conduct and return to civil life, the prisoner an economic and moral asset instead of the moral misfit and liability he once was.

But only those who have been forced by occupation to combat the influence of established vicious habits can realize in a measure the stubbornness of the contest.

First African Explorer.

The first organized attempt to explore the interior of Africa was made by Mungo Park, who set sail on his faithful voyage to the Dark Continent 123 years ago. He returned two years and seven months later after having explored a considerable section of Africa never before visited by a white man, although he failed in his main purpose, which was to trace the source of the River Niger.

NEW DRAFT MEN TO CAMPS SOON

THREE GROUPS HAVE BEEN DECIDED ON

Ragistration, Sarial Numbars, Lottery Classificatloo aod Calllog to Move Faet.

Every man who will register, September 12, soon will begin to figure when he can expect to be called into the army. According to General Crowder's present plans, no men In the new draft will be called until October, possibly not until November 1.

The next step after registration is to give each man a serial number. Then comes the great lottery to determine the order number of each man—that is, their relative standing in the draft.

In the period intervening between the registration and the drawing, questionnalres will be mailed to every registrant, so necessary information may be obtained for classification. As soon as the questionnaires are returned, work of classification will begin.

19-20 and 32-36 first

The men 19 and 20 years old and from 32 to 36, inclusive, will be classified first, under the plan of the provost marshall general. Next the men from 37 to 45 inclusive, will be classified, leaving those 18 years old until last.

Creation of three groups is to save time. The provost marshall general says it will take too long to classify all at once and that by separating them into three groups he can have aufficient men in class one ready for the November call. This means that the first men to be called will be those 19 to 20 years old and those 32 to 26, inclusive.

Class 1 by June 30.

To raise the men for the ninety-eight divisions intended to be in the field July 1, 1919, however, it is the expectation of the war department to call all men in class one, including those eighteen years old, by June 30, 1919.

In addition there will be weekly registration days next winter for those who becomc eighteen. Virtually all who reach that age between September 12 and next March, with a majority of those now eighteen, will make up the 1,000,000 men who will be in the process of training.

COUNTY CONVENTION WELL ATTENDED

J. M. Harris of Boyne City Named 'as Chairman

Delegates and visitors to the number of over sixty were in attendance at the county Republican convention, held at the court house, Tuesday.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman J. M. Harris, at 2:00 p. m . The usual committees were appointed and the work of the convention began.

The committee on resolutions reported and paid a special tribute to the leading candidates of the party. A part of the resolutions adopted were as follows: Resolved, that Republican politics and aims should not be laid aside, but should be carried on in conjunction with all war work."

Hon. Dallas Boudeman of Kalamazoo, one of our best known summer visitors, was called upon and addressed the convention, giving one of the best talks of any speaker who has addressed a gathering of this nature. Judge F. W. Mayne followed with appropriate remarks.

Nominees Meet

September 10th, 1918.

The Republican Nominees of Charlevoix County met in the Court House on the above date in accordance with the laws of the State of Michigan.

George W. Weaver was made Chairman and Chas. H. Emrey was made Secretary of the meeting. Other nominees present, M. A. McDonald, Jacob E. Chew, E. A. Reugsegger, and Richard Lewis.

The Chairman appointed two members, namely; E. A. Reugsegger and Charles H. Emrey to convene with the officers of the County Republican Club, and arrange details for the annual banquet, if one is to be held, and suggestions were made that same should be held under the auspices of and in benefit for the Red Cross.

William J. Pearson was reelected Chairman of the Repuhlican Committee. Mr. Pierson declined the office, as he felt that he had served a great many years and wished the office to be given to some other good repuhlican.

Mr. Pierson's resignation was accepted and Judge J. M. Harris was unanimously elected Chairman of the County Committee.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.—Chas. H. Emrey, Secretary.

ALMA COLLEGE POSTPONES OPENING

Studeot Army Training Corps Is Now Assured

Alma College has postponed its opening to Wednesday, October 2nd. Plans are being made for Student Army Training Corps in accordance with the government's plan for colleges and universities.

Student soldiers eighteen years of age and over are to receive from the government tuition, board, room, medical attention, and in addition thirty dollars a month.

The war department is planning for over 100,000 officers and the student army training corps in our colleges and universities is a part of this plan. Surely all high school boy graduates should avail themselves of this unusual opportunity.

Military drill will occupy two consecutive hours, five days a week. Student soldiers will be under military discipline.

Special courses will be provided in the alms of the war, chemistry, English, physics, natural science, French, nnd perhaps some other subjects.

JACKIE BAND HERE SEPTEMBER TWENTY

Famous Military Band to Entertain People of County

The famous Jackie Band from the Great Lakes Training station, near Chicago, consisting of at least forty pieces, will arrive in Charlevoix early September 20, and under present plans will spend the entire day in the city.

Among them will also be the famous drill squad and three noted speakers, who will make addresses in both this city and East Jordan on the fair grounds.

The local heads of the Liberty Loan Committee and War Boards are planning on an all day patriotic program, which when completed, will be announced in detail in these columns. In the meanwhile plan your work so that on this date you can spend a part of the day in Charlevoix, or hear these noted speakers and musicians at the fair grounds at East Jordan.

A good attendance is much desired as arrangements for the District convention to be held in Charlevoix October 10 and 11 are to be made and delegates olected.

ELECTRIC LIGHT POWER PLANT.

At the timo this was written the current furnished the city of Charlevoix comes from the new unit, which was beinq given a try out, subject to some minor adjustments by the installing engineers.

Light and Power Conditloos Should Steadily Improve.

It may in all fairness be said that the chances are fairly bright that a change for the better has been made. No promises for a downward revision of lighting service and power rates can be made at this time, but an adequate and satisfactory service for the community may be confidently expected from this utility, with this added advantage. The plant may be further developed at the will of its owners, the tax payers of the City of Charlevoix, and whatever the rate may be the City of Charlevoix is putting the money it pays into its own treasury, and the profits, whatever they may be, will go to furnish a further improved service.

Operating Improvements Suggested.

The imperative need of the City of Charlevoix at the time the Bellaire plant was taken over was for service, and the measures adopted were for the immediate relief of this trying condition. Having overcome the conditions then existing, a continuous improvement in the service may be confidently anticipated and in line with the work of future improvement the following features are suggested in connection with the operation of this plant. A daily record should be kept of all current delivered on the line at the Bellaire plant. A similar record should be kept at the Charlevoix end. At the end of each month it would then be a simple matter to strike a balance of current produced, current delivered on the line at Charlevoix and current sold. Provisions should be made by sinking fund or otherwise for complete replacement of lines and power equipment every ten years. This estimate may be fifty per cent too high, under unusually favoring conditions, but will in any event result in keeping up the grade of service. The lines should be carefully inspected at regular and frequent intervals and repairs made when conditions favor and without the handicap of forced draft work and consequent waste that results from a break down.

All purchases of supplies should be made on a competitive bid basis when market conditions favor, and to make this possible six months to a year supplies should be kept in reserve.

A Question of Efficiency aod Finance.

Sentiment and politics are the factors which are permitted too often to control the conduct of public utilities and should be strictly tabooed in the operation of this plant upon which so much of the proper development of Charlevoix depends.

This $100,000 plant, if conducted on a business like basis, will require the closest attention from a high calibred electrician, who should be permitted to expend a reasonable proportion of the profits earned for new equipment and improvements that will permanently lower the cost of production. Salaries should be on a basis dependent upon improved service and earning power by Galley two Eleetrie story. ..... Increased profits to the city through reduced cost of operation. The miner does not expect fat returns from lean ores, neither should a citizen permit himself to lweil in a fools' paradise that anticipates high grade expert service from under paid civic servants.

About Putting the Light and Power Eggs in Two Baskets.

As a protective measure in case of a possible inundation by flood or of a break down at the hydro electric plant, or by damage by storms of the transmission lines, the steam auxiliary power units now located at the Bellaire plant should be relocated in Charlevoix. This arrangement will provide an emergency safeguard against suspended service that as an insurance measure would far out weigh the expenses involved for re-installation.

Provisions Should Ba Mada for Growth of Charlevoix.

One of the greatest handicaps under whicb the normal development of the average American city suffers from is a lack of municipal forosight in providing for future expansion. Water mains insufficient in size are laid. Sewers that must be replaced in ten years' time because the lines originally installed were to small to meet the requirements of later city growth. Pavements are laid with a foundation that will not stand the stress of increasing traffic.

In view of the future development of this section, provision should be made for an orderly growth, one that will preclude the mistakes that keep many cities in a state of confusion and this applies with peculiar emphasis to the lighting and power situation in the city of Charlevoix.

But few American people realize in this new and wonderful country of ours the importance of acquiring ownership of municipal utilities such as water, heat and lighting. Here is a concrete instanee that may prove illuminating on the subject. Gas bonds issued for the establishment of n gas plant supplying a section of the city of London, England were originally sold at par or twenty pounds sterling, equaling about $100 in United States currency. They cannot be purchased now at any price only when some estate by which they are held is undergoing liquidation. The writer attended a sale of the effects of an estate ordered by an English count which which corresponds to our probate court. A number of these gas bonds were offered at auction and were sold at two hundred pounds each or approximately $1000. The city of Charlevoix will hardly reach a London town population, but the nature of the investment by the city of Charlevoix is the same. The plant referred to above was conservatively managed for a period of about seventy five years.—Louis L. Ronan.

GERMAN IN THE SCHOOLS

HUN LANGUAGE NOT TO BE INCLUDED AMONG STUDIES

Statement From the Board of Education Giving the Real Facts —Hits Agitators

To the patrons of the Puhlic Schools:

The Bnerd of Education of the Charlevoix schools was one of the first to take action in this state, abolishing the study of German. This action was taken, bceause the board was unanimously of the opinion that the Germen language would not be a language that would meet with favor anywhere in America, and because of the growing feeling all over the country egainst anything that partook of Germany or German methods.

"The study of French was substituted in its place. We would have put in Spanish, as a language that because of our increasing trade reletions with the Spanish speaking countries to our south, would be of more real value to the students, but teachers of Spanish are scarce, and a school of our size could not possibly nfford to pay the salary that would be necessary.

"A statement of these fects was published in the papers at the time. Because there was a class in German who last year finished the first half of the two-year course in German, a teacher was secured who could not only teach French but could give instructions in Germa to those of the class who desired to complete their course in that language. No compulsion wes exercised. They could 'take it or leave it.' Some of them elected to complete the course, not I presume because they 'loved Germen or Germany', but because of the fact that under the rules in existence in the past, and which so far as we can ascertain have not yet been changed by any of the Universities, credits for admittance to these higher institutions of learning are not given except for the full two year course.

"The father of one of the students, who did not wish to continue the study of the German language, came to me, hecause he thought that his boy was compelled to complete his course, or fail of graduation. He was assured that such was not the case, that his boy did not have to study German if he did not wish to, and thet if he was up to standard in his other studies, he would recieve his diploma, and this will be done with all other students in the class.

"At the last meeting of the board of education this matter was taken up, and in view of the growth of sentiment throughout the country, a sentiment which will undoubtedly result in the universities taking cognizance of the situation by giving credit for the half year course in emergency cases like ours, it was voted unanimously to discontinue the German course entirely, and petition the University of Michigan to accept the one year of German, and one year of French, in lieu of the two-year course in German hitherto demended.

"This statement is made, in view of the anonymous circulars scattered broadcast over the city, wherein the patriotism of the Board of Education wns attacked, and which have led to a misapprehension of the real truth of the matter on the part of mnny good citizens and patrons of the school, and also to unjust criticism on the part of the uninformed, of the superintendent.

"Personally, I have as little respect for an anonymous agitator, as I have for German "Diplomacy" that tries to stir up trouhle in Mexico, and for the Russian Bolsheviki. I yield to man or womnn, in my Americanism. But my brand of Americanism also includes in its tenets, the spirit of fair play and square dealing. I have never known a men afraid, or ashamed to sign his name to what he writes, that I would consider e good citizen. This last paragraph, is for myself. The preceeding is on bchalf of the Board of Education."—Will E. Hempton, Pres. Board of Education.

The above communication should quiet the fears of those who had the remotest idea that the Board of Education would attempt to force the teaching of the Germen languaga in our public schools against the wishes of either pupil or parent. Nor do we believe there is a similar board in the entire country more patriotic and truly American than the board in question. They were emong the very first in the state to recommend its aboilshment and would but countenance its teaching only to a degree tu fulfil the rules laid down hy universities throughout the country. Had their actions been otherwise, no criticism would be to scathing nor action on the pert of the people too harsh.

We don't want the 'Kultured language" of the baby-killers, crucifiers of men and rapers of women to be propogated in free America through our public schools. We don't want to pay taxes to pay teechers to teach the gentle culture of the

GAVE LIFE FOR HIS COUNTRY

GEO. A. CROUTER GIVES HIS ALL FOR HIS FLAG

Pneumonia Takes Away a Charlevoix Boy in Camp at Paris Island, South Carolina.

Again wer has been brought close to all Cherlevoix people, through the death of George A. Crouter, news of which pessed like a shock through the city when it wes flashed over the wires last week Thursday.

George A. Crouter was n Cherlevoix boy, the only son of Dr. G. W. Crouter, one of the pioneer citizens of Charlevoix, who himself passed away but a few short months ago. Born in this city March 21st, 1892, he grew to manhood here in our midst, and was well liked as a boy, and as a man. He was married to a Charlevoix girl, Miss Dorothy Iddings, on June 23, 1914. A dutiful and effectionate son, he became a devoted and tender husband, and even in his last moments, his thoughts were all for the comfort of the wife of whom he was so fond. Generous, ever thoughtful of others, George was loved by everyone with whom he came in association. His hand was always extended with help and sympathy for those in need and his unfailing courtesy marked him alweys a true gentlemen.

George Crouter was a true American. He was intensely petriotic, and being of en adventurous nature, was anxious to get into the air service as a fighting aviator. Following out this ambition, he attendeo the U. S. aeronautical school at the University of Illinois lnst summer, but was unable to pess all of the tests, tbis being the most difficult of all branches to secure a commission in. Nothing daunted, and still imbued with the purpose to get into the fighting as quickly as possible, he went to Paris Island, S. G. and enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps, 349th Co., Battn. 1, having rceelved assurances that after service in the ranks, he would heve the opportunity of getting into the air service department of the marines. He was accompanied to Paris Island by his wife, who shared with him his ambition to serve his country. He hed not long been attached to the marines when he was taken ill with pneumonia; which developed into the most virulent type, and he died in the base hospital on September 12th, after an illness lasting a little over a week.

PRESIDENT WILSON ANSWERS "NO" TO AUSTRIAN PEACE PROPOSAL

"The government of the United States feels that there is only one reply which it can make to the suggestion of the imperial Austria-Hungarian government. It has repeatedly and with entire candor stated the terms upon which the United States would consider peace and can and will entertain no proposal for a conference on a matter concerning which it has made its position and purpose so plain."

$2.00 October First

As announced in our issue of last week, the subscription price of the Courier will be advanced October 1 to $2.00 per year. This, however, allows all subscribers to renew their subscriptions before this date at the old price, $1.50 per year. After October 1, all subscriptions must be paid in advance. This is not a ruling of ours, but one the U. S. government says we, as publishers, MUST strictly comply ,with, and no publisher with a grain of patriotism in him will do otherwise.

We have reached the point where we elther must expect to get paid what the paper is worth or go out of business. If there is any one thing in the newspaper business that has not advanced in price from 50 per cent to 200 per cent in the last two years we have not had occasion to make use of it in the regular routine. It isn't a question of suddenly getting into the millionaire class, or sticking on the extra 50 cents just because it is fashionable, but a question of either being able to sink or swim, and we expect to swim.

If we expect to continue to live, at least decently clothe our family and feed them properly, do our share in the war activities, such as Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and Liberty bond drives, it's a cinch that there will have to be a profit somewhere along the line in this line of business.

This is the situation in a nutshell, and the Courier must advance its subscription price to $2.00 per year commencing with October 1.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Sergt. James W. Gaskins in a Base Hospital Suffering from Shell Shock—Claud Volkert Tells of Experiences of Ambulance Drivers During Battle of July 18

From Claud Volkert
Somewhere in France,
August 7, 1918.

Dear Uncle Dick—We have been moving about considerable during the past month. We quit our old front, where we were for about three months, and got into the big Allied offensive which started July 18, and since then have hit a good pace, traveling three hundred kilometers in two days. All our moves are made with the cars, so we have n good opportunity to see much more of France. The time we spent during the first days of the offensive were full of expectations, and we saw more war in a few days than during all the rest of the time at the front.

"The first day at this piece found us carrying the wounded only a short distance back to the clearing stations, from which they are transported to the field hospitals, but at the end of the fourth day we were driving back a distance of twenty kilometers to the same station, so you can see the advance wes quite fast. There were German helmets galore, also other kinds of equipment along the road, and through the fields the German dead lay strewn about, also in the trenches and machine gun nests, where they made their strongest stand, you could often see fifteen or twenty piled up together.

"The machine gun is the Germans' long suit, and in all rear guard movements they use them almost exclusively. We emerged from this attack with scars on nearly every car, two being shattered completely. I happened to be driving one of them which was twice hit, once while I wns driving (lost a little of my coat and jammed the radiator on the ear) and again the sheil which furnished it, while standing in front of regimental headquarters.

"We are now on a very quiet sector. We are stationed only two kilometers from the line, the nearest we have been quartered. There is no artillery action to speak of and last night, our first night here, the only warlike sound was the "sputting" of a few machine guns.

"The line here has not changed since 1914, and until a short time ago a good number of civilians still remained. Every cellar in the village has been reinforced with cement nnd stone, to be used as a shelter in case of shelling.

"This afternoon I have been out for a little walk about the village. The gardens are green with potatoes and other vegetables, and there is e little fruit that the frost has spared. An old Frenchman whom we met in the street, lifted up a piece of camoufinge, which hung across an opening, and showed us where the boche are 'dug in' only e few hundred yards away.

"The chateau in which we are living is the once beautiful home of a colonel in the Freneh army. It hasn't suffered much as yet, only two shells of small calibre having made direct hits, although the stone sides have been nicked in many places by shell splinters, and the window are now of the 'open air' type. The town in general has from time to time received many shells, but it is by no means typical of most town on other fronts.

"The crops throughout France look fine—the best in years, and wheat, which has a very large acreage, is a bumper crop.

"Will close now with the very best wishes from 'over here.' Sincerely yours,—Claud J. Volkert.

From Adolphus Allard
Somewhere in France,
July 17, 1918.

Dear Mother:—Rceeived your ever welcome letter also four others and I certainly was surprised, yet real glad as it is the most I have received since landing in France Did I tell you that I reeeived the girls pictures? They certainly are fine. Am afraid I won't know them when I get back, they have grown so.

"I suppose just at present you are busy. Have you many resorters? There will most likely be very few on account of so many boys being over here.

"Well I have a job now. 'Skinning army mules,' but the shells fly just the same over our heads. One thing nice ebout it is you don't have to walk and you will not hear the shells that say 'come with me,' for the wagons make so much noise.

"Todey was pay dey so guess I will have to celebrate as we always do when the ghost walks.

"I wish during these hot days that the faucets were in perpetual motion, but we have a fine swimming hole and believe me we sure do swim.

"Well mother, if I write any more it will be the same news over. We are still fighting. Germany is about whipped, the Allies are a little tired, but Old Glory is still flying over the fields. I hope you nre not worrying for we are just as safe as though we were inside a cannon." Good bye, Lovingly your son.—Adolphus.

Somewhere in France,
July 27th, 1918

Dear Mother:—Just a few lines to let you know I am still well and of course lonesome. How is everyone at home?

"Well, we have left our first stand on the line of Alsace Loraine and are now on an awful busy one. We have got the Germans on the run and believe me they are going, not even taking time to bury their dead and it is n corker to stop in a place and see nothing but dead Germans, horses and a few Americans. There is not much left for us to finish, yet they hold out like a dog with a bona. They are game, but are sure losers.

"Wa passed through the gayest elty in the world about a week ago. Last night our division went to the front and among tha prisoners were quite a few women, also some ware killed end when taking machina guns, women end men were chained to them so they could not leave.

"Our artillery is so large end so thick where I am now sitting, that they most jar me off my feet, and if you were to holler in my eer I could not hear you. Yet our flag is still flying.

"Saw Lee just before he went up, and believe me he is lucky not getting hit after all the narrow escapes he has had. Frankie is with him and I also saw Harry in a small town. He is well but quite blue. A real letter is worth more than capturing the Kaiser.

"Well mother this is one of the greatest battlefields so will get into the harness again, but will write again just as soon as I get to a resting place." Lovingly your son,—Adolphus.

THIEF PROVES TO BE INDIAN LAD

BURGLARY OF LEVINSON'S STORE CLEARED UP

Hiding Place of Thief Found in Burnham Cottage on Chicago Club Grounds.

Exheusted from loss of sleep and exposure and in a famishing condition, Clarence Francis, the 19 year old Indian lad wanted by the outhorities for breaking in and entering Levinson's Department store on the evening of September 12, voluntarily gave himself up by appearing at the county jail early Tuesday morning.

When the theft of goods from the Levinson store was first reported, the sheriff was almost without a clue as to the identity of the guilty parties, and his suspicion of Francis came about in quite an unusual way. On Saturday aftennoon of last week, James Gaskins, warden at the Chicago Club grounds, was showing the Burnhem cottage, just outside the grounds to the west, known as the Nettleton property, to prospective buyers or renters. Upon going into one of the upstairs sleeping rooms, he noticed articles of wearing apparel scattered about, and commenced a search of the house. During the search, Francis hid in a closet, and when Gaskins left the room, slipped out and disappeared.

He wes seen and identified, however, but could not be located nor was seen until he made bis appearance at the county jail Tuesday morning.

Search of the room revealed many articles of women's apperel, among which were included a coat, two skirts, shirt waist, two petticoats, silk stockings, underwear, e corset and a suit case, besides a worn waist and skirt. The new articles were identified as those missing from Levinson's store, and the skirt and waist by an employe of the hotel Bartlett, which had been missed by their owner.

In gaining entrance to the Levinson store, young Francis broke out a window in the basement stairway at the west end of the building, crawled through the small opening, proceeded to the store section whera he selected the articles he seemed to want, then opening the side door, made his exit.

Francis is now in jnil, and efforts are being made to wring a confession from him which undoubtedly will implicate others, as it is thought he is but one of an organized gang of shop lifters and petty thieves who have been operating about the city for several weeks past.

A new fall line of hats have just arrived. Will be pleased to have you come in and look them over. Mrs. L. A. Lewis. 38t1.

2nd Ward	115
3rd Ward	164
4th Ward	143
City of East Jordan
1st Ward	56
2nd Ward	67
3rd Ward	136

Kheki colored arm bands with tha American flag stamped on them, were given to each registrant as they passed from the booths. Tha little bands were the gift of tha Charlevoix County Red Cross and will be preserved es souvenirs of tha great day.

Word received Friday by the Charlevoix board announced that questionnaires should only be sent to men between the ages of 19 and 36 at first. None will be sent until further orders nre given by the war department.

The day was generally observed throughout the city and every place of business was closed the entire dey. Flags were floating from public buildings, acores of residences in Charlevoix and all parts of the county.

AUTO THIEVES ARE AGAIN AT WORK

Take Dodga Car From Barn of Henry Wood and Wreck it

Auto thieves (or possibly young lads in the habit of borrowing autos) took a Dodge car from the barn of H. B. Wood, at his residence on Clinton street, and either attempted joy riding or wrecked the car before making their getaway.

The car, a practically new five passenger Dodge, was found Saturday morning at the foot of Greensky hill, where it had been abnndoned by its driver. The joy riders or thieves had apparently lost control of the car on the hill, and jumped, allowing the car full headway on its own accord.

When renching the bottom of the hill, it overturned, breaking a wheel and the wind shield, and demolishing the top entirely.

The car was brought to town late during the following day and repairs are now being made. No trace as yet has been found of tbe guilty parties.

JUST IN TIME

Some Charlevoix People May Wait Till it's Too Late.

Don't wait until too late.
Be sure to be in time.
Just in time with kidney ills.
Means curing the backache, the dizziness, the urinary disorders
That so often come with kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for this very purpose.

Here is Charlevoix testimony of their worth.

Mrs. R. S. Hammond, 207 Belvedere Ave., says: "Several years ago my kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. At times my hands and feet were swolen and my face was bloated also. I felt miserable all over. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I began using them and three boxes removed all the trouble, making me feel like a different person."

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hammond had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

A Puzzled Reporter.

If I happen to marry a womnn with whom I nnturally ngree, I will turn out a good husband; if not, I'll turn out a bad husbnnd. Find a mnn nnd wife who are compelled to "study" each other in order to get along, aad who "talk things over" a good deal, and say mean things to each other, and they'd separate if it wasn't for the children, or the name of it.—Ed Howe's Weekly.

A scientific magazine says the motorcar has passed out of the experimental stage. True, but what a pity it is that as much cannot be said of the drivers of motorcars.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

From Sargt. James W. Gaskins
August 7, 1918.

Dear Folks:—I will now try and answer your many letters as I have time to myself. I am in a base hospital. Now don't worry, mother, as I am not wounded. I am what is called 'shell shocked,' caused by the explosion of a shell near me. It affects the nerves and I imagine my heads feels like yours did when you were in the sanitorium with that nervous trouble, I never thought that shelle would bother me, as I have heard them constantly for the last two months, but they got me at last, I guess.

"You see they shelled a position we were in; and we took cover down the road until they stopped. Then I went to a spring and washed up and I ran into the fire. That was the last I remembered until I was being taken out of an ambulance at a dressing station in the rear, and my head felt like a balloon. But am feeling quite comfortable now in the hospital, and hope soon to be able to go at it and help finish up.

"Now, don't worry, for it will be but a few days before I am all right. How are all the folks at home. I am sending Kathryn back the little flag she sent me. I carried it to the front and back here, so it will be quite a souvenir for her to keep. It is the first flag from Charlevoix to go to the front.

"Old Kaiser Bill and his outfit are certainly getting it now. They are driving them right through to Berlin. I do hope the war will be ended before any more of the boys from home have to come over, for 'war is hell.' That's all I can compare it to.

"Well, as I am getting quite tired will close and rest. Write as often as you can. Your loving son,—Sergt. James W. Gaskins.

17th Inf., Co. E, American E. F., France.

From Forrest Weed
France August 8th, 1918.

Dear Folks:—Just a line to let you know as usual that I am well. We are having some pretty warm weather, pretty warm at times but we do not mind that as we have had a good deal of cold weather.

"I have really no news to tell you excepting that on our last move we saw some very interesting places including statues, towers, cities and farming lands. Was very much surprised at some of this country as I had formed an entirely different opinion of this country, but now I have changed my mind and think France quite a place after all and only regret that I haven't seen more of it, but guess I have seen as much of it as any of the fellows. Have seen some old historic places and was really surprised to see the walls and stone work done in some places, especially the entrances to

BOARD OF EDUCATION

September 16, 1918.

Special meeting of the board for the purpose of considering the proposition of teaching second year German in the high school. Meeting was called to order by President Hampton. Trustees present: Hampton, Bridge, Nordrum, Mrs. Armstrong and Hiller. Absent, None.

Trustee Hiller introduced the following resolution which was supported by Trustee Nordrum:

Whereas, since the original action taken by the Board of Education last year, wherein it was voted unanimously to discontinue the teaching of German in the schools (with the understanding that those who had started the course might complete their studies if they desired) the sentiment throughout the country has become such that the word German arouses bitter feeling, Therefore be it resolved that the study of German even by second year students be discontinued forthwith, and that the superintendent be instructed to petition the University authorities to accept one year of French as credit for the second year of German.

Adopted unanimously this 16th day of September, 1918.

There being no further business the board adjourned.—E. J. Hiller, Secretary.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Mortgage Forclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, which mortgage was given by Peter Rush and Ida R. Rush, his wife, to Helen J. Pulcipher which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, April 21st, 1916 in Liber fifty-six of mortgages on page forty; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Five Hundred fifty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and a further sum of fifty-three dollars and nine cents taxes paid on the property described in said mortgage by Helen J. Pulcipher, together with an attorney fee as provided by statute, and no suit or proceedings at law have been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; and whereas the tax required by the statutes to be paid on said mortgage was duly paid prior to the recording thereof;

Now therefore, notice is given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statutes made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount then due thereon of principal and interest together with the amounts paid for taxes, costs and expenses of the foreclosure, including the attorney fee provided by statute, at public auction to the higher bidder therefore at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix (that being the place where the Circuit court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 14th day of December, 1918 at ten o'clock in the forenoon on that day. ANNUAL SALE of Summer Resort PIANOS

Trainloads of Beautiful Pianos from Michigan's finest Summer Homes now offered at SENSATIONAL REDUCTIONS and on Easy Terms.

It is our aim to dispose of these surplus instruments within TEN DAYS. With the sensational savings we are offering, there is no doubt of this being accomplished. It is an exceptional chance to bring the cheer of music to your home---an opportunity which you should not let pass without fullest investigation, as the instruments and prices mentioned here fully and convincingly tell

Be Here Monday, Sept. 23, at 8 a. m., the Time Our Doors Open to the Sensational Bargains

LOCATION IS BRIDGE STREET, YOUNG BLOCK, CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

No other house can offer you values to compare with these. Only our Great Summer business makes it possible even for us.—We have long been Rental Headquarters for the state. Have for many years supplied practically everyone of the instruments used during the season in the summer homes at the many Michigan Resorts.

You Save the Rent and More---You Buy on Especially EASY TERMS

Every instrument is plainly marked, showing the original price, amount of rent and other deductions, and the sale price. You will find there is striking evidence of the importance of immediate purchase.

Every Dollar Deducted

The rental we have received on each instrument amounts to

and even more. Nor is this all you save. For prices, since these instruments were sent out at the beginning of the season, have greatly advanced, but our reduction is made on the lower prices on which the pianos sold when rented. Besides there's the probability of a further increase in price soon by the manufacturers. In buying now you actually save double and in many cases triple the amount of the rent.

The return of all these instruments in the Fall makes necessary special selling measures—and with the continued growth of this business, it has meant this year a sale of ever-growing importance to those of pianoless homes. Because of the very large number of instruments rented this season, and other extraordinary conditions entering into the savings we now offer, this sale, which opens next Monday morning, surpasses in immensity of stock and savings, any of our previous fourteen great clearances of summer rental instruments—and means more to you than any other Piano or Player-Piano sale ever brought to your attention.

NO TALK OF PEACE

American doughboys charge a German machine gun nest across an open field.

Some fall, but the others press forward. They come to their objective at the point of the bayonet, only to find the beaten Hun, with unlifted hands, crying "Kamerad." But with a gun or knife concealed, ready to violate his plea or surrender.

This is the true Hun spirit, the spirit back of the Kaiser and his court. With the power of the offensive passing from him, he is now merely waiting for another chance to lift his hands with the cry of "Kamerad" or "Peace."

Peace—with part of the loot still in his possession. Peace—with only a thought of German gain or German victory through craft or deceit. Peace—with the hidden knife ready for its sudden and treacherous thrust.

Peace? In the A. E. F. there will be no thought of peace no whisper of peace, no dream of peace until the Hun is beaten to dust.

The fighting lines sweeping their way forward through machine gun fire and are not talking of peace.

The fighting lines and workers through the S. O. S. are not thinking of peace. Their single thought and dream is Victory. They see ahead, through the battle smoke, only the savage enemy to humanity whipped until he is ready to quit and take up his share of the work for civilization.

Let the weak-hearted, who are dreaming of a compromise—

Let the pacifist, who are talking of "peace by agreement"—

Let the side-liners, who have "had enough of war"—

Let the secretly inclined pro-Germans, who think "this great tragedy should be ended without decision"

Let them one and all know once and for all that for the A. E. F. there is no such word as peace with the Huns unbeaten. The man who talks of peace today, except through victory, is a traitor. He is only fit to face the firing squad.—From the Stars and Stripes, Friday, August 16.

NEWBERRY VS. FORD

The Grand Rapids Herald, which supported Osborne for the Republican senatorial nomination, believes that sending Newberry to the senate is a war essential, to which we all agree. Setting forth many reasons why Henry Ford should be left in civil life until this war is done and won The Herald, in a recent editorial, commented as follows on Mr. Ford:

Regardless of all corollary considerations and of all pre-primary disputes, Michigan must unfailingly commission Mr. Newberry to Washington and as unfailingly leave Mr. Ford in civil life until this war is done and won. With profound conviction The Herald believes such electorial action to be a war essential—for the sake of a consecutive American program which will never prematurely parley with the Hun.

Preident Wilson's interference in Wisconsin politics last spring could have been justified only on the hypothesis that a national emergency demanded his appeal for the defeat of Congressman Lenroot (candidate for senator.) Why did he deem Lenroot's defeat essential? Because Lenroot voted for the notorious McLemore proposal warning Americans off merchant ships, thus surrendering American rights upon the seas to insolent prohibitions "made in Germany." This vote, declared the president, was an acid test" (the presidents' own phrase) of a statesmans' war time availability, and the White House ultimatum accordingly sought to crucify poor Lenroot, whose record was otherwise singularly patriotic and courageous in its devotion to American ideals.

But what becomes of the president's "acid test" when applied to Henry Ford? On April 11, 1916, Mr. Ford expended thousands of dollars in a spectacular advertising appeal to all Americans to forsake the president's purposes in demanding the defeat of the McLemore resolution. He went infinitely further than Lenroot ever went. He glorified McLemore and ridiculed the upstanding Americanism which refused to compromise with German dominion. "Any man with common sense," declared his proclamation, "will deny that Americans have a right to use such ships. * * * Under such conditions a right becomes a crime."

This was no mental lapse. It was the deliberate disclosure of a mind which failed to think in terms of uncompromising Americanism. It was of a piece with Mr. Ford's attitude when the Lusitania was torpedoed. According to the affidavit of Dr. Johannes von Tiling of Poughkeepsie (presented as a part of a defense against a governmental action to revoke his citizenship), Mr Ford was in this Teutonic physician's office the day of this gigantic murder and then declared: "Well, they were fools to go on the boat; they were warned." (The president said: "No warning that an unlawful and inhuman act will be commited can possibly be accepted as an excuse or palliation for that act.") An American citizen—even one so lethargic as to have voted only six times in 31 years (Ford's confession)—who could even inferentially excuse German murder when the Lusitania went down would naturally exalt the McLemore bellyflop. It was true fliver statesmanship.

What then of the "acid test"? Shall it be applied in Michigan? Instead of inviting Mr. Ford to "accept a senatorship"—an act which of itself was a constitutional affront to all theories of democracy and home rule—the president should have branded him with a thousand times the emphasis aimed at Lenroot across the lake. And even if Mr. Ford contributed $30,000 to Mr. Wilson's campaign—the situation is none the less emphatic. The president's own logic calls upon Michigan to keep Mr. Ford out of the senate.

Germany has yet to "pay the price" for sinking the Lusitania and all the other American ships which the McLemore resolution sought to yield up to German sovereignty. Michigan and America demand that the 'price' shall be unconditional surrender. The senate is the body which, with the president, must see to it that the "price" is paid. But in these crucial things—the "acid test"—Mr. Ford indicated that there was nothing to "pay for." Are we gullible enough to send such a man to speak for Michigan in the negotiations?

Mr. Ford loved peace—and so do we all. It is not for that he must be opposed. But he loved peace more than he loved America's rights and reputation as we all now understand them. He did not even acknowledge our rights. He did not help one whit until everybody else—outside of jail—was helping. All credit to him for the senate is not an industrial institution. It makes laws—not lizzies. And a vision which failed before the war, is too treacherous to be trusted with a pilot wheel amid rocks and reefs and sunken German shoals which will again desperately imperil the Ship of State the nearer it gets to the harbors of conclusive victory and convincing peace.

THE ISSUE IN MICHIGAN

The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonothan Bourne, Jr., has given out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters:

"The nomination of Truman H. Newberry on the Republican ticket for United States Senator from Michigan, and of Henry Ford on the Democrat ticket, raises a direct issue of patriotism in that state, and on that issue Newberry goes to the people confident of winning. Ford's record as a patriot prior to the advent of the United States into the war was not flattering to the Nation nor to the state. Evidence has been submitted since his candidacy was announced that his peace ship cruise was instigated by a woman named Schwimmel, who was one of Germany's most active propogandists. Language ascribed to Ford and quoted by George Harvey has been so insulting to the flag of the United States as to have put any other man behind the bars, under the sedition law. And his son, who is said to be a healthy, but careful, young chap has, after a bitter controversy with the state exemption board, been exempted from service in the army.

"No one in this country, except a deluded few who accompanied Ford on the trip, ever imagined for an instant that the peace ship would achieve its mission. But Ford undertook to bring peace about and have the men out of the trenches by Christmas, as he was reported to have said. Had his purpose, by any freak been accomplished, Germany would have quit a winner of all she set out to compel by force of arms, and we would today be facing, perhaps alone, the most ruthless and savage nation in the history of mankind.

"To think that President Wilson would 'command' this man to run for the United States Senate in view of his past record well-nigh palsies the thinking processes of many of the President's staunchest supporters. It is inconceiveable that the State of Michigan, which sent so many thousands to the Civil War for the preservation of the Union, and which has so many thousands in this war for the preservation of human liberties, would countenance sending a man of Ford's stripe to the greatest deliberative body in the world, and the body charged with the framing of our treaties.

"Truman H. Newberry took no active part in the campaign for nomination. He was, and is now, a lieutenant commander in the Navy, rendering the President support

This Will be a Banner Year For Plush Coats

The foresighted woman who is to have a new coat for Winter should be ready now to make her selection, because—

Conditions are different than at any time in this Nation's History

Particularly is this true when Plush and Velour Coats are under consideration. Our present stock of Pile Fabric garments was bought at prices today considered very low.

We are offering them to you—

FROM $25 UP

These Coats at $25 to $50 represent at least as good values today as there are on the market. For let it be known that the plush mills are today not turning out any plush—they are busy for uncle Sam's Soldiers! Therefore make your selection now. We urge this in all sincerity. It is our duty and your duty to make the dollars stretch their furthest limit these days, and by co-operating with us, you will do so.

Farm Improvements Have the Right of Way!

Of course only necessary building is encouraged by the Government, but barns, silos, corn cribs, cold storage cellars,—all structures that save food or labor are necessary. The farmer who builds to protect himself against loss will market a larger crop, or by feeding more stock will sell more pork or beef. That is the big national need. Construction to save labor is equally patriotic and even more necessary.

Work Should Start Quickly

The time to start buildings is the first day you can get materials on the ground. You cannot be sure of labor and materials later on. We can supply you with free blue prints for many structures and will gladly give you an estimate on cement, lumber and roofing.

GREAT DANGER IN GASOLINE

One Gallon Properly Mixed is Equal to 83 Pounds of Dynamite

Many automobile owners do not fully realize the danger connected with the careless handling of gasoline. In a general way they recognize the explosive power of the liquid, but few of them know how great that explosive power is. A writer in one of the magazines devoted to the automobile trade seeks to make this clear and more impressive by comparing the explosive power of gasoline with that of dynamite. He points to that gasoline, even at a low temperature, constantly develpoes an explosive vapor. Five gallons of gasoline will generate 8,000 cubic feet of gas, which, if ignited, expands 4,000 times. One gallon of gasoline properly mixed with air and compressed, is equal to about 83 pounds of dynamite in explosive force. What makes gasoline particularly dangerous is the fact that it is more rapidly ignited and exploded than dynamite. One can never be too careful in handling gasoline under any and all circumstances.

Waists That Would Represent Good Values at $1.50 Are Still Priced Here at $1.00

All lines of reputable blouses that formerly sold at $1.00, with one notable exception, have long since beeause of advaneing material and labor eosts, advaneed their priees to $1.50.

That one exception is the Wirthmor.

Back of the Wirthmor name stands a high ideal of blouse making, that insists on giving to the eonsumer the very ultimate in genuine value.

It is that ideal, that never failing poliey that still enables you to buy these wonderful Blouses at $1.00, when the materials and labor entering into their eonstruetion have advaneed so exhorbitantly as to warrant a price of fully $1.50.

When the makers present stock of materials is exhausted, an advance in the price of these splendid Waists will be inevitable. Until that time arrives the price will remain $1.00, permitting our patrons to share in the large savings that come as a result of the economies of the Wirthmor Plan.

What the Use of Fertilizer Did For This Farmer

THE RESULT:

On 5 acres of fertilized oats were harvested 320 bushels of oats, machine measure, or 64 bushels per acre.

On 5 1-2 acres of oats, on ground not fertilized, 275 bushels, or 50 bushels per acre, machine measure, were harvested.

By weight they over-ran 5 pounds per bushel, bringing the total acreage on the fertilized land up to 74 bushels per acre, and on the unfertilized land up to 57 bushels and 26 pounds per aere.

All will be used for seed purposes and have proven they are a good yielding variety and anyone securing them may be assured of a variety of oats in the same class as Rosen Rye and other grains propagated right here in Michigan by the Michigan Agricultural College.

Swift's 1-8-2 Fertilizer or Swift's Wheat and Rye Special Will Produce the Same Result

The yield above mentioned was the result of liberal use of fertilizer on a farm less than seven miles from Ellsworth. The same result can be procured on any farm land in this section by using fertilizer. Can you afford to till your soil and plant your crops without it? See us about your season's need at once.

PEPPERED WITH ROTTEN EGGS

"GAS-LESS" SUNDAY VIOLATORS HARSHLY DEALT WITH

Other Cars Painted and Air Released From Tires—Should Observe Request

The protest against Sunday driving of cars in disregard of the request of the fuel administrator reached a climax in Ellsworth Sunday evening when several cars were liberally peppered with ratten eggs. These were cars from other places, as with one or two exceptions the people of this vicinity observed the fuel request to the letter. At the Christian Reformed church near town, where previous to this request there could always be seen about thirty autos during the Sunday service, no cars were in evidence, and the three or four car owners who ventured to drive their machines to the Hollond church near Essex, found at the close of the meeting that their machines had been painted and otherwise marked up as well as the air released from the tires.

One feature of the demonstrations however showed a dense streak of mischief and ignorance and deserves the heartiest condemnation of all people; this was the scattering of roofing nails on the streets in the endeavor to cause tire trouble for Sunday drivers. This might hit the wrong drivers as some people have an absolute right to run their machines on Sunday.

The action of the perpetrators of the egg and paint parties are open to argument, but the machines operated on will prohably remain in the garage next Sunday if the fuel order is still in effect.

GIRLS WANTED FOR GOVERNMENT WORK

Work Simple and Light and Factory Conditions Good.

There is a great demand for girls between sixteen and 25 to go to work in our drug laboratories. The initinl wage is about $11.50 a week and experienced girls with a grammar school education can generally qualify, but the work calls for exactness and precision, therefore the girls must have at least ordinary intelligence. The work is simple and light, the factory conditions are very good, and the need extremely great as these laboratories are preparing serums and drugs which must be gotten over to France. The workers really form a line of defense behind the nurses at the front. The laboratory work would be an indirect aid in nursing, and might appeal to the young women who are desirous of joining the nurses course but on account of the physical or educational requirements cannot qualify for that line of work. From three hundred to five hundred girls are wanted at once.

Write The Bureau of Internal Revenue, Treasury Dept. Washington, D. C. it is in need of 300 women as auditing clerks who fill the requirments as stated in the civil service announcement No. 464. Any young woman from 21 to 35 years of age interested in this work should apply at once for further information as to requirements. Salary from $1200 to $1400 at first leading to $2000.

Yanks Mow Down Huns and Take Few Prisoners— Writer Says War is Hell on Earth.

Right in the midst of the big Allied offensive, Pvt. Andrew Wynsma writes of the battle as he saw it. His opinion, as many others, is that the Hun is a coward at heart, and as soon as cornered begs for mercy. The letter follows:

Somewhere in France,
August 11, 1918.

Dear Brother and Sister:—It has been four or five days since I received your letter, so will try and write one in return. We are not on the firing lines at present, but are out for a little rest, so it gives me an opportunity to write a few letters.

"I suppose you have read of the great American drive that is on now. I was in it and we went over the top with a yell, and I am sure the Boche knew what it meant too. The bullets came down like hail stones all around me, and I consider myself very lucky in not being wounded at all as I was in the very thickest of the battle. We mowed down a good many of the Huns with machine gun fire and also took quite a few prisoners. When the Hun sees he cannot get away, he will throw up his hands and holler, "Kommerad-mercy," In order to save his life, and some I believe are glad to be taken prisoners, because they are treated better in France than in their own country. Among the captured were two girls dressed in mens' uniforms, operating machine guns, trying to shoot the Americans down, but they did not have much success as they were taken prisoners, so I think it is time the Huns are getting licked and this practice stopped.

"The Americans are doing splendid work and every thing is working in favor of the Allies as you have noticed, and it looks to me if they keep on this way that peace is not far off, although things may run different than what I think for. The only thing I can say about war is that it is a running Hell on earth as General Sherman said during the Civil war, and that was nothing compared with this modern warfare, and I am sure that every one that had a taste of war would agree with me on this. Don't think I am discouraged the least bit, for it makes me feel more like fighting than ever, because I am beginning to realize what the Huns are and what they are trying to do.

"The country does not look very nice since they have fought over it although it must have looked nice before the war. It is full of deep shell holes and villages blown up, so you can imagine what it would look like.

"I have received about eight or nine letters in the last few days and I don't see how I am going to answer them all, as paper is a scarce article here at present and there is no Y. M. C. A. They sent out after some yesterday and we were each issued three sheets, so I guess I will have to cut this writing down a little. Well I must close hoping to hear from you soon. As ever your brother.—Andrew Wynsma.

The following communication from U. S. Marshall Herman O'Connor should be a warning to all alien residents who move from place to place without first notifying the local board of registration of their intention. But few cases have been reported in the county, but should there be a violation, the law will be strictly complied with:

"A German alien man or woman changing his or her place of residence to another place within the same registration district shall immediately report such change to the registration officer of the registration district and present to such registration officer his or her registration card for the purpose of having endorsed thereon by such registration officer the change of residence.

A German alien male or female who desire to change his or her place of residence to a place of residence within another registration district must obtain a permit. Such German alien male or female must present themselves to the registration officer if the district in which she or he then resides and make application for the permit on a form supplied by the registration officer, and present his or her registration card to the registration officer for the purpose of having the permit of change of residence, if granted upon his or her registration card. If the registration officer denies the application there may be an appeal under certain circumstances set forth in Article XIII, paragraph 3, of the general regulations, to the United States Marshall of the judicial district for final action.

A change of residence in violation of the regulations subjects an alien enemy, among other penalties, to arrest and detention for the period of the war.

The registration officer who acted in the registration of German aliens will continue to act as registration officers for the purpose stated in respect to permits for change of residence."

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

cities, bridge work and tunneling as they seem to excell in stone and mason work. I suppose one reason for this is that everything is made of rock and really according to the amount they have done they must have worked a good deal of their life at it, that is when they have not been at war. As you know France has been at war a lot and in fact practically all of France has been the scene of the battles.

Have a couple of more letters to write and as I have no news will quit for this time.

This open air life is good for me and I guess for most of the soldiers. Love to all. —Forrest.

France August 15th, 1918.

Dear Folks:—It is now eight o'clock, have had breakfast and am now free for a while at least as we are on a little rest vacation for a few days. This is really the first one since we came over here and we are surely glad to get only a few days. I feel fine this morning having slept exceedingly well last night due I guess to the pile of straw we went out and gathered and put in our pup tents to serve the purpose of a mattress. I have not seen a real mattress in some time as we live in our tents, two to a tent, which serves to keep the rain from us and it is much safer and better than living in buildings while at the front, as we always have fresh and pure air excepting of course when they send over gas which has been very few times of late and we have no fear of that at all now. Cloud gas is not used here as much as it used to be, as I guess the Boche has found out that we don't fear it and again he is going so fast he has not time to arrange the apparatus necessary for sending it over. Another reason I feel so clean is that we had a bath and put on clean clothes yesterday, and that alone makes you feel like a different person

Today I have the toilsome job which all the soldiers just love, and I am no exception, of washing clothes. Of course we don't always have the chance but when we do we certainly dirty up the water. By this you must not think we are living in the mud, etc, as we are not and always keep ourselves in a presentable way at all times even if we only have a cup of water to share and wash our face in.

This is some life and it is really so interesting that I would hate to miss it and in fact I know I would rather be here than in some of the camps in the states.

It may not be as sanitary here but just as healthy and I believe more so as every one will tell you we have had very little sickness or contaglous diseases. You can see we are not in as bad a place as many people think. In fact it seems that most people form a wrong impression, and I don't think it is as bad as I did before we left the states and saw some of the army life here.

Last night we went for a walk over to where an American aviator was killed and also buried with full military honors. I have a piece taken from his machine or what is left of it as about all that remains is a few chips and two wheels with all the spokes taken out as souvenirs. I have one of these also. We had our pictures taken (by a medical lieutenant that happened to have a vest pocket kodak with him) standing at the head of the grave and if they are any good and I can get one will send you one.

Well mother we just went out and had a warm bath and more mail immediately after, two Couriers and magazines today and a letter last night from you so today I am well fed up with the news from the only town "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

Well I guess I have written quite a letter so will quit for this time. Love to all, Your loving son Forrest.

GAVE LIFE FOR HIS COUNTRY

He was given the highest military honors, being accorded a military funeral, with Corporal Robert Merriam being detailed to accompany the body here as military escort. He had become a favorite with the officers and men, through his determination to make good as a fighter for Uncle Sam, and Mrs. Crouter was accorded every possible privilege by the officers of his battalion, and of the hospital.

The body arrived here Tuesday morning, and the funeral will take place on Friday at 9:00 a. m., services being held from the home of Mrs. H. L. Iddings on Park Avenue where only four years ago, his nuptials were celebrated. The Jacky Band of Chicago will take part in the funeral, the schools will close, and the entire community will unite in paying tribute to the gallant young soul that has paid the last sacrifice for our country. George Crouter, as stated, was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Crouter. The widowed mother who has now lost her only son, and the young wife who is thus widowed, will have the sincere sympathy of all. But let this thought be a comfort—He died that the Nation, and all it represents, might live.

He wisbed for wings, that he might fight
His County's battles in the air.
A valiant wish, and gallant would
He have fought, once "over there."

But unkind Fate had other plans,
And earthly pinions did deny.
Instead, She gave him spirit wings,
with which to soar beyond the sky.

Dear friends, mourn not. George has his wish;
And, freed from the limits of the earth,
His gallant spirit, winged by God.
Will help to give the world new birth.

For though unseen, he'll ride the air,
And guide the hands of fighting men,
And help them whip the German beasts,
And thus bring peace, and joy again.

And ao, let peace come to your heart.
Don't call him dead—his spirit lives!
He has achieved life'a greatest goal,
When all unto his flag he gives.

MEN WANTED FOR GOVERNMENT WORK

Men Needed to Replace Those Called to Colors.

The "work or fight" meeting held at the court house Friday evening, in charge of U. S. Public Service Reserve officials, was well attended and the speakers of the evening were vigorously applauded.

Persons whose summer work is over and who are desirous of obtaining positions where they can help the government, are requested to file applications immediately with Chas. E. See, local director.

Dallas Boudeman of Kalamazoo, a well known summer resident, addressed the meeting and pleaded with his hearers to back up the government in all its war work. If Germany is victorious we must lose the one and one-half million boys we have in Europe in killed or prisoners, he said, and if that should ever come to pass Germany would send her armies over here on board the fleets of England, Italy and France.

"It takes the work of eight persons to keep one soldier in the army," said the speaker. "The government proposes to enlist the labor of the United States and has appointed a commission to find out just what each person is best adapted to do. I have been asked to bring this subject before you and to ask you to go into this necessary work.

"We are going to ask who of you will, for six or eight months, go to points where your services are so sorely needed."

SUNDAY WAS TRULY A "GAS-LESS" DAY

Practically No Gasoline Driven Vehicles Seen on the Streets

Sunday was truly a "gas-less" day in Charlevoix.

Following the request of the government that all automobiles, excepting those of necessity, be left in the garages on Sunday, in order to conserve gasoline, which is needed to supply the gasoline motor driven devices on the western fron in France, Charlevoix city and county did even better than on the previous Sundays in complying with the administration's request.

Estimates are that approximately 8,000,000 gallons of gasoline were saved for the army in France by the conservation made by the American public. On the previous Sunday the few drivers who were out were subject to ridicule at the hands of Young America, who with lusty voice, proclaimed the name of "slacker", to every auto passing.

In Charlevoix the violation of thia order was forcibly brought to bear on the occupants of a touring car who stopped at Pfister's restaurant and asked for a bite to eat. They were told to pass on as no food would be sold to "slackers", also advised to put their car in a garage and be Americans. Another instance at the same restaurant, the occupants of a car were allowed to take their places at a table, and when their order was given, were told that no food was sold to people who violate the "gas-less" Sunday order.

The order is still on, but may be lifted within the present month.

GERMAN IN THE SCHOOLS

gentle baby killers. If we did, we might as well give the country to the Kaiser, hang his portrait on the schoolhouse framed with red, white and blue lights. Then we'll "Spechen Deatch" and teach our babies to lisp "Hoch der Kaiser" in the cradle. We'll sing the Wacht am Rhein and then we'll give a speech to the departing "selects" who go to protect our women and children from Germany. And as they march bravely by, some never to return, we'll clap our hands and make them believe we're real patriots and that we really intend to back them up.

Cut out German in the public schools by all means.

PREDICTS VICTORY FOR NEXT YEAR

High Speed is the Thing, Declares Administrator Prescott.

Lansing.—"If the people at home give our armies and our Allies the backing they deserve we will win the war in 1919," declared George A. Prescott, state food administrator, discussing his recent Washington pilgrimage, where he attended a conference of all state food administrators with Herbert Hoover and his staff. "If the war is not won next year several years may be required, and a dreadful sacrifice of American soldiers will be called for. The opinion is frankly expressed at Washington, that failure to win the war during the campaign of 1919 will cost no less than one million of American soldiers, above the tens of thousands that we must inevitably lose in next year's fighting.

"There is no question about the part our soldiers are going to play. The papers are filled with stories of their magnificent successes. If the people at home are to do their part, however, and give the soldiers a fair chance to win in 1919, they must strip to the bone, consider the war as their most important business individually, and be guided in every action by the influence of such action upon the winning of the war. Our people have not yet realized what real war strain is."

BOB JARVIS IS MAKING A RECORD

Has Highest General Average in Class for Month of August

"Bob" Jarvis, son of Mrs. Aggie M. Jarvis of this city, is making a wonderful record for himself in the radio school, where he is a student.

During the month of August "Bob" won the highest general average throughout the course, thus heading a class of students running into the hundreds.

About the first of September Mr. Jarvis was transferred from Harvard training school, where he received the excellent standing, to Norfolk, Va., where he will take his final exeminations and undoubtedly will be placed on a receiving ship for actual praetice in radio work.

Attention.

All registered men of the 18-45 class residing in Charlevoix and vicinity are requested to be at the Court House Friday morning, September 20th, at eight o'clock.

The purpose is to attend the funeral of George A. Crouter and to perfect a voluntary organization for mutual advantage and instruction. This call includes all registrants residing in Charlevoix and the townships of Hayes, Norwood, Marion, Eveline, west of the arm, and Beaver Islands. Bring your card and arm band.—Committee.

SPEECH MADE A HIT WITH WOMEN

Armstrong Home Scene of Well Attended Suffrage Meeting

On Friday afternoon, September 13, a suffrage meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Armstrong. The house was appropriately decorated with flowers carefully chosen, as to color and postera told guests the purpose of the present campaign for Democracy.

The Misses Dorothy and Philo Armstrong and the Misses Ruth and Bess Hammett served dainty refreshments. The sale of "votes for women" buttons was a feature of the afternoon.

A spirited and informing speech was made by Miss Ames, who repreaents the atate organization.

THE ISSUE IN MICHIGAN

which Mr. Wilson should appreciate. He was one of the organizers of the Michigan State Naval Brigade, and it was while he was serving in the Navy during the Spanish-American war that he attracted the attention of Theodore Roosevelt, who later made him Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and then Secretary, in which office he served with distinction. When the present war broke out he immediately took on as a junior officer, to fight for the flag which Ford is said to have repudiated.

"In the last senatorial election held in Michigan, that of Townsend, Republican, against Price, Democrat, the former won with a margin of 107,000. It is up to Michigan, at least, to equal this record first, because it will show her appreciation of a patriot, and a man of notable achievement; second, because it will keep Henry Ford at home to help his son carry on work of importance to the government in this war, and, third, because Michigan should make it plain that she wants no executive interference with the politics of her state. There is plenty to keep the chief executive busy in the conduct of this war."

For Quality Printing try the Courier Job Print.

Henry Ford is showing a disposition to be reckless with his money. He says he would give "a million dollars to be out of politics," when he could step down and out for nothing, or wait until he is forced out next November.

Do the democrats claim Henry Ford as their candidate for United States senator? None of the Democratic papers have had his picture on the front page and the silent applause they are giving their leader is appalling.

The German people are beginning to discover the truth that defeat will be better for them than everlasting warfare.

OUR 4TH LIBERTY BOND QUOTA

ESTIMATED CLOSE TO NINETY-FIVE THOUSAND

Charlevoix Will Back Our Boys With More Than This Amount —Get Ready for the Drive.

The quota for Charlevoix for the Fourth Liberty Loan, while not officially stated as yet, has been estimated by local war boards to be near $95,000 for the Charlevoix district. That is the amount our people are to buy of the total which must be sold if the government is to successfully finance, during the next few months, our part in the terrible conflict the Kaiser and his hordes have brought upon the world.

Of course the people of Charlevoix are going to buy that amount, and the only question is how much more and how quickly are we going to do it?

Charlevoix people are going at this bond-buying proposition in just the same way that our Charlevoix boys are going at the Heinies in France. We are not going to wait until the fight is over before we get into it, and we are not going to stop at the fixed objective of $95,000 any more than our boys stop when they reach the first German trench or German machine gun nest.

We are going to put Charlevoix dollars back of Charlevoix boys and let them work together so that in the end the "world may be a decent place to live in."

BADLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Overturns Near Horton Bay and Occupants Thrown Out

As a result of auto driving at a reckless speed, a young girl named Follet lies at the point of death in the Petoskey hospital, and the driver of the car, Hesper Goodwin of Melrose township is under arrest as being responsible for her condition.

According to what we can learn, Goodwin went to Topinabee for the young girl, to take her to Boyne City. Enroute between the two places he drove the car at a reckless pace, which resulted in the accident near Horton Bay. The girl was thrown out and to date had not recovered conciousness. Gordon was arrested and then released, awaiting the outcome of the girl's injuries.

Registration Board

During the present week local attorneys have been swamped with requests for assistance by 19-36 drafted men who have received their questionnaires. Men have come from Boyne City, East Jordan and other points in the city and to take care of the vast amount of work involved the following men have been named to assist in the work: Charles H. Emrey, S. M. Rose, A. L. Fitch, Harry Nicholls, W. E. Hampton, Oluf Nordrum, R. F. Sloan and L. E. Benton. The I. O. O. F. club will be used as a meeting place other than the offices of the attorneys.

SERGT. KAMRADT HOME FROM FRONT

CHARLEVOIX SOLDIER SENT HOME AS INSTRUCTOR

Relates Many Interesting Stories of Big Battles Overseas in Which Home Boys Were Involved.

Serg't Ed. Kamradt, son of H. Kamradt, who lives about three miles west and south of Advance, arrived home on Thursday of last week from the front line in France, where he spent a greater part of this year, with Headquarters Co. (formerly Co. I of East Jordan) holding its portion of the first trenches in defense and offense of American and world's democracy.

Notwithstanding the love of war, and American spirit, which is characteristic of every khaki-clad hero of today, he readily admitted that a smile of deep appreciation was beaming on his face when the railroad conductor shouted the name of his home town. After nearly a year of service, in which in part of the time was spent in the very face of the German guns, Serg't Kamradt clearly showed that he appreciated to be in "God's country," as he called the United Stntes.

Serg't Kamradt was selected from the ranks of Headquarters Co. to return to this country and act as an instructor at Camp Sherman, Ohio. He left Headquarters Co. August 18, when that unit had just returned from their chase of the Huns in that memorable American-Frnnco offensive of the latter part of July. It was during this action that the company he belonged to lost four men by death and some 20 wounded. But they chased the Huns until exhausted, and sent them scurrying across the Vesle river.

Ssrg't Kamradt's six day leave of absence expired Tuesday morning, when he took the train from Boyne City for Camp Sherman. It is the plan of the war department to issue commissions to the men who have returned to this country from France to act as instructors, and it is quite likely that Serg't Kamradt will be granted a commission after he arrives at Camp Sherman.

When it became known in the city of his arrival home, steps were immediately taken to have him come to Charlevoix for an evening meeting. However, the time of his leave being so short, he finally consented to visit the city for a few hours late Monday evening. Arrangements were soon made for a meeting in the I. O. O. F. Hall between the hours of seven and eight that evening.

When called upon to relate his experiences, he said: "I could never conceive how popular I was until my arrival in this country. Since arriving I have been asked to speak, received telephone calls day and night until I hardly knew which way to turn or what to do. As a public speaker—well, I'd rather face almost any danger than pose as such."

Serg't Kamradt looks the picture of health. During his two and one half years in actual service, both in France and the U. S., he has seen army life from all angles. The service has given him a spring and snap in his movements which evidences military training. Since arriving home he explained that he had been talking war almost continually. After being in the front line, going over the top, into the very valley of death, seeing his own comrades and friends shot down in cold death, he said he appreciated a moment when he could forget the awful horrors of the battlefield. For that reason he was rather reluctant in giving out information concerning conditions in France. Finally the conversation was brought around to the point, and the very mention of the word Hun and German sent a rise of anger through him.

"Oh, those dastardly, contemptible cowards," exclaimed Serg't Kamradt. "No one who has actually gone through the front line, met those yellow pups face to face, can even conceive what an enemy the civilized world is facing. If you meet them face to face, they won't fight. First they pull different stunts to see if they can't kill you when you turn your head. Pit an American against two Huns in a hand to hand fight, and the Huns will run. When they see they can't pull some dirty trick on you, they will yell "mercy" and plead to be taken prisoners.

"Headquartera Co. landed in France in early March. We were trained for a spell behind the lines, and then moved into Alsace where we relieved the French.

"There was little or nothing doing in regard to fighting in the Alsace sector. I may say that because of what we went through later, but outside of a few local raids we had little excitement. Of course there were plenty of sights overhead, when the airmen would open up on one another, but from the sights I have seen the Allies have the complete supremacy of the air.

"We stayed in Alsace for some time, and were finally ordered to move north into the Chateau-Thierry sector. The worst of the fighting was going on there, and we were ordered to re-inforce the Allied units when the first Allied offensive opened July 17. We took our places on the front line and finally we started on our march to Berlin. Our company, like several other companies in the 32nd division, went over the top several times. We went so fast that for three days we were

HUNDREDS HEAR JACKIE BAND

DESPITE COLD AND RAINY WEATHER BOTH DAYS

Hon. A. H. Vandenburg Spoke on Fourth Liberty Loan Issue at Meeting Held Friday P. M.

The famous Jackie Band, with firing squad, accompanied by Hon. A. H. Vandenburg, editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, and Fred R. Fenton, federal reserve director of sales for Michigan, arrived in Charlevoix early Friday forenoon of last week, and remained during part of the day, leaving in the afternoon for East Jordan, and returning Saturday morning for a few hours.

At nine o'clock Friday morning the band took a leading part in the military funeral given the late Geo. A. Crouter, marching to the cemetery and return, then going to the Beach Hotel and remaining until the afternoon meeting scheduled to be held near the Coast Guard Station.

At 2:00 p. m. the band gave a much appreciated musical concert at the Coast Guard Station. Hon. A. H. Vandenburg was introduced by Dr. R. B. Armstrong, and spoke briefly on the subject uppermost in all minds at this time,—the floating of the Fourth Liberty Loan Bond Issue. The program arranged for the afternoon meeting was made impossible by the high wind and extreme cold, and just prior of their departure, the members of the band were presented a beautiful silk American flag, a token from the citizens of Charlevoix.

At 3:30 in the afternoon they were met by automobiles and taken to East Jordan, where they attended the fair and gave an open air concert. The following morning they appeared on the streets for a few moments, then marched to the P. M. depot enroute to Petoskey.

DEAN SCROGGIE, JR. DIES AT GREAT LAKES

Young Man Was in Training at Great Lakes Station, Chicago.

Dean Scroggie, Jr., age 22 years of near Bay Shore, who enlisted in the navy last July and left for the Great Lakes Training Station, near Chicago, August 16 to enter the service, died at 12:40 Monday, from pneumonin.

A brother and sister left for the tralning camp upon being notified of his serious illness, but failed to reach there before his death.

The remains are expected to arrive either Wednesday or Thursday, accompanied by the brother and sister, and burial will take place at Petoskey.

Deceased was well known in this city, having attended the high school during 1913. He was the youngest son of the family, and his death is greatly regretted. Thus another gold star has been added to the county service flag.

DEATH CAME WHILE AT WORK

MRS. HODGES SUDDENLY STRICKEN BY APOPLEXY

Was Engaged in Household Work When Final Call Came—Will Be Greatly Missed.

Death called Mrs. Eliza Hodges Tuesday forenoon at about eleven o'clock, while engaged in helping Mrs. C. R. Bellinger with her household work at her home on Bridge street. She had apparently been in good health, although a sufferer from indigestion for several years.

She was engaged in helping Mrs. Bellinger do a small washing, and was making some starch. Mrs. Bellinger, who had left the room for a moment, heard the crash of a falling dish, but paid little attention to it. Within five minutes she returned, and found Mrs. Hodges lying on the floor. Help was called and within a few minutes Dr. Lewis arrived, but she was beyond help, death, caused by apoplexy apparently occuring before she struck the floor.

Eliza Catherine Ayers was born April 16, 1854, in York state. When about 13 years of age she moved with her parents to Elmira, Michigan, where she lived until her marriage to Barney Hodge in 1870. She moved with her husband to Charlevoix about 30 years ago, and has since lived here most of the time. Her husband passed away nine years ago, and since that time she has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bellinger.

Deceased was a member of the Methodist church, also a member of the Relief Corps and Lady Maccabees. She is survived by three brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:00 o'clock from the Methodist church, Rev. Candler officiating.

18-46 REGISTRANTS INFORMATION BUREAU

Permanent Organization Formed Last Thursday Morning

Over one hundred and fifty 18-46 registrants answered the call to meet at the court house Thursday morning, between the hours of 8 and 9, to form a permanent organization for the benefit and instruction of those about to enter into the services of Uncle Sam.

The meeting aroused considerable enthusiasm which resulted in the organization of what will be known as the 18—46 Registrants Information Bureau, Charlevoix to be its headqunrters, with local chairman in each of the ndjacent townships.

County Clerk Richard Lewis and A. L. Fitch explained the object of the bureau, and the work it can accomplish. N. R. Washburn was chosen as permanent chairman and E. J. Hiller as secretary.

Chairman of the townships are as follows: Hayes, E. E. Stroud; Charlevoix, Olin Reynolds; Marion, Jay Adams; Norwood, Andrew Holecheck; Eveline, E. H. Clark. Each township chairman was instructed to name others to assist him in the work.

The purpose of the organization is to meet for drills, instruct drafted men in making out questionnaires, have committees to take charge of all important events that may come up, and should one of itss members be taken by death, or a death occur among those already in the ranks, a fitting memorial will be given through the efforts of the organization without confusion or neglect.

Notice to Registered Men

There will be a meeting of 18-45s at the court house Tuesday, October 1st at seven p. m. to arrange for a voluntary drill. All of the 18-45s of Hayes, Marion Norwood, Eveline west of the Arm, Charlevoix City and township and Beaver Islands. Other matters of mutual interest and advantage are to be discussed.—Ralph Washburn, chairman.

How Bad Backs Have Been Made Strong—Kidney Ills Corrected.

All over Charlevoix you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work. Charlevoix people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Charlevoix citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Rome Pappin, 117 Garfield Ave., says: "About three years ago I got wet while watching a fire and about a week later was on my back suffering from rheumatic pains. For eight weeks I was in such bad shape I could hardly move. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly and the kidney secretions were highly colored and unnatural. Dizzy spells came over me and spots floated before my eyes. Doan's Kidney Pills straightened me up in a short time, curing all the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr Pappin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SEND IN THE NEWS

You owe it as a matter of courtesy to your guests to see that their names appear in your home paper. When you have company or when you lesve town call up the Courier and tell us about it. We are always pleased to have these items. Did you ever wonder how so many society items appear in the big Sunday papers of the large cities? If so, you probably thought some reporter got them, but that is not the case for no Sunday paper could afford to have so many reporters on the pay roll. The items are sent in by the patrons of the paper. If that can be done in the large cities, then why ahould the people hesitate to do the same thing in smaller communities? It is utterly impossible for the local reporter to know everything that is happening in his community, no matter how energetie he or she may be.

Not only buy soft coal, but order just two-thirds of what the ordinary exclusive soft coal heating stove would consume in a season. You can do this every winter, provided your heating stove is a Round Oak Double Burner. In the face of fuel shortage this heater will burn any kind of combustible materlal, including hard coal, soft coal, coke, wood, or slack, and it lasts a generation.

Your most careful investigation is invited.

YOU HAVE NO TIME TO LOSE

It is very important that you at least investigate this GREAT PIANO SALE These Summer Resort Pianos can not be told from new and the best of our entire Summer Rental Pianos are here for you to choose from. They all come from Charlevoix's beautiful Summer Homes. Then too since these instruments has been rented prices have advanced considerable, but the prices you will find on these instruments now are lower than the normal time prices.

Don't Delay — Investigate at Once

YOU SAVE ALL THE RENT AND MORE

$195 —— $184 —— $210 —— $233 —— $248

Are some of the amazingly low prices at which you can buy a piano here. You may be sure they will not remain long on our floors. A good many of them have already been sold, every day brings fresh stock from the different Summer Homes

EVERY DOLLAR DEDUCTED

The rental we have received on each instrument amount to $25 - $50 - $75 - $100

and even more. Nor is this all you save. For prices, since these instruments were sent out at the beginning of the season, have greatly advanced, but our reduction is made on the lower prices on which the pianos sold when rented. Besides, there's the probability of a further increase in price soon by the manufacturers. In buying now you actually save double and in many cases triple the amount of the rent.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, which mortgage was given by Peter Rush and Ida R. Rush, his wife, to Helen J. Pulcipher which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, April 21st, 1916 in Liber fifty-six of mortgages on page forty; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Five Hundred fifty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and a further sum of fifty-three dollars and nine cents taxes paid on the property described in said mortgage by Helen J. Pulcipher, together with an attorney fee as provided by statute, and no suit or proceedings at law have been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; and whereas the tax required by the statutes to be paid on said mortgage was duly paid prior to the recording thereof;

Now therefore, notice is given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said, mortgage and of the statutes made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount then due thereon of principal and interest together with the amounts paid for taxes, costs and expenses of the foreclosure, including the attorney fee provided by statute, at public auction to the higher bidder therefore at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix (that being the place where the Circuit court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 14th day of December, 1918 at ten o'clock in the forenoon on that day. The premises described in said mortgage being herein described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at the northeast corner of Lot One in section seventeen, township thirty-four north of range seven west; thence west on the Quarter line of said section forty rods; thence south to the center of Emmet and Grand Traverse State road it being one hundred rods; thence east along the center of said road to the center line; thence north on said second line ninety-six rods to the place of beginning, being a part of Government Lot one of said section seventeen and containing twenty-four and one-half acres of land more or less.

Dated September 7th, 1918.

Cole's High Oven Range

(Patented)

It saves the expense of an extra heating stove. This remarkable range will comfortably heat an extra room beside the kitchen and cook the family meals, too. In fall and spring it takes the chill off the whole house and saves several months' fuel bills of an extravagant heating plant. A warm kitchen in the morning—no more frozen pipes—cooks breakfast on the little fuel put in the night before. It's Mother's Choice because it will cut your cost of living—See it today.

QUESTIONNAIRES SENT TO MEN

OF COUNTY BETWEEN AGES OF 19—36 YEARS

Charlevoix Draft Board Forwarding Classification Blanks to Latest Registrants

The first step towards the military service of men who registered on September 12 was inaugurated by the Charlevoix draft board last week when the questionnaires for all men between the ages of 18 and 36 years began moving to the various registrants.

Although the registration of September 12 was for men between the ages of 18 and 45 years the war department made a provision regarding the selection upon the recommendation of congress that the youths of 18 and 19 years be permitted to remain at home to pursue their courses of education, which it was believed many were completing. For the older men, between 36 and 45 years, it was decided to delay the call at first.

As a result men from 19 to 36 years of age in Charlevoix county will receive questionnaires during the present week, which will be filled out by them and returned to the local board and classifications will be made.

October Call 5,000

Nothing has been given out by the provosts marshall's office regarding the call for the latest registrants. Men who registered September 12 may be needed to fill quotas, it was said. But in most localities sufficient men remain in class one from the registration of last June 5 and August 24 to meet the requirements. It is believed by the members of the Charlevoix board that no men will be needed from the September 12 registrations to fill the quotas of October for the local board.

Michigan has been asked to furnish 5,000 men to Camp Custer within the five day period commencing October 7. Based on previous calls, it is expected that between 30 and 40 men will be called in the October summons.

REV. WALKER GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY

Best Wishes of Church Members and Friends Follow Him.

A farewell party in the nature of a surprise was given Rev. Quinton Walker at the Methodist church parlors on Thursday evening of last week, which was largely attended. The usual complimentary remarks, indulged in on occasions of this nature, were made by the members of the church, after which Rev. Walker and wife were presented with a beautiful picture of the harbor as a token of the esteem in which they are held.

Rev. Walker left Tuesday morning for St. Joseph, where he was assigned. At the close of the reception, the following resolutions were passed:

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Official Board of the First Methodist Church, of Charlevoix, Michigan, in session September 23, 1918:

"It is with deep regret that we are confronted with the fact that our pastor, Rev. Quinton Walker, has been appointed to a new field of labor.

We wish to record our highest appreciation of the pastor and his family and the faithful service they have rendered.

Mr. Walker's preaching has been scholarly, safe and sane. Each sermon has shown thorough preparation with a wide range of knowledge, with deep spiritual insight.

Mr. Walker has been a force for righteousness in the civic life of our city and county. He has been the terror of evil doers and a friend to everyone who loves righteousness. Charlevoix is a better city because he has lived in it.

After six years, with a unanimous invitation to return for the seventh, he will be followed by the prayers and best wishes of a united and progressive church."

NO 'BEATS' ON DRAFT NUMBER

ONLY FIRST 12 WIRED AS TAKEN FROM BOX

Remainder Will Be Printed and Sent to Newspapers Under Five Days' Release.

An entirely new system of reporting the order in which the serial numbers are drawn in the new draft has been worked out by the war department and the press associations.

The numbers will not be sent out over the wires as they were in the two previous drawings, but are to be mailed to the papers under a five-day release.

This change was held necessary if newspapers were to be permitted equal opportunities of printing the list in full, as the press associations advised the war department they could not attempt to wire the numbers as drawn.

Drawing to Take Twenty-six Hours.

General Crowder estimates that the number of "pills" holding the fates of men will be so great on account of the heavy registration that it will require twenty-six hours of steady drawing and recording to complete the task. The numbers are drawn as fast as they can be wired, so it was realized that the press associations could not tie up wires for that length of time without serious detriment to news service.

The associations canvassed their clients and learned that there was a very general demand for the full list of numbers. The plan as worked out provides for the wiring of the first twelve numbers drawn. These are the numbers which will be pulled from the big glass bowl by the secretary of war, General Crowder, General March, the chairman and ranking minority members of the senate and house committees on military affairs, and other notables. These numbers will be sent out at once over the wires.

Lists for Newspapers.

The full list will be rushed from the capitol in "takes" to the government printing office and set up by a special force. It will be rechecked at once to insure accuracy and the sheets given to the press associations and to special correspondents desiring them for mailing.

Although no announcement has been made, it is presumed the lists will be released for the afternoon papers, as the drawing is essentially an afternoon story under ordinary conditions.

While the drawing will be public as before, to convince the American people of its absolute fairness, a prohibition will be issued against publication of the numbers before the date of release. Some objections to this on the part of metropolitan papers having their own wires is expected, but it is believed that when the circumstances are explained an agreement will be obtained.

The drawing will take place early in October.

WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN

A number of our exchanges have been speculating on what would happen if the government took over the newspapers.

Well, the first thing, the subscription price would be raised about 50 per cent and the sheriff would be kept busy chasing delinquents. The next step would be to raise wages about 25 per cent and editors, who hadn't had a cent in six months they could call their own, would be placed on a salary. The merchant who failed to get their copy in until press day would be hailed up before the council of defense and the man who sent in anonymous communications would be sent to Leavenworth for about ten years.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Plush Coats

Are here at this store, where the assortment is forever bright and new. Merchandising foresight, we insist, is the big factor today in ready-to-wear retailing.

THE PRICES OF OUR PLUSHES PROVE THAT!

There is no plush being made today in the great mills of the land—it is government work they are doing now.

BUT WE HAVE THE PLUSH COATS HERE!

Having placed ample orders for them long ago, when prices were DOWN, we now offer them to you at only a reasonable profit on the prices of long ago.

Thus you reap the benefit, and we are able to furnish plush and velour coats, not only reasonable in price, but of the best quality the market affords, and in styles more varied than ever.

OTHER COATS, TOO, ARRIVING DAILY.

Farm Improvements Have the Right of Way!

Of course only necessary building is encouraged by the Government, but barns, silos, corn cribs, cold storage cellars,—all structures that save food or labor are necessary. The farmer who builds to protect himself against loss will market a larger crop, or by feeding more stock will sell more pork or beef. That is the big national need. Construction to save labor is equally patriotic and even more necessary.

Work Should Start Quickly

The time to start buildings is the first day you can get materials on the ground. You cannot be sure of labor and materials later on. We can supply you with free blue prints for many structures and will gladly give you an estimate on cement, lumber and roofing.

Why More Furs Are Being Worn

Patriotic reasons are forcing the women of our Country to leave woolens and cottons for the use of our soldiers and their allies, and this means that they must fall back upon furs and silks for a large part of their clothing.

Silk materials are lighter than the average gown made of fine woolen stuff. So milady requires heavier outside wraps of fur.

Fur Scarfs, all shapes, all kinds. Seperate Muffs or any kind of fur sets.

According to State Fuel Administrator Prudden, nutomobiles may be used next Sunday where they are necessary to promote the Liberty Loan Cnmpaign. The nse of automobiles to drive considerable distances to church on Sunday, if no other methods of transportation are available, is in no sense a violation of the request, says the fuel administrator. It is hoped though, he says, that those who find use of automobiles necessary on Sunday will make nn effort to save sufficient gasoline during the week days to offset that used on the sabbath. Those using autos for Liberty Loan Business are requested to place placards on their ears stating they are on government business.

PATRONIZE YOUR COUNTY FAIR

Farmers Urged to Exhibit Best Products of the Section

The Antrim county Free Fair will be one of the greatest advertising opportunities which the farmers of Antrim county ever had.

Antrim county has been favored with a season for the production of farm crops which she has not enjoyed for some time and every farmer should show what he has been able to produce this season.

Seed corn is going to be in good demand as will russet rurol potatoes which are good seed stock and the fair will be one of the best places to advertise your surplus stock.

We also have a crop of good apples and many other things of beauty and usefullness. Apples are very high colored this season and no one should miss this great chance to boost their county.

Bring in your largest sugar beets.

We wont to show the people who visit our foir that Antrim county is the best county in the state of Michigan.

Everyone come and bring your best.

ELLSWORTH LOCALS

Art. Henderson of Alden wos in Ellsworth the first of this week.

D. E. Clow was at Bellaire on business on Monday of this week.

Ed. Boss loaded and shipped three carloads of hay the first of this week.

Miss Mary Prince is absent from the D. E. Clow and Co.'s store on a two weeks vacation.

Albert Supernaw has purchased a house and lot from D. O. Parks and expects to move into town for the winter.

J. Warner of Elk Rapids was in town the first of the week putting lightning rods on the D. E. Clow residence.

The Grand Traverse county fair is in full swing this week and several people from Ellsworth are planning on attending.

Grant Kinner left the first of the week for Grand Rapids, where he expects to obtain work at the picric acid plant.

D. E. Clow, E. R. Harris and L. VanSkiver were at Bellaire Tuesday attending a meeting of the county war board.

F. H. Skow and family and D. E. Clow attended the funeral of Mrs. Walter Peterson, which took place at Ironton on Wednesday of last week.

Arrangements have been made by some of the young people in this vicinity to give a dancing party at the blue hall on Friday evening of this week to which all are invited.

Stewart Baar of the Citizens' Bank was at Traverse City on Wednesday of last week attending a convention of group 2 of the Michigan Bankers Association. A banquet was given in the evening at the C. S. P. S. Hall.

The Ellsworth Marketing Association has rented the old pool room building next to the bank and the owner, F. H. Skow is husy putting it in shape for use as a worehouse.

John Madill of Newberry, arrived Tuesday to visit a few days at the home of his brother, Ben Madill of this place. The brothers had not met for thirty-two years.

Twenty-nine Antrim county selects will leave Bellaire sometime between October 6 and 10 for Camp Custer, and the local board informs us that this call will include all class one men up to the September registration.

What the Use of Fertilizer Did For This Farmer

THE RESULT:

On 5 acres of fertilized oats were harvested 320 bushels of oats, machine measure, or 64 bushels per acre.

On 5 1-2 acres of oats, on ground not fertilized, 275 bushels, or 50 bushels per acre, machine measure, were harvested.

By weight they over-ran 5 pounds per bushel, bringing the total acreage on the fertilized land up to 74 bushels per acre, and on the unfertilized land up to 57 bushels and 26 pounds per acre.

All will be used for seed purposes and have proven they are a good yielding variety and anyone securing them may be assured of a variety of oats in the same class as Rosen Rye and other grains propagated right here in Michigan by the Michigan Agricultural College.

Swift's 1-8-2 Fertilizer or Swift's Wheat and Rye Special Will Produce the Same Result

The yield above mentioned was the result of liberal use of fertilizer on a farm less than seven miles from Ellsworth. The same result can be procured on any farm land in this section by using fertilizer. Can you afford to till your soil and plant your crops without it? See us about your season's need at once.

To Relieve Burns Quickly

There is no other minor injury quite as painful as a burn, and, to the housewife conatantly about a hot stove, no injury quite as common.

The quickest way to relieve the pain—"take out the fire" as the old saying has it —is to bathe a burn with a saturated solution of 20 Mule Powder Boric, using one ounce of Boric to a quart of water. This will relieve the inflamation. If the burn is deep, apply with absorbent gauze a lotion made of 8 oz. lime water, 8 oz.raw linseed oil and 75 grains of thymol. This lotion is cooling and healing and tends to prevent the puckering and drawing of the injured skin into the scar.

If the burn is scvere, a physician should be called at once and the injury given professional attention.

Your druggist sells 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric.

MAJOR BEUKER NOW OVER-SEAS

Telegrom Received Mondey Announcing His Safe Arrivel

Mrs. B. J. Beuker received a telegram on Monday of this week announcing the safe arrival over-seas of the boat on which her husband, Major Beuker of the Medical Department, sailed. This should effectually put an end to the slanderous lies reported from time to time by people desirous of injuring Major Beuker. We give the people of this community credit for not believing a particle of these reports, but at the same time stories of this nature are disagreeable to Mrs. Beuker a woman with two sons and a husband voluntarily in the service of their country.

WILDWOOD

Clarence Fales is in southern Michigan this week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wilson were Sunday visitors at the Crawford home.

Mrs. Cross of Central Lake is helping Mrs. Jim Wilson during apple picking season. Mr. Lee of Bellaire is buying in this neighborhood.

Jim Wilson spent Sunday with his family here, after threshing in the Croswell neighborhood the past two weeks.

HORSE RAN AWAY— OCCUPANTS HURT

Broken Harness Results Nearly Disastrous to Occupants

Mr. and Mrs. John Fielstra narrowly escaped serious injury last Sunday when the horse they were driving became unmanagable due to a broken harness and ran away. The accident happened near the Christian Reformed church, while Mr. and Mrs. Fielstra were driving home at the close of the service. Both occupants were thrown from the buggy and although Mr. Fielstra escaped with a few minor bruises, Mrs. Fielstra suffered a fracture of one of the bones of her left ankle as well as being badly shaken up.

ROCK ELM

In spite of the "unfair" weather this district was quite well represented at the fair.

Little Opal and May Boyde have recovered nicely from their recent illness.

Mrs. James Hudson has returned from her visit with her daughters in Flint.

Andrew Hudson has moved his family to Charlevoix where he expects to work through the winter.

Mrs. John Whaling, accompanied by her two little sons, has gone to visit her mother who is in quite poor health.

Ed. Metz and Joe Whitfield expect to start filling silos for the farmers of this neighborhood this week.

Mrs. Charles Donaldson spent a few days visiting her parents and other relatives in East Jordan last week.

School closed two days for the fair to give the pupils the opportunity to enjoy Patriotic Day as well as school day.

Fred Hudson with his wife and baby daughter from St. Paul. Minnesota, are enjoying a two weeks visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson.

J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be in Ellsworth, Tuesday, October first. Adv. 38 t2.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

July 24, 1918.

Dear Loved Ones at Home:—This is a beautiful afternoon, am writing on my knees near Wren and my puptent. Our Squad are all in tents in a beautiful spot near a chateau near—.

"By the way did I ever tell you that the last four weeks (in the sector we left) our R. I. O. (Regimental intelligence office) was in a grand chateau and the boys working in the office had a beautiful spot to camp in.

"Last night aa we rambled along the most wonderful and picturesque Seine valley (right near the river) I wondered if I would be able to express the grandeur of it to you, but I find same impossible. As we sped through the pretty villages and cities getting most royal greetings, we were happy to be helping to drive the Huns from the once beautiful and fertile (but now devastated) territory of France.

"Of all the trips I have taken, our last ride (to date) will always be uppermost in my memory. Madames, Mademoselles, children and old men, all of whom probably lost loved ones in this terrible war, were ready with a smile and wave of the hand to wish us God speed.

"At one small town, two girls were beside the track holding a large sign: 'Thank you for your Help,' and as Merkle said at the time, 'I wouldn't change places with any slacker back home even if he was a millionaire.'

"We passed several Red Cross trains traveling back from the front hearing wounded men of our uniform, and that helped our fighting spirit.

"We were happy to be leaving one part of the front, to one of more action. Nor did we have all the modern conveniences of travel. Ours was a flat car with a two foot railing on same, which of course helped for a place to sit down. Besides our equipment there was an automobile and a motor cycle (side car) on same car. It was much better than being in a box car with forty men, where it is impossible to lie down. The first night I slept under the Auto with my raincoat serving as a mattress, also covers. During the forenoon it rained hard four times. Some of us would crawl under the auto (other bunch in it) and the rest of us stand behind. The afternoon was nice and sunshiny and the evening beautiful.

"The northern part of France is cleaner and methods more modern. Seemed good to see binders at work.

"We have been along the Loire and Seine valley which you will notice takes in a good share of France. Have been in the region of the upper Rhone and swam in tributaries of the Rhine. Came through the outskirts of Paris.

With love to all.—Ruel.

Somewhere in France,
July 24th, 1918.

Dear Dad and all:—Well we arrived here about nine o'clock this morning and you can imagine how sleepy and tired we are after being on the move since Saturday night and riding on a flat car too, with our baggage and different apparatus. But we are good for it though, believe me, even though it did rain most of the time. We came through Paris last night about midnight, so you see we did not see anything, but the railroad yards.

"We can say that we were the first Americans on German soil, for the front we just left was taken by the Huns in 1870, and retaken in 1914.

"Just read Ruel's letter to you, so will not try to go into details in describing our just finished trip, other than to say that it was a wonderful trip, for we pessed through some very beautiful country, large and small towns and everybody both big and small gave us a smile and a wave of the hand. Much different from the people in the sector we just came from, for they were two-thirds pro-german.

"We are both well and eager to be at them, and hope thia finds you all the same. Lovingly your son, —Ren.

July 31, 1918.

Dearest Loved Ones:—Ruel is about right when he said that we couldn't keep track of the dates. Am feeling a little out of sorts toduy, for one of my men and I run into a little mustard gas last night, but will be O. K. again tomorrow.

"Ruel has described everything, so I will not try to go over it again, especially as he is waiting for his letter, for he is going back a little ways this p. m. and perhaps can mail it.

"Am feeling fine and we are going to give the Huns H—. Love to all,—Ren.

July 31, 1918.

Dear Loved Ones at Home:—Can hardly keep track of the date, but think it is right. Seems as though we have moved a thousand times as we are now in the big drive north of Chateau-Thierry. Have the Boche on the run, but it is costing many of our American boys the supreme sacrifice, hundreds of them. However think we are getting still more of the Boche. Saw our boys go up an open hill yesterday, and take the woods on top, after a tremendous burrage from our artillery had been concentrated on same woods.

"Our boys took several hundred prisoners. Germans have many machine guns, many camouflaged under Red Cross. They pump lead into us until we get close, and then beat it, or more often throw up their hands muttering their most used word 'Kamarad'. They won't face our bnyonets or rifle fire. Cannot possibly picture to you the horribleness of this war. I always thought I could imagine it, hut you have got to get into it to realize things.

"When hundreds of big guns are opening up from both sides it seems as though earths' crust must brenk. Artillery is the worst thing in war. It makes shell gas possible, and cloud gas is very seldom used.

"Mark and I were just over under German guns sitting nearby, to get nway from flying pieces of bursting shells, and at present we are about four kilometers from the front.

"This of course is open warfare now. The German army is a fine organized machine, but put them on their own initiative and they are not in it with the Khaki clad boys of the U. S. A. or the French either.

"Wren and Mark are feeling a little dumpy on account of a little mustard gas last night, but that of course is a mere trifle, and they will be O. K. this afternoon. By the way we haven't had a warm meal for three days, and one day ate nothing at all, but don't worry about that. This is war, and Sherman was right.

"You can't imagine the traffic behind a big drive. That of a big city does not compare with it. Even have traffic directors at country cross roads.

"Hundreds of acres of grain have been destroyed and villages everywhere left in ruins.

"Ma., Ruth and Jas. I hope you received the souvenirs O. K., and Pa. we were going to send you the Stars and Stripes, hut as yet have not heard from same. We haven't had any mail for a couple of weeks, and won't get any probably while moving so fast.

"Am enclosing another picture, so you will be sure and get one. Hope you get our letter, written after our trip along the Seine. Love,—Ruel.

France, August 18, 1918.

My Dear Sister:—Will try and answer the long letter received from you nd Hazel about July 4th. It reached me a few days ago, shortly after we had been relieved from the front, and cheered me considerable in our despicably camping grounds from which we had routed the Huns a week previous.

"Today is the first time in several weeks that Sunday has seemed any different than any other day, and then we have to use our imagination to quite an extent. Part of our squad and several band boys spent the forenoon fixing and decorating McCloskey's grave and it sure looka swell consideraing the fact that we had nothing artificial at our command. He is the fellow standing at the right of the picture in that group of six, which you must have received ahead of this.

By the time you get this you probably will already have started school over near Mancy. Possibly you begin tomorrow.

"I realize that this is a hard looking sheet of paper, but I have already written on the wrapping off news papers. I am sitting under our protection (from rain and sun) of two Boche sheltering halves, with my feet at the head of our meagre bed and my back against a pole, at the foot. It is a good pole though as my back is nearly cut in two already. Have moved my position or location, to a small table which is used by the officers for meals. By the way I had no sooner read that good letter from you and Hazel, when I lost it, so I hardly know what to say; as you know I always was quite a silent chap.

"Serg't. Ed. Kamradt left us this morning, starting back to the States as instructor. He is the second one from our company lately. While I think about it would like to enclose a message from General Pershing to our Division, through our own General, (Major) Haso:

"'The — Division is the best snappiest and smartest division in France. It has turned out 500 officers and non-coms. as instructors, and is capable of producing that many more.' Of course I don't mean to boast, but take a great pleasure in stating facts. A French Major said; 'It's not only the best division in France, but it can't be beat in the world!'

"A day or so ago Wren took over the duties of a battalion scout officer, (acting) and I fall in to his job as regiment serg't. observer.

"Our recent battles cost many lives, hut not in vain as we drove the Huns back twenty kilometers thereby straightening the line between Soissons and Rheims. We fought against Bavarians, Saxons and toward the last, the Prussian Guards, or in other words the Kaiser's shock troops, the very best he has.

"This letter will have to suffice at least until more paper is obtainable.

"If you happen to have the spare change you can send me the Cosmopolitan. Be sure and send the September number and read 'The World and I' by Ella Wheeler Wilcox starting in August.

"The other side of this sheet being too filthy to write on I will huve to close, With lots of love,"—Ruel.

WRIGHT DISTRICT

Plenty of rain last week.

News is scarce this week.

Threshing will all be finished as soon as John McElroy, who is now threshing finishes.

Mrs. H. H. Herrington called at the Chester Donaldson home where the children have the measles, Thursday afternoon of last week.

Curtis Feltenbarger cradled buckwheat for his brother-in-law, H. H. Herrington, last week and has the job of cutting the buckwheat on the Maria Boss place.

Mrs. Bert Melosh received word from Washington that her son, Will, had been severely wounded. The people of the district all hope that he hasn't been wounded so severely but what he will soon recover. The parents have the sympathy of the entire district.

PLEASANT HILL

Jacob Bergsma und family visited at the James DeYoung home last Monday night.

We understand that John Powell is going to rent some land of Hershell Fales.

Mr. DeYoung is through filling his silo. He is now at the Matthew Rubin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Prince and Mary Prince motored to Detroit Tuesday and on their way there will stop at Camp Custer to see their brother, Harm Fielstra.

Mr. and Mrs. Fielstra had a bad accident Sunday while returning from church. The hold backs became loose and the horse started to run away and the buggy went into the fence. Mr. Fielstra is not seriously hurt, but Mrs. Fielstra has a bone broke in her right leg.

ATWOOD

Corn harvest and bean pulling are well under way at this writing

John Hofman has purchased forty acres of the Byers' farm last week.

The ice cream social given last week netted $10.00 for the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Corgs of Chicago, spent a week at the home of Adrain Bosa.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Henry entertained relatives from Hurt, the past two weeks.

Conrad Klooster accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klooster to Grand Rapids this week.

J. H. Smith has a new silo filler with which he will do his own silo filling this seuson.

Rev. and Mrs. Pickart have been entertaining relatives from Holland, Michigan, this week.

Mrs. A. W. Hnrtwell had the misfortune to fall and break her wrist. She is improving at this writing.

Paul De Vries has about completed his new house. A little inside finishing will make it ready for occupancy.

Miss Grace Essenburg underwent an operation last week to have her tonsils removed. Dr. Parks of East Jordan had charge of the case.

Get in line now with your Fourth Liberty Loan subscription so that it will not have to be solicited. You will eventually. So do it voluntarily.

The following homes have been gladdened with babies the past month: Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeVries, boy; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Veenstra, boy; Mr. and Mrs. Adema, boy; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Veenstra, boy; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Lord, girl.

Mr. McCool of the Traverse City Creamery, was in Atwood last week to try and secure a cream station here to supply him cream. He tried to induce the Atwood Creamery owners to take in cream on a commission basis, but he would not listen to a change. Mr. McCool thereupon closed a deal with Mr. Klooster of the Atwood store to take in cream on the same basis that all stations are being run, testing each can and paying the farmer for it right away.

MILES DISTRICT

Small attendance at school. So many pupils are very sick with measles.

Lillian Guild of Charlevoix and Elmer Fowler called at the Miles home Sunday evening.

Serg't Ed. Kamradt from France of the 125th Inf. took supper at the LaLonde home Thursday evening.

Mrs. A. Miles visited a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cunning at East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Huston Ruggles from Central Lake visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bancroft Sunday.

Lillian Guild of Charlevoix spent a few days visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. Isaman, before going to Detroit.

Mrs. Eugene Miles came from the Burgess school and took in the sights the week end at her home returning Monday morning.

Miss Catherine LaLonde, teacher in the Mountain school, took in the fair at East Jordan and visited at her home, returning to her school Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Bleicher and Agnes Ceaduex from Cheboygan, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaLonde last week and took in the fair at East Jordan.

ESSEX

John Tillotson was on the sick list a few days last week.

Mr. Wieland went to East Jordan with wheat Saturday.

Only one auto by here Sunday and that was necessary.

The carpenters are at work at present on Mr. Wieland's new barn.

Some farmers have their beans pulled and a few have some corn cut.

Mr. and Mrs. Wieland called at the Tillotson home Sundny afternoon.

The threshing machine was here last week. Oats turned out good but wheat was a light crop.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Quartelle of Grand Rapids, spent the week end at the Tillotson home coming Saturday and returning Monday.

Emily Wieland has been home quite ill the last two weeks. Dr. Parks of East Jordan attended her. She is much improved at present but still unable to do much work.

CIRCUIT COURT OPENED MONDAY

Beaver Island Murder Trial First to Be Heard

The August term of circuit court opened Monday morning with a full calendar, which includes 13 criminal cases, 11 issues of fact and law, and nine chancery cases.

The first case on the docket was that of The People vs. Thomas H. Boyle, charged with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder. This is the Beaver Island shooting affair which resulted in the death of Miss Cole. The hearing of this case will occupy a greater portion of the week, and will be followed by another case of similar nature, The People vs. Clare Pierce, murder.

ARGO MILLING CO. IMPROVES SERVICE

By Installing New 100 Bushel Capacity Removing Separator

One of the latest improvements made by the Argo Milling Co. in the line of service to its patrons, is the installation of a new removing separator of 100 bushel per hour capacity.

The new apparatus is installed in a manner that farmers can dump their grain in the bin on the first floor, which is immediately transferred to the removing separator, the screenings and chaff removed, and within a few minutes they are ready for their homeward journey with the screenings removed by the new machine.

The new equipment will handle wheat, rye, oats, barley, or beans. Should the customer desire both screenings and chaff from his grist, he can obtain it, as the chaff is conveyed by a large blower to a bin, where the refuse can be easily obtained. Or should a customer desire to know the proportions of screenings and chaff, he can do so by the same method.

As all the machinery in the company's mill is now operated by electricity, no time is lost, and quick service can be given to those who market their farm product there.

Manager Swinton of the Argo Milling Co. reports the 1918 crop of wheat the best, both in quality and acreage, he has handled in a number of years. Spring wheat is exceptionally good, running from 58 to 62 pounds to the bushel. Oats also of a better grade and yield than in years.

RESTAURANT CHANGES HANDS

Will Be Operated in Future By A Mr. Casey

Moore's restaurant, commonly called, has again changed ownership. Mrs. Sandy Shearer, who has conducted it since the purchase from Mrs. J. T. Oldham, has resold to a Mr. Casey, baker at the McCann Bakery during the past summer, and an experienced restaurant man.

Mr. Casey took possession Monday night, and expects to locate here permanently.

UP TO PEOPLE FOR ITS SUPPORT

Citizens Should Back Up Efforts of Lecture Course Committee

Failure often spells success. Although from a financial standpoint the Charlevoix Lecture Course of the past year was a failure, yet in inspiration and benefit it will be counted among the best that it has been the privilege of the people to listen to and enjoy.

Through the insistant demands of many of Charlevoix's best citizens a splendid course for the coming winter has been planned. The course will consist of five high class numbers; Maude Ballington Booth, Opie Read, The Paramount Entertainers, The Merillees Entertainers, and Charles Ross Tagart, the musical humorist. The first two of the list are worth the price of the course.

The five numbers will make a course to which the Charlevoix people should give their support. The government is spending millions for the entertainment of the soldiers, and it desires the people back home to have their minds diverted from the all absorbing topic of the day by clean entertainment.

The programs describing the course in detail will be distributed in the near future. The Charlevoix Lecture and Entertainment course is up to the people for support. Everyone must help some.

FIFTEEN MEN SENT TO PICRIC PLANT

High Wages and Promise of Steady Employment Eegerly Sought.

By the time we go to press, fifteen men of this city and surrounding country have accepted positions at the new government picric acid plant at Grand Gapids, and have left the city for to start work.

On Tuesday of last week those who went were: Will Richardson, Tony Shaffer, Leon Vought, Charles Brown, Sam Naquam, Frank Carmon, Don McFarland, and Claud Mitchell.

On Tuesday of this week the following left: Roy Dickie, Perry Weed, Leon Moore, Geo. Bennett, Guy Olney, Steve Geer and Paul Carrow.

The men were offered $4.12 per day, time and one-half for all over time, sleeping quarters furnished, and board to cost $6.50 per week.

Charles E. See, is local director, and has charge of local recruiting of labor. More men are expected to leave the latter part of this week or the first of next week.

Skating Rink will be open Wednesday and Thursday nights until further notice. 39 tf.

BEAT TAPS FOR GEORGE A. CROUTER

Jackie Band and Citizens Aid in Performing Last Rites.

The muffled drum's sad note has beat the last tatoo for George A. Crouter, who died at the base hospital at the marine barracks, Paris Island, September 12, and was buried, with military pomp, Friday morning of last week.

The occasion, being the first military funeral held in this city, will long be remembered by those who witnessed it. The procession left the Idding's home about 9:30, led by the Jackie band, followed by a line of 18-36 registered men estimated at near 200, a long line of school children and automobiles and rigs containing friends and relatives of the deceased.

Funeral dirges were played, enroute to the cemetery, and at the graveside the last solemn rites were paid this young man who made the supreme sacrifice for his country.

LITTLE DAMAGE BY FIRE AT BEACH HOTEL

Blaze From Chimney Starts Fire in Roof—Damage Not Known

Sunday morning about nine o'clock the fire department was called out to extinguish a fire at the Beach hotel, caused from a spark from the chimney at the east end of the hotel.

An employe of the hotel discovered the blaze, which at that time had burned a space about twelve foot square. It burned through to the next floor, into the apartments that were occupied by the family. Mr. Baker with the help of the cook, and the hotel fire apparatus, had the fire extinguished just as the fire department arrived.

The guests of the hotel knew nothing of the fire, until after the fire department had arrived. The amount of the damage has not yet been estimated.

SERG'T. KAMRADT HOME FROM FRONT

without food. We had to be careful of the water we drank, for the Germans had poisoned most of it as they retreated. For three days we had nothing to eat, not because there was a shortage, but our supply train could not keep up with us. Several of the boys were forced by hunger to relieve the dead Germans of what little food they had in their haversacks. The division suffered heavy casualties, and why wouldn't we? We were carrying out the offensive and had to face the worst of it. When the drive—I might say the run through Hell—was finally over, we were at the banks of the Vesle river and the Huns still on the run."

"Those days I will never forget. It was awful. We saw our own comrades and friends fall. Some were awful sights. If you would see some friend lying on the battlefield, with several bullets through his body, you forget everything but the idea of hitting the first German you come across, and believe me, the boys got them good and proper.

"In one little village in the drive we noticed a Red Cross flag flying from the steeple. Thinking of course the building contained wounded men, we refrained from firing on it. When but a short distance from it, however, we were greeted with perfect showers of machine gun bullets, and suffered severe casualtics. Artillery fire soon put a stop to it, and 16 German machine-gun men were captured. A majority of them are now in the Kaiser's special heaven, where all good Germans are.

"A shell exploded right in front of us while lined up for mess. Strange as it may seem, but one man was wounded. Another time I was in a dugout containing wounded men, which was hit by a shell. We vacated, but not before another shell struck it, killing some sixteen men and wounding others.

"After this fight we returned to a rest camp, where I left the boys on departure to the states. My trip over and return was without a thrill. Some rough weather, but nothing to speak of. From here I will probably return overseas within a month or so with another division. I greatly regret leaving the home boys, but such is the fortunes of war.

Serg't Kamradt returned to his home Monday evening, after his visit to this city, to find his home filled with friends and neighbors, who came to bid him God-speed on his return trip over seas. He spoke personally of many of the boys, members of the company, both from Charlevoix and East Jordan, and stated that aside from one or two instances, so far they had not been injured and were in the very best of health and spirit.

OCTOBER 12 LAST DAY

Time of cancellation of your aubscription has been extended to Saturday, October 12, to accommodate hundreds who have either written or telephoned. This is positively the extreme date and if not paid by this time your paper will be STOPPED. A blue pencil mark means your subscription is in acrears and MUST be paid by Octobec 12 or we will discontinue sending it.

During the past week hundreds of Courier subscribers have called and paid up all arrearages in subscription and paid one year in advanee. The response to our request has been beyond all expectation. But at the same time there are many who have been unable to call, or for other reasons have failed to settle.

Request after request has been made for us to extend the time limit of payment at least a week. On Monday we were kept busy answering telephonc calls from those who have been unable to call and wanted to pay us what they owe. To accommodate those who have been unable to call, were short of money, or for any other reason have not paid up, we have arranged to extend the time for payment to October 12 inclusive. This is all we can do regarding it, and is done only to accommodate those who have been unable to settle by the first of October. It is not our desire, nor that of the government, to create a hardship on anyone, and we hope our subscribers will fully appreciate our position and will do all they can to help us meet the situation. We are no longer controlling our own business methods. Unele Sam is telling us what we cannot do and what we can do. We are given no discretion in the matter. We have our orders and we must obey them.

Please remember that Saturday night, October 12, will be the last day we ean aecommodate you. After this date your paper will be STOPPED. Help us put our mailing list where it will fully comply with the government orders.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLOIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

"Leff" Carey Gives Vivid Word Picture of His Trip to Paris and Other Points in France While on a Furlough —Other Letters of Interest

From Joseph Mitchell

Fcanca, August 13, 1918.

Dear Sister:—I now havo a little time, so will try and wcite a few lines. Taking everything into conelideration I had a fine trip from Camp Custer to New York. The Red Cross met us at the tcain in neacly all the big towns, and served us a lunch of some kind.

"I have always liked to travel on water, but the trip accoss the Atlantic has taken that all out of me. I only want to cross the pond once moce, and that is the trip back home. It was not very rough, so I did not get very sick. I enjoyed my tcip after we got to England. We came through some fine country there, and in Frauce also. The buildings are all long and low, they have stone fences, and drive one horse ahead of the other.

"The French people use we Amecican soldiers fine—cannot do enough for us. They are always telling us what the United States men nre doing on the front. The custome of the French people are a lot different than at home. Instead of washing at home, they take theic wnshings to the river, and have stones fixed all along the bank for that purpose.

"Well, the Allies are giving it to the Gecmans now. They are driving them back farther every dny, according to all reports here. I do not think the wac will last much longer, neacly everyone thinks it will end aome time this fall.

"Will close with lots of love. Evec youc loving brothec,—Joseph Mitchell, 339 Field Hospital, 310 Sav Train, A. E. F.

From "Leff" Carey

American E. F. A. P. O. 725.

Fcance, September 1, 1918.

Dear Sis:—"I have before me, and in the harracks, some several letters from you and mother and dad dating so far back as to be beyond my recollection as to precedence, and my filing system availeth me nothing in that direction. I am desicous of working no injustice in the matter of returns for your very excellent efforts, individual and collective, but it is quite impossible for me to keep up with the procession, numecical or otherwise. Consequently, it is suggested and requested that you get together on these feeble contributions and eke out youc personal satisfaction fcom them as best you may according to the quality and quantity of them. At best they will be a meagre expcession of gratitude foc the mannec in which you have kept me informed as to the things at home, because although I feel sure all youc letters have not been put in at this haven, enough of them have been received to maintain rathec good connections of events and sequences.

"I am setting out to write you a letter this time,—not one of those "I am well and hope you ace the same" kind, but one that may lead you to think that the sentiment is there as well as the mere expression. I am heactily ashamed of the last aeveral contributions and I sincerely hope anothec such a secies will not oceuc soon.

"I am several days ceturned from my seven day leave to Aix-les-Bains, that French town more or less noted for its Baths, from which the last part of its name is derived. It is a big subject, but although it was given me to follow any one of a dozen phantoms there, oc all of them,—I must confess to a decided disinclination to pursue anything but ease and cepose during the entire time. However, one needs not to have besticred himself much from the upholstery to gathec a fund of interesting recollections. I believe those seven days will linger in my memory thoughout the complete unraveling of this "mortal coil".

"And not only are the seven days memorable: six additional days wece consumed passing to and from the resort. These latter are quite as worth while as the seven, and, indeed, more so from an educational view-point,—and as regards the depths to which the entire vacation was impressed, especially such minoc details as traffic congestion and the resultant waits foc trains. How often did I wish for the excellent, in comparison, service of ouc Pere Marquette? But the P. M. never was and never will be up against as huge a transportation proposition as are the railroads of Fcance to-day. And ynu who have never seen cannot appreciate the quantity of American products—men and material—that is moving accoss this countcy, nor the extent to which American engineering is facilitating the movement—nor the almost dire stcnits that ace being bridged by this American ingenuity. And, of course, the French people are moving about and shipping immense quantities of supplies. There is no end to the atream, and each little city is anothec wild whirlpool of forces impatiently struggling to liberate itself from the tension that shows no signs of breaking. One must be cautious of condemning the appacent confusion because it cannot ba expected that the French "pony express" will celay American offerings in the quantities that our home facilities permit them to come focward. I think they do remackably well,—but one cannot but feel relieved when he meets American train crews operating American trains on American tracks. There are such in Fcanee, and I would like to know how much discussion of that point the censor would permit. Nothing has done me as much good as the little talk I had with an Amex railway engineec while waiting foc a train the othec night. With what he told me and what I saw I am quite convinced that the soldiers of the ceac are no less a factor in the successful projection of the wac than thnse who are called upon to face the brimstone in the trenches. All other features of the trip are faded by this bit of information gained.

"However, to have been in Paris (my route was thru that place) is really worth remacking about. It is something in one's life—old or young. That can be said of almost any city in the world—old or young, but particulacly of Paris. There is only one, at least—that I have seen. All other man made monstrocities are quite the same, excepting in the severest details. Paris is different. True, thece are houses and streets like othec towns, but there are also buildings and places like no other town can hope to approach in duplication. There are famous and historical architectural creations, and beautiful ones and ancient ones, and little dinky, sputtering taxicabs that rob you, and pink-nosed ogres propelling horses hitched to carriages of early date, and street vendors vending shoe-atcings and picture post cards and maps of the clty. There are parks and boulovards of perfect design and symetry, cafes and theatres in pcofusion, atatues and statures of vacying sizes and ages in innumerable quantity, and an ucchin at every lamp-post asking for a souvenic Americaine. Thece is wine and there are women, and beauty shops with lots of patronage, the would-bes and the hasbeens and the real Parisian peacocks. Ah! the gay Parisian! I don't know if the feminine of that term is spelled the same or not,—but I must say the men are in accocdance with the types we are accustomed to. "She" sustains the ceputation of the persons we have heard about and read about ever ainee we first began to take cognizance of things that are. And may I not just say, foc the sake of brevity, that she is as she is heralded?

"I saw in Paris,—not all,—but a good many of the noted places that necd no discourse here. To see them is but a vanity; literature tells you all about them: the Tullieries, the Invalides, the Triumphal Arch; the Champs Ulysses, the Notce Dame, the tower are a few that I recall, and others that I expect to read about again now that the interest is kindled like no other teachec of histocy was able to do foc me. And there are details about them that can wait for rehearsal until wa gather at the pcune mine. I didn't stay in Pacis long enough, only twelve hours,—perhaps forty-eight would have satisfied me. I didn't even have a ride on the "Metro"-Pacis system of sub-ways,—I understand there are no surface cacs in the city. The little flub-dub taxis were more convenient, and proportionately economical of time and money too, if one were not too unsophisticated.

"The next stop was Lyon, after ten hours on the Paris Express. Fcench trains de luxe do not linger along the way,—and, if one is foctunate enough to secure a aeat (the carriages are jammed) they ace not uncomfoctable. I thing I had a fair shace of luck in that respect. One always rides first class unless a gendarme obstructs the entrance. So far on the tcip they have not interfered.

"Lyon is very ordinary, although ducing my ten hours there I was nursing the previous forty-eight hours fatigue and that may have obscured some of the city's charms. My intecest was aroueed by the new Wilson bcidge, which I crossed on foot, and then waned in the heat of a tocrid day and finally succumbed to the lures of a park bench amid the shifting throngs of French "blesses" (wounded) and native entertainers, elderly people, children and Americans. I was vecy glad to get away on the final leg of the journey to Aix.

"The train, a double-headec, seemed to laboc up the valley, and took unusually long rests nt frequent stations whece soldiers of all the Allies were in evidence, going and coming, appacently on leave. We nrrived at Aix about ten-thirty.

"I drew the Hotel Louvre et Snvoie in the center of town—and was vecy thankful, in fact we were foctunate to get accommodations at all. The arcivals previous to us had been sent farther up the valley on account of the unexpected crush. The leave area embraces abput the same area as a good sized county. The Louvre et Savoie is not the finest place in the city, but it is well toward the top of the list nnd its ensy access lends a fascinating charm. Its aceommodations are first class and the eats excellent. Between eighty and one hundred soldiers and many toucists kept it jammed to capacity at all times. I think its comforts wece responsible for my failure to see some of the advertised places of interest.

"To tell the whole story of Aix-les-Bains is a project of a mightier pen than mine, and I can, at best, give you but generalities or mere driveling details. The latest that can be said is that the forces behind the scheme to keep the spirit of youthful America up to par in spite of the abnormal conditions of living cectainly outdid themselves in the aelection of that place as a leave

An item of interest to Red Cross workers which has been overlooked, is the shipment on Septembec 13 of 101 sweaters, this numbec in excess of ouc quota, which was of good size.

On Tuesday we shipped a box of Belgian relief garmets, 27 mufflers, 9 pairs of sox, 10 sweaters, 26 helmets, 14 paic of wristlets and a lap cobe.

We have about 800 Belgium relief garments to make—helpers please come.

In the draw foc the pedigreed Shetland pony, which Mrs. Robert Stewart of the Chicago club so kindly donated to our Red Cross, James Gaskins was the lucky one.

Ouc donors this week are: Mrs. Robert Stewart, Frances Tooley, Mc. Sloan, Mrs. John C. Miller and Iddings store.

An evening class in Red Cross sewing will be organized next Monday evening. This is your opportunity, young ladies.

The effect of this proposed amendment is to gcant to women the right to vote at any and all elections in this state.

BIRTHDAY MADE ENJOYABLE EVENT

Miss Lucile Usher Entertains Friends Friday Afternoon.

Miss Lucile M. Usher entertained ten of hec little gicl playmates, also hec teacher, Miss Coccell, at her home on Clinton street, Friday afternoon, Septembec 27, the occasion being her oighth birthday.

A jolly afternoon was spent on the lawn playing games until the call came for refreshments when all marched in, two by two, and found their placas where the usual birthday cake, adorned with candles, was waiting to greet them. The little hostess received many appropriate gifts in remembranee of the occasion.

$225,700 IN FOR LIBERTY LOAN

COUNTY'S QUOTA SET AT $337,951.50 BY UNCLE SAM

In Charlevoix District Alone Over $60,150 of $111,000 Quota Has Been Pledged

More than $225,700 of Charlevoix county's Fourth Liberty Loan quota has been subscribed up to the time we go to press Wednesday afternoon. The quota foc the county was placed at $337,951.50 by Fced R. Fenton, director of Sales foc this, the seventh federal reserve district. Of this amount about $210,300.00 was bought on volunteecs days.

The quota for the Charlevoix district was set at $108,300, and up to Tuesday night, $60,150 had been sold, practically all being taken up on volunteer days. The quota for the Charlevoix district was placed as follows:

Charlevoix township ..	$2,400
Eveline, (west half)	4,100
Hayes	4,300
Marion	4,500
Norwood	3,000
Peaine	1,300
St. James	1,400
Charlevoix City	90,000
Total	$111,000

Among the employes of the Loeb Farm, not counting a dollar from the owners, $13,850 was subscribed up to noon Wednesday.

From the wonderful accomplishment of the first three days, Charlevoix should go ovec its quota with but little wock from the soliciting committees, which we understand will commence sometime this week.

On Sunday afternoon both the State Savings Bank and the Charlevoix County Bank were open foc the convenience of those who were unable to call during the week. Saturday was the day of heaviest buying, and crowds of people thronged the banking houses during the entire day.

The Courier expects that Liberty Bonds will be sold in every home in Charlevoix. Uncle Sam has apportioned us to the neat sum of $111,000, and we nre going to buy that much or possibly moce.

Every person who buys all the bonds he oc she can is doing a ceal "hit" toward defeating the kaiscr. While we are confident evecy home in this community will be cepcesented by at least one name on the roll of honoc, we ace in hopes that foc very many of the homes the name of each member of the family will be included in the list. We should like to see this roll nf honoc contain the names of every man and woman, evecy boy and girl in Charlevoix.

Be a real 100 pec cent American and buy a bond—then buy anothec one.

Attention, K. of P's.

Lodge will open on Tbursday evening of this week at the regular houc and continue during the winter months. Every Knight of Pythias is urged to be present on the opening night and do theic part in acranging foc the season's wock. Be there on time.

All hats greatly reduced this week at Mrs. L. A. Lewis. 40 tf.

GERMAN IN THE SCHOOLS

BOARD OF EDUCATION PRESENTS DEFINITE STATEMENT

That Proves Attacks Made On Them Unwise to Say the Least— Reply Convincing

To the patrons of our echools:

In both city papers two weeka ago, was published a atatement fully explaining the attitude of the Board of Education as to German in the achools, a statement which had been made in reply to a vicious attack made on tha patriotism of the Board and superintendent in unsigned clrculars scatteced throughout the city.

In that statement it was shown that the board of education took action long ago, to replace German in the schools with French, and that no pupil was compelled to study German this term; that a teachec had been employed who was competent to teach German, but that it was being taught only to accommodate those students who had taken one year in that language, and wished to complete theic course in German in order to obtain the credits necessary to enter the Univecsity, as the requirements had always been that two yeacs of any language was necessary to secure the credits demanded for entry to the University.

In the Scntinel of last week, Mc. Harry L. Oldham printed a statement that he was the sole authoc of the ciccular ceferred to, and that he alone was responsible foc its statements, and its publication. Mr. Oldham makes these assertions: "The University of Michigan had long since ruled that one year German and one yeac Fcench was all that was necessary. This is a fact, and eithec Mr. Hampton and tbe supecintendent either did not keep posted, or did not want to be posted."

The charge ia dicect, that eithec the board of education, cepresented by its pcesident and supecintendent, wece forcing Gecman upon the schools because they wanted it taught, or because they did not know that it was not necessary in ocdec foc Charlevoix boys and girls who wanted their ecdits, to complete the course. The telegrams below will show what the situation really is. THE UNIVERSITY AUTHORITIES HAVE NOT EVEN YET AGREED TO ANY ARRANGEMENT THAT WILL PERMIT STUDENTS NOW IN OUR SCHOOLS TO ENTER THE UNIVERSITY IN 1919 ON ONE YEAR GERMAN AND ONE YEAR FRENCH.

I took the article prepared for the board of education to the editoc of the Sentinel on Tuesday, September 17th. Latec in the day, I was shown a telegram that Mr. Adams, chaicman of the county wac board, had received in reply to one he had sent the day before, in which the registrac of the University stated that one year German and one yeac French would be accepted in place of two years of German. As the statement from the board of education was a denial that students were compelled to take German, and it was admitted therein that no official notification had been received from the University, Mc. Adams asked if it was the wish that the acticle be published, and was told that the telegram he had received that day, did not altec the situation as far as the board was concerned, noc in any way ehange ouc feeling that we had been unjustly attaeked, because the telegram was the first intimation I had that any official action had been taken, and all ouc actions had been taken in good faith. I left the same day foc a weeks' absence. Aftec the publication of the reply by Mc. Oldham, I took up the matter, myself, direct with the Registrac of the University, by wire. My first wire was as follows:

"Please wire me when University Authorities first took officlal action to accept first year French in placo of seennd yeac German, in students ecdits, as stated in your telegram of Sept. 17th to Ira A. Adams. Has any official notification been sent to High School authorities, if so state date."

This brought the following reply:

"In June Registrar was autborized to adjust reqnirements under war conditions, any entering this

Doe-wah-jack presents the wonderful Round Oak Double Burner

Burn Cheap Fuel--Then Save One-Third Your Coal

Not only buy soft coal, but order just two-thirds of what the ordinary exclusive soft coal heating stove would consume in a season. You can do this every winter, provided your heating stove is a Round Oak Double Burner. In the face of fuel shortage this heater will burn any kind of combustible material, including hard coal, soft coal, coke, wood, or slack, and it lasts a generation.

Your most careful investigation is invited.

A Well Skin Never Chafes

Chafing is caused hy the rubbing of clothing against the skin; or even of the skin against itself.

Nature has equipped the healthy skin to provide against such conditions in the form of various exeretions. Failure of the skin to funetion properly results in inflammation from the constant rubbing, and "chafing" results.

To relieve this condition locnl external mesures usually give the most satisfaction and the most effective remedy is Powdered Boric. Dust the irritated surface frequently with 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric, removing the eause of the irritation if possible or, perhaps, covering with gauze.

A healing ointment may easily be made by mixing 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric with lanolin.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

area. It cannot be conceived how anything could be finer,—and yet is all in keeping with the grand plan of all A. E. F. undertakings: nothing done by halves.

"Of course there were a large number of soldiers, Americans and French, some Italians and a few Belgians and Serbs, nnd a large number of French tourists. These latter were particularly interesting inasmuch as many of them could speak more or less English and in many instances went to great lengths to entertnin us. We were lnterminglecl with them in the hotels and our "Y" wns open to them, so that the civilians and soldiers were constantly rubbing elbows nnd unraveling certain jargons of hadly mixed French and English. And by the way, the "Y" is something to remark about, although it is quite beyond me to describe it. It is, or rather, it was a Grand Casino, nround which the baths, the elty and the reputation of Aix-les-Bains has been built. Centrally located, in a big garden of shrubbery, it spreads out to welcome you into great, spacious, beautlfully decorated halls and salons fltted with just those articles of furniture that beckon you: deep leather "easy rlders" and tables for games or reading as you choose. The "Y" personnel is an aggregation of mothers snd dads and big sisters, and the canteen is bulging with those dainty requlsites of vacatlon time.

"I took the trip to see Mt. Blanc, —It isn't visible from the town. A cog-wheel railroad laborlously elevates you to the summit of Mt. Revard, several thousand feet above the Baths, and from there Mt. Blane and her train of white capped brothers and sisters are to be seen very clearly some thirty or forty miles to the eastward. Of course, it is pretty,—but in some way litlle Mt. St. Helens near Portland seems more beautlful even in memory, and I am quite sure that Mt. Hood excels this noted mountnin in beauty and grandeur. However, the view of the valley and elty from the bluff overlooking them is, I think, the best I ever saw. The descent is very abrupt, a sheer drop of several hundred feet, which opens up the view much the same as I imagine is obtained from an aeroplane,—the fields and vineyards of the plain and the streets of the city lying at your very feet, the lake benring off into the hills on the other side of the valley. I thought of Wenatchee right away. The lake referred to, Lake Bourget, is blue, so very blue, and lies like a curving rihhon at the base of the foot hills. It is truly beautiful and makes you think of Lake Chelan. but after all there is no comparison, ours is far and away the most attractive. But Bourget is alluring in the heat of August,—with its variety of shows, ranging from reedy marshes to nearly perpendicular cliffs—and its historic structures along the banks. One of these dates back to old Roman dominion with several pages of legend. In fact almost everything hns a history and I will try to give you n little of it in another letter, when I'll tell you about the baths of Aix and some of the ruins.

"Your letter of the eighth came yesterday, making very good time. Some of them are as much as five weeks on the way, but we are glad to get them any time. Glad the packnge arrived O. K. and that the nrticles are satisfactory. Considerable of the credit for the selection is due to the French lady that you are writing to. You see the stores appear to be partial to Americans and go out of their way to relieve them of any surplus tissue paper mouey that may be burdening them. Consequently I asked this friend to do my buying for me.

"No doubt Ned has my address and I hope he uses it, so that if there is any chance to get together, remote as the chance is, we can make the most of. it. Sometimes even an A. E. F. letter helps a little and if we can establish connections we may be able to hold little consolation parties and celebrations by mail at more frequent intervals than is possible from the states.

"Would like to have Bert's version of the army at first hand and I am nsking that you forward. an occasional letter of his to me. You might advise Tie lo sort of, you know, segregate his offerings also, so that it would be possible to forward the less choice bits over here. I can imagine that some of his tales are real worth while.

"As far as I know every member of this organization is out in the country aboot five miles playing ball this afternoon, and are not due back for about another hour. As long ns I have to slay here I may as well get out from under some more of these letters so I will bring this to a delayed close, begging yours and the censor's pardon for the length of this.

"Give my best regards to all and be assured that everything is rosy around here, just as much as though I were right now lounging in the shade of the rustic bridge.

"That letter every week certainly sounds good to me, sis, and I hope it is possible for you to keep it up. Love to all.—Lef.

From Claud Volkert

August 29, 1918.

Dear Uncle Dick:—Came out from the front about a week ago. We are now in a little village some distance behind the lines resting up, with a little drilling thrown in to keep in conditlon.

"We are quartered for the first time since leaving St. Nazin about a year ago, in a barracks constructed for troops. They are of portable type, and sort of leaky at the joints. Much hetter for fair weather than showers. Fortunately we have hnd fair weather.

"Spend most of the time lounging about under the apple trees reading the hair hreadth experiences of some aviator in the Lafayette flying corps, and trying to determine how big a liar he is, or might be, and get away with it.

"It has been uneventful here ns far as shells and hostile planes nre concerned. Not even the bombers have bothered us, and they usually go a good distance behind the lines, especially on moonlight nights.

"Late in the afternoon the Y. M. C. A. man usually gets out with papers; the fellows dash down and get them, and then come back and discuss the situation and plan out the next drive in their own fashion. Everybody is doubly anxious to get the accounts from the front now as every day brings good tidings.

"Today we are packing up to move. Don't know where we are going of course, but think n few days may find us back on the line.

"Have received several copies of the Christian Science Monitor. Don't know who to thank for it, but it is much appreciated by myself and also the other boys in the section. We pass on magazines etc. from one to the other, and by the time they all get around we have had access to a lot of reading material, which may consist of anything from Shakespeare's plays to 'On a slow train through Arkansas."

"Well there is not much to write about now and it's about paper time so will leave you for this time. I am as ever, Sincerely,—Claude.

Claud J. Volkert, S. S. U. Sec 649 Convois Autos. Par B. C. M. A. E. F.

From Albert McClanathan

France, August 27, 1918.

Dear Brother and Sister:—I received the papers you sent, and was very glad to get them. We have been on the move lately, so have not had much time to write. Have moved four times in two weeks.

"The country whero we are trucking now is country that the Germans have been driven out of, and there is not much left of it. Everything is shelled to pieces; the buildings are flat on the ground, and the roads that were paved are now full of shell holes, some of them ten feet deep, so you can imagine what it would mean having one of them break close by you.

"Yesterday when taking ammunition up to the battery, one of the trucks had started to unload when shells commenced coming ever. We got out of the way, and believe me, we was not long getting there. The driver of the trucks had to get in a dugout until the Germans quit shelling. When we got home, we had moving pictures in the tent, just got started when a German aeroplane came over, and started dropping a few bombs, so we had to call the show off until the air was clear again. But for every shell they are throwing over here, we are sending ten back.

"It is getting near supper time now, so will have to quit and get ready. We are going to have beans and warm biscuit. Lots of love.—Albert McClanathan, Motor Truck Co. 363, Convois Auto A. E. F. Par. B. C. M.

From Clarence Coblentz

Fort Rodman, Mass.,
Sept. 8, 1918.

Dear Folks—Well this is Snaday and not much doing. There is a hall game here and about 800 people, so it is quite lively.

"We have drilled ever since we have been here, about five hours every day. Friday we drill in the forenoon, and clean up for inspection Saturday forenoon, after that the rest of the time is ours until Monday morning.

"We were issued some clothing for overseas today, so I suppose we will be leaving soon. Don't worry about me, for we have not had any drilling with rifles yet, which we did not get until Saturday. We will get about three months drilling when we get across. We use the rifle only when they get loo close lo us to use the heavy artillery.

"Went down and had some pictures taken yesterday, and we have just been down lo see the proofs. I ordered twelve, and with them I get one enlarged, but not mounted.

"We got our pay yesterday. Mine wns fourteen dollars with the insurance taken out. It is raining now, hut it does not bother me, as I have a raincoat, pair of trench shoes, mess kit and pack. All that and some more we carry on our backs, and it makes quite a load.

"Talk about feed, when I came here I weighed 164, and now I weigh 174. We get good feed, ice cream and chicken on Sunday.

"There is a navy training camp near here, and the soldiers and sailors had a fight. The soldiers trim the sailors every time they get together. The soldiers hate the sailors, but of course there are a few exceptions. Well I must close. Write soon. Love to all,—Clarence.

FOURTH LOAN THE FIGHTING LOAN

With the advance of the Fourth Liberty Loan, the Amerlean army in France moves on toward Berlin. Under our own leaders the great American army has won notable vietories.

The Fourth Loan must be a great eueeess. The Fourth Liberty Loan is a fighting loan.

When our soldiers on the battle front are braving death each one offering to make ths supreme sacrifice for his country and the great cause, we who remain safely at home surely should give them every support, should make every sacrifice to strengthen them. If we eannot fight ourselves we can make our dollars fight.

It is a great cause for which America is engaged in this war; it is a great struggle in which the very hope of the world is bound up that is being waged in Europe and on the high seas. It is an honor to have a part in it and all Americans, all of their lives, will be proud of the part they had in it or ashamed of their failure to do their part.

The Fourth Liberty Loan is a fighting loan. Every subscriber to the loan strikes a blow for liberty, for Victory.

The subscribers to the Liberty Loan have purchased for the war department over $4,000,000,000 of ordinance—$1,000,000,000, was spent for nrtillery; $300,000,000 for automatic rifles; $100,000,000 for small arms, nearly $2,000,000,000 for artillery ammunition and $340,000,000 for small arms ammunition; $100,000,000 was spent for armored motor cars.

It is estimated that $7,000,000,000 will be spent by the ordinance department this current year.

Every Amerlean wishes to have a part in winning the war and supporting our soldiers who are fighting our battles in France. Every subscriber to the Fourth Liberty Loan will have a part in the grent achievements that the American army is accomplishing nnd in the achievements which the greater American army will accomplish next spring.

SPANISH INFLUENZA.

It was not to be expected that the United States would miss a visitation of Spnnish influenza, that grip-like affliction which is making its perodic tour of the world. It has now made its appearance in various eastern and southern cities, and in the course of time it may make itself felt here, unless it should flatten out and vanish before reaching us, a not unlikely circumstance.

In this connection the warning of Surgeon General Blue comes in good time and should be accorded attention. The disease is not one to be trifled with, even if the proportion of fatalaties to the number of cases is small. The experiences of the individual victims are far from pleasant and the results are sometimes grave, especially so in the relapse into more serious diseases which not infrequently occur in the period of convalescence.

This influenza is not so serious individually as it is nationally. Its effect on a country is in some respects disastrous, even though the death rate is low. It incapacitates workers by the thousands for days and weeks, and the net result is a slowing down of industry and a dislocation of husiness which in the aggregate make themselves felt in national life.

We take it from the peace talk that is being sent out that the horrors of war are being brought too close to "the beloved Fatherland."

Anyhow the latest peace proposals of Germany don't carry the concealed threat of what will happen to us if we turn them down.

The Hun is squealing for peace, but just at present we're too busy driving him out of invaded territory to listen to him.

Germany has now begun to study up on indoor war.

ECONOMIZE IN YOUR USE OF COAL

Fuel Administrator Gives Timely Advise in Handling Furnaces

The etate fuel administrator has issued a timely statement, showing how fuel economy at home might keep the boys in France warm, by the proper handling of furnaces ae well as kitchen ranges. The majority of living rooms ars overheeted according to the rulee, which are as follows:

Keep the temperature of the living room at 68 degrees or less.

Rooms where you do not slt are mora comfortable if cooler, provided ths air is kept e little molst.

Get a good thermometer. Hang it inside, not outside.

It is wasteful to allow the tamperature to drop way down at night.

Turn off the heat in unused rooms whenever possible.

Always keep two pans, or open top jars of fresh water on radiators or in front of registers to keep the air moist.

Be sure there is a cheek draft damper in the stovepipe beeides the turn damper.

The turn damper should fit the smoke pipe loosely and should never be entirely closed.

Make use of the damper in the coaling door only to let oxygen in to consume gasses, if you are using soft coal.

Just enough draft, and that from below, checking the draft by letting more air into the smoke pipe, is one of the best general rules.

To make the fire burn more rapidly do not open the ashpit door, but only the damper in the door.

All heat pipes in the cellar should be wrapped to prevent loss of heat.

A short, quick stroke of the shaker handle will sift ashes through the grate.

Clean ash pit daily.

Avoid poking and slicing fire bed.

Never shake a fire that is low until you have put on a little fresh coal and allowed it to ignite. A thin fire wastes coal.

Storm windows and weather strips economize heat.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT OF GUILTY

Against Boyle in Beaver Island Murder Case

In the trial of the People vs. Thomas H. Boyle, charged with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, the first case on the docket in the present term of court, the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Boyle, it will be remembered, set a trap gun in a hotel on the Island, with the result that Ila Cole received wounds which caused her death a few days later. It is expected that sentence will be pronounced Thursday by Judge Mayne.

Clare Pierce, a 15 year old Boyne City lad, who, it is alleged, accidentally shot a young girl in that city, was found not guilty of the charge of murder.

SPOKE TO MEN AT LOEB FARM

Tells of Experiences With British Army in the Palestines.

The short talk given by Aaron Aransohn, n member of Gen. Allenby's staff and head of the British agricultural department, was the most vivid description ever heard by those fortunate enough to be present.

The speaker told of his experiences from the beginning of the war up to the time of his leave of absence, relating tales almost beyond comprehension. He has been a guest at the Loeb home for several days and leaves Thursday for Washington.

HEADQUARTERS FOR
Plush Coats

Are here at this store, where the assortment is forever bright and new. Merchandising foresight, we insist, is the big factor today in ready-to-wear retailing.

THE PRICES OF OUR PLUSHES PROVE THAT!

There is no plush being made today in the great mills of the land—it is government work they are doing now.

BUT WE HAVE THE PLUSH COATS HERE!

Having placed ample orders for them long ago, when prices were DOWN, we now offer them to you at only a reasonable profit on the prices of long ago.

Thus you reap the benefit, and we are able to furnish plush and velour coats, not only reasonable in price, but of the best quality the market affords, and in styles more varied than ever.

VILLAGE GOES UP IN SMOKE

OVER THREE HUNDRED PEOPLE MADE HOMELESS

Fire at Cross Village Destroys Entire Town—All Buildings Leveled to Ground

Cross Village was destroyed by fire last Friday night.

Three hundred persons are homeless, most of the provisions and fuel has been burned and the village is facing hunger and cold.

The buildings on both sides of the main street for three blocks were leveled to the ground. The three hotels, postoffice, Presbyterian church, every store and business house and two scores of residences went up in smoke. Only outlying houses are standing.

The money in the postoffice was saved and part of the mail and books.

The cause of the fire is unknown. It started at 7:00 p. m. Friday evening in the Atwood Hotel, which is located at the south end of the main street. The hotel had been run by Mrs. A. D. Loomis, who had moved out an hour before the blaze was discovered. The building was supposed to be unoccupied.

A strong south wind was blowing off the lake and this caused the conflagration to sweep all before it. It seized upon the buildings on both sides of the street and in a short time had swept up to the Catholic church, which was saved with much difficulty. The telephone wires went down and the village was cut off from the outside world, but a little assistance was obtained from Harbor Springs and Levering.

The destruction of the village is laid to the fact that there are no wells. The few cisters proved inadequate; the water used in combatting the flames had to carried up the steep bluff from the lake, and it was a physical impossibility to provide enough in this manner to stave off destruction.

A thrilling feature was the scene at the old Catholic church where the white cross in the church yard defied the flames and loomed chaste and unharmed while all around it went down. The old church, which was built seventy-five years ago, was totally destroyed.

William Shurtleff, a youth who gave valiant aid, was overcome by inhaling flames and smoke and is in a serious condition. Physicians report that he may be all right in three or four days, but that the seriousness of his case has not been determined. He had applied for entrance into the auto mechanics department at Ann Arbor and had just received his card instructing him to leave for the college city Saturday.

Miss Vera Cooper, teacher in the Cross Village school, lost some expensive clothing. The school was outside the fire zone, and it is probable that the sessions will continue.

The loss is estimated at more than $100,000.

Mrs. Emma Kellner will have a sale of household goods Saturday, the 12th at her home 311 Michigan Avenue. 40 t1.

WOMENS' WAR WORK

Activities During War Has Awakened Entire Country

No one doubts the advanced views of the Munising News. It comments editorially on womens' war work:—

"The world over womans' work in war has awakened man to a new sense of the injustice and lack of proper respect in any attitude which prevents the woman sharing equally the privileges of citizenship as they share its responsibilities and burdens.

"That there will be any sentiment or influence worthy of mention opposed to the amendment found in the state when the proposition comes to a vote next fall is unthinkable.

"Let us make it unanimous and thus make Michigan a leader in the progressive column of states that have honored themselves by honoring their women."

DR. HEWITT WELL RECEIVED

PREACHED OPENING SERMON LAST SUNDAY EVENING

Discourse Showed Careful Study And Was Thoroughly Enjoyed by Entire Audience

The Methodist church was filled to capacity last Sunday evening when Dr. C. W. Hewitt made his initial bow to an Ellsworth congregation, and not one of that congregation left at the close of the meeting but what felt themselves to be better men or women for having been present.

Dr. Hewitt came highly recommended, both as a man and a minister, and the impression he has already given both in and out of the church proves that these recommendations were based on merit. The subject of his sermon last Sunday evening was "The Trial and the Verdict," and the able manner in which the subject was handled showed that the sermon was prepared after careful study.

Dr. Hewitt is accompanied by his wife and little daughter and the house formerly occupied by George Hunter has been rented and will be used as a parsonage.

He has already taken the reins and is making plans to paint and decorate the Methodist church or possibly make arrangements to secure the Congregational church in which to hold services, and we predict a large and appreciative congregation for him whenever an opportunity presents itself.

AUTO AND BUGGY MEET HEAD-ON

Occupants Thrown Out But Escape Serious Injury

One perfectly good Overland car badly wrecked and one A No. 1 buggy put completely out of business was the result of a collision last Monday evening, when the car driven by Herman Drenth, carrying three passengers, and the buggy driven by Dick Dennis accompanied by Mrs. Dennis, locked horns on the Atwood road one mile from town.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis were on their way home from town when they met the car, late and running to make up time. Mr. Dennis claims he had yielded the car the largest share of the road, which story is contradicted by Mr. Drenth, but regardless of which is correct the result was the same and both vehicles were forced into dry dock for repairs. The left front wheel of the car was smashed, the rods twisted and bent and the fender badly battered. The machine over turned, spilling the occupants, hut luckily hurting no one.

The buggy lost the left rear wheel and the driver was thrown out, he also luckily, suffering no injury.

The two men met with Justice VanSkiver at 10:00 a. m. Tuesday and settled the matter by Drenth agreeing to pay all damages to the buggy, thus quietly ending a mishap which might easily have proven fatal to one or more of the interested parties.

COUNTY ADOPTS VOLUNTEER PLAN

Buy a Bond at Once and Wear Your "V" Badge

Although Antrim county's war preparedness board held its meeting preparatory to the 4th Liberty Loan too late to give much publicity through the various papers in the county before the drive started, we deem it necessary to announce a few things of vital interest to Banks township in particular.

The government needs money to back our soldiers over there. Antrim county, like many others, has adopted the Volunteer plan, giving the public opportunity voluntarily to subscribe their bonds and have the "V" to wear showing they volunteered. Volunteer days are September 28 to October 5, so if there are those who have not volunteered or rather have not yet their "V", when you read this be sure to get your "V" before October 5 is past. By volunteering our hond we are doing our duty willingly.

If at the end of the volunteer days the quota of Banks township is not raised, the local boards appointed in each school district will devise some plan to get subscriptions to the Liberty Loan from those who have not yet subscribed and are able, either by soliciting or any other manner.

Our quota is already (Tuesday) about half filled. Catch the spirit of our boys at the front and also the spirit of the move to volunteer. Do not wait to see if George volunteers but get your "V" so George will get his. Then Banks will have its quota, $10,100 and more raised. Do it for the privilege of living in the "land of the Free and the home of the brave".—J. D. Pikaart, Sec'y, W. P. C. Banks township.

DEATH TAKES CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Monroe Hughes, Well Known Throughout Antrim County

Monroe Hughes was born in New York, June 5, 1843 and died at his home at Kewadin, Michigan, September 20, 1918.

He came to Michigan in 1865 immediately following the close of the civil war and settled in Kent county, where he resided until moving to Kewadin 18 years ago.

He enlisted in the Union army shortly after the out break of the civil war and served faithfully until its close.

He was united in marriage to Miss Barbara Mapes in 1865 nnd she with four children, three brothera and two sisters are left. Deceased had been in poor health for a number of years so that his death at this time was not a surprise to his relntives and friends.

The remaining brothers and sisters are Mrs. H. Powers who resides at Sparta, Mich; Mrs. Bulby, Sault St. Marie; Ambrose of Grand Rapids; Frank of Sparta; and Charles at Granit Falls, Washington and the children are Mrs. Eugene Best of Ellsworth; Mrs. Julia Potter, Land Point, Idaho; Mrs. Viola Herrington, Kewadin and Fred Hughes also of Kewadin.

The funeral service was held at the home at Kewadin and the remains were laid to rest at the Elk Rapids cemetery, Rev. Brooks of Kewadin officiating.

The following poem entitled "Yanks" written by J. W. Foley, aptly describes the sort and class of men who are making the Huns "hard to catch."

O'Leary from Chicago, and a first class fighting man,
Born in County Clare, or Kerry where the gentle art began;
Sergeant Dennis P. O'Leary, from somewhere on Archio Road,
Dodgin' shells and smellin' powder while the battle ebbed and flowed.
And the Captain says: O'Leary, from your fighting company
Pick a dozen fighting Yankees and come skirmishing with me;
Pick a dozen fightin' devils, and I know it's you who can."
And O'Leary, he saluted like a first class fighting man.

O'Leary's eye was piercin' and O'Leary's voice was clear:
"Dimitri Georgeoupolos!" and Dimitri answered "here!"
Then "Vladimir Slaminski! step three paces to the front,"
For we're wantin' you to join us in a little Heine hunt!"

"Garabaldi Ravoli!" Garibaldi was to share;
And "Ole Axel Kettleson!" and "Thomas "Scalp-the-Bear!"
Who was Choctan by inheritence, bred in the blood and bones,
But set down in army records by the name of Thomas Jones.

"Van Winkle Schuyler Stuyvesant!" Van Winkle was a bud
From the ancient tree of Stuyvesant and had it in his blood;
"Don Miguel de Colombo!" Don Miguel's next kin
Were across the Rio Grande when Don Miguel went in.

"Ulysses Grant O'Sheridan! Ulysses' sire, you see,
Had been at Appamatox near the famous apple tree;
And "Patrick Michael Casey! Patrick Michael, you can tell
Was a fighting man by nature with three fightin' names as well.

"Joe Wheeler Lee!" and Joseph had a pair of fighting eyes,
And his grand dad was a Johnny, as perhaps you might surmise;
Then "Robert Bruce McPherson!" and the Yankee squad was done
With "Isaac Abie Cohen" once a light weight champion.

Then O'Leary paced them forward and he says "You Yanks, fall in!"
And he marched them to the captain "Let the skirmishin' begin,"
Says he "The Yanks are comin' and you beat 'em if you can"
Then saluted like a soldier and a first class fightin' man.

Subscriptions Must Be Paid

Have you looked up your subscription account to the Courier? Did you read our article in last week's Courier regarding it? Uncle Sam says that we cannot send you your Courier if you are not paid in ADVANCE. All other papers have been placed under the same ruling. WE MUST COMPLY WITH THIS ORDER. There is no other way out of it. If you want your Courier every week, you MUST pay your subscription AT ONCE.

Last week we announced that all must be paid by October 1. To accommodate YOU and MANY OTHERS, we have made arrangements to extend the time limit to OCTOBER 12—Saturday, October 12. Remember, this is done to accommodate those who were unable to pay by October 1, or those who did not fully understand the order.

We have made arrangements with the Citizens' Bank and A. L. Ely, to represent us and receive subscriptions from all who want to help us in complying with the orders we are under.

People in the vicinity of Atwood can pay at the store of Henry Klooster. You will receive your receipt just the same as if you paid at this office.

Watch for the blue pencil mark on the first page. If one is there, call at either of the above places and pay what you owe, and then you can renew for one year at the old subscription rate, $1.50. If you do not do this, your paper will be STOPPED. We cannot do otherwise. Pay up and help us meet Uncle Sam's orders.

ELLSWORTH LOCALS

Dr. Leahy of Petoskey was at the New Orient on Tuesday of this week.

The L. A. S. will meet with Mrs. D. Patterson on Thursday afternoon of this week at 2:30.

Quite a number of Ellsworth people are attending the Antrim Co. fair at Bellaire this week.

Oscar Smith has been quite ill the past week. He is at the home of his parents on Park street.

Robert Pearson will ship two cars of cattle and one car of hogs from Ellsworth on Friday of this week.

Irving Eaton sold a new Hubber hean and pea thresher to J. J. Hoyt of near Petoskey one day last week.

Guy White of Central Lake was in town one day last week working at the Citizens' Bank during the absence of S. P. Baar.

The Misses March and Henderson of the nurses staff of the Petoskey hospital visited Miss Helen Boss several days last week.

Stewart Baar is recovering very nicely from his recent attack of Spanish influenza and is now able to sit up.

Dr. Hewitt has chosen for his subject for Sunday evening October 6 "How Much do you Weigh?" He also announces a business meeting to follow this weeks prayer meeting and urges all business men especially to be present.

The call for class 1 men of the old draft has been indefinitely postponed owing to the epidemic of Spanish influenza at the different army camps. This call was posted for October between the sixth and tenth of the month.

Registrants who have received and filled their questionnaires must not be surprised if they do not receive their classification cards for a week or ten days, as the local board must wait until the drawing is completed in order to know the order number.

Miss Helen Boss, who has been at her home here for the past few days awaiting her call as an army nurse in the Red Cross corps, received orders Monday to report to Fort Riley, Kansas, for duty and left for that place on Tuesday morning of this week.

Keep Your Rugs Like New
YOU can easily regain the original beauty and coloring of your rugs by applying occasionally a soft lather of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips. Let it remain for a few minutes, then remove with a stiff brush. Will not injure colors or fabric, as the Borax simply softens and loosens the dirt and the soap dissolves it away.
20 MULE TEAM BORAX SOAP CHIPS
will also make laundry work easy if used in this way: Make a Soap Jelly by putting three tablespoonfuls of the chips into a quart of water and boil.
Add enough of this solution to the wash water to make a good suds and then soak or boil clothes as usual. Don't rub; it is unnecessary. An 8 oz. package of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips equals 25c worth of ordinary laundry soap.
It's the Borax with the soap that does the work.

WHAT CATARRH IS

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors only irritate and do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from any harmful drugs. It is helping thousands. Try it.

GERMAN IN THE SCHOOLS

year may present a single unit of another language in place of second year German, withdrawn from curriculum. This emergeney situation should be corrected as soon as possible by authorizing two units of one language."

As this telegram did not give the information I desired, and stated that the arrangement was for 'this year', I wired Mr. Hall again as follows:

"You say, this year one unit other language and one unit German will be accepted. Will this provision apply to students entering in 1919? Also state if University Officials have notified High School Authorities of this fact, and if so, when."

The reply to this last telegram was as follows:

"We have not agreed to this arrangement for next year. Notice is hereby given to Charlevoix." Signed, Registrar A. G. Hall.

Now, what is the situation? Unless the board of education can induce the University Authorities to accept one year of French in place of 2d year German, the students of our school who graduate in 1919, and have not finished their course in German, will not have the two consecutive years of language necessary. For the board of education on Monday, September, 16th, by resolution stopped the second year class in German. I have already taken this up with the University and it is hoped that some arrangement may be arrived at, in view of the extraordinary complications here. But the crux of the whole matter is this:

Mr. Oldham, through his vicious attack on the patriotism of the board, shown by the above telegrams to be unwise, as well as unfounded, has driven the board to adopt resolutions that may make it necessary for the son of Mr. Miles, and any others who wish to enter the University and recive credit for languages to take an additional year of French.

Mr. Oldham also stated that children had to buy German books. The facts are that the board of edueation, through the superintendents office, furnish the books. Mr. Craig states emphatically that no second year German books were bought to sell to students this year; that none were on hand when school opened, and that none were sold by the superintendent to any student.

Mr. Robert F. Sloan also published a communication in last weeks Sentinel, in which he also charges that the president of the board of education "knew that the University would accept one year German and one year French" when the communication was published by this board. The telegrams given above, ought to bring an apology from Mr. Sloan, who was doubtless mis-informed. For it is now proven that not only had the University authorities taken no action that will admit our 1919 graduates on one year of German and one year of French, when our former communication was printed, but that up to the present time, no such action was taken.

Mrs. Mabelle Nicholls also printed a communication in the Sentinel of last week, in which she, as City chairman of the Womans Committee of National defense, joins in the condemnation of the board, and also makes the statement that the University would accept the one year German and one year French, and that the board of education knew it when the communication from the board was published. Knowing the facts now, it is to be hoped that an apology may be forthcoming from her as well.

The board of education welcomes criticism, we do not claim to be perfect in our judgment, we have tried at all times to do what we thought best for the schools; but we do resent the charge that we are "Pro-German" and that we are not good American citizens. And we espeeially resent such charges when they are fathered, fostered, and scattered broadcast by a man who is not himself an American citizen. We are entitled to an apology from Mr. Oldham, and the entire City is entitled to an apology from all who have been instrumental in stirring up this matter, and through their mis-statements and charges of German propaganda" have made it necessary for good Amerieans to defend their patriotic actions. —Will E. Hampton, Pres. Board of Education; A. F. Bridge, Vice President; E. J. Hiller, Secretary; Oluf Nordrum, Treasurer.

NEXT SUNDAY IS RALLY DAY

At Congregational Church—Spacial Music and Sermon

Next Sunday will be observed as "Rally Day" at the Congregational church. Every resident member of the church is urgently invited to be present at the morning service, at which there will be special music and a sermon espcially for the occasion. The Bible school will rally at the noon hour, when a program will be presented by the members of the school. In the evening the Christian Endeavor will rally. The public will be cordially welcomed.

On the evening of October 9, A. LaVerne of Grand Rapids, field secretary of the Michigan Christian Endeavor Union, wishes to meet all the Charlevoix Endeavorers, past, present and prospective. Mr. Spafford is an expert in all questions affecting young people and their interests. The puhlic meeting will be held at 8 o'clock and everybody is invited.

For the past three weeks the Congregational church has been in the hands of Charles Carey and his assistants, who are completing a fine piece of work in the decoration of the nuditorium and lecture room. The expense of the work is borne by Peter G. Thompson of Cincinnati, one of the generous friends of the church. The newly decorated auditorium will be opened for the services next Sunday.

A stirring message has came from Rev. C. B. Emerson of Detroit who has just returned from several months service in France. It will be read by the pastor at the morning service.

CELEBRATED HER SIXTIETH BIRTHDAY

Friends Help Mrs. William Poole Observe Event

A jolly surprise was given Mrs. William Poole last Friday night at her home, the occasion being her 60th birthday. The evening was spent in visiting and having a general good time. No refreshments were served, as everyone in the crowd believes in conserving. Mrs. Poole received many nice pressents to remind her of the date. There were about twenty present, and upon leaving declared it was the best time ever.

Womans Work In Pictures

One of the most interesting features of the work of the Womans' Committee, council of National Defense, are the moving pictures of the women of England and France, running cars, engines, making munitions and even digging trenches. When Mr. Balford was in this country a year ago, he said that it took ten people to keep each man in the trenches, and that seven of these people were women.

Wool Clothing for Winter Wear

When we say wool, we mean real wool—stock that was bought early in the season before the general shortage of wool, and not part cotton. We placed our order early for the stock we now have. It was a fortunate buy, for today we could not buy from the manufacturer what we have displayed on our counters. We have

Mackinaws, Sweaters, Rain Coats, Heavy Pants
Overalls, Socks, Gloves, Mittens, Underwear
Work Shirts, Wool Shirts, Heavy Wool Pants

for both boys and men. The stock covers a field of weights and quality, and you will find just what you need here. We have prepared for the fall trade for many years, and our line of goods have always given the very best of satisfaction. No shoddy goods—but garments that will give service at prices that will surprise you, considering the high price of all wool garments at the present time.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 28. NUMBER 41. EIGHT PAGES — CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1918. — PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

Saturday, Oct. 12, Last Day

OCTOBER 12 LAST DAY

Time of cancellation of your subscription has been extended to Saturday, October 12, to accommodate hundreds who have either written or telephoned. This is positively the extreme date and if not paid by this time your paper will be STOPPED. A blue pencil mark means your subscription is in arrears and MUST be paid by October 12 or we will discontinue sending it.

During the past week hundreds of Courier subscribers have called and paid up all arrearages in subscription and paid one year in advance. The response to our request has been beyond all expectation. But at the same time there are many who have been unable to call, or for other reasons have failed to settle.

Request after request has been made for us to extend the time limit of payment at least a week. On Monday we were kept busy answering telephone calls from those who have been unable to call and wanted to pay us what they owe. To accommodate those who have been unable to call, were short of money, or for any other reason have not paid up, we have arranged to extend the time for payment to October 12 inclusive. This is all we can do regarding it, and is done only to accommodate those who have been unable to settle by the first of October. It is not our desire, nor that of the government, to create a hardship on anyone, and we hope our subscribers will fully appreciate our position and will do all they can to help us meet the situation. We are no longer controlling our own business methods. Uncle Sam is telling us what we cannot do and what we can do. We are given no discretion in the matter. We have our orders and we must obey them.

Please remember that Saturday night, October 12, will be the last day we can accommodate you. After this date your paper will be STOPPED. Help us put our mailing list where it will fully comply with the government orders.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Leff Carey Says His Outfit Are "Old Timers" Now and are Entitled to Wear the Gold War Service Chevron— Tells Of Baths at Aix-les-Bains.

From "Leff" Caray
France, Sept. 8, 1918.

Dear Dad:—Yours of August 18, 1918, forwarded in the new envelope, arrived Friday, September 7, 1918, about ten days after Agnes' letter which was written August 8th. There is no accounting for the difference in time required for the two letters to reach the same destination, and perhaps it makes little difference inasmuch as both arrived. At any rate, at this end, we may think questions but we ask none, because we are too glad to get them at any belated date. It is really more wearying and aggravating to know that our letters are so long in reaching you. There is certainly less apparent reason for that. But along with so many other conditions that would be unsatisfactory in normal times, we should be thankful to get what does come our way, and I doubt not that we are.

"Of course, I am glad everything and everyone is tip top at home. From some of the things we read in the papers we are lead to wonder, sometimes, if we are not faring better over here than are you at the home base. At least is is difficult to believe that we are undergoing any appreciable amount of discomfort in excess of your own, which is by the way of showing how thoroughly united the American forces are. Such things as the sugar rationing and the ban on gasoline for pleasure purposes are the things that rouse our enthusiasm, even at this great distance. Somehow it makes the distance seem shorter to know that you all, are so everlastingly, earnestly in the Push with the A. E. F. Of course, it couldn't be otherwise and be disastrous to the Kaiser, but the degrees of thoroughness is something to remark about, and is remarked about.

"However, no matter how near this sentiment makes us feel, we very often think of those three thousand miles that actually separate us, and of the time when we shall be turning our toes as well as our eyes in your direction. It isn't a weakness to anticipate that day nor to wish for it sometimes, because there is not one of us here who would return until the muss is settled and the world is made a perfectly safe place to travel in. We do think of you and home things and home places often, and of our hopes and anticipations, some of which were nipped by hot winds of war; and sometimes when you don't hear from us, perhaps we are thinking harder than ever about them. I don't think the war can last long enough to change us in that respect, and we will always be looking forward to embarkation day as enthusiastically on this side as we were in our port of embarkation, six months ago.

"Our outfit, or most of it is 'old timers' now. We are entitled to wear the Gold War Service chevron for six months service with the A. E. F. on the 4th of the month. It hasn't seemed a long time. I wonder if I should say that the ensuing six months look like a longer period. I wonder if two service chevrons are just twice as decorative as one, you know. March 4th is sure a long way off. What if it shouldn't ever arrive. Then we would be entitled only to a gold one and a blue one.

"So much for 'la guerre'. You can see that we are as much in earnest about it as you, and are satisfactorily situated to promote it to a fitting termination. We'll leave the rest to time and Foch.

"In my last letter to Agnes I said I would tell you something about the baths and ruins of Aix-les-Bains. For fear that letter may have gone astray. I am forwarding it again, under seperate cover, and I will do the same with this one. It will be interesting to know how they reach you.

"As I intimated in the previous letter. Aix is the baths, and the baths is Aix. If there are degrees of truth, the latter portion of the above statement carries more weight. The town was certainly built up around the Thermal Establishment, which in turn, is possible solely from the fact that the mineral water, naturally heated to a temperature of 115 degrees, is so abundantly supplied from the adjacent hill. The fine hotels in the town are a result of the fame of the water and its healing attributes; for which the well-to-do come many miles every season to avail themselves of. Aix, then, is also a city of hotels, and they are fine, in every respect, i. e. for French hotels. That is not a slander on them; only, in some respects they differ from our first class hotels. To soldiers on leave they lacked in no particular.

"The 'Establissement Thermal' is a large building of quite recent date and of typically French design and construction. In it are combined massiveness and beauty on the exterior, and a remarkable amount of well planned architecture was used on the interior. Remembering that a Frenchman's first thought is of this particular room or that particular chamber without regard to corellation of the two, this structure is almost unique, because a trip thru the institution first impresses one with its size and then its excellent appointment of well arranged fixtures. Wide halls and high ceilings, great doors and large windows, and fine stairways predominate every aspect. The entrance hall and reception and waiting rooms and rest parlors run true to type with works of art and tapestry, while the very spaciousness of the whole absorbs the closeness of the air that can scarcely be avoided in a heat factory. The baths, themselves are of every imaginable kind. You can think of no method of ablution that is not installed in this place. It is quite unnecessary to enumerate them. Perhaps the plunge ought to be spoken of, because it was the favorite of the Americans. It is quite the same as ours excepting in size and temperature. Ours is smaller and is not naturally heated. After one has soused himself with sulphur water to his hearts content, with showers whirls and streams and tubs and plunges, he can finish with a cold one in any form, or he can give himself over to a pair of gorillas who will complete the job of making a jelly fish of him. They call it a massage, and I'll admit it is. Personally, I prefer the cold one.

"There seems to be some grounds for the statement that the baths are beneficial to suffrers from rheumatics and other kindred ailments; but I dare say the ones who derive the greatest benefit from them are those people, who from the crush of a society season, or the turmoil of frenzied finance or the hell-fire and brimstone of the trenches, go to Aix and submit to the treatment. To me they were very debilitating and created, or perhaps I should say, augmented my desire to lie down and sleep, which, of course, is the best way to rest. At any rate, without attempting to guess the cause, a good many patients are toted to and from the establishment, every morning, in a cute little red and white conveyance similar to the kind the queen of Sheba and her contemporary aristocrats took their joy-rides in: you know—a cage with one seat, draped with bunting or canvass or gold and purple as the case might be, carried from the shoulders of two men. In this case, it was red and white canvass, and you see them perambulating up and down the streets from early morning to about noon. These will come and take you from your bed at any ineonvenient hour in the morning and guarantee to return you thereto provided you are not all boiled away during the treatment. It was a great temptation, but I walked to my indulgences.

"There are other thing that could be said about the baths; in fact some of the inhabitants will talk of nothing else. Everyone is a booster which may be another reason for their popularity. After all, it's all very ordinary, isn't it. A bath is a bath, whether you are naturally cooked or whether you really enjoy it. To me the source of the water was more interesting.

"The heights behind the city rise to several thousand feet. Someone who claims to know has said that water seeping down into the earth increases in temperature one degree for every so many feet: the exact ratio makes little difference: I don't know what it is anyway. The point is that this water falls on the heights and sinks in. When it gets to where we find it it has come far enough to have reached 115 degrees of temperature. And I don't wonder at it, because as far as I could see the entire hill is one solid rock. One could hardly expect icicles or snow flakes to sink thru at all.

"However, the water is conducted thru the side of the cliff to the baths in a more or less modern conduit. This conduit lays in a tunnel several hundred feet in length, which runs back to the Grottos. For ten centimes, or less, if you feel that way about it, you can go into the caves and wander around in the naturally excavated dungeons dripping with sulphur water. There are two, one above the other, of about the same size. In the lower one there is a well said to be eighty metres deep (250 feet) filled with steaming water. The conduit begins here. In the upper chamber can be seen from below the bottom of a well that was drilled from the top of the mountain at the time when engineers attempted to harness the water the first time. It was rather queer, looking at the well from the bottom of it. However it is there and never a drop of water has been obtained from it. The upper chamber seemingly, has been dry a long time. But either the same engineers, or others, persisted, with the result that the tunnel was bored into the side, in an attempt to reach the dry chamber and from there continue to drill for water. But instead of reaching the upper dry chamber, the tunnel struck the lower one which was full of boiling water, with the result that two workmen were swept away with the force of the water and the entire village was flooded. Sometime after that the conduit was built and then followed the baths and then the hotels and Aix-les-Bains took its place in the sun.

"I am a little skeptical about starting anything concerning the ruins of the place. My long suit in history is in the direction of Noplace. It runs in spirals, as it were, twisted, in other words. There is an old arch in the center of the city; an old Roman arch, built on the arch of a circle, and still showing some of the inscriptions, enough of which are legible to the extent that any student could hazard a guess that Pompeius Caesar or his next of kin was largely instrumental in the erection of said edifice. The same student would possibly venture the assertion that it was built in the third century, although that may be

HELP HARVEST FARMERS' CROPS

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, ALL STORES TO CLOSE

Marchants, Clerks and Citizens in General to Devote Entire Day to Help Rural Neighbors

Mayor's Proclamation

"The shortage of farm help, due to the war and so many of the farmers' sons and others usually employed on farms being called to the colors, has brought about a critical situation. It is impossible for the farmers to obtain help in the ordinary way. Unless something is done to help them, thousands of dollars of crops will be lost to them, and to the country. In this crisis, the Business Mens' Association has undertaken to lend aid to farmers, and Chas. E. See has been appointed chairman of a committe to secure und direct help that may be possible to go to the aid of our farmers in this emergency. Boys from the high school will be utilized, but this is not enough. Any man who will aid, is requested to hand in his name to Mr. See at once.

"And on Tuesday, October 15th, every able-bodied man in Charlevoix is asked to enlist in the harvest army that will on that day go out to help in the fields. All business places and offices are requested to close, and everyone is expected to do his duty on this field of honor, as our boys are doing their duty on the bloody fields of France. Let there be no single slacker in the city."—S. M. Rose, Mayor.

The plans adopted by the Commercial Association are as follows: Tuesday, October 15, stores to close and all to help in harvesting crops, making it a point to lend aid to those who are in most need of help. The services of all those who go on this day are to be given gratis.

Farmers in need of help are requested to notify Chas. E. See immediately. On the day mentioned above, Mr. See will detail the volunteers in squads to places where their assistance is most needed. This is done to avoid confusion, and to help those who are actually in need of assistance.

On each suceeding day after Tuesday, October 15, high school boys, in squads of five, in charge of a supervisor, will be sent to those still in need of help. No boys will be asked, nor allowed, to answer a call unless they are under charge of some member of the association or resident of the city.

Farmers will at first notify Mr. See if they desire the services of one or more of these working squads. A supervisor will then be called to accompany them to their field of labor, and also stay with them during the entire day, make all arrangements, and see that satisfactory work is done. The students will be detailed by Supt. Craig, each squad being allowed to spend one day a week at work. It is estimated that three working squads of five boys each can be obtained in this manner each working day of the week.

Farmers desiring the help of these working squads will be asked to comply with the following rules, in regards to remuneration for work accomplished. It must be remembered that for the work done on Tuesday, no charge will be made, but for services of the school working squads, prices for their labor has been fixed by the committee as follows:

Potatoes

Potatoes, running 150 or more bushels per acre, 10 cents per bushel. (bushels means dug and picked up ready for pit or storage.)

Potatoes of less yields than 150 bushels per acre, 30 cents per hour.

Beans

Handling bean crop, either pulling, stacking or forking, 30 cents. per hour.

Turnips, Carrots, Bagas, Onions, etc.

Handling crop 30 cents per hour.

Apples

Picking from tree, 7 1-2 cents per bushel.

Picking up windfalls, 30 cents per hour.

Farmers accepting services as above mentioned will be required to furnish warm dinners for entire squad of workers, and tools to harvest crop.

Working area from Charlevoix: South to county line and north line of South Arm township. East to shores of south arm of Pine Lake and to boundry line of Hayes township.

Further information as to working schedule or time help can be furnished can be obtained from Chas. E. See, phone 98. A. J. Usher, phone 2 f 2, R. C. Hammett, phone 271.

It is the plan of the committee in charge to render aid to all actually in need of assistance. Working under the squad plan, will produce results that could not be obtained under any other method.

DEATH CAME AS GREAT RELIEF

Mrs. J. R. Cooper Had Been Patient Sufferer for Many Months

Death came as a relief to Mrs. J. R. Cooper, Sunday evening, October 6, at the Lockwood hospital, Petoskey, after continuous suffering for a number of months. Since early in the winter her health has been gradually failing, and she had been taken to the hospital with the hope that some relief might be obtained. She continued, however, to fail, death taking place Sunday evening.

Deceased was the wife of J. R. Cooper, and enjoyed the close friendship and confidence of a large circle of acquaintances. Besides her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Hilda McGeagh of Flint, a step-daughter, Mrs. Lela Simmons of this city, a father, W. W. Clow of Central Lake, one sister, Mrs. Wm. O'Brien of Williamsburg, two brothers, H. V. Clow of Grand Rapids and R. L. Clow of Traverse City, are left to mourn their loss.

Deceased was a member of the Rebekah lodge and an active worker in the M. E. church and W. C. T. U.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. from the M. E. church, Rev. Candler, officiating.

LIBERTY LOAN NEARING THE TOP

SEVENTY-FIVE PER CENT OF QUOTA SUBSCRIBED

Response From Entire County Shows That People are Backing Boys With Their Dollars

Charlevoix, as usual, is making good in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive. Up to Monday night $265,100 of the county's quota of $338,000 had been sold. In the Charlevoix district, $75,350 of the quota of $108,000 had been taken.

Of this large amount already taken, not one person has been solicited—every dollars' worth has been taken by voluntary subscription.

The war board are now busy checking off the names of those who have bought voluntarily, also obtaining the names of those who have not as yet taken a bond. It is the intention of the board that all buy voluntarily—if not, other steps will be taken, possibly disagreeable to many. For it is a wide distribution of Liberty Bonds that the government desires. It will show the people are more determined than ever to win the war, that the people have more than ever taken matters in their own hands to provide the finances as well as men, that the people of the United States are united and willing to give their last dollar if necessary to see the war carried through to a successful conclusion. It is this wide distribution of the Liberty Loan that demoralizes Germany and stirs up chaos among the German people and in the ranks of the German army. Were the loan taken by a few wealthy individuals and corporations, its subscription would have no moral effect upon Germany; but for the millions of Americans to shoulder the financial burden removes the last vestige of hope Germany might have had for lack of harmony in America.

AUTO NEARLY WRECKED HEARSE

Costly Accident Occurs Monday at City Dock.

Monday, while the procession was forming at the city dock, near Priest Studio, to convey the remains of Miss Gladys Knight to the M. E. church where funeral services were held, a Maxwell car driven by Harry Belding, in backing down the hill to the dock, crashed into the hearse of S. M. See & Sons, breaking one of the large glass panels and otherwise injuring the hearse.

The accident was purely accidental, the driver misjudging the distance and failing to comprehend the steepness of the hill leading to the dock.

SENATE SPURNS GERMANY'S OFFER

KAISER MUST CAPITULATE BEFORE TRUCE IS ACCEPTED

Misleading Telegraphic Reports Cause People of City to go Wild With Joy.

No, the war is not over, despite the fact of the monster celebration pulled off in this city Sunday afternoon. Just a little premature, but then it illustrated to a certain degree what really will happen when the welcome news of cessation of fighting between the warring nations does occur.

Kaiser Bill and his horde of butchers are sparring for time and waiting for a punch that will make all sit up and take notice. He is squealing hard—feeling the pinch of the allies—but do not think for a minute he is ready for surrender. This will only come when he is licked—licked to a frazzle. And in our estimate the date this will happen is not in the far distance.

There will be no "negottiating" until Hohenzollerism and Prussianism and their works are a thing of the past. Kaiser Bill and his followers, are up against it, not as much as they will be within the next few months, but enough to make them realize that their finish is in sight.

The following is a text of a resolution, introduced in the U. S. senate October 7, which appeals to us and should be the only basis upon which peace should be discussed:

"That there shall be no cessation of hostillities and no armstice until the imperial German government shall disband its armies and surrender its arms and munitions, together with the navy, to the United States and her allies in this war.

"That before any armstice shall be considered, the Imperial German government shall unreservedly consent to the principles of reparation declared as terms of peace by our Allies:

"That it will repay in damages the cost of rebuilding and reconstructing all the cities and villages destroyed by its armies, and restore to fertility the lands devastated by it:

"That it will repay every dollar and the value of all property exacted from the people of any territory invaded by it:

"That it will make proper compensation and allowance for every crime committed by its armies contrary to the laws of warfare and humanity, whether on land or sea;

"That it will return to France, Alsace and Lorraine, and the indemnity exacted from her in 1870;

"And that it further accepts all the conditions laid down by the president in his address of January 8, 1918."

CORRELL-BELDING NUPTIALS WEDNESDAY

Well Known Charlevoix Young People Happily Wed

Married, at the Congregational parsonage, Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, Miss Audrey Correll and H. H. Belding, both of this city. They were attended by Miss Anna Lombard and left immediately after the ceremony for Wequetonsing, to spend the remainder of the week.

Miss Correll has been a teacher in the public school here for the past few years, and will complete her term here this year. Mr. Belding has accepted a position in Pontiac, and leaves this week for that place. Mrs. Belding will join him as soon as the school year is completed and make that city their home.

NEW BOAT ON BEAVER ISLAND RUN

Expected to Take Up Run About November First

The Beaver Island Trasportation Co. purchased a new boat on Wednesday of last week, which they will place on the Charlevoix-Beaver Island route, taking the place of the Irene.

The new boat was purchased of and will be ready for the new route about November 1. She is 89 feet over all and 20 feet beam, and will be in command of Capt. William Fiaucan.

Mrs. Emma Kellner will have a sale of housebold goods Saturday, the 12th at her home 311 Michigan avenue, commencing at 1:00 p. m. 41 tf.

Doe-wah-jack presents the wonderful Round Oak Double Burner

Burn Cheap Fuel--Then Save One-Third Your Coal

Not only buy soft coal, but order just two-thirds of what the ordinary exclusive soft coal heating stove would consume in a season. You can do this every winter, provided your heating stove is a Round Oak Double Burner. In the face of fuel shortage this heater will burn any kind of combustible material, including hard coal, soft coal, coke, wood, or slack, and it lasts a generation.

Your most careful investigation is invited.

The frost of Sunday did considerable damage to the fall crops.

Mr. and Mrs. Newville are suffering from an attack of influenza.

How Epidemics Start

It might seem that epidemics of various diseases were born full-fledged over night. Disease epidemics, however, usually have their source in one or a few isolated cases. Simply because the danger of contagion is not recognized or guarded against, it spreads rapidly.

Many diseases of this character are contracted from the germs which enter the nose or mouth. Danger of infection and the further transmitting of the disease can be largely prevented by the use of an antiseptic gargle or nose spray made by dissolving two tablespoons full of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric in a pint of hot water. An excellent gargle for a sore throat, often the first symptom of approaching illness, is made by dissolving one teaspoonful each of salt and Boric in a pint of hot water.

Your druggist sells 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric.

Edward Dunlap attended the board meeting at Mr. Flanders' on Saturday.

The Misses Beryl and Dorothy McDonald were home during the institute.

Lyle Wilson and son Jim, attended the Liberty Loan speech in Boyne Sunday.

Word was received that Robert Frey is taken as a prisoner by the Germans.

The Jardine and Knudson families were entertained at the John Nasson home Sunday last.

Eight Thrift stamps were earned by the school children as prizes for exhibits at the fair.

No school after Tuesday, on account of Miss LaLonde attending the institute at Charlevoix.

The work on Mr. Duncan McDonald's cobble stone house is progressing rapidly; when done he will have a fine residence.

CLARION

Ralph Schlemmer of Dollarvile is in town for a few days.

Wm. Clark, Jr., of Boyne Falls is visiting at the home of his brother, Lynn Clark.

Rev. Samuel Brooks of Boyne Falls preached here at the Methodist church on Sundny morning.

Rev. J. H. Bright of Union, Ohio, a foreign missionary, gave a very interesting talk Wednesday evening on his travels in China.

Little Gerald Dodgson was quite badly hurt Saturday, when one of his playmates threw a broken ball bat; hitting him above the eye.

Mrs. Frank Hime, who had been visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Sayer of Onnway, returned home Sunday.

A pumpkin pie supper, held at the home of George Lee, was very well attended. The proceeds were for the benefit of Melrose Grange.

HAYES

Leo Pant is on the sick list.

Mr. Frank Kane and Otto are on the sick list.

Rev. George Weaver and wife, visited at the home of the Mr. and Mrs. Pant Monday afternoon.

What Could be More Timely

"It was only a little river, almost a brook; it was called the Yser. One could talk from one side to the other without raising one's voice, and birds could fly over it with one sweep of their wings. And on the two banks there were millions of men, the one turning toward the other, eye to eye. But the distance which separated them was greater than the stars in the sky; it was the distance which separates right from injustice.

"The ocean is so vast that the seagulls do not dare cross it. During seven days and seven nights the great steamships of America, going at full speed drive through the deep waters before the lighthouses of France come into view; but from one side to the other the hearts are touching."—From the essay of a French schoolboy.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, which mortgage was given by Peter Rush and Ida R. Rush, his wife, to Helen J. Pulcipher which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, April 21st, 1915 in Liber fifty-six of mortgages on page forty; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Five Hundred fifty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and a further sum of fifty-three dollars and nine cents taxes paid on the property described in said mortgage by Helen J. Pulcipher, together with an attorney fee as provided by statute, and no suit or proceedings at law have been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; and whereas the tax required by the statutes to be paid on said mortgage was duly paid prior to the recording thereof;

Now therefore, notice is given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statutes made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount then due thereon of principal and interest together with the amounts paid for taxes, costs and expenses of the foreclosure, including the attorney fee provided by statute, at public auction to the higher bidder therefore at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix (that being the place where the Circuit court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 14th day of December, 1918 at ten o'clock in the forenoon on that day. The premises described in said mortgage being herein described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at the northeast corner of Lot One in section seventeen, township thirty-four north of range seven west; thence west on the Quarter line of said section forty rods; thence south to the center of Emmet and Grand Traverse State road it being one hundred rods; thence east along the center of said road to the center line; thence north on said second line ninety-six rods to the place of beginning, being a part of Government Lot one of said section seventeen and containing twenty-four and one-half acres of land more or less.

Dated September 7th, 1918.

Here's Your Opportunity to Help Save the Limited Coal Supply

Bake With Heat Now Lost Up the Chimney

This remarkable range takes advantage of Nature's law for heat to rise and thus the High Oven saves and bakes with the "waste or chimney heat" of the common type range. Note that the two oven flues start at the place where the smoke flue is connected to the chimney on other ranges. Why let half your fuel money fly up the chimney? You can easily save 1-3 to 1-2 in fuel bills and do away with one of your heating stoves with the efficient

WHINING AT THE INEVITABLE.

The Kaiser is preparing for the inevitable. He sees the end. He is making ready for defeat.

Last May he saw victory and profit hand in hand as ha said:

"God will help us to fight on victoriously, and to force our foes to conciuda a peace which will be a scource of glory and profit to Germany and her allies."

Speaking at the Krupp works in Essen a day or two ago. he did not mention any present or expected assistance from Heaven, but devoted himself to a whining complaint that while he asked for peace he could get no one to listen.

The glowing boasts of a few months ago have disappeared. The arroganee of the conqueror was no longer in evidence as he said to his Essen audienee:

"To make peace two are needed. If either is willing, the other cannot, presuming that he does not overthrow the other. Thus we are confronted with the enemy's absolute will to destruction, and against this absolute will to destruction we must place our absolute will to existence.

"Even though in the opinion of many among you it is lasting too long, every German man and every German woman must in witnessing these incomparable heroic deeds of our army and our navy, be aware that we are fighting and struggling for existence, and that we must make the utmost effort to defend ourselves victoriously."

In the great headquarters, where the Kaiser and Ludendorff and Hindenburg gather, there hangs a map. In it are stuck multi-colored pins. On it are crooked, wiggly lines.

As the three chief assassins of all history look at it the pins and lines tell them these facts:

An allied army advancing in the north of Russia.

Another allied army gathering at Vladivostok.

British soldiers victoriously marching through Mesopotamia.

More British soldiers in Jerusalem.

An Italian army stretching from Venice to the Alps.

A Greek and allied force dominant in Saloniki.

An onward marching allied army that stretches from the Channel to the Swiss frontier.

A fleet useless and impotent in the North Sea.

A failing submarine endeavor and a withering force in the air.

And worst of all, perhaps not on the maps, but always in their minds, sailing across the Atlantic the never ending armies of American, whose courage they already know and whose power they already dread.

Those are the reasons why the Kaiser turns from war to peace why he is whining instead of boasting.

"To make peace two are needed," says the war lord.

To enforce peace may be accomplished by one.

To that enforcement America and her allies are bending every effort, with ears closed and eyes shut to every form of force or propoganda that is intended to delay the certain and complete accomplishment of the task.

Delightful Luncheon

A delightful luncheon was given Tuesday evening, by Mrs. A. Buttars in honor of Mrs. E. F. Parmalee, of San Diego, California, who has been visiting at her home since the latter part of August. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE WELFARE HOUSE

Now Established for Use of All Allied Forces

On Aug. 1, as already announced in a cable dispatch to The Christian Science Monitor, the Christian Science Welfare House, for the use of the allied forces, was opened at 112 Eaton Square, London S. W. 1. Week after week fresh contingents are being added to the vast American Army already transported accross the Atlantic; consequently thousands of soldiers and sailors now find a temporary home in the little island from which their forefathers set sail in quest of Liberty three centuries ago. The Welfare House is primarily intended for the convenience of the officers and men of the United States Army and Navy who are interested in Christian Science but a welcome will also be extended to any sailor or soldier who desires to come.

The Christian Science Welfare House is situated in a convenient center, close to the American Embassy and the busy thoroughfare around Victoria station various bus routes pass close by, and tube and and underground railway are easily and quickly reached, but the creeper-clad house itself stands in a wide, sunny square, where spreading plane trees cast a cool shade in the long, hot summer days.

The house is designed to help and befriend in every way the men of the allied forces. It is actuated by the desire to do everything to make the men feel as much at home as possible. The reception rooms, it is hoped, will provide an accessible place where friends can meet, while for the convenience of men an information bureau will be open from 10:00 a. m. till 6:00 p. m., and a register will be kept of the addresses of those who let rooms or take in boarders. The bureau will also be prepared to make arrangements for those officers or men on leave who wish to spend a quiet time in the country, while for those anxious to see something of the sights of London expeditions to interesting parts of the city, including picture galleries and museums, will be planned, and the bureau will always be ready with the names of hosts and hostesses willing to invite officers and men singly or in small parties, to their houses, so that all who desire may share the social intercourse that can only be enjoyed in the midst of home life.

The Christian Science Welfare House, too has reading and writing rooms, in the quiet of which the men can make themselves at home with their books and papers, or can sit and write their letters undisturbed. A certain number of bedrooms will also be available at the Welfare House, to provide sleeping accommodation, at a reasonable price for men staying in London, and breakfast will be provided at a moderate charge.—The Christian Science Monitor.

MARRIED TUESDAY AT HOME OF BRIDE

Henry Richardi Wedded to Prominent Lansing Doctor

The marriage of Henry Richardi and Dr. Gertrude Jones, of Lansing, will come as a surprise to many of their friends in Bellaire and throughout the state.

Mr. Richardi has been prominent in the history of Bellaire as a member of the firm of Richardi & Betchtold, interested in the manufacture of woodenware and novelties as well as owner of a manufacturing plant. He was the principal stockholder in the Hydraulic Light and Power Company, the property of which has been purchased by the city of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Jones, a practicing physician in Lansing and a capable business woman gives up an extensive practice to become Mrs. Richardi.

The wedding took place Tuesday evening in Lansing and it is understood that they will make their home in Bellaire.—Bellaire Independent.

PEOPLE SHOULD HEAR SPEAKER

State President of W. C. T. U. to Give Address.

At the Thursday evening session of the W. C. T. U. convention, held at the Congregational church on Thursday and Friday of this week, a speaker of special note will speak.

State President Mrs. E. N. Calkins will address the convention, and her discourse will be well worth hearing. Residents of Charlevoix are urged to make a special effort to attend on this date, as an address of real interest to all will be given.

Another Blow at the Kaiser

The Kaiser was given another rap last Sunday, when the M. E. Sunday school class subscribed for a $100. Liberty Loan Bond.

HELP TO CHECK SPREAD OF "FLU"

HOUSEHOLDERS ASKED TO DO THEIR PART

Should Report First Symptoms of Disease to Health Officer—Situation Critical

In order to check the spread of Spanish Influenza tha state board of health has notified every physician in the state to report promptly to the local health officer all cases of influenza, as well as other contagious diseases. Coordinating with these letters the local health officers have been instructed to rigidly enforce tha ruling, and require individuals as well aa physicians to report all forms of contagious diseases to their respective health officer.

Dr. R. B. Armstrong, health officer for Charlevoix, also has received the following order from the state board of health, asking that cases of communicable diseases that have hitherto been regarded as of minor consequence, be reported, and he announces that all persons as well as physicians will be held responsible for failure to do so.

Following is the letter:

To the Health Officer:

We are again compelled to again seek the cooperation of the health officers of this state in the reporting of communicable diseases.

The minor diseases, such as mumps, measles, scarlet fever, chicken pox, German measles, etc. are among the most dangerous communicable diseases, but thousands of cases go unreported each year. These are costing the United States government vast sums of money annually and tend to decrease the efficiency of the national army.

The state board of health has been requested by the division surgeon to make a vigorous campaign for the reporting of all these minor diseases, in order that they may be kept under control. A single case of communicable disease without supervision might be the cause of an outbreak that would greatly reduce the efficiency of the men who are soon to go to the front. Recruita are now flocking to the training camps, and to bring any one of these minor diseases into ona of these camps might cause exeeedingly disastrous results.

Every physician in the state has been notified to make prompt reports to the health officer of each and every case of communicable disease that may come to his notice. Health officers must realize, however, that n grave responsibility rests upon them in obtaining a full and complete report of each case from the physician, or from the householder, in case no physician is called.

It is unneeessary for us to quote you the law governing the reporting of communicable diseases. You know what it is. Instead, we are appealing to your patriotic sense of duty, and feel sure that you will be ready and willing to do your bit to assist us in this campaign. Yours very respeetfully.—R. M. Olin, secretary.

Spent Enjoyable Evening

Last Friday evening a number of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lemieur's friends called on them, taking their supper with them. The evening was spent playing cards, and the floors were also cleared for a dance. John Macey furnished the music.

The supper was served late in the evening, to which all done justice, and declared that it would not be long before they would repeat the surprise on some other member of the crowd.

New Dresses for Early Fall Wear

In splte of the advancing market, we are offering these splendid frocks at prices that will surprisingly please you.

The figures are really based on calculations of months ago, when fine blue serge that then cost the makers $3.70 a yard, today is over $1.00 more.

You reap the benefit of this saving, but we advise you to MAKE AN EARLY INSPECTION of these garments, because the quantities are limited and the values cannot be replaced in All-woolen materials this Fall.

The best of makers sent in these dresses only a few days ago, and were we to reorder them it could be only on the basis of selling them for from $4.00 to $6.00 more.

Insure Your Business Against Prussian Piracy

Buy a "Liberty" Policy

You have fire insurance—life and accident insurance—indemnity insurance—to safeguard your business.

But there are other policies you must have for your own protection—policies of insurance against the Kaiser, whose power is the greatest peril and the greatest force of destruction in the world today.

Liberty Bonds Are the Best Policy

Every Liberty Bond you buy is a policy of insurance against the destruction of your freedom, your happiness, your home, and your livlihood. You cannot have too much of that kind of insurance. France and Belgium and Serbia and Poland show what Prussian militarism would do to the United States if we should fail to crush it.

COMMUNITY SINGING IS PLANNED

Rev. C. E. Taggart to Act as Leader—People Urged to Join.

The government department which has been conducting the "4 minute men" as a means of distributing information to the people in the picture theatres, has reeently added the feature of "community" singing. Slides with the popular patriotic songs are thrown on the screen, and the audience is urged to join in singing, led by some competent person.

Here in Charlevoix the chairman of the 4-minute-men has secured the consent of Rev. C. E. Taggart to act as leader and thus the latest patriotic movement has been placed under his direction. "The 4-minute-singing" will be inaugerated at the Majestic Theatre this week, and patrons are urged to give their hearty support to Mr. Taggart and join in the singing with heart and soul as well as voice. A singing army is invincible, and a singing nation is unconquerable. "Everybody sing!" —Will E. Hampton, Chairman 4-minute-men.

HELPED CELEBRATE HER BIRTHDAY

Friends Surprise Mrs. H. C. Plum and Greatly Enjoy Ocassion.

Saturday, October 5 being Mrs. H. C. Plum's birthday, 15 ladies walked in to remind her of it, not forgetting to bring along all kinds of good things to eat. Mrs. Dutcher, who had planned the surprise, set the table in the dining room which certainly did not look like "Hooverizing" but which would have tempted even Hoover himself.

Visiting and a general gond time was the program of the ocassion, after which all returned home wishing Mrs. Plum many happy returns of the day.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

Had Long Suffered From Serious Malady.

Funeral services were held from the Bush home Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, interment in Brookside cemetery.

Married By Justice Felts

Miss Grace Weldy and Karl Heller both of East Jordan were married Wednesday, October 2 by Justice Felts. They were attended by Mary and Edward Weldy of East Jordan. A wedding supper was served at the home of John Heller, father of the groom. The young couple have many friends in Charlevoix and East Jordan that wish them a long life of happiness.

Germany might restore Belgium says vice chancellor von Payer. "Might"? She must. Von, old top, this is to be a dictated peace and Germany is to be the dictatee.

Corset Value

Just another way of saying Warner's Rust-proof corsets. For they represent real value.

They are popular priced—but they fit comfortably, shape fashionably, and wear exceptionally well. In fact, they are guaranteed not to rust, break or tear.

The thin double boning is wonderfully pliant, yet has more strength than a single steel of equal weight. You appreciate this when you wear a Warner's.

May we offer our assistance in selecting the style you should wear at the price you want to pay.

CITIZENS GREET SERG'T. CHELLES

ENTIRE TOWN TURNS OUT TO EXTEND WELCOME

Fitting Tribute Paid to One Who Has Displayed Extraordinary Courage on Battle Field

Ellsworth citizens turned out en-masse on Thuredey afternoon of last week and were at the depot to meet tha P. M. train due here at 3:53.

The occasion wae the arrival of Sergt. W. L. (Ren) Chelles fresh from service st the front with Hdq. Co., of the 125th Inf., over sess. Sergt. Chellis' home coming was considerable of a surprlea as no word had been received by his parents until nearly noon of the day of hie arrival, when a telegram from Detroit announcing his intentions was received by them.

Rev. C. W. Hewitt took charge of affairs and organized a sort of reeeption committee of which ninety five per cent of the inhabitants of the village were active members and "Ren" received the surprise of his life when he stepped from the train and saw the reception which had been planned for him.

Sergt. Chellis, who has been at the front since the Germans were turned back at Chateau Thierry, was relieved from active service with his company on September 11 and sailed for the U. S. on September 16, under orders to report to Camp Beaurgard, La., as instructor there in the intelligence service, he having been in that work ever since his arrival in France. He will be at his home here until Saturday of this week, when he will leave for his new post. He expects however to be in France again by Christmas.

Ren is modest and has little to say as to his own experience with Uncle Sam's fighting men, but the fact that he has been recommended for a distinguished service medal proves that he has been in the thick of the affair and has been doing his duty.

Sergt. Chellis saw several of the hoye from this section of the country beforo he sailed and reports them as feeling fine and expreseing themselves as being in the fight to a finish. He has been gassed elightly on two occaslons and had his canteen punctured by a bullet from a Boche machine gun, but thinks and says that it is the greatest game in the world and is more than unxinus to complete his work on this sida and get back across to be in at the finish, which in his estimation will be some time late next year.

Ren will be at home all of this week and is doing his best to explain conditions in France to those interested and you can imagine that he is busy from morning till night.

The following item referring to Sergt. Chelles is taken from the G. R. Press under date of October 5.

"Washington, Oct. 4—Among the boys nwarded the distinguished service cross for acts of gallantry is Sergeant Walter L. Chelles, son of E. J. Chelles of Ellsworth, Mich. The official communique has this to say of his work:

"Displayed extraordinary heroism in action near Fismes, between the Ourc and Vesles rivers, France, July 31 to Aug. 6. He displayed exceptional courage and skill in maintaining observation posts under heavy artillery fire. On his own initiative, accompanied only by his brother, he reconnoitered the advanced positions of his brigade, passing through three heavily shelled areas, subject also to the fire of the enemy snipers and machine gunners, obtaining information of great importance."

CORROBATION

Of Interest to Charlevoix Readers

For months Charlevoix citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Charlevoix residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Charlevoix reader.

Mrs. John Cook, 307 Mason street, Charlevoix, gave the following statement in October 1911: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for kidney disorder and backache and they have always given me splendid results."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Cook, added: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble and I have had no occasion to use a kidney medicine since. I am always ready to say a good word for Doan's kidney Pills."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy---get Doan's kidney Pills---the same that that Mrs. Cook had Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Subscriptions Must Be Paid

Have you looked up your subscription account to the Courier? Did you read our article in last week's Courier regarding it? Uncle Sam says that we cannot send you your Courier if you are not paid in ADVANCE. All other papers have been placed under the same ruling. WE MUST COMPLY WITH THIS ORDER. There is no other way out of it. If you want your Courier every week, you MUST pay your subscription AT ONCE.

Last week we announced that all must be paid by October 1. To accommodate YOU and MANY OTHERS, we have made arrangements to extend the time limit to OCTOBER 12—Saturday, October 12. Remember, this is done to accommodate those who were unable to pay by October 1, or those who did not fully understand the order.

We have made arrangements with the Citizens' Bank and A. L. Ely, to represent us and receive subscriptions from all who want to help us in complying with the orders we are under.

People in the vicinity of Atwood can pay at the store of Henry Klooster. You will receive your receeipt just the same as if you paid at this office.

Watch for the blue pencil mark on the first page. If one is there, call at either of the above places and pay what you owe, and then you can renew for one year at the old subscription rate, $1.50. If you do not do this, your paper will be STOPPED. We cannot do otherwise. Pay up and help us meet Uncle Sam's orders.

DIED IN FRANCE OF PNEUMONIA

Clinton B. Sedgman Was Well Known In Ellsworth and Vicinity

Mrs. William Cole of this place received a telegram late Monday night announcing the sad news of the death in France of her brother, Clinton B. Sedgman.

Clinton or "Nip" as he was commonly known, enlisted in May of this year and has been in France since the latter part of June. He went over seas as a member of Co. E, 338th Inf., but was recently transferred to the 18th Inf. of which section he was a member at the time of his death, which occured September 20, from pneumonia.

Deceased was well known here and at East Jordan, where he formerly resided and his family have the deepest sympathy of all.

POTATO GROWERS AND FARMERS

All Urged to Select Seed While Harvesting Crops

To the potato growers and farmers who have corn which will make seed for 1919.

Potato digging is here and the man who is going to plant the seed which he is raising this year for his crop next, should hill select the potatoes he intends to plant. This hill selection is done by throwing the very best hills out to one side or in the off row and picking them up separately and keeping them for seed.

Only select the high yielding hill of uniform type. By this kind of selection I have known of men raising their yield from 150 bushels per acre to 425 bushels per acre In four years.

Take care of every ear of seed corn which you have which will grow next year. Only one third of the farmers in northern Michigan have seed corn this year and the others will have to buy, and they will surely want your northern grown corn. Keep every ear and if you do not have a chance to sell quite all of it remember that the man who had two year old corn last spring was in great luck.

We are advising all to save a two years supply as the only safe system for this part of the state.

Special Meeting

Beginning October 11, at the Apostolic Holiness church of Ellsworth, Rev. P. F. Elliot of Lansing, Mich., will be the Evangelist.

Best For Washing Sweaters

YOU take no chances when you wash sweaters with 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips. They cleanse perfectly and without injury because pure Borax and pure soap are the only ingredients in

20 MULE TEAM BORAX SOAP CHIPS

Sweaters washed in a luke-warm solution of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips will not shrink. They will be soft, fluffy, and hygienically cleaned because the Borax purifies them of odors and dirt which woolens absorb so readily.

To get best results make a soap jelly by dissolving three tablespoonfuls of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips in a quart of boiling water and add to wash water. After cleansing, rinse sweater in warm water, pull out, shake thoroughly and dry in sun or air. An 8 oz. package of 20 Mule Borax Soap Chips equals 25c worth of ordinary laundry soap.

It's the Borax with the soap that does the work

SHAPTON DEATH OFFICIALLY VERIFIED

Parents Received Word From Government Officials

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Shapton received official notice last week from government officials at Washington of the death of their son, Leslie, notice of which was made in the Courier several weeks ago.

From the information received, Leslie met his death in the fighting on the Marne July 18. July 21 he was reported missing, and up to the present time no information had been received by the bereaved parents and friends concerning him.

PRESIDENTS PLEA FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Extracts From His Recent Appeal to Senate.

It is my duty to win the war, and to ask you to remove every obstacle that stands in the way of winning it. I tell you plainly that this measure which I urge upon you is vital to the winning of the war, and to the onergies alike of prepsration and of battle. Not to the winning of the war only, it is vital to the right solution of the great problems which we must settle, and settle immediately when the war is over.

If we reject a measure like this in ignorant defiance of what a new age has brought forth, of what the other nations have seen, but we have not, they will cease to believe in us, they will cease to follow or trust us. They have seen their own governments, accept this interpretation of democracy, seen the old governments like that of Great Britain which did not profess to be democratic, promise readily, and as of course, this justice to women, though they had before refused it. Are we alone to refuse to learn the lesson? We have made partners of the women in this war; shall we admit them only to n partnership of suffering and sacrifice and toil, and not a partnership of privilege and right? There is and can be no party issues involved in it. Both of our great national parties are pledged explicitly of equal suffrage for the women of the country.

The executive tasks of this war rest upon me. I ask that you lighten them and place in my hands instruments, spiritual instruments, which I do not now possess, which I sorely need, and which I have daily to apologize for not being able to employ.

The legislature of Michigan had brought this amendment up to be voted on November 5.

HOLDS RESPONSIBLE RAILROAD POSITION

Wife of Ranney Bacot Operates Switches on Michigan Central

The following news item, clipped from the Plymouth Mail under date of September 27, will be of interest to a number of Charlevoix people:

"Mrs. Thos. Ranney Bacot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Felts of this place, who has been acting as mail carier in Detroit, for the past few weeks, has given up that work and has taken another government position. Mrs. Bacot is now working in the 29th street tower in that city, and has charge of the levers which operate the switches and signals of the Michigan Central Railroad, a position of responsibility and trust. Mr. Bacot is also working for Uncle Sam and has gone over seas. In a letter received from him a few days ago, he said he was cooking for twelve officers and that Sergeant Harry Brown of this place was among that number."

Thos. (Ranney) Bacot is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bacot of this city, and is now, as stated above, with the over seas contingent. The item in a great measure brings one to realize the important work now being done by women during the present war crisis. Miss Eva Cram, a near relative of the Bacots, and well known in Charlevoix, is now on her way to France, a nurse in the Red Cross.

Arrived Safe Overseas

According to a card received by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hart, last week from their son, Loren, he had arrived safely overseas and would soon be hard at work on French soil. The card also stated that just prior to sailing, he had been transferred from the work he had been engaged in to the Motor Transport Repair Unit 308, work similar to that he had been doing, but of more importance.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

a hundred years too soon. But, anyway, it is really a beatiful arch; about twenty-five feet in height and some eighteen feet wide. One of the latter princes of Savoi' used it as an entrance to his estate. A peculiar thing, and one hard to deserlbe, is the manner in which the pile of stones so symetrically laid one upon the other holds the attention of a person. It must be simply the beauty of the thing. One just naturally becomes a lover of art all unconsciously.

"Near the arch are the remains of a Roman Temple, which later French builders have almost succeeded in hiding from the curious eyes of romance seeking Americans. A portion of one of the walls is about all that remains visible. Great stones, squared and placed without the use of mortar, are there to show the remarkable workmanship of the early buildors. The building of which this wall is a part, is the Hotel de Ville, (city hall) the larger part of which was built in or after the twelfth century. The stairs in this building is also a masterpiece of workmanship. Low and winding, massive, the walls could fall and the stairs could still stand intact.

"In another old structure, now being used as a hotel, are the ruins of an old Roman bath. The location of them is so obscure and poor lighting system made the finding of them and the examination of them very difficult. However, sometime between the third and twelfth centuries some gay old Roman built them out of brick and they still exist. The details were so hard to see, that really the most striking thing about them is the brick. Man made brick lying in all that dampness for fifteen hundred years, or only six hundred years, speaks pretty well for their ability to make vitrified brick.

"Just to get back to today by the shortest possible route, we'll step across the street to an art store and take a look at a pair of blue frogs. Real, live, uncolored, honest to goodness blue frogs, native of France, ought to be about as exhilirating as Diana's temple, and in Aix they are one of the attractions.

"Well, I must clean up and be ready for dinner. It's dinner tonight, not 'chow'. A second lieutenant that I knew in school is on this post and he and I are dining out tonight.

"We ask to be remembered to everyone and tender our best regards. We hope that all continues well with you, one and all, and that the coming of the fall, which will be with you when this arrives, will find you looking at the oncoming frozen months with some feeling of satisfaction that you are ready for it. We can't but feel n little anxious about the fuel situation, because that is the thing that grips the tightest when it grips. We certainly hope that you are all 'set', and that the good health and spirit may continue to prevail.

"You might ask Leo what he intends to do about answering my letter, and have him tell me if he is getting the Stars and Stripes. With love to all, I am,—Leff.

Wool Clothing for Winter Wear

When we say wool, we mean real wool—stock that was bought early in the season before the general shortage of wool, and not part cotton. We placed our order early for the stock we now have. It was a fortunate buy, for today we could not buy from the manufacturer what we have displayed on our counters. We have for both boys and men. The stock covers a field of weights and quality, and you will find just what you need here. We have prepared for the fall trade for many years, and our line of goods have always given the very best of satisfaction. No shoddy goods—but garments that will give service at prices that will surprise you, considering the high price of all wool garments at the present time.

Mackinaws, Sweaters, Rain Coats, Heavy Pants, Overalls, Socks, Gloves, Mittens, Underwear, Work Shirts, Wool Shirts, Heavy Wool Pants

FIRST MEETING OF 13TH YEAR

HELD BY SHAKESPEARE STUDY CLUB OCTOBER 14

Interesting Talk Given by Mrs. Mary E. Craigie of Washington, D. C.—Meetings Postponed

The Shakespeare Study Club held the first meeting of their thirteenth year on Monday, October 14 at the home of Mrs. H. S. Harsha. If this meeting was to show the quality of what the rest will be throughout the year, the club will have no cause for superstitions regarding No. 13.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president of 1916-1917, Mrs. A. F. Bridge. Members responded to roll call with quotations from Hamlet.

Mrs. Jennie E. Crouter and Mrs. F. W. Mayne, who were elected president and secretary, respectively, at the last meeting of the club, resigned these offices because they will be absent from town during the winter. Mrs. Harsha and Mrs. A. A. Swinton were elected to fill the vacancies.

Mrs. Harsha then took the presidents' chair and introduced Mrs. Mary E. Craigie of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Craigie, who is a persuasive and interesting speaker, came here in the cause of Woman Suffrage, but was unable to hold a meeting on account of the quarantine. She has been a teacher of Shakespeare and is an enthusiastic Shapespeare club worker. She is one of the founders of a national federation of Shakespeare clubs. Beginning with last year meetings will be held in April of each year at Washington. One object of this federation is to build a Shakespeare memorial hall similar to the one in Stratford-on-Avon, where the drama can be taught and Shakespearean plays acted; with a complete Shakospenre library and club rooms. The Charlevoix club will take action to join the federation hoping, sometime to have a representative delegate.

Mrs. Craigie's talk on Shakespeare club work and its growing popularity throughout the country gave the members renewed energy and encouragement to continue the study of this work, that, as Ben Jonson truly said, "is not for wage, but for all time."

The hostess then invited the ladies to the dining room where covers were artistically laid and with the assistance of Vice President Mrs. E A. Young and Miss Catherine Harsha, a delicious tea was served.

On account of the qusrantine the time and place for the next meeting was unassigned.

LECTURE COURSE NUMBER CANCELED

No Public Meating Until Quarantine Is Liftad.

The opening number of the Citizens' Lecture Course, the Merrilees Entertainers, booked for Tuesday evening, October 22, has been cancelled on account of the influenza epidemic and consequent quarantine now in operation in the city and state.

The number, which is considered to be one of the best on the course, may be booked at a later date, announcement of which will be made in these columns.

PNEUMONIA TAKES TOMMY NOWLAND

Died Last Friday at Home Of Parents in Echo Township

Thomas Russel Nowland, better known around Charlevoix as "little Tommy" passed away at the home of his parents in Echo, October 11, death being caused from pneumonia.

Tommy was born in Charlevoix, November 22, 1899, and lived here with his parents until about a year ago when they moved to their present home in Echo. Deceased had been in poor health for about a year, and was not strong enough to battle the dread disease that took him.

He leaves to mourn their loss, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Nowland, three sisters, Mrs. Fred Lanway of East Jordan, Mrs. Ray Dorrance of Mackinaw City and Alba who resides at home, besides a number of other relatives and friends who will miss him.

Funeral services were held from the grave Sunday afternoon at 2:30, on account of the churches being closed, Rev. Taggart officiating.

SMALL LOSS IN FRIDAY'S FIRE

BLAZE STARTS IN REAR ROOM OF BARBER SHOP

Contents of Both Buildings Removed With But Little Damage —Covered by Insurance

Fire originating in the rear room of Pearl & Pearl's barber shop, near the hot water heater, started a blaze between eight and nine o'clock last Friday evening, that for a while threatened the destruction of not only the building occupied by the barber shop, but also that next door north occupied by the Adams Express Co.

The blaze had gained considerable headway when first discovered, and had it been later in the evening, there is no doubt that both buildings would have been totally destroyed.

As soon as the alarm sounded, a crowd gathered and in a short time the barber shop equipment was removed, as was also that of the express office. The fire department soon had the fire under control.

Pearl & Pearl report their loss around $300.00, principally composed of their stock of barber supplies stored in the room where the fire originated. Their barber chairs, mirrors and front room equipment was removed with but little damage.

The loss to the Express company will amount to about a hundred dollars, according to the figures given by R. A. Emrey, local agent. This loss was on account of breakage of express packages, apoilage by water of shipping blanks, etc.

The express company opened for business the following morning in the building formerly occupied by the Mears pool room, and is now being removed to the Merriam building, south of the Ayers block, where it will be permanently located.

Pearl & Pearl will not re-open their shop during the winter months, but have affillated themselves with Sam Rose, and will be found at the shop in the I. O. O. F. building.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Serg't. Don V. Paradise Decorated by General Pershing for Bravery on Field of Battle—Emil Nasson Tells of Trip Overseas to France.

Sergeant Don. V. Paradise, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Parsdise, is the only one of the Detroit boys left who enlisted with him. He writes to his parents a thrilling description of the big battle of the Marne, in which he acted as runner, carrying messages between companies and batallions. Knocked down by shell concussion and caught in machine gun fire, his escape seems truly miraculous. Don went to school in Charlevoix in 1911, and will be remembered by many. He has sent home a shoulder strap taken from one of the Crown Prince's soldiers that he buried. Since the above letter was written, he has been decorated for bravery by General Pershing.

"I have had a seven-page letter in my pocket for two weeks waiting until I could get it through the censor, but now it is ancient history, so I guess I will have to write a new one. I wrote as often as possible but could not say much while in the front lines. I have so much to tell that I guess I will have to make my letters a sort of a serial.

"To begin with, I can surely thank God that I am back this far, safe and sound. Your prayers were surely answered. As I look back on the close calls I had I wender how I ever pulled through. Believe me, the the boys all learn to pray. Those who used to scoff at religion are more serious now and I only hope that we all will continue to feel that way. I never prayed to be spared, but for forgiveness and in thanks for the care taken over me. We all realize how dear our country, our homes and our lives are as we never did before and we also realize that it must be nothing but victory for us.

"Well I will try and tell you some about our doings for the last month and half. We were at the front from March 17 until May 13. Then we moved back miles inland and took up intensive open warfare drill. On May 30 we loaded into French trucks and rode for one day and night. At first we had no idea of where we were bound for, but when we passed along lines of refugees we were soon hep and were glad, as it was a piaiful sight.

"We were unloaded on the morning of June 1st, rested about five hours, loaded into trucks again and were soen at the front. We unloaded beside a French battery which had just drawn off the road and opened fire. We deployed at once into skirmish line and moved up to reinforce the worn out French who had dropped back five kilometers that day. The Boche had advanced so fast that they had very little artillery with them, so we got into line without any casualties. But they were still coming on. We could see them advancing across the open fields. The French said we could not hold them, but our artillery and machine gun fire soen set them digging in. That night the French pulled out and left us holding that line. We held there for five days and on the sixth our forces consolidated and we drove the enemy back from one to three kilometers.

"We went over the top with hardly any artilltry preparation except back of their lines. The boys went over with cheers and there was no stopping them. The Boche held their lines mostly with machine guns and did terrible work, but we have the satisfaction of knowing they received worse than we did as our artillery mowed down their reserves. One of our regiments was completely wiped out. Some of our objectives were not taken until the middle of the month as the Boches were well fortified in rocks and woods.

"The ——th company made an attack on a machine gun nest and lost very heavily. It was a mean place on the crest of a heavily wooded field. They were unsuccessful and the place was not taken until our artillery had nearly leveled it. One company, after losing their captain, captured a village. There were twenty-four men men and one lieutenant who first got into town and they killed, wounded and drove all the Boche out. I was about a hundred yards from them as they dashed through the machine gun fire and it was a wonderful sight.

"Before we went to the front one sergeant and two privates were chosen as 'liaison,' or runners, between the companies and battalions. I was chosen from our company. That is the only means of communication they have between company and battalion majors. The major advanced with his headquarters just back of the right of his line. The ——th company was acting as support of another battalion on our left. My two runners became lost and I carried all the messages through the battle all that night. I did not get my men back until the next morning. I was knocked down by shell concussion and caught in machine gun fire several times, but managed to pull through safely. We were in the front line for sixteen days without any relief and when we did go back it was only into reserve for six days when we came back to the line again. We pulled out this last time on the night of July 4.

"I am the only Sergeant left in our first platoon that is of the old bunch. Of course we have all new ones now. I am also the only one of the Detroit boys left who enlisted with me and who were in the ——th company. Huey, Matimore and Mun were all wounded.

"Poor old Pat O'Kelley was the hardest blow to me. He died as he lived, brave and fearless. He died leading his section in a charge on the machine gun nest.

"I started this lettar on the 11th, but did not finish. Since then we have moved and I will try and add a few more lines. We did not move far but are getting a little rest and a chance to clean up, which sure means a whole lot as all of us had cootles and had not had a chance to get a real bath. For a month and four days we did not have our clothes off—not even our shoes, except to rub our feet and wash them with a cantoen of water. But most of the time it was hard even to get drinking water. We slept on the ground and in holes all the time. When we went into the line there were no trenches and everyone had to dig in under fire and each time we made an attack it was the same way. So we have all learned the value of the shovel and pick in a way that will well be remembered. I know of some men who dug in with mess spoon and bare hands. The weather has been fine—we were lucky in that way, for a good cold rain would have sure made it miserable for us.

"Our brigade was cited and some time in the future we will have our colors decorated. Each regiment was cited twice also, but whether we get the French shoulder cord I do not know as yet.

"Our officers were wonderful. Without their brave leadership we could not have made such a name. We lost many of them but their places have been filled by men who showed leadership and courage in the field of battle, many of them being sworn in while atill in the front lines. O'Kelley had passed examination for officer's training school just a few days before we left for the front. He was surely a wonderful fellow and I miss him more now that we are back resting. His last words were, "Come on, men, get them out of there," as he led his section forward into the machine gun nest.

"I want to teil you that we feed fine at the front. The first three or four days were hard but after that we had all kinds of chow. Also Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross eats. We had two of the best Y. M. C. A. men, I believe, that there are in France. The first one was wounded in the first attack. The other one, a Mr. Davis is atill with us. They carried tobacco, chocolate, cakes, jams and I don't know what into our front line all through our thirty-fnur days at the front and when they could not find anything else to do cared for the wounded. The Red Cross does most of its work back at the hospitals, but they have sent us sweets four or five times, also newspapers and magazines. We can't say too much for both and want everyone back home to know how much we appreciate them.

"P. S.—I am sending you a 5-mark note taken from a dead Boche that I buried.—Sergeant Don V. Paradise.

From Emil Nasson

France, September 17, 1918.

Mr. A. J. Usher, Charlevoix, Michigan, Dear Friend:—It has been some time since I've written to you, and as the Courier has followed me up wherever I've been, I feel I should write a few lines to tell you I'm still alive and more than glad when I can read the news from home.

"We left Miami on the 13th of July and after several weeks of travel we are now settled for a time at least.

Our trip across was quite uneventful, although it was interesting to us, as we had ships all around us and we were convoyed by submarine destroyers, dirigibles, seaplanes and cruisers of fighting ability.

"We were all glad when we sighted land and our first view of France was as pleasing as one could imagine. The sun setting in the west gave us a very clear view of the country for a good many miles. The dark green grass and fine trees which France has wherever one goes was indeed a pleasing sight after nothing but water for a good many days.

"The harbor in which we disembarked is of ancient structure and was indeed a different sight than our American cities. After a little rest in an American rest camp we proceeded by train and trucks to our destination.

"On account of the strict censorship there is little of interest that I'm allowed to mention. I will say bowever that the Hun is still active and comes over about every night weather conditions will permit Night before last two squads were caught in the strong lights of the arches and a heavy barrage followed. Jerry was obliged to drop his load of bombs and hurry back to safety. We heard afterwards two of the planes were brought down, nearer one of the large cities.

"It is very interesting to see the work at night and no cause for fear as the Hun has very poor luck in his marksmanship.

"One of our pilots has already distinguished himself bringing down five enemy planes, landing on "nomans land" where he captured a German sentry and rescued a wounded French soldier; bringing them all back safely. You have probably heard of Lieutenant Chamberlein's wurk long ago however.

"The Hun will find the Marines of the air are going to be just as much of a 'devil dog' as the marines on land.

"Expecting to see you inside of another year, I remain, Respectfully yours.—Emil Nasson.

CLOSING ORDER IS GENERAL

SCHOOLS, CHURCHES, THEATRES AND PUBLIC MEETINGS

Ordarad Discontinued in City of Charlevoix to Prevent Spread of Spanish Influenza

So serious has the spread of Spanish influenza become, not only in Petoskey and neighboring cities, but the entire state that orders were given Saturday for the closing of all theatres, schools, churches and public gatherings of any nature in the city of Charlevoix, and to date the order has been strictly obeyed.

To date Charlevoix has had no deaths from this dread disease, and with but one ore two exceptions, the city proper is free from any cases. The closing order was issued to prevent the spread of the disease, and keep the city free from it if possible.

In Petoskey there are hundreds of cases of influenza, and the death list is growing every day. On Friday of last week there were nine funerals in the city, each death being caused by the epidemic. Since that time and up to today, from one to five deaths have been reported.

Central Lake, Ellsworth, East Jordan, Boyne City, and Harbor Springs are under quarantine, the condition of these cities, however, not being so bad as in Petoskey.

At Camp Custer up to Monday night 351 deaths have taken place, with thousands in the hospitals with the "flu". From every cantoonment and training camp in the country comes the same report, and every precautionary measure is being taken to stamp out the disease.

DIED AT DAYTON TRAINING CAMP

Son of Mrs. John Ashmore Succumbs to Pneumonia Attack

The remains of John M. Ashmore, aged 29 years, who died from pneumonia at the Dayton, Ohio, training camp, arrived on the afternoon train Monday, Private Murray from the same camp acting as escort.

Private Ashmore was a son of the late John Ashmore, and his death followed an illness covering but a few days. Private funeral services were held Tuesday, Rev. C. Taggart officiating, interment at Brookside cemetery.

FORMERLY LIVED IN CHARLEVOIX

Dread Spanish Influenza Takes Albert T. Washburn

Albert T. Washburn, owner of the Petoskey Rug Co., passed away at his home in Petoskey last Friday night, death being caused from pneumonia.

Mr. Washburn lived in Charlevoix several years before going to Petoskey about fifteen years ago.

He is survived by two sons and one daughter. The remains were brought here Saturday on the noon train, and funeral services were held at the cemetery at 2:00 o'clock, Rev. Taggart, officiating.

Those Who Mourn

Half this world is draped in sorrow,
Hulf the world is drenched in tears.
But joy cometh with the morrow,
God will wipe away all tears.

Weep not, grieve not for this loved one,
Whom God took with tender eare;
With His own right hand He lead him,
To his home, where all is bright and fair.

Sweetly sleeping is our Ario,
Who in life did seem so dear;
Passed away in silent slumber
To that bright and glorious land.
—By Lena Murray.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

The commissioner has been on big Beaver Island during the entire week visiting the schools, making state corrections on both of the township triplicate reports, locating teachers for Greentown, for Garden Island and High Island, establishing an acceptable bond for the treasurer of No. 3, St. James, assisting the school board of No. 1, St, James in locating the schoolboy culprit in the two fires in the school building during the preceeding week, getting hold of the truancy situation, and laying plans for the years' work and spring contest in arithmetic and oratory. As this item goes to press the work is still incomplete.

She Earned It.

My little daughter came in with a penny, I asked her where she found it, and she said: "I earned it. You see, Carter called me a bad girl and I was going to fight him but he had some potatoes so I told him if he would give me a potato I wouldn't fight him and he did."

Keep Baby Comfortable

There is an old grandmother's saying that "A well baby never cries."

This cannot be accepted literally, of course. But most of the crying of babies can be attributed, however, to discomfort of some sort.

A baby's skin is extremely tender. It is quickly irritated by conditions which would have no effect upon the tougher skin of an adult.

Next time baby cries or frets, examine it carefully for redness and chafing, and whenever they are found sprinkle gently with 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric. The irritation will subside very quickly and baby will be comfortable again.

20 Mule Team Boric is better for such purposes than the many talcum or baby powders, and less expensive.

Your Druggist sells 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Defnult having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, which mortgage was given by Peter Rush and Ida R. Rush, his wife, to Helen J. Pulcipher which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the Couoty of Charlevoix, Michigan, April 21st, 1916 in Liber fifty-six of mortgages on page forty; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the dnte of this notice is the sum of Five Hundred fifty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and a further sum of fifty-three dollars and nine cents taxes paid on the property described in said mortgage by Helen J. Pulcipher, together with an attorney fee as provided by statute, and no suit or proceedings at law have been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; and whereas the tax required by the statutes to be paid on said mortgage was duly paid prior to the recording thereof;

Now therefore, notice is given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statutes made and provided, said mortgage will be forclosed by sale of the premises therein described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount then due thereon of principal and interest together with the amounts paid for taxes, costs and expenses of the foreclosure, including the attorney fee provided by statute; at publlc auction to the higher bidder therefore at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix (that being the place where the Circuit court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 14th day of December, 1918 at ten o'clock in the forenoon on that day. The premises described in said mortgage being herein described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at the northeast corner of Lot One in section seventeen, township thirty-four north of range seven west; thence west on the Quarter line of said section forty rods; thence south to the center of Emmet and Grand Traverse State road it being one hundred rods; thence east along the center of said road to the center line; thence north on said second line ninety-six rods to the place of beginning, being a part of Government Lot one of said section seventeen and containing twenty-four and one-half acres of land more or less.

Dated September 7th, 1918.

THURSDAY WAS RECORD DAY

COUNTY INSTITUTE BEST HELD IN YEARS

Adopt Resolutions Covering Points on German Peace Proposals —Officers Elected

The Charlevoix County Institute held in Charlevoix October 2 to 4 was one of the best in years. The schools of the county were closed and the institute enrollment shows a record breaking attendance for the entire three days.

Wednesday the teachers met in four different groups first to discuss special subjects according to the line of work they were doing. This was carried on in round table style and the chairmen report splendid meetings. Chairmen of sections for next year are Supt. Craig, Charlevoix; Mrs. D. H. Fitch, East Jordan; Miss Leila Howe, East Jordan, and Miss Mayme Scroggie of R. 2 Boyne City. The girls from the Boyne City canning club gave a very good demonstration of the cold pack method of canning. In the afternoon Supt. J. M. Tice of our county's earlier days delivered two lectures on penmanship and Mr. Evans, field secretary of the State American Red Cross talked on the Junior Red Cross. Mr. Hampton of Charlevoix gave one of the finest four minute addresses on the Liberty Loan that the teachers had ever heard.

Thursday was a record day with two state superintendents present for the entire day. Mr. Pearson of Ohio was a spellbinder, a man with a vision, and a clear logical basis for his dreams of the future, and the ideals of the present. He alone could make an entire institute and build worlds before us. Supt. Keeler gave us two very practical talks on the course of study and why some teachers fail. Later he conducted a round table on school law and was of considerable help to both teachers and officers. Commissioner Babcock of Emmet was a welcome visitor and favored us with a vocal solo in the afternoon.

Thursday evening was one of complete relaxation of the true get-together get-acquainted kind. The ladies of the Methodist church served a bounteous supper and made the teachers welcome to the church parlors for merry-making—and make merry they did. Thanks to the committee in charge everyone reported a good time.

Friday could not possibly be better than Thursday but it succeeded in measuring up to it. Supt. Pearson was at his best. His address on world building will never be forgotten by those who heard him. Prof. Pearce of Mt. Pleasant arrived in the morning and declared that he would have a hard time to measure up to what we had had. He went at it and he certainly made the assembly room ring with his oratory. It was splendid—three addresses—The Master Craftsman, Studies in Personality, and the Invisible Draft. How the teachers cheered for Mr. Pearson as he left, and how they cheered for our country, our soldiers, and for bonds, more bonds, and for Pearce, and his message, and how the room vibrated with waves of emotion.

We must not forget the splendid little talk given us on the Y. W. C. A. in war times by Mrs. Gage of Cadillac. We are sorry that more of our patrons could not have been present.

In the business meeting of the association, Supt. Steal of Boyne City was elected chairman for the ensuing year, and Miss Vivia Keller, secretary-treasurer. Dues were collected for the past two years and everything is now in good business order

A PIANO AT A NOMINAL PRICE

We have just learned the Lyon & Healy, the great music house of Chicago, are disposing of a warehouse full of pianos and organs. Some of these instruments are being sold at even lower prices than were usual before the war. We advise any of our readers interested to write to Lyon & Healy for a list of these bargains. Among them are pianos by such well known makers as Steinway, Weber, Steck, Lyon & Healy, Fischer, Kraknuer, Washburn, and a host of others. Among these pianos are rebuilt instruments and also new instruments of special styles. We think it likely that responsible readers can arrange for monthly payments, if they do not wish to pay all cash. The opportunity is such a good one that it would be well to write for a list today.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER

It is nut necessary—nor is it desirable—to repress enthusiasm which so naturally springs from the stirring military events of the last few days. The handwriting, so clear that all can read, shows that the Prussian military power is rapidly collapsing. The Kaiser knows, and his generals all know, that the irresistable result will be, and must be, complete defeat. The sole point of uncertainty is the length of time which yet must elapse before formal compliance with the allied demands for 'unconditional surrender.' Bulgaria has read aright the signs. Turkey soon must follow. Austria-Hungaria will be next, and the people of Germany, their eyes at last open, will demand that the horrible sacrifice of life and destruction of resources must end.

The Kaiser himself no longer is the defiant war lord. He now suggests that "the people" shall have a greater voice in the solution which is tu mean so much to the future of the empire. Parlimentary government is officiully offered as a substitute for uutocratic domination. All this appears fully as significant in considering the prospect of peace as any of the recent successful military operations. It is, in fact, an essential preliminary for any discussion of peace. President Wilson, as have also the lending representatives of our European allies, has made it quit plain that negotiations will not be undertaken with the military rulers of Germany, who have so repeatedly shown bad faith in their utter inability to deal honorably. In any circumstances, the only time to discuss peace is when the German goverment, whatever its form, has withdrawn its troops from France and Belgium and has in this way shown unmistakable evidence of a chastened mood and desire to make the further amends required.

The necessities for a full subscription to the Fourth Liberty loan are as great, if, indeed, not greater, today as they were when the campaign began one week ago. The time to achieve completeness of victory is when the enemy is on the run. He must not be permitted to recover and recuperate. Military, naval and financial preparations should from now on go forward with redoubled vigor. There must be no letting down of effort until the enemy acknowledges defeat—until our work has been completed in every detail. A large oversubscription of $6,000,000,000. loan will he appraised at its full value in Berlin, and by inevitably shortening the war will he culculated to save thousands of lives of American boys "over there."

FORD VERSUS NEWBERRY

Henry Ford, Democratic candidate for United States senator from Michigan, addressing a letter to the Democratic state convention, declared, that if elected, he would not be bound by any party considerations, but would vote his best judgment for the interests of the people as a whole. No true American can take exception to the purport or spirit of this statement of Mr. Ford's purpose, but that fact is not the test of Mr. Ford's qualifications for the high office for which he has been put forward.

Mr. Ford disclosed unmistukably the narrow radius of his vision when be financed his absurd peace mission to Europe. It does not excuse the poor quality of his judgment that a few persons of unusual general intelligence lent themselves to his Quixotic enterprise. Michigan has to deal now with Mr. Ford and not with the other mistaken patriots who helped him to stultify himself by that adventure into dreamland.

How can a man who admits his unfamiliarity with the forces that have brought the world to its present posture, who denies the saultary lessons to be drawn from history, who confesses his lack of active interest for thirty years in elections, be expected to have the equipment for United States senator that this time, above all others for fifty years, calls for?

Mr Ford is a stalwart patriot, bot so is Truman H Newberry, his Republican opponent for the senatorship. Accepting the loyalty issue as elliminated, we have the equally important factor of statesmanship to reckon with. In this Mr. Ford is an untried nuvice, while Mr. Newberry is experienced in national affairs and conversant with the processes and purposes of nations in dealing with another. As secretary of the navy under Roosevelt he acquired a statesman's grasp of things and a knuwledge and vision of world events and trends that should fit him admirably for a war-time or post-bellum senator.

A CHRISTMAS TIP.

Here's the best Christmas tip:—Buy Liberty Bonds and make it a Liberty Christmas.

Uncle Sam has decreed that you shall SHOP EARLY and buy only what is useful for Christmas presents.

The Christmas shupping season is beginning, and the Fourth Liberty loan campaign is well under way.

You'll please Uncle Sam three ways, because:

Your Liberty Bond purchase will not encumber transportation facilities when war traffic has the right of way.

Liberty Bonds are the most useful thing in the world right now, for they spell defeat for the Hun Kaiser and his gang.

And a Liberty Bond purchased now for the best-loved will be a bit of early Christmas shopping accomplished.

After you've bought a Liberty bond for the all-important, there are War stamps for sister, brother, or wifey's mother.

And what is a better gift—or more appreciated—for the kiddies than a Thrift stamp folder with one to a half dozen of the little stickers affixed?

For a merry Christmas, therefore, buy Liberty bonds, War stamps and Thrift stamps.

THE WAY AMERICANS DO

In Germany a "gas-less Sunday" would have been heralded by the posting of placards in all public places, warning the population that the use of an automobile on Sunday was "streng verboten," and threatening dire penalties for disobedience. Military police would then have patrolled all the streets and highways, ready to pounce upon offenders. So the German people would have obeyed—through fear.

In America, a simple request is issued by the fuel administration. And all over the vast area involved, the people cheerfully acquiesce of their own free will. Wherever there is any forgetfulness or any tendency to ignore the request, public opinion enforces it as effectively as governmental power could do.

It is another striking exemplification of the essential difference between the two countries. In one the government rules by force. In the other the people rule by the power of public opinion.

Liberty Bond or Liberty Bound, which will you have it?

Bonds Build Airplanes. Buy Liberty Bonds.

Bonds put the Dam in Potsdam.

DEATH OF FORMER CARLEVOIX RESIDENT

C G. Hiller Passes Away at Home in Lake Odessa

C. G. Hiller, father of Alderman E. J. Hiller of this city, passed away at his home at Lake Odessa, Friduy, October 11, after an extended illness from heart trouble and dropsy.

Deceased was a resident of this city for the past six years, living with his son on Antrim street. Early last March he was taken ill, and since that time has gradually failed until death occurred. He is survived by his aged wife and two sons, A. L. Hiller of Lake Odessa, and E. J. Hiller of this city. During his residence in the city, Mr. Hiller made a number of close friends who extend their sincere sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

FOURTH LOAN DRIVE ENDS SATURDAY

County About $32,000 Short Up to Noon Wednesday

Charlevoix county, up to noon Wednesday, was about $32,000 short in raising her quota of $337,951,50. In the Charlevoix district, right here at home, it is estimated that we are some $20,000 short of our quota of $111,000.

With but three days left to raise this amount, there is little douht that it will be easily accomplished. Committees in charge are busy at work, and from all reports those who have not already subscribed are being approached, with the result that liberal purchases are being made.

Our quota must he raised—a hint to those who have not bought.

WILL RESIDE IN HOWARD CITY

Ross-Cook Wedding at Home of Bride's Parents Tuesday.

A quist wedding took place Tuesday at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ross, when their daughter, Caroline M., was united in marriage to Arie M. Cook of Huward City, the immediate family being the only ones present. Rev. Taggart pronouncing the words that made them man and wife.

Mrs. Cook is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school, and for the past two years has taught in Howard City. They will leave Friday noon fur Howard City where they will make their home, Mr. Cook holding a responsible position in one of the banks there.

SECOND STROKE TAKES J. MILO EATON

Death Takes Former Well Known Resident and Attorney

Word has been received from Riverside, California, of the death of J. Milo Eaton, a former well known resident of this city, who left early last spring for the west to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Lillian Bemish.

It will be recalled that just prior to his departure, deceased suffered a slight stroke of paralysis and for several weeks was confined to his bed. A second stroke occured which resulted in his death on October 8, after an illness of less than 24 hours.

Deceased was one of the pioneer settlers of this region and was well known throughout northern Michigan.

AN INNOCENT BIRD.

The London Chronicle of Decembur 30, 1915, contains the following:

"The foreign office has issued the following for publication:

"'It has been ascertained that fifty-five bags of rubber, all consigned to a well known enemy forwarding agent in Sweden, were removed from the parcel mail on board the steamship Oskar II. The estimated weight of the rubber seized is about 4,000 pounds. The remainder of the mail, which consisted of 734 bags, was handed over to the postoffice for immediate transmission to its destination.'"

The headlines over this item were:

"Rubber on Ford Peace Ship;

"Four Thousand Pounds seized in Parcel Mail;

"Fifty five Bags for Enemy Agents in Sweden."

If Henry had known he would have died of mortification when he discovered that the peace ark, the Oskar II., carrying the assorted nuts and humanitarians to Europe to whistle the boys out of the treuches, carried 4,000 pounds of rubber consigned to a Swedish firm for transmission into Germany.

Mr. Ford knows a great deal about rubber. He has some of its characteristics. But he could not possibly have known that he was taking to Germany in the peace ark a commodity of war so highly desired and so essentially useful.

Innocence is a dangerous asset in a great man. Mr. Ford is so innocent that he might have taken a consignment of machine guns and have thought they were sewing machines.

We love his innocence, but the thought arises that the United States senate is not a school of innocents. The world with which the United States senate has to deal is a knowing world. Mr. Ford as a United States senator might enter the senate with a stick of dynamite in each pocket and think the sticks were harber pole candies.—Chicago Tribune.

NEWBERRY FOR SENATOR.

Mr. Newberry's record in public affairs is utterly the converse of Mr. Ford's. He has been a fighting American ever since a quarter of a century ago—from the time when he helped organize the Michigan naval brigade in 1895—enlisting as a private—down through his career as an able seaman on the training ship "Yantic"—all!! evidenced in his intensive patriotism as an ensign on the "Yosamite" throughout the Spanish-American War—eloquently demonstrated by his spectacular service as Secretary of the Navy in the Cabinet of President Roosevelt—and again re-emphasized today not only by his own constant devotion to his responsibilities as a lieutenant commander in the third naval district, but also by the volunteer service of his twin sons—one a soldier and one a sailor. If his dependable, consecutive and aggressive "Americanism" is good enough for the Navy of the United States, it is good enough for the electorate of Michigan. And upon this one major issue—until this war is done and won—senatorial campaigns must turn. Upon this issue—overshadowing all of the comparatively minor considerations which were involved in the primary campaign—The Herald is profoundly of the opinion that Michigan—if true to its best traditions and its highest purposes—must indfetibly prefer Senator Newberry to "Senator" Ford.—Grand Rapids Herald.

The Important Question.

It is all right to say that a bag of sand tied to a mule's tail will stop his braying, but who will do the tying?

New Dresses for Early Fall Wear

In spite of the advancing market, we are offering these splendid frocks at prices that will surprisingly please you.

The figures are really based on calculations of months ago, when fine blue serge that then cost the makers $3.70 a yard, today is over $1.00 more.

You reap the benefit of this saving, but we advise you to MAKE AN EARLY INSPECTION of these garments, because the quantities are limited and the values cannot be replaced in All-woolen materials this Fall.

The best of makers sent in these dresses only a few days ago, and were we to reorder them it could be only on the basis of selling them for from $4.00 to $6.00 more.

SPLENDID TALENT TO BE HEARD HERE AT POPULAR PRICES

Lyceum Course for This Season Fully Outlined.

AN INSPIRATION IN WAR TIME

Entertainment of the Lyceum Platform Has Vital Place in Keeping Up the Spirit of Our People.

The local auspices of the Lyceum course for the season of 1918-19 have secured some splendid talent which will be offered to our people at popular prices.

More and more as the days go by, the importance of the Chautauqua and Lyceum in times of war becomes apparent. It is not only a question of the great service which these institutions render in connection with the work of the Red Cross, the Liberty loan, the Stallenge campaign for the entertaining of our soldiers, and the creation of public opinion as a part of our national defense, but many people are also coming to an appreciation of the fact that it is important that our people at home keep in good spirits in so far as possible if they are to do their best work and accomplish the great tasks of this hour.

The entertainment and especially the inspiration for which the Lyceum and Chautauqua platform is noted, have a most vital place in keeping up the spirits of our people. It is a mistake to think that our best work can be accomplished amid gloom. Indeed, gloom should be dispelled just as much as possible. Our soldier boys at the front go at their gigantic tasks with a smile. We should go about our tasks in the same way.

The attractions on this season's Lyceum course here may be briefly described as follows:

MAUD BALLINGTON BOOTH.

High among the names of women who have devoted their lives to the worldwide cause of human salvage is that of Maud Ballington Booth. Multitudes of humanity-loving hearts have been thrilled by her story and that of the Volunteer Prison League, which she founded and by her efforts has sustained and vitalized.

More than 85,000 men, while serving prison sentences have ascribed their complete regeneration to it and are still its loyal supporters. National prison reforms have been promoted and a number of splendid and valuable rural properties in widely separated states, temporary homes for discharged prisoners have been acquired, equipped and are now in operation. To these, friendless prisoners go immediately when discharged, remaining until they or the league find employment where they can win back that which was lost. Well has Mrs. Booth named these homes "Hope Halls" and the homes established for sick and starving, helpless and blameless wives and children of prisoners "Rainbow Houses." Many thousands of "graduates" from "Hope Hall" have become useful and respected citizens. Practically none have returned to crime. Hundreds have their own happy homes. Some are in positions of great trust and responsibility and two are earning over $10,000 a year.

At present she can devote only a few dates each season to the platform, and money thus earned goes to the support of her "Hope Halls," the financial burden of which rests on her shoulders with well nigh overwhelming responsibility. Mrs. Booth's addresses are entirely new with each succeeding season, for the incidents of her work furnish far more material of entrancing interest than she can possibly utilize. She is the godmother in thousands of homes, not a fairy godmother either, but one who brings actual blessing and comfort. As such she is revered.

Mrs. Booth is not a sentimentalist, but believes that imprisonment should tend toward reformation, and she is today recognized as one of the world's leading exponents of sane prison reform. Without consulting or even advising her the governors of thirty-eight states petitioned the president to appoint her the American delegate to the world's prison congress. The outbreak of the war, of course, caused the abandonment of the congress, but the specific, signed indorsements of these thirty-eight governors form a most unusual testimonial.

THE PARAMOUNT ENTERTAINERS

The Paramount Entertainers consists of Dorothea W. Sass, reader and accompanist; is a graduate of the Leland Powers school of Boston, and studied play coaching under Mrs. Rachel Noah France, formerly associated with Edwin Booth and Joseph Jefferson. She is a young woman of wonderfully attractive personality, with which is coupled a striking ability as an interpretative reader.

Mr. Howard F. Bolinger is of Welsh descent and possesses a high baritone voice of unusual range and volume, with the appealing sweetness and richness of tone so characteristic of the Welsh singer. His talent was discovered at the early age of six by Mr. John Emerson, well known in musical and dramatic circles of New York city, and under his direction Mr. Bolinger developed into one of the best boy soloists in northern Ohio.

Later he sang under the direction of the late Charles Thompson, Trinity church, Toledo, and has also had choir experience in Salt Lake City, Chattanooga, Cleveland and Detroit. His voice is particularly adapted to the singing of ballad and folk songs, which always prove to be a popular part of the program.

Mr. Bolinger served nine months in the army and was honorably discharged because of injury received in the line of duty.

Norma Bosson, violinist, has been appearing in public recitals since she was ten years of age. She has successively studied under Karl Keffer, Dr. Vaclav Hulsteyn, Mrs. Thatcher, Ruth Thoburn and finally at the Peabody Conservatory of Music at Baltimore, Md., of which she is a graduate. Her three years' scholarship in Peabody she won in competition open to all residents of the United States under twenty-one years of age.

In this company are grouped together three artists of recognized worth in music and drama, presenting a well diversified program of music and entertainment of real artistic value. In addition to the solos, readings and ensemble numbers, one or more dramatic sketches will be given.

OPIE REED.

Opie Reed, who is to appear here this season, is one of America's greatest authors as well as lecturers. His power to entertain and instruct an audience is marvelous, and his use of beautiful English is equally notable.

His American stories have made for themselves a secure place in the affections of the American people. It has been said that he received the highest prices for his writing of any author in America.

Opie Read is an original thinker. He is also a fine story-teller and tells only his own stories. He tells them as none other can and has delighted thousands.

OPIE READ.

A program by Mr. Read must necessarily abound in entertainment. He is also a philosopher and wit.

His recital of the adventures of Lin Jucklin is the keenest arraignment of modern fraud and abuse extant. It is a strong and manly contribution to the work of social and political reform.

He has an interesting and powerful personality. He is tall and commanding. Resolution and courage are prominently announced in his look, and he has deep convictions.

Opie Read is a master painter of the things that stir men's souls. His recitals are keen and penetrating. He takes his audiences with him. They shed honest tears at his tender passages and laugh boisterously at his flashes of humor.

CHARLES R. TAGGART.

Charles R. Taggart has been entertaining audiences since the year 1885, but prior to ten years ago his work was largely confined to New England. He is often styled "The Man From Vermont." Vermont is the state in which he lives, and his rendition of "Plowville Folks" is in part descriptive of the real Yankees near the town where he grew up.

Mr. Taggart's programs are made up of piano selections and songs, recitations and character sketches, ventriloquial dialogues and violin mimicry. Among those who have heartily recommended his programs appear such names as Florence M. Kingsley, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Strickland Gillilan and Edward J. Wheeler, editor of the Literary Digest. Mr. Taggart has appeared 200 times in New York city and vicinity alone.

Descriptive of his own work he says: "If you are contemplating spending an evening with me I can assure you that I shall be delighted to see you, and I trust that we shall enjoy ourselves to the fullest extent. My aim is neither to teach nor preach, to advise nor lecture. I shall not seek to give you information on any special subject nor

THE MERRILEES ENTERTAINERS.

The Merrilees Entertainers.

Imagine four charming and vivacious young women in Japanese costumes and carrying Japanese parasols and fans, in a twenty-minute musical sketch, filled not only with good music but with a plentiful supply of humor.

Next think of these same young women in colonial dress, interpreting some of the songs and rhythmic steps of their grandmothers of the sixties. Now imagine two of this same interesting quartet in the garb of Dutch youths, including the regulation wooden shoes, in a ten-minute portrayal of the pastimes of Holland.

Add to these interesting features of their program a popular concert in evening dress—quartets, duets and solos, with one of their number in readings sparkling with wit and humor, and you have a picture of the program of the Merrilees.

In two years' time these four young women have made for themselves a permanent place in the Lyceum and Chautauqua world. They came into these fields to fill a distinct and insistent demand, difficult to fill—a ladies' vocal quartet.

As time went by they added, one at a time, musical sketches and special costumes. The combination proved so popular that, in building their new program, additional sketches were added.

UNCLE SAM'S ADVICE ON FLU

U. S. Public Health Service Issues Official Health Bulletin on Influenza.

LATEST WORD ON SUBJECT.

Epidamic Probably Not Spanish in Origin—Germ Still Unknown—People Should Guard Against "Droplet Infection"—Surgeon General Blue Makes Authoritative Statement.

Washington, D. C.—(Special.)—Although King Alfonso of Spain was one of the victims of the influenza epidemic in 1893 and again this summer, Spanish authorities repudiate any claim to influenza as a "Spanish" disease. If the people of this country do not take care the epidemic will become so widespread throughout the United States that soon we shall hear the disease called "American" influenza.

In response to a request for definite information concerning Spanish influenza, Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the U. S. Public Health Service has authorized the following official interview:

What is Spanish influenza? Is it something new? Does it come from Spain?

"The disease now occurring in this country and called 'Spanish Influenza' resembles a very contagious kind of 'cold,' accompanied by fever, pains in the head, eyes, ears, back or other parts of the body and a feeling of severe sickness. In most of the cases the symptoms disappear after three or four days, the patient then rapidly recovering. Some of the patients, however, develop pneumonia, or inflammation of the ear, or meningitis, and many of these complicated cases die. Whether this so-called 'Spanish' influenza is identical with the epidemics of influenza of earlier years is not yet known.

Coughs and Sneezes Spread Diseases

"Epidemics of influenza have visited this country since 1647. It is interesting to know that this first epidemic was brought here from Valencia, Spain. Since that time there have been numerous epidemics of the disease. In 1889 and 1890 an epidemic of influenza, starting somewhere in the Orient, spread first to Russia and thence over practically the entire civilized world. Three years later there was another flare-up of the disease. Both times the epidemic spread widely over the United States.

"Although the present epidemic is called 'Spanish influenza,' there is no reason to believe that it originated in Spain. Some writers who have studied the question believe that the epidemic came from the Orient and they call attention to the fact that the Germans mention the disease as occurring along the eastern front in the summer and fall of 1917."

How can "Spanish influenza" be recognized?

"There is as yet no certain way in which a single case of 'Spanish influenza' can be recognized. On the other hand, recognition is easy where there is a group of cases. In contrast to the outbreaks of ordinary coughs and colds, which usually occur in the cold months, epidemics of influenza may occur at any season of the year. Thus the present epidemic raged most intensely in Europe in May, June and July. Moreover, in the case of ordinary colds, the general symptoms (fever, pain, depression) are by no means as severe or as sudden in their onset as they are in influenza. Finally, ordinary colds do not spread through the community so rapidly or so extensively as does influenza.

"In most cases a person taken sick with influenza feels sick rather suddenly. He feels weak, has pains in the eyes, ears, head or back, and may be sore all over. Many patients feel dizzy, some vomit. Most of the patients complain of feeling chilly, and with this comes a fever in which the temperature rises to 100 to 101. In most cases the pulse remains relatively slow.

"In appearance one is struck by the fact that the patient looks sick. His eyes and the inner side of his eyelids may be slightly 'bloodshot,' or 'congested,' as the doctors say. There may be running from the nose, or there may be some cough. These signs of a cold may not be marked; nevertheless the patient looks and feels very sick.

"In addition to the appearance and the symptoms as already described, examination of the patient's blood may aid the physician in recognizing 'Spanish influenza,' for it has been found that in this disease the number of white corpuscles shows little or no increase above the normal. It is possible that the laboratory investigations now being made through the National Research Council and the United States Hygienic Laboratory will furnish a more certain way in which individual cases of this disease can be recognized."

What is the course of the disease? Do people die of it?

"Ordinarily, the fever lasts from three to four days and the patient recovers. But while the proportion of deaths in the present epidemic has generally been low, in some places the outbreak has been severe and deaths have been numerous. When death occurs it is usually the result of a complication."

What causes the disease and how is it spread?

"Bacteriologists who have studied influenza epidemics in the past have found in many of the cases a very small rod-shaped germ called, after its discoverer, Pfeiffer's bacillus. In other cases of apparently the same kind of disease there were found pneumococci, the germs of lobar pneumonia. Still others have been caused by streptococci, and by others germs with long names.

"No matter what particular kind of germ causes the epidemic, it is now believed that influenza is always spread from person to person, the germs being carried with the air along with the very small droplets of mucus, expelled by coughing or sneezing, forceful talking, and the like by one who already has the germs of the disease. They may also be carried about in the air in the form of dust coming from dried mucus, from coughing and sneezing, or from careless people who spit on the floor and on the sidewalk. As in most other catching diseases, a person who has only a mild attack of the disease himself may give a very severe attack to others."

What should be done by those who catch the disease?

"It is very important that every person who becomes sick with influenza should go home at once and go to bed. This will help keep away dangerous complications and will, at the same time, keep the patient from scattering the disease far and wide. It is highly desirable that no one be allowed to sleep in the same room with the patient. In fact, no one but the nurse should be allowed in the room.

"If there is cough and sputum or running of the eyes and nose, care should be taken that all such discharges are collected on bits of gauze or rag or paper napkins and burned. If the patient complains of fever and headache, he should be given water to drink, a cold compress to the forehead and a light sponge. Only such medicine should be given as is prescribed by the doctor. It is foolish to ask the druggist to prescribe and may be dangerous to take the so-called 'safe, sure and harmless' remedies advertised by patent medicine manufacturers.

"If the patient is so situated that he can be attended only by some one who must also look after others in the family, it is advisable that such attendant wear a wrapper, apron or gown over the ordinary house clothes while in the sick room and slip this off when leaving to look after the others.

"Nurses and attendants will do well to guard against breathing in dangerous disease germs by wearing a simple fold of gauze or mask while near the patient."

Will a person who has had influenza before catch the disease again?

"It is well known that an attack of measles or scarlet fever or smallpox usually protects a person against another attack of the same disease. This appears not to be true of 'Spanish influenza.' According to newspaper reports the King of Spain suffered an attack of influenza during the epidemic thirty years ago, and was again stricken during the recent outbreak in Spain."

How can one guard against influenza?

"In guarding against disease of all kinds, it is important that the body be kept strong and able to fight off disease germs. This can be done by having a proper proportion of work, play and rest, by keeping the body well clothed, and by eating sufficient wholesome and properly selected food. In connection with diet, it is well to remember that milk is one of the best all-around foods obtainable for adults as well as children. So far as a disease like influenza is concerned, health authorities everywhere recognize the very close relation between its spread and overcrowded homes. While it is not always possible, especially in times like the present, to avoid such overcrowding, people should consider the health danger and make every effort to reduce the home overcrowding to a minimum. The value of fresh air through open windows cannot be over emphasized.

"When crowding is unavoidable, as in street cars, care should be taken to keep the face so turned as not to inhale directly the air breathed out by another person.

"It is especially important to beware of the person who coughs or sneezes without covering his mouth and nose. It also follows that one should keep out of crowds and stuffy places as much as possible, keep homes, offices and workshops well aired, spend some time out of doors each day, walk to work if at all practicable—in short, make every possible effort to breathe as much pure air as possible.

"In all health matters follow the advice of your doctor and obey the regulations of your local and state health officers."

"Cover up each cough and sneeze, If you don't you'll spread disease."

DICKINSON RE-NOMINATED.

Lansing—Having proved his abilities as a campaigner in two previous hotly contested battles, and being without opposition for the nomination in the primaries of August 27, Lieutenant Governor Loran D. Dickinson may well feel that he is the unquestioned choice of his party for the office he holds. Mr. Dickinson, who is an active farmer in Eaton county, has made an enviable record in public service. As a member of the legislature for several terms, he sponsored numerous progressive measures that have proved popular. Among others, he fathered the bill which provided the present primary law and was the author of many bills designed to aid the farmers of the state.

Crime and Dreaming.

Murderers seldom dream, which is exactly contrary to the idea that a man with a crime on his mind would usually have bad nightmares. Of 125 murderers carefully watched and examined, 98 seldom or never dreamed at all. The greater the criminal the less he dreamed.

Victims of Epilepsy.

The names of Caesar, Mahomet, Napoleon and Byron spring to mind as among the almost innumerable list of illustrious men who have suffered from epilepsy. Shakespeare makes Cassius tell his hearers that "Caesar hath the falling sickness."

Third Annual Fall Money

Saving Sale!

Now we are ready to start our annual fall money saving sale. Yes, that long looked for sale will start

Thursday, October 17, '18

AND WILL CONTINUE THIRTY DAYS ENDING NOVEMBER 20TH.

We are now ready for the Annual Fall Money Saving Sale, that hundreds of housewives in Charlevoix and vicinity have been patiently waiting for. Housewives remember the money they saved by buying during the sale last year, and also of the excellent quality of the goods they purchased. The big event of the year will commence on Thursday, October 17, and continue for 30 days, ending Wednesday, November 20. The reason that we have not had this sale sooner, is that we had several car loads of merchandise ordered for the sale and it took several weeks to get the goods started from the different factories and mills. But now we are ready to give you rock-bottom prices on everything in the grocery line. Most of the prices we quote will be wholesale, and in some instances less than wholesale.

To help out those who were unable to put up their usual amount of canned fruit, we scoured the market and purchased 150 cases of No. 10 Sweetened Fruits, consisting of Peaches, Apricots, Pears, White Cherries, Gage Plums, Egg Plums, and Clark's Apple Sauce, all sweetened and ready for use, and a quantity of Apple Butter. These 150 cases of fruit will go like wild-fire. You can buy them during this sale, cases of six, assorted or of one kind, for $6.00 a case. This will help solve not only the sugar shortage, but the fruit shortage. Below are prices that will prevail during the sale. Hundreds of articles are not mentioned, but ask for them and supply your need during this great money saving sale.

HERE ARE WAYS PREVENT "FLU"

A FEW PRECAUTIONS TO AVOID DISEASE

Origin of Influenza Said to be in Mouth and Throat—Follow These Rules

Spanish influenza, now epidemic in Charlevoix County and in hundreds of other localities in America, is held by the physicians to be largely preventable. It is said to have its origin in the mouth and throat.

Special notes of warning sounded by physicians stress the importance of proper breathing and cleanliness.

"Clean the mouth just as you would clean the hands," says one. The mouth is not clean when the teeth only are brushed. The whole mouth should be cleansed. Sterilize your tooth brush by boiling.

"Sterilize the mouth after each meal, the last thing before retiring at night, and the first thing on arising. In the perfect culture bed of the mouth germs multiply with an almost unbelieveable rate."

Here are the twelve rules that have been posted in army cantonments under direction of the surgeon general:

1. Avoid needless crowding—influenza is a crowd disease.

2. Smother your coughs and sneezes—others do not want the germs which you throw away.

3. Your nose, not your mouth, was made to breathe thrnugh, get the habit.

4. Remember the three C's—a clean mouth, clean skin and clean clothes.

5. Try to keep cool when you walk and warm when you ride and sleep.

6. Open the windows always at home at night; at the office when practicable.

7. Food will win the war if you give it a chance—help by choosing and chewing your food well.

8. Your fate may be in your own hands—wash your hands before you eat.

9. Don't let the waste product of digestion accumulate—drink a glass or two of water on getting up.

10. Don't use a napkin, towel, spoon, fork, glass or cup which has been used by another person and not washed.

11. Avoid tight clothes, tight shoes, tight gloves—seek to make nature your ally, not your prisoner.

12. When the air is pure, breathe all of it you can—breathe deeply.

4-MINUTE SPEECH WON GREAT PRAISE

Former Charlevoix H. S. Student Won Prize Here

It may interest the readers of the Courier to learn that Vivian Porter, who is attending the south High School in Grand Rapids recently gave a four-minute speech on the Fourth Liberty Loan which won great praise from her teacher and was pronounced 'exceptionally good'.

It will be remembered by the pupils of Charlevoix High, that Miss Vivian won a prize as a four-minute speaker in the W. S. S. contest in Charlevoix last year.

SOME HELPED— SOME DISAPPOINTED

Harvest Day Results in More or Less Good

Business places were closed all day Tuesday and many of the business men, clerks and residents spent the day at some farm, helping out in the harvesting of crops. The committee in charge of the days' program outlined a plan of placing helpers where assistance had been asked, which in some instnces was carried out, and in others it was a total failure.

In their hurry to gn to the places where special invitation had been extended, many ignored entirely the plans of the committee, with the result that in several instances farmers who were asked to come to town for their help were disappointed and returned without anyone at all. In other instances farmers came to town and picked their crew without seeing the committee in charge. However, we hope the day proved successful to those who secured help, and our sympathies are with those who did not.

The working squads will be at the service of those who desire their help at any time from this date. Phone C. E. See, and if possible, spuads will be sent out.

Remains Brought Here For Burial

Ethel May March, aged thirty-four years, passed away at her home in Ovid, Mich., October 11, death being caused from tuberculosis. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Eugene March who made their home here until eleven years ago, when they moved to their present home in Ovid. The remains were brought to this city Tuesday, burial in Brookside cemetery, Rev. Taggart officiating.

Burn Cheap Fuel--Then Save One-third Your Coal

Not only buy soft coal, but order just two-thirds of what the ordinary exclusive soft coal heating stove would consume in a season. You can do this every winter, provided your heating stove is a Round Oak Double Burner. In the face of fuel shortage this heater will burn any kind of combustible material, including hard coal, soft coal, coke, wood, or slack, and it lasts a generation.

Your most careful investigation is invited.

Cowardly Parasite Sets Fire to Hay Stock Involving Heavy Loss

Some time last Saturday night two stacks of hay belonging to C. E. Bearss were burned. Tha stacks being about a half mile from the farm buildings, Mr. Bearss did not discover his loss until some time the following day.

There is no doubt but that the fires were intentionnlly started, as the stacks were seme distances from each other.

The fires were discovered during the night by sume of the neighbors who, however, neglected to notify the owners and thus a good opportunity to apprehend the instigator was missed.

It is almost impossible to imagine anyone in the entire community low enough to resort to this method of satisfying some imaginary grudge, but this is what has evidently happened.

Mr. Bearss is offering a reward of $200.00 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties and there will no douht he more rewards for the person or persons instrumental in bringing the guilty ones te justice.

Serg't. Chelles and Friends Entertained at Nelson Home

Friends and neighbors to the number of twenty-five or thirty gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Nelson on Thursday evening of last week in henor of Serg't. Chelles, who was to leave the following day for his post at Camp Beaurgard, La.

The evening was spent in visiting and in looking over souvenirs brought homa hy Serg't. Chelles and following supper short talks were given by different ones present, among the most interesting of these being Will E. Hampton, who with A. J. Usher, had driven down from Charlevoix, and the party broke up shortly before midnight after thanking Mr. and Mrs. Nelson fer their hospitality and wishing Serg't. Chelles the best of luck wherever he may be during the balance of the war.

PRESENTS MUST BE MAILED EARLY

Cannot be Sent Without Label Received From Abroad

The following letter was received this week by Mrs. E. R. Harris, secretary of the Ellsworth branch of the Red Cross.

Madame Secretary:—The following communication has been received by this office in answer to an inquiry made recently. Please read it to your branch members and have it published in your local paper if any in your town.

"Mr. N. F. Jenkins, Secretary, Antrim Chapter, American Red Cross, Bellaire, Michigan.

"My Dear Mr. Jenkins—In response to your inquiry of September 30th, regarding to shipments of Christmas packets of soldiers abroad, we may say that advices from national headquarters inform us that the war department wishes men to receive only one parcel of standard size and weight.

"To carry out this plan army authorities, under General Pershing, are distributing Christmas parcel labels or coupons to men abroad who will mail them to relatives and friends. No parcel will be accepted for mailing by post office authorities without label received from abread.

"Containers of specified dimensions (probably 9x4x3 inches) may be secured from local Red Cross chapters late in October.

"It should be noted that the Red Cross will not only supply cartons, but will wrap and deliver inspected parcel to post office authorities. Christmas packets must be ready for transmission previous to November 15, 1918.

A detailed statement as to what articles can and cannot be sent to enlisted men abroad in regulation Red Cross cartons will be made public through various Red Cross chapters in the near future.—Bureau of Development, by Ormond Burke.

"P. S.—Containers will be distributed from central division headquarters not later than October 25.

BEAN GROWERS MEET AT SAGINAW

Crop In This Section Yields Almost Double State Average

Report of Michigan Bean Growers Conference held at Saginaw, October 10 and 11. President A. B. Cook, presided and reports from counties showed 1918 acreage below normal and a yield of about seven bushels per acre. Antrim county reported normal acreage with yield about 12 bushels of good quality.

The price paid for threshing was around 10 and 12 cents, with a few sections charging 15. Price paid for picking this year is 7 cents per pound. Bean jobbers are paying at the present time eight dollars per hundred. One jobber reported his sales at nine seventy five.

The California growers have set their price at eleven dollars per hundred, but are unable to move many at that figure.

The Michigan bean growers learned a lesson last year by setting their price at $8.00 per bushel and then the other states undersold them and cleaned up all their crop, while Michigan was unable to move theirs. This year Michigan growers did not set a price, but referred it to a committee who will take the matter of price up with the U. S. food commission on a basis of cost of production.

Cost of production for an acre of beans was around $50.00 as reported by most growers.

A committee on fair practices, composed of county agents was appointed to take statements from the growers as to price received from buyers and manner of payment and charges on picking, culling etc. This evidence will be given to the federal trade commission when they come to Michigan to investigate the dealings of the bean jobbers and buyers. Growers stated that in many instances buyers tested the beans and charged the grower for picking of twice the number of pounds which they really took out besides docking him for the full test and keeping the culls also.

Those in attendance were very sure that a change will come, from the methods used in buying as is done today.

Mr. Kimball, who is head of the bean department of the U. S. food commission at Washington, addressed the convention and said that there was twenty million bushels of beans raised this year and that the United States would consume about ten million, the rest would go across the water to feed the boys and the allied countries.

He also explained why the government did not buy Michigan beans last year. They were too wet and contained too much moisture to keep or ship across the water. He also explained why the government bought pinto beans. They could be shipped and were of good quality.

The Colorado pinto growers, responding to the government call for an increased food production, raised three million bushels of pintos; bought the seed with borrowed money and then appealed to the government to protect them from loosing their farms which were threatened for debts. The government bought the beans and kept them from coming into competition with the Michigan beans on our markets which would have been disastrous to our growers.

All growers were of the opinion that the only way to get a square deal in selling beans at the present time is through the co-operative associations.

THURSDAY WAS RECORD DAY

tending our thanks to the women of the church who on very short notice served so splendid a supper; to Supt. Craig and his corps of teachers for their kind forethought and royal hospitality; to Supt. Craig also for his loyal assistance to the rural teachers in the conduct of the Liberty Loan campaign and as yell master in our patriotic yells and dedication of county Service Flag; to Miss Stewart for her untiring efforts to make institute a success; to the superintendents and teachers who had done such splendid team work in their attendance and spirit. Furthermore, resolutions were adopted favoring nothing but the absolute submission of Germany in an unconditional surrender, and supporting the passage of a law which will annul the certificate of any teacher who is found to be pro-German.

The one single factor contributing more than anything else (except Mr. Pearson's fine humor and exquisite fatherliness in his visioned oratory)—the one contributing factor was the music provided for through the leaders who lead the teachers in assembly singing at every session. Miss McManus delivered a beautiful selection on the Blind French Soldier, and lead the assembly in a half hour of tense song drill. Miss Bates sang three beautiful solos, every one a choice gem, rendered with feeling and ease. She also led the assembly in old patriotic songs, in new popular music, and in ditties of the day. The music and the yells led by Supt. Craig, were the tuning process which made it possible for every visiting speaker to comment favorably on the wide awakness of our county teaching corps. Supt. Pearson of the state of Ohio said in parting, "Miss Stewart, this is the fourth institute I have visited in the past month, and I want to tell you it is the best. I find here the best spirit I have ever witnessed anywhere. These teachers are on their tip toes all the time. It is marvellous."

PRIZE ESSAY ON LECTURE COURSE

Contest in High School Won by Miss Margrett Milner

In the prize essay contest in the C. H. S., last week, practically all the class took part with the result that several essays of considerable credit to the writers were produced. One of the winners is reproduced below:

Citizens of Charlevoix, wake up! It is time to look forward to the coming of the Lecture Course. The course this year will be by far the best we have ever had. It has taken more money to procure it, but on the other hand, it presents some of the most accomplished artists of the day.

At the present time, when we are engaged in the greatest struggle the world has ever known, we need something to keep us from pondering too much on the war situation. There is nothing that can take the place of good, lively, interestingly entertaining course. Our boys at the front are furnished with various entertainments—it makes them put more "pep" into their fighting, and it reminds them of the life at home. Just so, for us here away from the danger and din of battle, something is necessary to make us more enthusinstic in our work of equipping the soldiers at the front. Let us support the course Liberally.

The first number is given by the Merrilees Entertainers, a ladies vocal quartet. They will render a number of different sketches in attractive costumes, besides their regular concert. There will also be humorous readings; and every minute of the evening will be enjoyable.

In the second number we have a rare treat in the person of Opie Read. No doubt you have read some of his stories; but unless you have heard them from his own lips you cannot fully appreciate his work. Mr. Read does not use other men's ideas, but has something to give to us which is different from anything that we have ever heard. He is a Southerner and tells several stories in Southern dialect. Moreover, he is brimfull of other bright stories. Come and spend an evening with him: you will never regret it.

Our third number will be a lecture by Maud Ballington Booth, often called the "little mother of the prisons." You cannot miss hearing this wonderful woman and learning how she has helped prisoners throughout the country. This is an entirely new subject; differing from those talked upon by the average orator. Mrs. Booth has given her life to aid those unfortunate people in winning back the things they once had.

The fourth number is given by the Paramount Entertainers. This company consists of three artists who have been skillfully trained and are capable of giving an entertainment eminently worth while.

Our fifth and last number promises to be the most amusing of them all. You have no doubt heard some of Mr. Taggart's selections on the victrola, but it will be more interesting to hear the artist himself. His Scotch songs and his skillful playing of the violin and piano will interest all music lovers.

Don't miss these evenings, for they are treats! We seldom have the opportunity of hearing such famous people. Let us have a large, enthusiastic audience to greet them. Tickets are on sale now. Think what it means to us; buy a ticket and enjoy the entertainment course. —Margrett Milner, Sophmore Class.

LINN-REED NUPTIALS CELEBRATED

Marriage Ceremony Took Place at Home of Wm. Poole

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Poole, when Elizabeth Reed and George Linn were united in marriage by Rev. Candler, only immediate relatives and close friends being present.

The ceremony was performed ander a canopy of evergreens, autumn leaves and flowers. The bride and groom were attended by Mrs. Thos. Milner, sister of the bride, and James Linn, brother of the groom. The dining room, where the wedding supper was served, was also decorated with flowers, evergreen and autumn leaves.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Linn have lived in Charlevoix for some time, and have many friends that wish them much happiness.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT EARNESTLY URGES NEWBERRY SUPPORT

ALL PATRIOTIC AMERICANS REJOICE IN NOMINATION OF THE LIEUTENANT CAMMANDER, SAYS HIS FORMER CHIEF.

MUST STAMP OUT PACIFISM

Points to Exemption for Son of Pacifiest Campaign Backer While Newberry's Boys Join the Colors.

(By Theodore Roosevelt.)

Kansas City—A democratic member of the senate has introduced a resolution to levestigate the primery campaign expenses of certain republican candidates for the seneta, including commander Truman Newberry, whose recent triumph over Mr. Henry Ford in the Michigan republican primaries was graeted with heartfelt thanks by every sincere and farsighted American patriot.

This senate, which comes to an end on March 4 next, has the same and only the same right to investigate the election conduct of candidates for the senate which comes intn existence on March 4 that it has to investigeta the campaign conduct of any nther candidates for office.

Hints at Bad Faith.

Moreover, any such proposed investigation undertaken on the eve of an election is tainted with bad faith unless it is conducted with conspicuous fairness and impartiality and is undertaken at once so thet it can be finished at leest a month before the elections.

Personally, I shall be glad if the election expenses or any other conduct of any of the candidates be investigated, provided that the investigation be undertaken at once and finished within the next fortnight, and provided that it be entirely impartial. Therefore, it must deal comprehensively with all serious charges affectiug the desirability of candidates as governmental representatives of the American people at this time.

Asks Ford Inquiry.

If the men backing the proposel are acting in good faith, they will investigate Mr. Ford's record on the following points in order to determine his fitness to represent patriotic Americans at this time. This will find out how much money he spent on the peace ship and on his lavishly expensive newspaper advertising campaign against preparedness and against our standing up for Belgium's rights and against our talkiug action about Germany's sinking the Lusitania and her other assaults on us, and in favor of the McLemore resolution.

This was part of the great pacifist campaign of which another part, as our government investigations show, was financed by the German authorities themselves or by their affiliated societies in this country.

The investigation should include Mr. Ford's contributions in the last presidential campaign he supported, for his politics seem to have been purely personal and pacifist.

Points to Edsel.

Moreover, the investigation should include a full examiuation of the justification of Mr. Ford's aiding and abetting his son Edsel in escaping the draft and staying at home when the great majority of young Americans of his age are eagerly striving for places of honor and peril at the front.

Mr. Ford is an enormously wealthy man. Mr. Newberry is not. Mr. Newberry himself at once entered the military service of the United States. His two sons have wives and children, but they immedietely entered the service, striving eagerly to get to the front.

Unless the investigation takes up these matters, it will be stamped with the stamp of unworthy and improper partisanship. The simple truth is that all patriotic Americans rejoice in the nomination and will rejoice in the election at this time of such Americans as Mr. Newberry in Michigan and Mr. Medill McCormick in Illinois.

"Winning of the war is at the present time the one great issue before the people of this state and nation, and every other question is of relatively small importance. No man should be elected to any official position or given any place of responsibility about whose loyalty there is the slightest question, and all good citizens should refrain from taking any partisan action that can in the slightest degree embarrass the United States government in its great task, and we pledge to the national administration the hearty, earnest and unqualified support of the Republican party of Michigan in every activity toward bringing the war to a successful end in the shortest possible time, but that end will not be attained until our enemies have unconditionally surrendered."—Republican State Platform.

'KAISER AND HIS AMERICAN ALLIES"

Theme of Address Given Thursday Evening by Mrs. Calkins

Last Thursday and Friday the Womens' Christian Temperance Union held the eleventh district convention in Charlevoix.

The district president, Mrs. P. J. Howard, was not able to be present, so Mrs. Culkins, the state president of the society presided.

Thursday afternoon, a part of the program was given by the school children and was very much enjoyed by all present. We are proud of our schools and teachers.

In the evening Mrs. Calkins gave a very fine address, her subject was the "Kaiser and his American Allies." Friday morning the district elected the following officers. President, Mrs. Crockett, Soo, Mich.; Vice President, Mrs. S. J. Alcox, Charlevoix; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mosher, Mancelona; Secretary, Mrs. Hoyt of Gaylord; Trensurer, Mrs. Saltonstall, Charlevoix. She convention closed with a banquet in the church parlors. The convention wes a success in every way, the only thing to mar the occasion was the absence of the district president, who by over twenty years of faithful service has endeared herself to everyone, and only her advanced age and failing health could induce her to give up the work she so loved and enjoyed, and not only those present at the convention, but we are sure every Womens' Christian Temperance Union worker in the district wishes her many years of happiness in the new home to which she is going.—Mrs. F. M. Metcalf, Secretary.

ANOTHER STAR IN SERVICE FLAG

Leslie Shapton Was Always Worthy of the Honor

Another star calls for a place on the service flag of our high school, a gold one, and well it deserves to in memory of Leslie Shapton, one of its recent graduates, who was in all ways worth of the honor.

A fine, promising young man, looking forward to future success with the hope built of youth. Following his graduation he entered the University of Ann Arbor, and could justly have continued his studies, but the call of the war brought out the true American fire, and he enlisted in the Marines. After a brief stay in camp he wes sent over seas. He had been in the trenches twice, and was killed in action July 18th, no doubt in the second battle of the Marne, which was the turning point of the war, where we know he did his best. The beautiful flowers of France will be his loving protectors there, and a "well done" beyond, the reward of his master.

J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, one day only, Tuesday, October 29. 42 t2.
